My name is Keith Smith and I live at 2 San Souci Dr. in S. Hadley, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard.
As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Keith Smith

Subject: House Bill 2820

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this email to express my grave concern over House Bill 2820. I cannot express my disappointment in the Massachusetts State Senate with the passing of House Bill 2820. Not only did the senate label the hardworking men and women of law enforcement, including officers of color, as racists but they also targeted all public sector employees and their unions with this haphazardly crafted bill.

Stripping public employees, especially police officers, of their Qualified Immunity will without a doubt hinder their ability to perform their duties to the utmost. The principle of Qualified Immunity is fully supported by the Supreme Court of the United States in case law and allows public servants to work without fear of personal liability for simply doing their job. The Senate Bill not only affects police officers, but also firefighters, EMS, other healthcare workers, and teachers. It makes little sense to go after people who play such a vital role in the well being of our communities.

I am in full support of holding people accountable for wrongdoing, however officers should not need to work in constant fear of legal retaliation for doing their job. I am in full support of measures such as more frequent and intensive training for police, but the loss of Qualified Immunity is something I cannot under any circumstances agree with.

I hope that the Massachusetts House of Representatives sees the clear flaws in this Bill and takes corrective measures to ensure a safer Massachusetts for all.

Thank you for your time,

Subject: Crime Bill

My Name is Bret LaBelle. I'm a Boston police Sergeant and I have been a police officer since 1998. Early in 2016 I was working in the seaport area of Boston when a man walked up to me and told me a man was passed out on the street a few blocks away. (The reporting man continued on his way...didn't help the victim besides telling me that he was in distress.) I arrived on scene to find a man in his 50s'/60's wearing an expensive suit and overcoat lying on the ground. I immediately checked his vitals and learned he was not breathing and he didn't have a pulse. I notified Boston operations of my location, asked for an ambulance and immediately started CPR. I performed CPR for seven minutes (Seemed like forever) until the Boston Ambulance arrived. During the seven minutes at least two times I heard ribs breaking, which they tell you will possibly happen in CPR training in the academy. Knowing that by doing CPR on the victim I was doing more good than bad even with the broken ribs I continued. The ambulance arrived and transported the victim to the hospital. The victim survived!!

I arrived on scene that day in 2013, and rendered aid to a complete stranger without worrying that the man I was trying to save would try and sue me later. I'm terrified of a world where officers, nurses, doctors, or teachers fail to act due to the fear of being sued.

Consider a call for a child locked in car on a 90 degree summer day... or a dog for that matter. Break the windows of the car to set them free and then you will be held liable for any damages. Lawyers already comb police reports looking for new cases. I was recently struck by a car on a bicycle while working. Days later I was contacted by 15 law firms asking me if I wanted to sue the person who accidently struck me. They had my home address and phone number which wasn't on the report!!! Without the qualified immunity, the law suits will come, even in cases where we save or try to save people's lives.

I have been a police officer for 22 years. 99.9% of police officers retire without ever using their service weapon (GUN). Thank god I have never been in a situation at work where I had to use my service weapon. Contrary to the rhetoric recently, Officers pray every day that they never have to use it.

The part of the bill that says "Officers will not have sex with persons in custody" is just insulting. I have never in my years seen this or ever heard of it happening. I looked online and couldn't find one case of a Police Officer having sex with a prisoner in Massachusetts. Who in god's name came up with that section??? You really need to stop and look at this bill. A lot of sections are completely ridiculous.

This bill does not help keep people safe. It does the opposite. It puts your constituents in jeopardy. Officers will be be scared to act due to fear of legal retribution for simply doing what you hired them to do, save lives and help people in times of need.

I URGE you not to pass this Crime Bill legislation in Massachusetts for atrocities that occurred in Minnesota. We live nowhere near that state. That would be like me disciplining my children because I learned about two kids in New Jersey playing with fire. It just doesn't make sense!

Thank you,

Sergeant Bret LaBelle

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Ariel Eromin and I live at 13 Waverly Road, Woburn MA 01801. As a constituent and a long time girlfriend of a Law Enforcement Officer, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste.

Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Ariel Eromin

Subject: University Police Union Coalition Testimony for Bill S.2820

University Police Union Coalition

MIT Police Association, Harvard University Police Association, Boston College Police Association, Boston University Police Association, Tufts University Police Association and Northeastern University Police Association

To the Honorable Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

Police Officers within the University Police Union Coalition provide public safety services at the six largest Universities in Eastern Massachusetts. Our Coalition represents over 250 sworn law enforcement Officers.

We are universally opposed to Massachusetts Senate Bill S. 2820 "police reform" presently under consideration by the House of Representatives. The reasons for this opposition is that we see Bill S. 2820 detrimental to public safety in Higher Education Campus Law Enforcement, as well as all Law Enforcement in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

This Bill lacks transparency for Law Enforcement Officers to have Due Process and the Right of Appeal. Officers and their families will be impacted the greatest from this Bill due to a loss of employment and the degradation of their career path in Law Enforcement.

The measures under consideration are grounded in incidents of abuses in other parts of our country. As deplorable as those are, there is simply no body of evidence that compels drastic action at this time in Massachusetts to eradicate non-existence abuse.

Passage of these measures under consideration are so lacking in due process for police officers, so destabilizing to job security, and so likely to leave police officers more vulnerable to violence, injury and death from lawless elements.

We are urging the Massachusetts House of Representatives to not consider Bill S. 2820 as it is currently constructed. The elimination of Qualified Immunity and the lack of transparency in an appeals process needs to be replaced with new language that does offer Qualified Immunity and Due Process with the right of appeal for Officers.

We want to continue to serve our universities and their communities with the fair, compassionate and protective policing that has so consistently characterized our service over time. We urge you take a step back and allow for research, citizen input, debate, and thoughtful deliberation before you take extreme actions that may well have disastrous, unintended consequences.

Thank you,

Joseph S. West.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

To all who will listen.

Please vote against the new proposed Police Reform Bill.

Since Ferguson, Police Officers have hesitated and been hurt for doing so.
Please review the facts!!!

If this bill passes, Police Officers will not be able to perform their duties.

Qualified Immunity is so important to protect each and everyone of us, including our families.

We're watching everyone bow down to the mob. Please do not be a statistic.
Please stand for Law & Order!!!

Please vote no!!!

Subject: Police Reform Bill Testimony

? Dear House Members,

I have noticed these concerns with the bill you are looking to pass. I think we as a community who will be directly effected by this bill passing have a right to have these questions answered to why this bill should pass. I don't believe this will make us safer. I believe this is strictly political, which can be seen with the small almost petty way the identification wording of the laws had to be changed, and the fact that the movement has been pushed in on you guys to take this action. I think that this is something that a lot of cities and towns within the commonwealth will use to pass their own change to policing and I think something that is basically a list of demands from an activist organization or organizations is not what we should be pushing through to make law. These things that you have in here are not new ideas. They have been ideas since the 90's and some back to the 60's and there is a reason they have never passed before. Please take my questions into consideration when you are thinking about making this bill legal law. I think things definitely have room to improve but they should improve for the better of safety for the entire community of the state and not just the POC of the state or vice versa.

Sec 1 lines 64-66: . Funds received under this subsection shall be deposited in a separate account with the state treasurer, received by the treasurer on behalf of the commonwealth and expended by the commission in accordance with law.

What does the law allow this money to be spent on? I believe this is very important to know since it is being paid to the commonwealth which is essentially the tax payers money at that point.

Why do we not have any white members on this board? Would this every be allowed to happen today, that we would have a group of members put together for whatever reason and not have a POC be on the board? I believe it would be considered discrimination if we did not allow a person of color specifically.

Section 2 Lines 73-75 (c) personnel and medical files or information and any other materials or data relating to 74 a specifically named individual, the disclosure of which may constitute an unwarranted invasion 5 of 72 75 of personal privacy; provided, however, that this sub clause shall not apply to records describing the disposition of a law enforcement misconduct investigation.

This is wrong on every level. This means that there only has to be an investigation opened up on a police officer in order for you to access their medical records. This has no stipulation that doesn't allow the commission to make this public without any due process. This is not right and should have language that is put in it that counsel can look at the information but can not make it public. The public does not need to know about a police officers health records. This will make it so that people will not want to join the police in the future because the HIPPA law will not apply to them. Which will in turn put areas of higher crime into a bigger whole in terms of safety.

Section 4 lines 128-129: (iv) the history of slavery, lynching, racist legal institutions and racism in the United 129 States.

Where is this history coming from? What history book and racist legal institutions and racism is not a history, it's an opinion and a theory. I don't think its right to make a cop be put through opinion trainings and theory indoctrination attempts. If you want to teach them the history we need to go to actual history textbooks and keep political theory's out of our law enforcement institutions.

Section 6 lines 164-165 164 <tel:164-165%20164> Section 221. There shall be an independent police officer standards and accreditation 165 committee within the executive office of public safety and security: 1 person appointed by the ACLU (Open Society funded has Bernadine Dohrn on board of directors who was part of weather underground a communist terrorist organization back in the 80's she once said "Dig it. First they killed those pigs, then they ate dinner in the same room with them, they even shoved a for into a victims stomach. Wild!" when talking about the Charles Manson crew murders, she also murdered a cop in 1970 during a Boston Bank robbery) 2 NAACP appointees (open society funded with $15Million in October of 2019) and zero white people.

How are we going to allow groups who are funded by an international terrorist by the name of George Soros who is against law enforcement and one of these groups has someone on their board of directors who has served jail time and also was an active member of the terrorist group Weather Underground, to have complete control over our policing of the state and on our state college campuses. How does this make policing better for anyone? Why do they have to control all training for police?

Section 223: line 248-249: the age, gender, 249 race and ethnicity of each person involved in the incident, if known;

First of all why wouldn't this be known, this is something that is very basic and should be mandatory to make a claim against a police officer. Also if you are going to be making the name of the police officer public, it is only fair that the name of the people or persons bringing the investigation or complaint against them? Do you not agree and why or why not?

Line 306-308 The police officer standards and accreditation committee shall have the authority to 307 issue subpoenas to obtain all documents, materials and witnesses relevant to a complaint. A 308 subpoena may be issued by the chair or by any 3 committee members acting concurrently.

So there are three members from George Soros funded organizations on this committee so they automatically can get any subpoena that they want. How is that fair? Why wouldn't it be a vote by the committee? What's the point of having a committee of 13 people if they don't vote on something like this?

Section 225. (a) The police officer standards and accreditation committee shall revoke an 327 officer's certification if:

Lines 339-347: (ix) the officer has a sustained complaint of misconduct based upon conduct consisting 17 of 72 340 of: (A) use of deadly force in violation of chapter 147A <x-apple-data-detectors://2> ; (B) use of force in violation of said 341 chapter 147A <x-apple-data-detectors://3> resulting in serious bodily injury as defined section 13K of chapter 265; (C) failing 342 to intercede to prevent the use of unreasonable force in violation of section 3 of said chapter 343 147A <x-apple-data-detectors://4> ; (D) conduct that would constitute a hate crime, as defined in said section 32 of said 344 chapter 22C; (E) intimidation of a witness, as defined in section 13B of chapter 268; (F) 345 tampering with a record for use in an official proceeding, as defined in section 13E of said 346 chapter 268; (G) perjury, as defined in section 1 of chapter 268; or (H) filing a written police 347 report containing a false statement, knowing the statement to be materially false.

So all that has to happen for them to have their certification taken away, which in turn would make them ineligible to work as a cop, would be to have someone bring a complaint against them for any of these things? It doesn't say anything about being convicted of a complaint, it just says the complaint needs to be brought up against them. This is going to put police officers in a place that no matter what they do, people will be able to bring up a complaint against them with no fear of if the complaint is justified or not. The cop will be fired so they have the power in the situation. Do you believe that the complaintive should have the ultimate power against the cop? If you do wouldn't that nullify his ability to do his job which is to enforce the law?

The word "Shall" should be removed from this bill because it is deceptive language that could mean, has a duty to or is required to and at the same time it could mean, may. Do you agree that the word is deceptive? Do you think it should be removed?

Line 543 to 547 A person who has attained the age of 19 on or before the final date for the filing of 544 applications for the state police cadet program shall be eligible to take the qualifying 545 examination for the state police cadet program. A person who has attained the age of 26 on or 546 before the final date for the filing of applications for the state police cadet program shall not be 547 eligible to take the qualifying examination for the state police cadet program.

Why would you want to lower the age of the cadets of the state police? The older you are the wiser you are. It was 21 and 34. Can you tell me how you think this will help keep the community safer. Why you back this portion of the bill.

Qualified immunity. If you think the police officers and other public servants should not have it then it should not be available for anybody. Judges, mayors, teachers, governors, members of senate and members of the house. Do you agree with this and why or why not?

I believe these questions should be very easy for anyone to answer if they are familiar with the bill that they are voting on. I understand that there is call for change and people feel that they have been given the short end of the stick for a long time. I believe that by doing it this way will only hurt the community. I could even see if you guys were to enact a temporary order on some of this stuff to test out its efficiency and see if it is even practical and what problems come up while you are enacting the laws.

The people that you ultimately bring on the committee will have a lot of power over the people who are here to protect our streets and communities. We just need to be careful who we entrust with that power. I believe that glue should have representation from the Cop Union, as well as an advocate for white cops as well. It's really sad that in 2020 we have to put labels on cops by skin color as well. It's not unifying at all. We are supposed to be the UNITED states of America. This is ripping our country apart. Hopefully you will take my questions to heart and I hope you have some answers to them as well.

Thank you,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820.

I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Police reform bill

To whom this may concern:

My name is Samantha Pizzi, a dental hygienist living in Abington, Ma. My friends, relatives, and boyfriend are all in the police force. I know whoever is reading this you also know someone who is also a police officer.

I am reaching out in regards to the new police reform bill. I disagree with the qualified immunity part of the bill, immensely. This bill that is up for debate is not only hurting the police force but it is hurting the civilians who will need their help. As police men(women), their duty is to act when in need, in very high tense situations that we could not possibly even comprehend. You now put them in a UNETHICAL decision(should I think of myself, or help the helpless civilian in need), which could lead them to hesitate to act.

On the news, social media, the internet we hear about the horrible things cops do. Well now you are putting the good cops at risk. You're putting the cops at risk who love to help people in need, who save lives giving BLS(basic life support), when seeing a dog in a hot hot car - save the animal, and most importantly doing their job aka doing what they can do for others.

I truly urge you to think of the last time your family or friends needed a police officer. I want you to think about what would of happened if the cop was not able to help the best he/ she could because of his life/ family being on the line.

Please take this into consideration

Respectfully,
Samantha Pizzi

Dear MA Representatives,

I am so grateful that the MA Senate has passed S2820, a set of very important police reforms with which I am in total agreement. I am writing to urge you in the strongest possible terms to vote in favor of this bill, and in fact to strengthen it in a few ways: 1) by including an outright ban on chokeholds and tear gas; and 2) by prohibiting the use of facial recognition systems entirely (rather than the one-year moratorium in the Senate bill).

There is so much evidence that many things we ask police to do right now are more appropriately handled by social workers, mental-health professionals, crisis counselors, and so on. In addition, there is no need for our police to have military-style equipment – they are not an invading force facing a hostile enemy, but rather are supposed to protect and help.

I look forward to the passage of a strengthened version of this bill as a major step toward police reform that will better serve both the men and women who wear the uniform as well as our Black and Brown communities.

Thank you for reading my comments.

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Kelly Raghavan. I am a resident of Lincoln, MA and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I support this bill because I believe it is vitally important to change the way law officers police people of color in our state and in our country in general.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Hello,

My name is Reza Akhtar, and I am a resident of Boston, MA. I am writing to encourage the Massachusetts House of Representatives to pass the Reform, Shift, and Build Act (S.2800). Policing in this state and across the country has exceeded its reasonable use, and it is being leveraged to punish citizens' poverty, mental illness, and race. It is imperative that we rely on positive change, not policing, to create a safer society.

Please vote to reform the police, shift funding away from police departments, and build up our communities.

Subject: House Bill S.2820

Representative Michlewitz and Representative Cronin,

I am writing to you this evening to share my personal thoughts on the proposed bill in the house S.2820 in regards to police reform. Seeing the context of the bill that was passed by the Senate was disheartening to say the least.

For the past 12 years I have served the Town of Shrewsbury as a police officer. Since 1973 my family has been a part of serving the community. My father laid the groundwork for me to become a police officer, even though he attempted to persuade me to choose another career field. My job is very important to me and I have served my community with an extreme level of professionalism since I graduated from the police academy in 2008. Unfortunately my father and I share a common bond that I honestly wish did not exist. My father lost his friend and coworker James Lonchiadis in 1975, and I lost my friend and academy mate, Sean Gannon, in 2018. Regardless of the dangers of my job I show up every day to do whatever I am asked to do. I treat people with respect and how I would want my family treated by police officers.

I watched the Senate hearings and was completely taken back by the characterization of the hard working individuals in my profession by Senator Brownsberger and others. Senator Brownsberger continued to use the issues of one jurisdiction to paint the police in a negative way throughout his arguments. This appears to be one of the failures in this entire "movement." The country, the media, and now politicians are basing their thoughts and ideas of policing on single issues and painting the entire profession as a problem. I came across a social media post the other day that said the police are killing unarmed blackmen every day in the United States. If you take 30 seconds and look at the facts, 7 unarmed black men were killed by police in the United States in 2020. I cannot attest to each of the cases but it is clearly evident that people are using skewed facts and false narratives to build an ever growing battle against the police.

The bill passed by the Senate and now before you will decimate the profession of policing in Massachusetts. I would ask you to ask yourself the simple question; looking at the bill before you, the salaries officers are paid, and the recent uptick in violence towards police, would you become a police officer? I would be hard pressed to believe any reasonable person would not.

I love my job. I love helping people. I don't ask for recognition or accolades, I just like doing my job. No one talks about when I bought two days worth of meals for a family stuck in a motel who were not the same race as I was. No one talks about having to view child pornography as an Internet Crimes Against Children investigator, thinking of how to protect your own child from predators. No one talks about when a female attempted to stab me in the arm with a crack pipe and saw no punishment. When something happens 1500 miles away where a police officer commits an atrocious crime, suddenly I am no different than him in the public's eyes. That is a grave injustice to police officer's like me, who do the job in a professional and respectful manner and serve the population regardless of skin color, sexual orientation, religion or socio-economic status. I did nothing wrong. Yet I am paying a very painful price for someone else's actions.

There are many issues to the current bill that I believe will have dire consequences if passed. The first issue is regarding qualified immunity. Changing or weakening the current qualified immunity protections will bring a flood of lawsuits not against just police officers but all public officials. The amount of frivolous lawsuits will cripple the court system, create an unnecessary log jam, and immense financial burden to the municipalities where officials serve. More importantly from the view of a police officer, hesitation will continue to be at the forefront of every officer's mind when thinking their actions, when judged by others not present, will potentially hurt them financially. Hesitation is one of the most dangerous aspects of the police world and results in one thing, harm. The harm will reach far and wide. Crime rates will surely rise, residents in your towns and cities will be crippled by fear of not being protected, and officers will leave the job or slip into a condition of only acting when absolutely necessary.

The legislature needs to move forward with reform for policing and there are many officers who agree with that notion, myself included. Rushing this bill through both the House and the Senate while stripping an officer of their rights to due process if terminated, leaving them open to enormous scrutiny by individuals who have never put on a uniform, and putting targets on their back for reacting to the violent world that appears before them is dangerous and disrespectful to those who wear the badge proudly.

I believe that there is a level of reform needed in policing. I also believe that this is a two way street and there should also be reform in society. The news over the past two days has been frightening. Children killed in cities, police officers being attacked and murdered. Chaos is starting to break out nationwide. We cannot allow this to permeate

Massachusetts. We have some of the finest law enforcement agencies in the country and we need to strengthen them, not weaken them. We need to be able to recruit professional individuals who will serve their communities proudly. If this bill passes without taking into consideration a fair treatment for police officers I truly fear that we will never recover from the harm that is done.

Please consider slowing this bill down. Bring more stakeholders to the table to craft a sensible bill that protects those who will be most affected by the bill. The fathers, mothers, daughters, sons, brothers and sisters that put on a uniform each and everyday to protect you and your constituents from the evil that lurks in the shadows deserve more than what is being proposed.

I appreciate you taking the time to hear my testimony.

Respectfully,

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street

Boston, MA 02133

My name is Robert Emmet Smith, I reside at 92 Spruce Road, Reading, MA.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straight-forward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Also and most importantly, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Lastly, let me say enough is enough ! Is this how we are supposed to adjudicate ? Because of the heinous actions of an individual, or even several, we should throw common sense out the window ? Our institutions are under siege, and in particular, those who choose to serve and protect us, and they should not be thrown under the bus for the sake of political expediency.

Sincerely,

R. Emmet Smith

My name is Yessenia Gomez and I live at 23 Leos Lane Avon. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong. Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are: (1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants. (2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits. (3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement. In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve. Sincerely, Yessenia Gomez

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Eric Yelle and I live in Bellingham Ma. I work at the Massachusetts Department of Correction and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????????????? ??????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Eric Yelle

Subject: Senate Bill S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street

Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Amy MacHugh and I live at 29 Wilson St in Reading, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straight-forward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Amy MacHugh

Re: Bill S2820

I would like to address the bill that is being considered by the House of Representatives. My goal is to not address the bill, but the reasons it is being proposed. My understanding is that this is an emergent action due to the systematic racism in policing. What this means is that the system of policing is systematically racist. So I would like to propose a challenge to House members. If the act of policing is systematically racist in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I would ask each representative to cite 3 examples of policing where Officers based their actions or responses based simply on race. This should be a very simple task seeing as racism is ingrained in the profession. And to be clear, I am not asking you to read form letter emails from the NAACP as proof of this claim, or emails sent by individuals "claiming abuse". I am asking Representatives to name 3 confirmed cases which have been independently investigated and substantiated. Not only can you not name three, you cannot name one.

I have been a police officer for 26 years. I have seen the evils of this world. Make no mistake about it, this evil exists. What this bill, if passed, will succeed in doing is simple. Police departments and police officers will no longer do their jobs for fear of civil action. There will be mass exodus from the profession that I am passionate about, and very few qualified individuals will be willing to fill those shoes. The crime rate will SKY ROCKET. Only the representatives will be left to answer the complaints of their constituents as to why they were allowed to be victimized.

Subject: Pass SB.2800, Reform, Shift, Build Act

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Jennifer Keifer. I am a resident of Danvers and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

As the law-abiding parent of a Black son with mental health struggles, our family has had many interactions with police. Each time, I worry that my son's mental health diagnosis could become his death sentence.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Keifer

Thank you for allowing for me to be heard regarding my feeling on this bill.

What had happened to bring all of this on was and is terrible and I do not know anyone who feels otherwise including Police Officers. This is not how they do their job.

I am very much against this bill and the way it is written, the way it is written is very negative and it generalizes all Police officers. We cannot have this the way it stands, we cannot generalize our Police Officers, qualified immunity needs to be protected. It protects the Police Officers and every public employee from frivolous lawsuits who have acted in good faith and not broken the law. Qualified immunity does not protect Officers who break the law or policy, there are policies in place to oversee these already.

I am not against training and accountability, resources, and more to improve the standards of the profession, we need that in every job no matter what risks there are, but for this and the lawsuit culture we are in it is wrong. But that is how we reform, we teach, we train, we make sure people have the tools they need to do their jobs, we make sure they have the resources they need as well, we don't go after everyone and fight to destroy them.

I am also against the formation of the civilian committee that would be the oversight on disciplinary situations. Having a civilian committee not having experience in law enforcement would not have an unbiased opinion. It would leave the doors wide open for anyone to say anything true or not, exaggerated or not how would it be sifted thru. Where is due process, one word against the other? Too many unanswered questions. If this committee has to stay in place it needs to have people with understanding of law enforcement and would protect the rights of the Policer Officer as well.

Between having this committee and not protecting Qualified Immunity would put our Police and the profession in a bad situation for the Police and the public.

As I had said before, I am not against Reform but it needs to be done right, there needs to be more conversation, and more than this one time, we need to protect those who protect us.

People are angry now, I perfectly understand that, but we can do better and we need to do better, we need not to generalize the whole population of good Officers. These are the Police officers that deserve better.

So please be brave, be strong insist on conversation with the people who know the profession. Talk to each other, slow this down.

Making decisions in anger, or quickly never work in any form, not in our family life or work life or political life.

We need to have conversations with Law enforcement input and have public hearings on the reform measures. So what if it takes time, our Police Officers, our 1st Responders deserve it.

We need to start over with this bill, but in the meaningful way to make changes, changes that will improve us a society, and protect the integrity of these professions.

Thank-you for your time, I hope there will be many more hearings. This needs to be done correctly, and I would be more Than happy to give my time to work with any of you to make sure there is something in place we can all be proud of.

Please feel free to touch base with me.

Subject: Bill No. S2820 Title: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Good Evening

* I would like to voice my condemnation of Bill S2820 as it is written. This bill was rushed through the senate without much thought and it shows. I think that it is time for the House to show that cooler heads can prevail. By taking a step back and voting no on the bill, with proper research, a bill could be created that would benefit everyone in the commonwealth. There are certainly areas that could improve in law enforcement and I think that by voting no on this bill as written, it would provide time for a committee to be formed, research to be completed and an intelligent solution found and presented as a new Bill. The issues in this Bill are important ones that can't be thrown together haphazardly and expected to have a positive outcome for our citizens. The public was excluded from providing important insight on this bill. The fact that there was no input from the public tell me that the creators of the bill were aware of what input would be given by the public and that there would be resistance. Instead, they created the bill days before it was to be voted on the senate floor. I urge you to vote no on this bill.

* Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years. This is a great idea, but I would like to see it researched in depth. Where will this funding come from and how will it be instituted? Will the local municipalities be left to carry the monetary burden for this mandated training? Again, I'm being repetitive, but more time has to be put into researching the implementation of these points.

* The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The FOP will not support any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy. This is a sticking point for police officers across the commonwealth. I could understand if there were serious issues regarding officers in Massachusetts but that's just not the case. We have some of the best trained officers in the state and an incident that happened in another state shouldn't dictate changes to a system that works without much issue in Massachusetts. Officers need these protections. You are going to welcome frivolous complaints against officers and these boards will hear those complaints. I can see this ending badly when you involve people that don't understand the job of policing, case and point, our Senators. With the Bill written the way it was it's clear that they don't understand the current climate of policing in Massachusetts. We don't want the bad apples on the job and we do a fairly decent job of rooting them out.

* Their proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial. There needs to be more thought put into this, and changes made. I think this can be accomplished by taking the time to do the proper research. Is this even really necessary?

* I've said this already, but the senate is jumping on a bandwagon with a knee jerk reaction and is changing a system that doesn't appear (in the 15 years of LE experience) to have been an issue here in Massachusetts. Officers here are highly trained, and most are well educated individuals.

* This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. Officers can still be criminally charged for their actions and can also be sued in federal court for civil rights violations. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few. The thought that Qualified Immunity should be taken away blows my mind. Any change to the way in which it is written will have officers second guessing themselves and god forbid, outright refusing to get involved for fear of losing their homes and property. Through the research I've done, if Qualified immunity is taken away or changed for any reason, I'll have more protection by not taking action. That's a scary thought. This doesn't just apply to police officers either. This will affect police, fire fighters, teachers, nurses, doctors and the list goes on. If you vote to change Qualified Immunity I can guarantee that there will be a mass exodus of officers from the job. You'll also have issues recruiting candidates. Think about that for a minute. Who is going to take a job or stay on a job any longer than they have to when you could lose everything for doing the right thing? I noticed that officers would be open to a law suit if the persons rights were taken away and in the context of the bill I can only imagine that if someone had been taken into custody and at some point during the arrest that person was found not to be the suspect or probable cause was not found, the officers would now face a personal lawsuit. That's just one example of how that change would affect officers. I could have misread that article but for some reason I doubt that. This article more than anything will affect how policing continues into the future. Officers will be afraid to make that split-second decision that might hurt them, their family, or take their home from them. Bottom line, this is scary, and the fact that the senate saw a need to attack this protection is just absurd.

* Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard. As for use of force incidents and choke holds, a complete ban on any defensive tactic is absurd. When an officer is in a fight for their life, you don't think they are going to second guess themselves in using a chokehold if that is all that stands between them going home or being killed? With all the oversight, the threat of being called a racist and being the next YouTube officer, guys are second guessing themselves every day. Take Sergeant Michael Chesna for example. I can only imagine what went through his head in the seconds before his death, but he hesitated and for whatever the reason ended up not going home to his family that morning.

* If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

* I know that police reform is the hot button issue these days, but your focus shouldn't be in places where problems don't exist. You should be concentrating on the victims of crime. Whether the officer was the perpetrator or not, laws need to be changed to better protect them. I'm sure that you are aware of it but if not, with the recent court decision regarding interfering with a police officer, if someone commits a crime against you and it isn't an arrestable offense, Officers have no power to force the aggressor to identify themselves? As an example if someone commits an assault and battery against you, and we are called to the scene (disturbance is over and everyone is just standing around) and the person that assaulted you refuses to identify themselves, Officers have no way to force that person to identify themselves. Assault and Battery in the past is not arrestable. I then have to tell you as the victim to contact your legislator to change the law, where in the past I would have been able to arrest that person for interfering with a police officer. Under the new ruling we are powerless to help that person seek justice, and their aggressor walks away. Interfering with a police officer now has to be committed using physical force. This is just one example of ways in which our jobs are being made more difficult and when legislation like this is presented and voted forward, it makes the future seem that much dimmer.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Matthew Owings

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: My concerns and testimony s2820

Good evening,
My name is Kim Jenkins and I live at 108 Tecumseh Drive in Hanover. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer who has served his community with dignity and respect for over 15 years. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave for his shift and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. I rarely sleep well and my children know that their Father risks his life every time he goes to work and that there is no guarantee he will come home alive after his shift. In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do, not all wives need to say "be careful" and not all kids have to say "be safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

This week we all remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. When we got the call about Mike my Husband and I were on a rare but needed trip to relax on the cape. We got a call about an officer down, immediately paid our breakfast bill, we checked out of our hotel early and we went home to support the department. The coming days would prove to be some of the most difficult days our entire family have ever experienced. I remember seeing Mike laid to rest in the same exact uniform my Husband wears. I remember seeing the grief and sadness in his Widow's eyes as she sobbed and her children clung to her. I also remember seeing many politicians, including Governor Baker, at his services to "pay respects". Well this bill does the exact opposite! This bill would only increase situations like the one that happened to Mike Chesna. The suspect "only had a rock". Mike, a purple heart veteran, very experienced Police Officer, hesitated and was killed. Why?????!!

There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform.

Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. As I understand it, Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making in the middle of the night do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill at 4am and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Kim Jenkins

Subject: University Police Union Coalition Testimony for Bill S. 2820

University Police Union Coalition

MIT Police Association, Harvard University Police Association, Boston College Police Association, Boston University Police Association, Tufts University Police Association and Northeastern University Police Association

To the Honorable Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

Police Officers within the University Police Union Coalition provide public safety services at the six largest Universities in Eastern Massachusetts. Our Coalition represents over 250 sworn law enforcement Officers.

We are universally opposed to Massachusetts Senate Bill S. 2820 "police reform" presently under consideration by the House of Representatives. The reasons for this opposition is that we see Bill S. 2820 detrimental to public safety in Higher Education Campus Law Enforcement, as well as all Law Enforcement in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

This Bill lacks transparency for Law Enforcement Officers to have Due Process and the Right of Appeal. Officers and their families will be impacted the greatest from this Bill due to a loss of employment and the degradation of their career path in Law Enforcement.

The measures under consideration are grounded in incidents of abuses in other parts of our country. As deplorable as those are, there is simply no body of evidence that compels drastic action at this time in Massachusetts to eradicate non-existence abuse.

Passage of these measures under consideration are so lacking in due process for police officers, so destabilizing to job security, and so likely to leave police officers more vulnerable to violence, injury and death from lawless elements.

We are urging the Massachusetts House of Representatives to not consider Bill S. 2820 as it is currently constructed. The elimination of Qualified Immunity and the lack of transparency in an appeals process needs to be replaced with new language that does offer Qualified Immunity and Due Process with the right of appeal for Officers.

We want to continue to serve our universities and their communities with the fair, compassionate and protective policing that has so consistently characterized our service over time. We urge you take a step back and allow for research, citizen input, debate, and thoughtful deliberation before you take extreme actions that may well have disastrous, unintended consequences.

Thank you,

Subject: Comments on An Act to Reform Police Standards

To the members of the Legislature,

My name is David D'Amico. I am not in law enforcement, but have many family and friends who are. I've had the pleasure of hearing many stories of policing over the years. I'll say that all of them share something in common. The stories deal with what a reasonable person would do in situations, both in terms of members of the public and the police officers involved. I have no doubt that policing standards need to be reformed. Let's do it with common sense and from the perspective that the vast majority of police are good people wanting to do a good job.

I urge you not to accept the Senate bill which was done without public input and in great haste. Proper reform, to be done well, will be in stages. There are immediate needs. Moving misconduct reviews from the police to an independent review board makes sense. That board needs to be small in size, able to act quickly, and focused on policing policy, the justice system, and fairness to the public. Police unions will protect their members regardless of the situation. They have to do that. The review board needs to rise above that and be able to document and catalog cases, make them generally available, and stay focused on acting in the best interest of the public. Good police will stay to do what they do best. Bad cops will get weeded out more quickly and stay off of our streets.

Moving funds from policing to social services sounds like a good idea, but understand that in many cases, we'll want police officers working with these professionals. It will be dangerous for them to act independently in many, many cases. This area needs further review to understand all the impacts and interactions that it presents. Certainly we ask too much of our police officers today. The job needs to be redefined in a thoughtful way.

Lastly, I'd ask you to tread very carefully on qualified immunity. Every government official in Massachusetts is covered by qualified or absolute immunity. This is done to shield officials from frivolous actions taken against them while they are doing their job. It is a necessity for any public official to do their job effectively. They should not have to worry about their financial livelihood every time they go to work. In the case of police, they are forced to make split second decisions to protect themselves and others from violent criminals. Qualified immunity does not shield them from illegal acts. When someone in government including the police breaks the law, they are held accountable. To strip protection from police for actions they are forced to make in seconds is wrong. However, proper review and being held accountable for those decisions needs to be the goal.

The State Police Association of Massachusetts put forward a request for several common-sense amendments to the Senate Bill that would give law enforcement a voice in reforming policing. To reform policing you must include those doing the job. They only ask for a voice in this process so that the final product benefits everyone. I have included the State Police Associates recommendations below for you and urge you to consider them.

Massachusetts has always been a national leader in policing standards. Please take the time this legislation needs to provide a more balanced and thoughtful bill than the one passed through the Senate. Doing it in stages makes a lot of sense and can ensure that we do it right and lead the country again in this most important issue.

Thank you for your time,

David D'Amico, Medway, MA, 508-533-7824

State Police Association of Massachusetts recommended amendments to the Senate Bill

48 - State Police Colonel - Filed by Senator Rush

This amendment seeks to retain the rank of Colonel coming from within the ranks of the MSP. It states that the Colonel could also fill the dual role as a Superintendent (as is the case today), and if a civilian Superintendent was to be appointed, it greatly increases the requirements of a Superintendent, and retains the position of Colonel from within the ranks of the MSP. Further, if such an outside appointment was to be made, this amendment would ensure that the appointee would have the basic elements required to command and operate a diverse organization such as ours and would double the minimum years' experience required from 10 to 20 years.

74 - Qualified Immunity - Filed by Senator Tran

This amendment seeks to amend the bill in SECTION 10 by striking subsection (c) of section 11I. The following would be struck - "In an action under this section, qualified immunity shall not apply to claims for 431 monetary damages except upon a finding that, at the time the conduct complained of occurred, 432 no reasonable defendant could have had reason to believe that such conduct would violate the 433 law."

Complimentary to this amendment is #137 (filed by Senator Velis), which also strikes the Qualified Immunity section and adds a special commission to study Qualified Immunity.

"Qualified immunity balances two important interests—the need to hold public officials accountable when they exercise power irresponsibly and the need to shield officials from harassment, distraction, and liability when they perform their duties reasonably." Pearson v. Callahan.

77 - Discipline Changes - Filed by Senator Tarr

This amendment moves to amend the bill in SECTION 18 by striking in line 621 the words "1 year" and replacing therewith- "45 days". This would allow for our officers to seek an appeal of an administrative suspension without pay within 45 days, not the 1 year as drafted. This is an important Due Process piece for our officers and grants the Department of State Police more than the required 30 days to complete their investigation.

114 - Representation on POSAC - Filed by Senator Rush

This Amendment move to amend the bill in SECTION 6, by striking lines 164-192 in Section 221 and inserting in place thereof:-

"Section 221. There shall be an independent police officer standards and accreditation committee within the executive office of public safety and security consisting of: 13 members appointed by the governor, 1 of whom shall be the Attorney General or her nominee, 1 of whom shall be the Colonel the Massachusetts State Police (or a sworn Officer designated by the Colonel), 1 of whom shall be the Commissioner of the Boston Police Department (or a sworn Officer designated by the Commissioner), 1 of whom shall be a chief of police of a mid-sized municipality who is a person of color to be nominated by the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association Incorporated, 1 of whom shall be the President of the Massachusetts Association of Minority Law Enforcement Officers, Inc., 1 of whom shall be the President of the State Police Association of Massachusetts, 1 of whom shall be the President of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association, 1 of whom shall be a sworn Police Officer nominated by the Massachusetts Law Enforcement Policy Group, 1 of whom shall be a retired judge, 1 of whom shall be a Professor of Criminal Justice from a Massachusetts College or University; 1 of whom shall be an expert in the field of use of force, 1 of whom shall be an expert in the investigation of firearms discharge; and 1 other member; provided, however, that non-law enforcement members shall have experience with or expertise in law enforcement practice and training, criminal law, or the criminal justice system. Appointments to the police officer standards and accreditation committee shall be for terms of 3 years and until their successors are appointed. Vacancies in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the original appointing authority for the balance of the unexpired term. Members of the police officer standards and accreditation committee shall be compensated for work performed for the police officer standards and accreditation committee at such rate as the secretary of administration and finance shall determine and shall be reimbursed for their expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties."

To Whom It May Concern,

I write you as the daughter, granddaughter and great-granddaughter of 3 men that bravely put their lives on line on a daily basis to protect their neighbors and community on a daily basis. To learn that this new bill eliminates qualified immunity is both maddening and terrifying. Families will no longer just have to worry about their loved one coming home from the job, but will now have to worry about being sued if they injure someone while trying to perform the duties of their job to serve and protect the public.

We all know that change is necessary and cannot condone the actions of those that abuse their power, but this bill that was approved by the Senate without any public input, goes against everything we stand for as a country. As a mother, I'm incredibly saddened to be raising my children in a world where the crimes of a few result in consequences for all.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Everyone supports reasonable police reform. Police officers especially want to be better - not one officer took the job to needlessly harm another human being or to be the perpetual scapegoat for society's and our leaders' failures. This police reform bill is an opportunity to do something meaningful, to build a better system and to thoughtfully encourage police excellence. Please do it thoughtfully, intelligently, and fairly.

The Senate made a mistake by passing S.2820 as it was written. The Senate went looking for trouble, diagnosed it incorrectly, and applied the wrong remedies. Taking away due process, incentivizing complaints and personal lawsuits, and publicly punishing and humiliating officers does not make them better - it takes out their knees and their souls - and makes them worse. Our citizens deserve better, and their Senate let them down. The House has a chance to fix this and to not make the same mistakes.

As your constituent and a resident of Hampshire County, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. We need to prioritize reform efforts to focus on establishing a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force.

However, I am deeply concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers or shield officers from criminal or all civil liability, and we must stop spreading that false narrative. It does not protect the officers who were responsible for the death of George Floyd or any other criminal situation, contrary to Senator Cyr's misunderstanding of the law. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolous lawsuits. This bill removes and reduces important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections. If you want to lower recruitment of qualified and diverse candidates, encourage retirement of every police officer who is able to do so, and completely gut the morale and security of every single police officer working in the Commonwealth, go ahead and support this amendment with that result clearly in mind.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more police leaders/officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement. Creating a POSA committee that is overwhelming comprised of groups with political agendas and no practical knowledge or experience in the field will result in a tremendously unfair process that will lack basic integrity, trustworthiness, and professional support.

In closing, the men and women who chose to serve our communities across Massachusetts, like us all, are imperfect human beings. For that we must all work to help them become better. But you as legislators must treat them fairly and you must think about the long term damage that will be done by taking their legs out from underneath them - not just harm to the officers themselves, but to the very people who need their commitment and above and beyond service the most. I implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject Line: Objections to S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin
Massachusetts House of Representatives
24 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Joanne Smith and I live at 92 Spruce Rd in Reading, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straight-forward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Joanne R. Smith

House Ways and Means Representative Aaron Michlewitz and Judiciary Chair Representative Claire Cronin:

As a 40 year veteran teacher, I am deeply concerned about the Senate language on qualifying immunity. I believe the wording is so confusing that teachers will hesitate to get involved to protect their students. Let me be specific. If two students begin fighting and place the teacher in the position of having to pull one of the students off the other to protect the student(s), the teacher would have done so knowing that "you are not supposed to touch your students". Under the language that exists presently, the teacher would not be faulted for breaking up the fight. Under the new language, if the teacher has to admit that touching a student is known to be taboo, they could be held liable for pulling that student off the other. The law as it exists now is fine. Please don't change it to language that could potentially harm educators, social workers, and many others.

Thank you for your consideration.

Members of the House Committee on Ways and Means and Judiciary members,

I am writing in regards to the S.2820 proposed legislation that will be discussed and voted on.

I want to preface my opinion below with that I am a current voter, family of 5 in the Worcester County area. I am a public servant, as well as my wife. My extended family includes diverse cultural backgrounds that are public servants such as nurses, firefighters, teachers, military and police. We collectively have discussed the recently passed senate bill, and although I do not represent each voter, I can speak to the overwhelming feedback from them.

- Do not support the removal of Collective Bargaining.
- Do not support removing Due Process
- Do not support removing Qualified Immunity
- Do not support close door sessions without representation

- Support training reform and identify training gaps that make our public servants and communities safer

Lastly, and most importantly, we do not support the mob mentality and knee jerk reactions that we have seen at 4am in the Senate and across the nation. Massachusetts has some of the finest and professional, educated, hospital workers, teachers, police and fire that set the standard across the nation. We are proud to be a part of that history, and you as our elected leaders should be embracing and thanking the commitment to those in uniform.

I would encourage you to view the FBI crime statistics. I can assure you after considering national data, you will conclude the evidence to our inner city problems is not the public servants in our Commonwealth. This legislation, if passed, will put our communities at risk and most importantly, the communities with high crime rates that need police, fire and EMS services.

We can do better, together, but not by legislating public servants out of a profession they have committed their life to doing. I would be honored to discuss further.

Respectfully,
Jonathan Sturgis

I am a resident of Milton and a Sergeant for the Norwood Police. I, like any decent person, was horrified to watch George Floyd's murder. I realize that people in my profession have caused a great deal of damage to minority communities in the past, and I am motivated to make law enforcement better in the future. I am saddened that it took Mr. Floyd's murder to get people moving.

I am seriously concerned with a few of the items put forth by the Senate, and I am entrusting the House will correct these things. One of these items that I feel will have an extremely negative impact on my profession is ending qualified immunity. Police officers make split second decisions in rapidly evolving and dynamic situations, and we do so to protect the public. Qualified immunity DOES NOT and SHOULD NOT protect us, should we violate clearly established law, or prove to be incompetent. Qualified immunity does shield police, and many other public officials, including yourself, from frivolous lawsuits. In a recent study done by UCLA, researchers found that courts only accept a qualified immunity defense around 12% of the time.

Ending qualified immunity will have a disastrous effect on police hiring. It will be harder to attract quality candidates to effect the change that the profession needs. This comes at a time when our candidate pools are already at all-time lows. We desperately need to attract the best people from our communities to work in law enforcement. Ending qualified immunity for police will be counterproductive to that. Please consider opposing ending qualified immunity for police.

I am also concerned that the Senate's bill takes away due process in disciplinary matters. A right that the Supreme Court has upheld in all civil and criminal cases since the birth of our nation, and a right that organized labor has fought for since its inception. The Senate wishes to create a disciplinary review board with no law enforcement representation to sit in judgement after the fact, to judge an officer's reasonableness. Reasonableness being the key operating term set forth by the Supreme Court in many landmark use of force cases. Unless politicians and activists can say that their knowledge supercedes the US Supreme court, then it becomes essential that the review boards are compromised at least partially by law enforcement. What can a community activist speak to in terms of reasonableness of a job they know nothing about, except as an uninformed observer?

I ask you to help law enforcement effectively keep our communities safe. The unintended consequences of the Senate's bill will reap a whirlwind of consequences for our communities if left unchecked by the House.

Dear Rep. Garballey:

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Amendments to S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

As a father of two children and a husband living and working in Massachusetts, I am shocked that the State Senate would pass legislation that makes it more difficult for police officers to protect my family and our community.

I'm even MORE shocked that they would do it at 4:00 AM on a holiday weekend with no hearings. I am sure you can imagine how this makes the average resident feel. Not exactly like we are part of the process. In my opinion, making laws in the dark like this feels like a threat to our democracy.

As a peaceful person who wants law and order in our town, it is mystifying to me that anyone would consider making police work more dangerous than it already is. These first responders have been crucial during this pandemic, saving lives and protecting us. They are the moral fiber that holds our community together, keeping us from anarchy. Removing their qualified immunity and making them subject to endless lawsuits under S2820 will only make their policing less effective and make us all less safe.

Certainly, I recognize the need for reform and training in light of recent events where police brutality has gone unchecked. There is no doubt in my mind that reform, training and standards are needed.

My neighbor is a police officer in the City of Boston. He asked me to help the Boston Superior Officers Federation (BSOF) reach out to the Committee and ask for support for Amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and 137 to Senate Bill S2820.

These amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I ask the Committee to support these amendments and support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, including police officers.

Further, I ask you to seriously consider the removal of Qualified Immunity (QI) and think through the impact police officers who are already hamstrung by fear of being sued, fired or prosecuted will now have if they are constantly worried about being sued.

I would ask you to support the BSOF and the aforementioned amendments to S2820 when it is considered in Committee and debated on the House floor.

In this time of civil unrest and pandemic, the last thing our communities need is for the police to be unable to better do their jobs. My children and my family depend on them to keep us safe, and I'm sure they keep your families safe as well.

I thank you for your consideration of my testimony on this crucial public policy issue.

Subject: Bill S2820 (S2800)

Dear Members of the House and Ways and Means,

My name is Mackenzie Reynolds and I am writing to you in regard to the Police Reform Bill S2820. I am asking you and the rest of the House of Representatives to please consider making amendments to this bill. The following 3 areas are concerns of mine. All public employees should have the same rights when it comes to Qualified Immunity, Due Process / Collective Bargaining, and then make up of then POSAC board. When it comes to Qualified Immunity even you and the rest of the House and Senate enjoy this protection so why should those that put their life on the line every day not have the same protection which they won't if you don't make changes to the bill. When it comes to the POSAC board, again why should Police Officers not be judged by their peers just like Doctors, Lawyers, Judges, and every other profession? The way it is set up now they will be judged by individuals that have no Law enforcement experience, those that already don't like the police, those that already sue the police. Then to decide whether they (the Police) did anything wrong or should have done things different don't know what it is like to be in the position the officer was in and have never been in a high-stress situation where seconds could mean life or death for them or the general public. How many times does Police go to a domestic call safe a woman or man that was getting beat up and abused to only have that same person make false accusations against the Police and say that what is in the report never happened? If you have never been in that situation how can you possibly judge someone who has? Again there is no consequence for someone who lies about police misconduct, excessive force, or claiming they are lying in their reports. When it comes to due process again the way the bill is written its up a board just about entirely made up of non-law enforcement and those that have an ax to grind with the Police. They are going to say your fired, suspended, and the Police officer will not have the ability to challenge that decision anywhere, and then they can't even get another job in law enforcement anywhere. The bill is basically taking away civil service and the protection it offers. Some say that's why it needs to be gone, but there are steps the Cities and Towns can take to get rid of a bad Police officer they just have to do it the correct way instead of jumping from a-z. Sure there is room for Reform in the Criminal Justice System, but you have tom remember this is no Minnesota, New York, Atlanta. We have some of the very best-educated and trained Police Officer's here in MASSACHUSETTS. You should not punish our officers for the bad behavior of other officers from other states. If you do I fear we will lose a lot of officers to retirement and have one hell of a time trying to replace those officers with good candidates because who would want this job with no job protection, protection from frivolous law suits, and worst going to jail or charged with a crime because you are being judged by someone that doesn't know how to do the job.

Thank You for listening

Mackenzie Reynolds

Distinguished Representatives,

Thank you for making time for citizen input on this important bill, S2820. I will make my comments as brief as possible, but feel I have unique personal perspective on the issues disused.

I am writing in strong support of the bill. As a clinical social worker, I have seen, firsthand, the profound good that police officers can accomplish in their roles. Sweeping police powers and a lack of officer accountability, however, more often than not are barriers, not aids, to effective policing. S2820 will more effectively position law enforcement to act with only the tools, tactics, and mentalities appropriate for the job. My time in social work strongly informs this position.

In my career, I have deescalated and evaluated those in mental health crisis in emergency departments. I have sat across from men convicted of brutal acts of domestic violence to assess their accountability and preparedness to end community supervision. I have counseled and safety-planned with survivors of these violent assaults. I have intervened with clients who were hours or even minutes removed from a suicide attempt.

For the majority of my career, I worked in a residential setting. Among many other duties, I had the privilege of training clinical and non-clinical colleagues on the principles and techniques of deescalation and safe, compassionate physical restraint. We always taught that going "hands on" was an absolute last resort, but, due to the acute nature of the population we served, I, unfortunately, had to engage physically several dozen times over the course of a few short years. In that time, I was bit, punched, stabbed, spit on, kicked, grabbed between the legs and pulled by the hair.

Never once, in my career, have I had the luxury of a combative union which would fight for my job if I choked someone to death. Moreover, never once have I felt as if the free reign to strangle even the most violently dysregulated client would have made me any safer in the long run. This distinction is important for those using the narrow lens of exclusive prioritization of officer safety at any cost. Even ignoring the rampant brutalization of disproportionately Black, Brown, poor, and mentally ill civilians in crisis, different tactics will also translate into reduced risk to officers. In my residential work (and elsewhere in my career), we saw every day that the safest strategy for client safety was also the safest strategy for our own: responding with calm, compassion and connection. In this vein, I want to share one disappointment I have with the bill, which is a failure to make fear-based "warrior" style trainings for police illegal by law.

This critique notwithstanding, S2820 is an important step forward in the long overdue process to establish officer accountability, and to modernize and humanize law enforcement. Again, I know that many officers who wear the uniform do so with love for their communities and the very best of intentions. However, the fear and anger felt by so many, especially many marginalized people, is a predictable consequence from generations of tolerance of cruel and ineffective policing (which is only now, it seems, getting caught on film). The well-deserved distrust many of my clients have for police manifests in the perpetuation of poverty, generational trauma, and inability to access community resources and supports. As a Massachusetts citizen who has also dedicated his career to the safety and well-being of his community, I urge you in the strongest possible terms to pass this bill into law.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Eli Adler-Roth, LICSW

Good morning,

The League of Women Voters advocates against systemic racism in the justice system and supports preventing excessive force and brutality by law enforcement.

We urge you to support the inclusion of the following measures:

HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, State Representative Liz Miranda bans choke-holds, no knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, State Representative Michael Day which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is "Christopher Peckham" and I live in "Fall River Massachusetts." I work for the "Massachusetts Dept of Correction" and I'm an "Officer". As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

???: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: S.2800

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Nick Clemente and I live at 78 Webster St. in Medford Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard in the Massachusetts House of Representatives tomorrow for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant (most likely a police officer) before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far-reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Very truly yours,

Nicholas Clemente

Subject: Testimony S 2820

Good Evening,

My name is Matthew Kane. I am currently a State Trooper assigned to the Russell barracks. Prior to becoming a Trooper I was a Firefighter/EMT in Westfield. I am a 3rd generation civil servant. I am proud of the job I do everyday. Despite the loud vocal critics of police I believe the silent majority of citizens support us. Many Senators spoke in support of police across the Commonwealth during the debates on S2800.

In many rural parts of the Commonwealth the State Police function as the primary law enforcement agency. Many of the towns in my patrol area have small, part time police departments, if they have one at all.

As you can imagine I have dealt with a wide range of calls for service and emergencies. I have approached and handled each one as if it was my loved one involved. I have dealt with autistic juveniles armed with a knife, felons with stolen guns, fatal crashes, domestic disputes, parenting issues, solved breaking and entering cases and used a lasso to catch a loose llama on a state highway. Police today are social workers, mental health workers, de facto parents, investigators and everything in between. I don't think my skills or empathy are extraordinary or unique. I believe police officers across the state go to work everyday to make a difference and provide a good life for their family. Although there is always room for improvement and I agree with portions of S2820 I believe it is overly ambitious and far reaching.

Qualified Immunity and the protection it provides all public servants cannot be understated. If this legislation passes there will undoubtedly be an increase in lawsuits against all public servants. With those lawsuits come trials and rulings by a judge which will establish case law. Reasonableness will be ever evolving and change with each court ruling. Decisions that are made in a split second will be scrutinized years later. In my opinion this will cause Troopers to hesitate during life or death situations. Proactive policing will suffer severely, the citizens of the Commonwealth will bear the brunt of those consequences.

I have no issues with Troopers being certified. More training and continuing education benefits everyone. I think it's very important the Commission tasked with overseeing this be comprised of professionals trained in law enforcement. No one hates a bad cop more than a good one. Who better to help hold the bad ones accountable than those who strive for perfection.

Perhaps the most concerning testimony I heard during a debate in the Senate was in reference to 2 police officers a local police Chief "couldn't get rid of". The Senator made reference the Chief couldn't because they made a minor administrative error during the process. I have no doubt the local Chief told the Senator that but I doubt the veracity of that being the case. There are processes in place currently to terminate officers. If they aren't followed sometimes cases are overturned at arbitration or civil service. No different than our court system, if evidence isn't obtained properly or legally it is thrown out, as it should be. Police officers deserve the same rights all citizens are afforded. Labor unions have fought for due process and rights for members since their inception. Should a certification be revoked by POSAC there needs to be some route of appeal before a neutral party. Civil service was established to ensure jobs were obtained on merit and not patronage. I'm fearful of POSAC being used as a tool to circumvent Civil Service, that is why I believe it's important to have police unions represented on POSAC.

Respectfully submitted,
Matthew Kane

?Mr. McMurty,

I hope this note finds you keeping healthy in these uncertain times.

I'm a voting citizen in Westwood and have never written to ask for consideration of legislation, as I typically support the great work those in our state, county and town governments do!

However, while we may need some type of review related to clear, unnecessary police brutality, I strongly believe the current legislation for Police Reform that will be voted upon on Friday July 17th is rushed and does not fully consider the consequences we will all face if it passes in its current form.

I respectfully ask for you to NOT vote in favor of this rushed and deeply flawed legislation until a more rationale reform bill can be drafted. Please also emphasize to your colleagues in the legislature they should not feel rushed on this- it's too important - let's all work to get this right before it's too late.

Please continue to help us protect our state and citizens by rejecting this legislation and asking for more time to develop a sound proposed reform that addresses true issues.

Thank you for your service and support.

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I am a teacher and have been waiting for decade for this type of police reform. We need to put parameters, accountability and reform efforts in place to protect our citizens. In fact, I wish it went further but this is the legislation we have for now. I want to you know I support it whole heartedly.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Subject: Please pass a strong version of S2820

As a constituent living in Waltham, MA, I am writing to ask you to please pass a strong version of S2820. I have lived in Waltham for the past 6 years and am raising my family here. I am a white woman, married to a black man and together we have two biracial sons. I have also been a teacher in Boston Public Schools for the last 16 years. I have friends who are police officers and I support them and much of the work that they do. However, for far too long, there has been legislation passed that has changed policing so that it is much more aggressive, more detrimental to our communities, and completely inequitable. As my sons are growing up, I fear for their lives and no one should have to feel this way. Supporting this bill does not mean that I think police officers are bad people. It means the system and structures in place are inequitable and they need to change. Now.

I'm writing to ask you to please support prohibiting violent police tactics -- this includes ANY choke holds that could come close to injuring a person! These have no place in our community, especially since implicit bias exists; racism exists. We, as white people, are all racist because we are part of a racist system. It doesn't mean we are bad people. It means that it is OUR JOB to strive to be antiracist and to find all the ways in which we can consistently fight racism day to day to create a more just and equal society. That includes not harming or killing community members, especially when a disproportionate number of individuals stopped by police are people of color.

I also ask that you impose meaningful restrictions on qualified immunity. Police officers need to be held accountable for their actions. Maybe if police officers are held accountable, more police officers will make a greater effort to strive to be antiracist and the amount of tragic deaths, injuries, and violence at the hands of police officers will be diminished. As a white high school teacher in Boston, I am on my own journey of becoming antiracist and I strongly believe that if I do not fight to be antiracist (through educating myself about race, racism, whiteness, and my personal biases, decolonizing my curriculum, using culturally responsive teaching methods, analyzing and changing racist policies at my school and in my district, etc), I should not be in this profession. I did not learn any of this in my teacher prep program so it is on me to do this on my own time. Police officers should be learning how to be antiracist in their profession as well - in their preparation would be best!

Finally, please support a BAN on the use of dangerous and discriminatory facial recognition technology. This technology is not valid and has been proven to make policing even more racist than it already is.

I am a mom, a wife, a teacher, and a resident of Waltham. I know many of my neighbors support these same ideas. You are in a unique position to fight for antiracist policies - I am doing my part by sharing my opinions with you, but I cannot vote to change the law. Please do your job and fight for anti-racist polices; fight for our community.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Carline Kelly Bowen

To: Representative Aaron Michlewitz, Chairperson, House Committee on Ways and Means and Representative Claire Cronin, Chairperson, Joint Committee on the Judiciary

Based on the multiple instances of misconduct that are being illuminated by news accounts, legislation is urgently needed to ensure a change in police behavior and culture so as to reestablish trust between law enforcement and the community. Accordingly, I support the position of the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO) and urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification and decertification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Thank you very much.

Subject: New Police Reform Bill S2820

Good Evening,

My name is Michael McGrath I am currently a Police Officer for the Worcester Police Department. I am writing to you to discuss my feelings about the New Police Reform Bill S2820. Looking at the Qualified Immunity first, if we lose our qualified immunity this directly impacts my family on multiple levels. Not only will I now be subject to personal lawsuits that will not only affect me personally but it will also affect my wife and our two little boys future as well. My wife and I have worked very hard to give our children the life they deserve (also my wife is a public school teacher so she is also subject to personal law suits if we lose this) and now their future may be in jeopardy. I have been a Police Officer for 10 years and I love this profession, and I feel I have done a great job (0 lawsuits or complaints) now I feel a sense of hesitation and uncomfortableness answering routine calls for service.

Looking at due process which I was always informed was fair treatment through the judicial system to every citizen. Now that I am a Police Officer in a City that has done a great job in a State that has done a great job I now am no longer afforded this treatment because of a tragedy that occurred hundreds of miles away. The Senates Bill goes against their platform as being labor/ union supporters, it seems as if this bill is an Anti-Labor Bill.

POSAC board makes me the most nervous as an Officer. Now a panel of members of the community who have never walked in my shoes, have never dealt with the public, and have never been a Police Officer can determine whether I can continue to remain an Officer because they don't agree with a split second decision that was made by myself or my fellow Officers. The POSAC board needs to have men and women who have worked in this profession if it is going to determine our fate. I wouldn't want to be on a board to determine the fate of a Doctors medical decisions because I don't know anything about his or her profession and I don't feel that is fair.

I appreciate you taking the time to listen to what I have to say! I still love this profession and am still determined to do a good job, and continue to make my family proud!

Respectfully Submitted,

Michael McGrath

Dear gentleman,

As a concerned resident and voter of Massachusetts I would like to request that the police reform bill be reviewed again. This reform does not work. Our officers at both state and local levels put their lives on the line everyday. To vote on this bill at 4am on the anniversary of Sargent Chesna shows so much disrespect to the men, women and families of LEOs.

I ask that you please listen to the public, in this state, and reconsider the police reform bill.

Subject: Bill S2820 (S2800)

Dear Members of the House and Ways and Means,

My name is Sue Reynolds and I am writing to you in regards to the Police Reform Bill S2820. I am asking you and the rest of the House of Representatives to please consider making amendments to this bill. The following 3 areas are concerns of mine. All public employee's should have the same rights when it comes to Qualified Immunity, Due Process / Collective Bargaining, and then make up of then POSAC board. When it comes to Qualified Immunity even you and the rest of the House and Senate enjoy this protection so why should those that put their life on the line everyday not have the same protection which they won't if you don't make changes to the bill. When it comes to the POSAC board, again why should Police Officers not be judged by their peers just like Doctors, Lawyer, Judges and every other profession. The way it is set up now they will be judged by individuals that have no Law enforcement experience, those that already don't like the police, those that already sue the police. Then to decide whether they (the Police) did anything wrong or should have done things different don't know what it is like to be in the position the officer was in and have never been in a high stress situation were seconds could mean life or death for them or the general public. How many times do Police go to a domestic call safe a woman or man that was getting beat up and abused to only have that same person make false accusations against the Police and say that what is in the report never happened. If you have never been in that situation how can you possible judge someone who has. Again there is no consequence for someone who lies about police misconduct, excessive force, or claiming they are lying in their reports. When it comes to due process again the way the bill is written its up a board just about entirely made up of non law enforcement and those that have an ax to grind with the Police. They are going to say your fired, suspended, and the Police officer will not have the ability to challenge that decision anywhere, and then they can't even get another job in law enforcement anywhere. The bill is basically taking away civil service and the protection it offers. Some say that's why it needs to be gone, but there are steps the Cities and Towns can take to get rid of a bad Police officer they just have to do it the correct way instead of jumping from a-z. Sure there is room for Reform in the Criminal Justice system, but you have tom remember this is no Minnesota, New York, Atlanta. We have some of the very best educated and trained Police Officer's here in MASSACHUSETTS. You should not punish our officers for the bad behavior of other officers from other states. If you do I fear we will lose a lot of officers to retirement and have one hell of a time trying to replace those officers with good canadites because who would want this job with no job protection, protection from frivolous law suites, and worst going to jail or charged with a crime because you are being judged by someone that doesn't know how to do the job.

Thank You for listening

Sue Reynolds

Subject: The police

Dear Chairs Michiewitz and Cronin,

My name is Charlene Coughlin and I live in Burlington, MA. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

?The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

?Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

?The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter. I hope you will take these concerns into consideration.

Sincerely,

Charlene Coughlin

Subject: Disappointed Trooper

Good Evening,

I can't help but to feel utter disappointment in my Senate, I'm not really mad because I understand the game of politics, just disappointed. I highly doubt anyone will read this, but I'm still going to write it. I guess it will serve better then the standard cookie cutter template.

I have served my country and I have served the Commonwealth for the majority of my adult life. Over my years of service I have encountered thousands of people, many of them with questions about my profession. Friends, family, and even strangers would ask me "What's it like being a cop?" I always responded basically the same way, from my heart and honestly. I wanted people to understand what it's really like to be a police officer. I wanted to humanize the people of my profession. Tonight I want to share my thoughts with you.

This is a mentally taxing job but it needs to be done. It needs to be done by people of the highest standards of integrity. This job carries many risks, not only physically, but liability wise. I play by the rules and I act in good faith, I respect the constitution so I have no fear.

I do not enjoy writing tickets. I write them to only those that truly deserve them, for the safety of our roadways. Most people deserve a break- and usually get one.

I do not enjoy taking away people's freedom, but It is my job to enforce the law. I do what I have to do when I have to do it.

I do not disrespect people I encounter. I let their attitude determine the outcome of our interaction. I never want to get into a physical altercation unless it is absolutely unavoidable.

I never want to take a persons life, but I have accepted the fact that some day I may be called on to do so.

We the police are societies worker bees. We respond to the tasks given to us. We help those who need help, we stop those who need to be stopped, it's pretty simple.

Without us, society doesn't work. We are good and decent, we love our families, and we are loyal.

The facts don't lie. Nearly every single police interaction ends peacefully, that's how we like it. We have saved thousands of lives in the Commonwealth and have taken so very few, and only when left with no alternative.

We are assaulted, stabbed, shot, and killed. We bear the brunt of everyone's anger and frustrations.

Please do not make this job more difficult then it already is. We need your support. Do not cave to radicals who will never be pleased. We only want to be treated fairly and left to do our jobs.

The people of Massachusetts are not dumb. The overwhelming majority of the people support us and we support them. This bill is absolutely terrible and everyone knows it.

The best most qualified people will leave this profession. Good cops will go into self preservation mode and the people will suffer. Do not make good decent police officers fear for the way they provide for their families.

Respectfully,
Trooper Thomas Wilson

Subject: Senate Bill 2820: Special State Police Officers

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin:

Thank you for accepting public comment regarding Senate Bill 2820. I write today as an ordinary member of the Massachusetts Bar and not on behalf of any person or any entity.

I want to express my support and admiration for all that you do to ensure fair and just policing for all. As such, I humbly request that you include a provision in S.2820 that would require Massachusetts special state police officers, as defined in Mass. Gen. Laws c. 22C § 51, 56, 57, 58, and 63 to be subject to public records requests.

Generally, municipal and other police officers who work on behalf of people and animals in their communities are subject to these requests, so long as there is no applicable privilege. Likewise, special state police officers who are empowered with police powers on behalf of animals, for example, should also be subject to public records requests laws to ensure transparency. See Mass. Gen. Laws c. 22C § 56

As an attorney, I understand that public records laws are another tool in the toolbox for information gathering and for ensuring justice. Now, more than ever, our society needs this balanced openness of information: "transparency breeds legitimacy."

Thank you for your leadership. Please contact me if I may be of service.

Kind regards,

Lenore

Subject: Opposition to S. 2820

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Paul Lazar and I live at 845 East Third Street, South Boston. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1)Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2)Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Paul Lazar

Subject: Please consider the consequences

Good evening,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous.

Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Parker

To whom it may concern,

I'm writing to you tonight as an aunt of two state troopers, friend to numerous police officers and Mother of a newly inducted Correctional Officer writing diligently to become a man in blue to protect and serve.

My son is just beginning his life, he's just started investing in his future with his fiance, buying a home and looking forward to a family one day. By passing this you are potentially crushing the goals he's creating that will effect so many others.

Why would he want to buy a new home, put a wife and children at risk because you are stripping them from protection and serving.

My nephew was on the special task force that hunted for the Boston Marathon bomber, how can you forget moments like this when you're trying to pass this monstrous and disastrous bill. Can you imagine the Tsarnaev brothers being able to sue or physically attack these troopers trying to protect and serve Massachusetts after the devastation caused during the bombing. Because this is what will happen should this pass.

My niece faced so many discriminatory challenges working her way up to a state trooper, she saw her brother in action looking for Dzhokhar Tsarnaev and his dedication in making sure communities stayed safe while searching for him. She knew at that moment what her calling was. She came down with a severe case of the flu and mono during training and never skipped a beat. Her 1st night solo she made 3 arrests of drunken drivers and saved countless families on the roads from potential fatalities. How can she continue safely do her job facing backlash that could cause her to loose her beautiful home of 2 years and her family because someone she kept off the streets hunted her down!

Massachusetts has been our families home since my great great grandparents immigrated over 100 years ago, it's so sad that many people are threatening a mass exodus of the state we are proud to call home and ask that you humanize this bill. We are not blind and know 1st hand there are bad cops out there, let's remove them and replace them with more gems like my family and friends are.

Please vote no, come up with a better solution, there has to be a compromise where the right people win and the citizens of our great state will continue to feel safe.

Subject: Concerns Regarding S2800

Dear Representative Michlewitz and Representative Cronin,

I write to you today to express my opposition to S.2800. This bill has been thrown together without the full consideration of the lasting negative outcomes. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. I write to you as a concerned citizen who is afraid that if this bill is passed, the safety of our communities will decline and I for one do not want to raise my children in a state where I need to worry anymore than I already do about their safety but I am also writing to you as the proud wife of a police officer- an educated, respectful, fair man who has served his country honorably and has now chosen to serve his community.

My husband has chosen a career that keeps him away from our family quite often which is not easy but it is a career he is extremely proud of and happy to do because he cares and wants to make a positive impact for which I could not be any prouder. He and his fellow officers have spent countless hours working to bridge the gap between officers and the community they serve. He created the 1st Community Officer position in our town and from there has started a Junior Police Academy Camp for kids, held presentations for parents on drug awareness, followed up with overdose victims to offer assistance and many other community based events. By passing this bill without taking the time to research the effects you are just taking away the progress they and many others have made and putting a divide between officers and their communities.

I would also like to share a recent experience that my family went through. Our 15 year old daughter was at the South Shore Plaza during the shooting that happened there 2 weeks ago. I can't explain the absolute sick feeling that came over me when I got the call, "Mom, don't panic but there is a shooter at the mall". That call will forever haunt me. I immediately rushed to the mall to get her and when I approached the mall entrances I saw dozens and dozens of officers running towards the mall. They were putting themselves in danger to help others. People they didn't know but knew were in danger and needed their help. They didn't care what your race, gender, beliefs, etc were- they just wanted to help! That is what good officers do, they help those who need it and keep us safe.

Nobody is more upset at what happened to George Floyd than good cops. Why are those good cops being vilified? They are just as outraged and hurt. If a few bad officers makes the whole group bad then that should stick for all groups- teachers, doctors, nurses, politicians, bankers and so on.

I am asking that you do what is right and not rush into this bill. I think I speak for many when I say there are some good parts of this bill but there are many parts that will only lead to the decreased safety of our communities and mass exodus of the good police officers we need. A couple of the key parts I believe need to be reevaluated are Qualified Immunity and the POSA Committee. Why would anyone want to do this job knowing they are not supported. We are better than this as a state! We all know this bill needs more time to be the best it can be. I am pleading with you to not rush into this and give it the time and research it deserves.

Sincerely,

Subject: Bill S.2800 Opposition

To whom it may concern,
I am sending this email to express my strong opposition of Bill S.2800. This Bill has language that is going to significantly tie the hands of police officers, and as a member of the law enforcement community, it is extremely worrisome for not only myself and all police officers, but to our families' livelihood as well. Please take the word of all stakeholders seriously for we protect the communities that we love and need the support from our government in return. I am always available to discuss this matter further. Thank you.

Respectfully,

I have always encouraged my children as they were growing up, do something that is rewarding and gives back to others. They have followed that advice.

Now as the father of a law enforcement officer, I can say I find it truly disturbing that some of those in our government would consider taking away from these hard working men and women only to satisfy the sins of a very few.

I pray that they are protected properly as they go out each day to serve the public. Their families worry for them every time they leave for work and face the unknown.

I am proud of my son and all that he has done to achieve his dream as a police officer. Please continue to do what is best for these noble men and women of law enforcement and ensure their immunity stays in tact as it has for many years.

Thank you

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Senate bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Michael Mosher and I live at 48 Old Mill ln, Templeton MA 01468. I work at North Central Correctional Institution-Gardner and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Michael Mosher

I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

We have adapted to and lead the way from previous BLM protests; we have been under the microscope of racial profiling since the early 2000's where we embraced the new uniform Massachusetts citation to collect data into racial profiling and continued to be advocates in the efforts of racial equality. The amendments that have been implemented are extremely short sighted and need a good hard look at what is fair and equal, to everyone!

Hello Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820. I hope that you are able to pass this through committee and through the full Senate very soon. I know legislation can sometimes get caught up or tabled with controversy or shifting priorities, but this bill should stay a priority.

It would also benefit the Commonwealth if S.2820 could be strengthened so that the final bill includes the following key actions (in addition to those already included) that will make our communities safer. These include:

1. Eliminate qualified immunity so police can be held accountable
2. Create strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and
3. Ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids entirely.

I trust that we are all in agreement that the people of Massachusetts are good and kind, and would not want a no know warrant to kill the next Breonna Taylor in our community. We need to legislate our good intentions and our values, this starts with S.2820

Subject: Support Amendments...

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Sharon Bonanno

Subject: Comments on Bill S.2820

I am writing to express my opposition to Senate Bill S.2820 currently under review by the House Ways and Means Committee. Specifically, I oppose adoption of the bill in its present form inclusive of Section 11(c) which states:

" In an action for monetary damages under this section, qualified immunity shall not apply unless no reasonable defendant could have had reason to believe that such conduct would violate the law at the time the conduct occurred. Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of chapter 258 with respect to indemnification of public employees."

As a former chief of police in Massachusetts and someone with thirty years of policing experience, I am keenly aware of the liability risks shouldered by police officers in the course of their everyday duties. We expect police officers to both observe and respond to reports of crime, suspicious activity, domestic violence, accidents, public disorder and other situations creating risk to the law abiding public. Many of these situations involve people under the influence of a substance, inclined to violent reactions to law enforcement or exhibiting other anti-social behaviors. Often there is no playbook response that police may employ to deal with these situations, requiring them to use their skills and limited array of tools available to improvise and bring about a reasonable solution to the problem. When involved with a violent, non-cooperating subject or subjects, police are uniquely challenged, with a peaceful solution often beyond their abilities to bring about. In these situations involving confrontational subjects, police often need to use reasonable force to survive the encounter, make an arrest and restore order and public safety. These situations are neither text-book perfect nor pleasant to witness or participate in. Until now, police have always been secure that their necessary and lawful actions done in the performance of their official duties would render them immune from personal liability incurred through frivolous lawsuits filed by those seeking to punish officers for their actions and suppress effective policing through civil intimidation. The thrust of Section 11(c) would rob the police of this reasonable protection.

Should this section be adopted in the current anti-police climate, I fear the police will be further exposed to personal and financial risk, with municipalities leaving officers so accused to defend themselves, risking crippling financial and personal loss. People rightly expect the police to protect and serve the interests of their community. The community rightly owes the police the same protection. I urge the committee to eliminate this egregious section from the bill under consideration.

Sincerely,
Gavin Keenan

Subject: Bill relating to Police REFORM

The Chair of the house judiciary committee,

Recently there has been given much attention to reforming the Police many reforms have been tossed about. I have watched in dismay the publicity and rancor surrounding this controversial bill.

For 39yrs I had the honor to serve the City of Boston as one of its Police Dept. I watched as then Lt. WILLIAM BRATTON began and organized community Policing in Dist 4. I watched as the focus changed from Law Enforcement to order maintenance. The community in many ways embraced the concept and great strides were made in Police Community relations.

Now the actions of a small percentage of Police Officers have placed an onus on the Majority of Officers who perform honorably, competently and professionally. Yet this bill especially the "QUALIFIED IMMUNITY" part seeks to punish the vast majority of these officers.

I read how so called peaceful demonstrators have attempted to sway your judgement with mob rule and intimidation. Please do not pander to these violent people. One officer breaks the law and a hat is placed on All POLICE OFFICERS. Much violence and destructive vandalism is perpetrated by these mobs yet they are labeled as only a few are violent rest are peaceful. These officers stand on the front lines determined to perform professionally and in compliance with the laws by which they are governed. I respectfully request you consider this when pondering the fate of this bill that is before your committee. Many of these so-called reforms are in place in one form or another. If a POLICE OFFICER COMMITS A CRIME then he/she should be so adjudicated. That is already in Place. Please do not punish the vast majority of Police Professionals who only seek to be professional and who do (as any human being does) make an honest mistake. That even then they are punished by rule and regulation.

Police Officers answer to the public, to their superior officers, to defense attorneys, to district attorneys, to the law and finally to dept rule and regulation. Why even consider many parts of this bill that was formed in haste and seeks to PUNISH ALL THE OFFICERS who serve the commonwealth. Especially the many departments that are diverse racially and perform well and I might add under increased pressure from all the aforementioned.

Respectfully,

Robert C. DiPasquale

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Subject: S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Concerned Constituent

To the House Committees on Ways and Means and the entire Judiciary,

Thank you for taking the time to solicit public testimony and for reading my email in its entirety. As a constituent, and having not been provided this opportunity by the Senate, I find it imperative that you hear my thoughts and concerns over S.2820 and the strong opposition I have to many parts.

I am a resident of Worcester. I was born, raised and educated in this Commonwealth and am a proud public school teacher and an even prouder wife of a Law Enforcement Officer.

I appreciate the intent behind a reform bill, one that builds a more equitable, fair and just Commonwealth. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now. I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement. Does it not seem counterintuitive to do anything else?

Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process is a principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. It neither makes sense nor is fair to take this away from police officers.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments. The misconception is that Qualified Immunity protects bad police officers. This is untrue, and quite the contrary - it protects the good, well-intentioned police officers, like my husband. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolous lawsuits. Therefore, it should be noted to the public that this is far-reaching and affects the public sector as a whole, not just police officers. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections. Furthermore, it creates fear in these workers: fear of losing their homes and livelihoods.

The mere proposition of this, as a teacher and a police officer, has incited anxiety, panic and frustration in our household.

Collective Bargaining Rights: Collective Bargaining is the reason why Massachusetts is comprised of the most intelligent, well-educated and hard working police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc in this country. Working for fair wages, in safe settings, with good benefits is the fabric of this Commonwealth. Instating this anti-labor law is a major flaw and goes against the support of labors and unions.

Seeing these potential changes has brought up much conversation in our home. With this potential change, my husband and I have discussed leaving the very state we were born, raised, educated and married in. Seeing these parts of the bill go into effect tells us that we are no longer meant to be here - a fate we wish not to encounter, as we believe in Massachusetts and what it can be moving forward, for all.

In closing and to reiterate, my husband and I, along with so many other constituents of the Commonwealth want to see change, especially for those in communities of color, but taking away the rights of those in the public sector will not aid in this fight. Those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement, and the public sector as a whole, with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chairs Michiewicz and Cronin,

My name is Dawn Naddaff and I live in Burlington, MA. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

?The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

?Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police officers in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

?The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unacceptable and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter. I hope you will take these concerns into consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Nathaniel Dumas I live at 42 Brookside Ave in Webster MA. I work at MCI-Concord and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely.

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Boston, MA 02133 <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Laura MacHugh and I live at 358 Summer Avenue in Reading, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straight-forward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiff's constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process.

We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Laura J. MacHugh

I am reaching out in regards to the new police reform bill. I highly disagree with the qualified immunity part of the bill, as police officers have a duty to act, and without qualified immunity, good police officers will hesitate to act. This will not be a safe world without qualified immunity, and I would hate to see individuals get hurt because officers have to second guess their actions. Please take this into consideration.

Good evening,

My name is Robert Coppola and I live at 12 Locke Hill Lane, Amesbury, Ma. I am writing you to tell you about my support for the Police who serve the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Furthermore, I would like to reinforce that this bill (S2820), written as it is, is dangerous for the police, their families, and the communities they live in.

There is no foreseeable way that this bill will help anyone except those looking for a way to break the law.

I understand and accept that change will make the world a safer place in which to live; however, this bill is not that kind of change.

Take a moment to listen closely, that sound you hear is the wind being let out of the sails of thousands of Massachusetts Police Officers. The people who respond whenever a person calls, no matter how frivolous or dangerous. The people who volunteer countless hours of their own time to improving their communities. Coaching sports teams, volunteering at the Special Olympics, and donating their own time and money to help others. The men and women who will drop what they are doing to change a flat tire, or fill a gas tank with their own money, most instances which will never be spoken of. These are the men and women who run toward the sound of gunfire and bombs going off when everyone else is running away. The bill that passed in the Massachusetts State senate was a slap in the face to everyone that wears the badge, as well as their families.

I urge you not to pass bill S.2820

Subject: Law enforcement bill

Dear Chairs Michiewitz and Cronin,

My name is Tina McWhinnie and I live in Burlington, MA. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

?The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

?Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

?The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. Dear Judiciary Committee:

Please preserve the following from Senate Bill 2800.

Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body

Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages

Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records

Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities

Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual and is strikingly not yet illegal

Please add the following to the bill.

Strengthening use of force standards, e.g., by outright banning chokeholds and tear gas

Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)

Lifting the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment

Don't buckle to special interests.

Thanks,

Subject: POLICE REFORM BILL S2820 - Concerns with qualified immunity within this bill to be considered

To Whom It May Concern;;

My name is Robert J. Tibert and I live in Rockport MA. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration,

This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Hello,

I am a student in Boston, MA and I unequivocally support the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800).

Massachusetts has always been on the forefront of states passing legislation to support the people that live here and we've never shied away from decisions that seemed radical at the time. I have always been proud of MA being the first state to legalize gay marriage, and I hope to see us continue to make the right choices ahead of the curve and set the standard for the rest of the country to follow. It's time to eliminate qualified immunity, ban chokeholds, reallocate state funds to communities disproportionately impacted by the criminal justice system, and allow the Mass AG to file lawsuits against discriminatory police departments. I hope to see this legislation pass so I can continue to be a proud resident.

Thank you,

Carolina

??: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

?????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

??: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Joseph Veilleux

To Whom This May Concern,

I'd like to express my opposition towards this proposed bill, as a police officer in Massachusetts, I have spent a long time trying to get where I am. I have my degree in Criminal Justice, and while doing so, I participated in seven internships with varying agencies. I did everything possible to get a chance at becoming a police officer, however it was never my dream.

When I was younger, my cousin was a Boston Police Officer, and I idolized everything he did. Growing up I wanted to work with animals, but in high school I found out my cousin had been one of the "dirty cops," we see in the media. He went from being my hero, to someone I had to struggle with associating with. My cousin had lied in court, covered up another dirty cop's mistake, and thoroughly destroyed the trust of the community he served. I'll include the article from his court date within this email.

After finding out what my uncle had done, my hero, my desire to become a police officer formed. I wanted to do what I could to be better than him, to gain trust back between police officers and the public, and to make sure I was one of the "good cops." Fortunately, I was finally able to achieve the first step to that desire by becoming a police officer in 2017. I learned quickly that routine police work is fun, stressful, and exhilarating. It's also very rewarding, even when I'm put into situations that I have to enforce the laws with a citation, criminal application, or arrest, I always treat someone with respect and as a human. My partner has often said that I can end any situation with a handshake.

I'm not trying to gloat or brag, but I have been placed into plenty of situations, stressful and not, that I always handle appropriately because that's how it should be. In my career I have seen other officers abuse their badge, and I have even spoken up against them, because it makes other officers look like monsters. However there are officers like myself that want to help, and that treat people like people.

The proposed bill would only cause a negative impact on police and the community. Essentially, I could be sued in court for placing handcuffs on a suspect. I could be sued for performing CPR on someone unresponsive. The qualified immunity protects first responders from having frivolous lawsuits against them. It doesn't target dirty police officers, it targets all police officers wearing a badge.

Massachusetts has always been ahead of the curve with mostly everything, but specifically in policing. Police departments in Massachusetts have had advanced policies and procedures that cover everything, for years. The use of force model has been implemented and practiced in Massachusetts for years. Officers in Massachusetts are often reprimanded, counseled, or otherwise terminated for any sort of misconduct.

The job is stressful enough, from seeing death often, people at their worst, or department affairs, now officers have to worry about being sued for doing their jobs. A lot of officers who are eligible to retire, are retiring, a lot of officers on the job are considering leaving policing, and a lot of people interested in becoming police officers aren't.

More people will be hurt, the career will be even more understaffed than we are, and a further divide will happen between policing and the community. If anything, we need more training in tactics, medical affairs, and deescalation.

Most departments send their officers to these trainings already, my department does, and a lot of these trainings are available anyway. However, a lot of these trainings cost money and officers either can't afford it, or the department can't afford to send them. I believe we need more training if anything, if we're defunded, or afraid to do our routine jobs, then policing will take a negative turn. More problems will arise from this with more undertrained police officers, understaffed departments, and poor community relations.

Personally, I know officers who would be more hesitant to act in any routine situation, if they were afraid to be sued. Violent criminals may run free, knowing that officers won't act right away, or be afraid to go hands on. Some of us may wait for paramedics or EMTs to perform medical related duties, causing a delay in treatment. We act in good faith and in the course of our duties because it's what we signed up for and it's our job. This bill isn't what we signed up for, and a lot of us feel it's rushed, not well thought over, and only proposed to "appease" as if "something was done." Officers will retire, will quit, and it's a sad thing to leave communities without police.

I chose to be a police officer to help everyone, and I wanted to be the best police officer for every person I interact with. My cousin disgraced the badge, I want to bring pride and honor to it.

Respectfully,

K. Pedone

Dear Representatives,

My name is Jim Raso and I am a North Andover resident. I have had the honor and privilege to be a member of the Lawrence Police Department for the last 25 years and a patrol supervisor for the last 19 years. In addition, I have been a Massachusetts attorney for the last 23 years. I have had the opportunity to work with, train and supervise numerous hardworking, dedicated and compassionate officers in the department during this time. I have also been fortunate enough to have the responsibility of working with and training law enforcement officers throughout the Commonwealth. Day and night we as officers risk our own lives to protect our communities and we deserve more from our legislature; more input, more support and much more respect.

For the past eleven years I have been a member of the Massachusetts Municipality Police Training Committee and have trained both recruits and veteran officers from all over the state in various subjects, including criminal law and procedural justice. Our Massachusetts officers have been and continue to be trained to the highest standards and take their training seriously. Have you taken the time to actually review any of the training materials you think are deficient? Have you taken the time to compare our training to that of other states? Have you taken the time to review Massachusetts statistics for everyday police interactions? The answers have to be no because there is no way that the necessary and proper research could have been done in the unprecedented short amount of time that this legislation was thrown together.

In 2011, I and about twelve other officers were called in for an emergency. Two men, one of them elderly, had been tied up and beaten while working at a liquor store. The victims had been pistol-whipped with guns and were seriously hurt. The perpetrators were still in the building, armed with firearms, when police arrived. Our job was to go into the building, knowing they were dangerous and knowing they were armed with firearms. And do you know what all of us did that day when we got the call to come in? We dropped what we were doing, kissed our families' goodbye and responded as quickly as possible to help. After a five-hour stand off we were able to arrest the suspects. Do you know what the citizens of Lawrence did as we escorted the suspects out of that building? They clapped and thanked us.

In April 2013 every law enforcement officer in every law enforcement agency in Massachusetts made themselves available to assist in investigating and locating the suspects who were involved in the Marathon bombings. Again, without hesitation myself and numerous other members of the Lawrence Police Department were called in to head to Watertown to help search for the terrorists. Guess what we all again did without hesitation? Dropped what we were doing, kissed our families' goodbye and headed to Watertown. There were hundreds of officers working together to protect the Commonwealth and other potential victims. Do you know what happened when he was located and taken into custody? Every person in the area came out of their homes, lined the streets and cheered and clapped for us. They were grateful for our sacrifice and appreciative for what we had done.

In September 2018 as I sat home with my family taking care of my infant twins and a two year old I, like many other law enforcement officers in the Merrimack Valley, got the call that we had to come into work as quickly as possible because there were gas explosions everywhere. Guess what we all did yet again without hesitation? Dropped what we were doing, kissed our families' goodbye and headed into a city that was literally exploding. For the days and weeks that followed we came into the city and protected the homes, property and the people of Lawrence and the Merrimack Valley. The citizens and politicians were thankful and appreciative every single day for what we were doing.

Now, less than two years later I sit here wondering and asking myself what has happened? Why are you all turning your back on us now? The law enforcement officers of Massachusetts are NOT the law enforcement officers of Minneapolis. If any of you have actually taken the time to talk to any officer you would know that none of us agree with what he did and none of us think it was ok.

What you have chosen to ignore or don't understand is that qualified immunity does not protect that behavior. Qualified immunity protects good officers from doing the right things. It does not and has never protected bad officers from doing bad things.

I can honestly say what the Senate did this week is nothing short of disgusting. Passing a bill that directly impacts policing without any input from law enforcement proves that this bill has nothing to do with what is in ANYONE'S best interest when it comes to law enforcement. This bill is a political stunt and the reason why it was done in the middle of the night was because they didn't want people to realize what was going on.

You are going to have a police review board made up of people that have no law enforcement background or experience? Are they going to attend an academy? Are they going to undergo the same training we go through? Are they going to come to Lawrence at 2am on Saturday morning to experience what actually happens? When a doctor's judgment is called into question isn't his/her conduct reviewed by other doctors to see if it was reasonable? When a lawyer's judgment is called into question isn't his/her conduct reviewed by other lawyers to see if was reasonable? Why should we be treated any differently?

There are some really good things that could have come out of a bill that was created with the input of all involved. We can always do better and if there are things that can be done that make me a better police officer I would embrace that without hesitation, as I am sure my colleagues would as well but this bill is not that. This bill and the way it has been created a horrible divide in our communities. We should be coming together to make our communities safer for all and what this has done has made it more dangerous.

I respectfully request that you not support this bill. Please take the time to properly research these crucial issues. I would be happy to answer any questions or share my first hand experiences with any and all of you. In fact, if any of you want real life first hand experience I invite you to come with me for a ride along at anytime.

Sincerely,
/s/ Jim Raso

Subject: BILL s2800

Dear Elected Officials:

My name is Erin Moreno and I am a voting constituent living in Northborough Ma. The men and women who serve and protect our communities deserve better than what our elected officials in the Senate have done in moving forward Bill S 2800 I strongly oppose Bill S 2800, not only for the underhanded way I believe this bill has circumvented the public process, debate, and input across the board but also for some of the content. I am told with less than a day's notice that "public" input can be provided via email....by 11AM tomorrow.

What a State we are living in where our politicians may expect an officer to choose between dereliction of duty and civil liability; essentially what the SCOTUS stated-although far more eloquently, when it justified the NEED for qualified immunity for our police. What a State where police officers are told they "shall arrest" under certain circumstances all while a DA in the Commonwealth indicates resisting arrest won't be prosecuted. What a State we live in, where I as a civilian could use whatever reasonable force is necessary to save my own life but an officer, who is more likely to be in said situation, may be told that he/she cannot. What a State we live in where public officials across the Commonwealth are granted variations of qualified immunity, but police, whom will be placed in the MOST volatile of situations are told they may not be protected. I have read this bill and its amendments and am deeply concerned that its passing will result in many good officers leaving due to undue and ill considered burdens. For this same reason I believe the Commonwealth, who has been on the forefront of recruiting qualified individuals, would be discouraging many new and qualified candidates whom desire to make a difference in their calling from seeking a career in policing. This bill if passed would seem to invite the opportunity to deny our Police men and women with some of the same Constitutional protections, for which they swore an oath to defend and protect and for which they are required to uphold. Police reform is important and should be addressed but Bill 2800 as it is written is NOT the answer.

I ask you to consider who comes when people call for help, who we wish was there when we witness a crime or feel scared, who runs to danger when others run from it, whom stays with our loved ones bodies after an unattended death so we may grieve - at times for hours, who helps deliver babies on the side of the road, who works 16 hour shifts then shows up in court to testify when they should be sleeping, who administers Narcan before the medics arrive and who offers services to our loved ones suffering addiction, who stays up to date on case law and is expected to be an expert within a hour of a new law, mandate, or policy being enacted, who throws out their clothes at the end of shift because they have been bloodied, who is spat upon during a situation where police "shall" arrest, who helps you change your tire on the Masspike, who despite universal precautions may be injured and subject to HIV exposure protocols and all that entails for the officer and their family in the coming months, whom responds to and investigate the most heinous acts of domestic and sexual violence, who file Section 12s on behalf of those whose mental illness has resulted in danger to self or others, who conducts wellness checks at the request of family, friends or coworkers who worry about another, who file Section 35s on behalf of those whose drug or alcohol use makes them a danger to themselves or others, who completes risk assessments on victims of domestic violence and refers victim's to agencies available to help, who assists DV victims with obtaining 209A restraining orders, who assists victims of harassment, stalking and sexual violence with 258E Harassment prevention orders, who respond to alarm calls at your residence or business ensuring the safety of your person and property, who accompanies Probation Officers and DCF workers when needed at home visits, who see the results of the most abhorrent and unconscionable acts by offenders, who regularly works holidays and weekends, overnights and are forced on doubles, who on average dies within 5 years of their retirement and 12 years earlier than the average for the general population, who buys lemonade while driving by some kids with a stand, who is willing to leave their family to protect ours, who shows up early for shift because there aren't enough school crossing guards to man the posts, who responds to car accidents-providing medical attention while simultaneously conducting an investigation and securing a scene, who blocks intersections during loved one's funeral processions, who engages in community policing daily, who get home from work and tell their family their day was "fine" and whose family knows what that means, for those who every day have dozen's of interactions with those in their communities, for those men and women of our Police Departments whom do so much more than I can honor in an email and for their family and friends who are shaking their head in disbelief upon reading this Bill. Please consider us.

I ask this sharing that I contacted my Senator and Representative days ago with only one responding with an automatically generated email (how personal) asking for my contact information.. although they never used it. I hope for your time and serious consideration and thank you for your service to the Commonwealth on behalf of your constituents.

Dear Chairman,

As a State Police lieutenant (retired) I encourage dialogue on police reform. But thrust upon us, our communities, an emergency bill that's clearly motivated to appease a radical and dishonest movement and I'm frightened. Frightened for my family's future, frightened for our communities and especially frightened for our young and dedicated law enforcement officers who provide us ALL with a sense of civility and security. Was the mental health and stability of police officers involved in your discussions? For these young woman and men chose their profession of public safety service for the most honorable of causes. The psychological abuse inflicted upon them currently, primarily due to the lack of governmental support, is second only to their fear of violence specifically directed toward them. On a much smaller scale I've been here before. In the past it was falsely alleged that law enforcement disproportionately targeted minorities regarding traffic violations. After spending millions of tax payer dollars investigating and changing protocols the allegations were unsubstantiated and after much initial media brouhaha the matter quietly faded away. During my 29 years of service I did witness isolated cases of racism within law enforcement, however I never witnessed systemic racism. I NEVER witnessed anyone being targeted solely due to race so help me God. For the security of our communities and the health of our honorable police officers I implore you to table this bill and continue rational discussion on police reform.

Respectfully submitted

Subject: Police reform bill

Good evening,

I am writing you today asking you to please not vote for this bill.

This will only put our officers lives in more danger and now they can be sued personally for anything and everything.

There are 800,000 officers in this country who proudly protect and serve everyday to keep us safe, yet they are being judged on the actions of a few.

Not long ago they were being hailed as heroes for being on the front lines and now because of the radicals who have waged war on them and have left them to fend for themselves.

How can we turn our backs on them when every minute of every day they are there for us.

They are so much more than the general public know, they are there to stop crime, to help children who are victimized, hold the hand of a crying parent who just lost someone.

They have not even been shown the respect to be part of the board, but rather have people who know nothing of what they face everyday.

I suggested you go on a ride along some Friday or Saturday night to see what they deal with daily.

No one has asked them what their thoughts are, most give their hearts and soul to the job, its something they were born to do help people all people.

We all need to admit there are bad people in this world and bad things happen, see these men and women for all they do. We, I don't want to lose them, we need them, please lets work together i believe we can do this.

I respectfully ask you to stand up and do the right thing.

We families see our loved ones leaving for their shift and pray they come home safe from all the danger in the world, but we now have an added worry about their future and the future of every good citizen from those who should be standing with them.

Respectfully
Diane Bourisk

Subject: Bill S.2820

Good Evening Judiciary Committee and Rep Pignatelli,

As a resident of Blandford MA and a wife of a retired MSP LT and mother of Northampton PD patrol officer, I am writing to you in support of my family and their peers in law enforcement against the senates decision to pass this bill without appropriate democratic process which excluded public comments. I am writing in the hope that you will recognize the injustice this has resulted and neglected due process.

Bill S.2820 was constructed out of emotions of a national tragedy which should have led to a conversation instead of punitive conduct toward our Commonwealths professional and highly trained officers. It is my opinion that foresight and common sense have been forgotten when this bill was drafted and passed in an overnight session. I believe that promoting this bill is moving backward in history and undermines the work and commitment which our officers, police departments and unions have competed to strive to be the best that they can be. Qualified Immunity does not protect officers who break the law nor does it hinder a criminal investigation into officers who abuse power. It actually protects the good officers who act in good faith and put their lives on the line for all citizens. If passed I fear an officer would actually have more protection by not acting rather than acting in good faith. So then what will that mean for us citizens.....less protection. More chaos. More crime.

In Blandford we have very low crime and rely on a part time force shared with Chester as well as the Russell SP barracks. I fear if qualified immunity is taken away our part time force will dissolve as I do not believe any officer would be willing to accept the increased liability, especially in a culture of dehumanization toward the police. I also fear that this result will also trickle into other public servants such as teachers, firefighters, judges and even politicians.

Based on my beliefs I am encouraging you to not accept this bill as presented.

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Police social worker's written testimony S.2820

It is difficult to be at a place where this written testimony needs to be submitted, and it is challenging to know the right words to say at a time like this, but I'm going to try to express how social services and policing CAN and already DO play beautifully together. I have been a police based clinician for approximately 5 years and through this period I have had the privilege of partnering with law enforcement officers (LEOs) on policy reform, co-response, training, advocacy, and multiple different elements of where social work and police overlap. The important thing to remember moving forward is that police and social work each have important jobs and roles, however, I do not believe it is appropriate to ask one to do the other's job as I wouldn't ask the other to do the other's job. Police serve roles as police and social workers serve roles as embedded clinicians, they both are valued, needed, and should be respected.

I am a social worker, and therefore my professional organization, the Massachusetts' Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers (NASW), is in support of the S.2820. However, I, as a social worker, am NOT in support of this bill and feel it is counterproductive with efforts which this same group (NASW) are proposing and efforts/advancements which have already been created and established within Massachusetts police departments.

I am a police social worker, and therefore the unions which my co-responders are part of are primarily against this bill. None of my co-workers or LEOs feel what transpired with George Floyd was fair, just, or right. None of my co-workers or LEOs support bad police officers, support illegal behaviors completed while on duty, nor advocate for injustice.

Over the past 5 years, I have developed a unique insight on how police departments function, what goes into being a police officer (as best as I can understand as a civilian), and how most cops come to work highly valuing their oath of protecting and serving their community and state. I have worked in two different police departments and therefore not only having one department's experience but two very different departments - one urban and one suburban. There were differences, but ultimately both departments had dedication and commitment to serving their residents in whatever needs that entailed. For some, that means slowing down traffic where their kids play, for others that means removing their abuser from the home, and for yet others that means deescalating behaviors so that they can seek professional psychiatric supports. For families this means reviving a brother, daughter, or child after a possible fatal overdose, for friends this means finding justice for the person whom broke into their roommate's bedroom window, for strangers it means knowing someone will respond within moments to help the child they see without a parent. Whatever the situation, the public has and continues to call on police for these and other types of calls for service. During the last few weeks, police have had thousands of people say horrible comments, attempt to victimize their loved ones, refused them service, rejected them from public areas, and made it overall very uncomfortable to be a cop. And yet, those same people who reportedly dislike police, have continued to call police for help during a crisis - whether that be a Restraining Order, an intoxicated party whom has become aggressive, or investigation into a break-in. Police continue to show up and do their job.

The current proposed bill outlines multiple elements. I'd like to address just a few:

* Calls to limit qualified immunity - this is something that as a police social worker I've been able to understand how this is very much a knee-jerk reaction and not going to serve practical purposes in the long-run. Qualified immunity ONLY protects those officers whom have followed standard protocol and policy as outlined by their town/city and/or state. If a cop is to go outside of this protocol and policy, they would not be eligible for qualified immunity. Similarly to Judge's having qualified immunity so that they don't feel swayed or pressured to make one decision over the other in court without the threat of being sued for a disliked but fair outcome, it has similar importance and need amongst first responders. LEOs, similar to Judges, have challenging jobs and need to feel supported and backed by their decisions so that they are not in situations of not being able to do their job for fear of what will come if they do complete their job as expected. Please, do not remove qualified immunity for LEOs; furthermore, why is this only directed for police and not for all individuals/professions protected under immunity? This is not fair and just if taking away from just one protected group.

* Set clear limits on the use of force - Massachusetts is far superior to other states in the country, we have use of force expectations and levels of behavior/violence which correspond with tools an officer would be qualified to use under those circumstances. I do not believe, and I believe that a good cop with agree with me on this, that the goal is to use lethal force if not absolutely necessary. I agree that there should be a continuum of use of force and this should be outlined in trainings, policies, and practice; this policy is also likely only as good as black and white words can document on a piece of paper and therefore society needs to be trained and educated around use of force practices and tactics used by police as well. The use of force continuum is currently taught in the police academy throughout the state of MA, but this seems to not be shared in liberal based debates because it does not feed into their agendas. It cannot be expected to have police engage in countless hours of trainings and recertifications if the public is not going to do their share of engagement in understanding of how and why police work as they do as well. This, in my opinion, is why we are at where we are today - most of society does not get the unique seat that I get in understanding firsthand how and why certain things are done. Citizen police academies are a great start to society better understanding, however, unlike requirements which police must face, there is not a requirement mandating a citizen of a city/town to attend this insightful trainings put on by police.

* Tear gas and bean bag rounds - the original name of this bill was "Saving Black Lives", does this title not lead to an assumption that there is a desire for less people to be killed? How are police expected to do this if their less lethal tools are removed from their use of force continuum? There have been decades of advocacy for levels of force to reduce fatal encounters, it is counterproductive to remove those tools in a bill that has a goal to save lives. A bad bruise or a few moments of discomfort is a better alternative than death.

* Creating community policing and behavioral health advisory council - ultimately, there will always be a need for police, as much as social workers may think they can do, I did not go to college to be a cop, I went to college to be a social worker. I did not become a cop because I do not want to have arrest individuals, I do not want to have to break up fights, etc., I want to be able to work WITH police once safety has been secured so that we, together, can best serve our residents. Social workers don't have blue lights on their cars, and therefore, I can't get to a call as quickly as police can. Society is claiming that they don't want police to respond and don't want police involvement, but yet continue to call police for help, for assistance with their protests, and when their loved one is in crisis. I'd like those in favor of this bill to explain that rational to me, because as my co-workers get criticized and, for lack of a better word, hated on, on a daily basis, they continue to do their job and help all those people who the day prior was aggressively protesting a "pro police" yard sign. Furthermore, there is no other profession (to my knowledge) that has a standards or advisory board that is made up of "outside" professions - a medical review board does not have non-MD's, a plumbers review board does not have anyone besides plumbers; 1 or 2 civilians are possibly fine, but to have a disproportionate number of civilians to cops (more civilians), this is not an appropriate advisory board. Additionally, the board should be comprised of more than just 3 departments representation and should include union personal, all levels of rank (patrol officer up to chief), and if a civilian is required this person should be someone whom has experience firsthand with law enforcement practices, procedures, and policy.

* Create a process for certifying and de-certifying police - If there is a desire for further education and training requirements for LEOs - fund that! If there is a desire for increased tactical skills and/or field training, increase those mandated hours per year. If there is a push for better training on ranges, allow departments to utilize their private ranges at any time and require monthly range hours and provide department-funded ammunition so it is not at cost to the officer. Most officers have a bachelor's degree and many also have a master's degree. Although not all degrees are in criminal justice, I don't believe a good department has 100% criminal justice degrees; this does not give variety, various specialties (ie - an administrative lieutenant might serve best with a business or administrative degree, a court prosecutor might serve best with a law degree, an SRO might serve best with an early childhood development degree). Instead of creating certifying processes, let's encourage ongoing training, diversity in training, and adequate and practical training. Let's update training so it is not just a "snooze day" but actually interactive and helpful. But if your bill wants to require further training - you must be ready to provide that funding as well.

* Choke holds - This is not even taught in the academy as is, please, know your department's and state practices before trying to put together a bill which is not even applicable.

* Amendment 128 - prioritize non-police community based interventions and services - this is already being done across the state of MA to some capacity or another, depending on the town/city. We should not be breaking down things which are already working and clinical supports which are already supporting and working along side police. In my role I respond with and follow up to many types of interventions and provide crisis support and long-term support to residents. I agree that this is not a police role, however, the initial contact a lot of the time is a police call. My role was created to partner with public safety, most frequently police, in order to provide some of the acute and crisis-related supports and services to community members. In my position, I co-respond with police, follow-up on calls for service, work on inter-disciplinary teams, and most importantly meet individuals where they are at in order to assist them in meeting their basic needs, working on ensuring everyone's safety, and providing brief treatment until long-term treatment can be established. A beautiful piece of my job is the ability to have strong relationships with my co-workers (police officers) in order to best serve our community members when they call in crisis; together we work with individuals and families to meet their needs.

Police officers are tasked on a daily basis with one of the most challenging jobs - to keep the peace while society is allowed to yell, scream, hurt, and mock cops in the process. Name another profession which has this same tolerance. I agree that there are racial justice inequalities and things which need to change, however, as a state we need to look at the bigger issues rather than one small portion - we need to look at the in proportionate death rate amongst black women post child delivery, the exceptionally high rate of "medical error" on the OR table, the rate of sexual exploitation during the Super Bowl, the number of children abused by their "all-star coach" of a father, the number of teachers who ignore the "challenged" child, and so many more. I agree that more training is needed amongst police and that reform can happen, but I don't believe that limiting qualified immunity and inserting social workers as a response instead of police will solve anything. These are extremely out of place responses to a crisis. Individuals need to step back emotionally and think rationally, dig into research that is factual rather than the research which supports their argument, sit down with first responders to better understand before speaking, and let LEOs speak about what they need in order to meet the "demands" which are being put on them instead of having a group of people speak about a profession that they have no experience in.

Someone on Facebook posted the following and I couldn't help but agree, so I wanted to share. He posted something to the extent of the following: "this (Senate) passing has led to this: a vote yes to end professional police officers; a vote yes to end proactive policing; a vote yes to increased crime rates, a vote yes to emboldened criminals, a vote yes to frivolous law suits against individual officers and municipalities; a vote yes to increased taxes and property insurance due to increased crime rate and theft/malicious destruction of property; a vote yes to flood police retirements and those who are vested leaving to find careers in the private sector, and therefore rise of poor replacements". When the Senate passed this bill, it was not done according to the democratic system of government which the U.S. prides itself on, voices were not allowed to be heard and the bill was rushed through all other processes. Changes need to happen, yes, but changes created this quickly will only come back and make things worse. Before voting on your bill, please make sure it meets the needs of everyone - not just the liberal and vocal population.

I ask you with a heavy heart that you do not support this bill. I ask you that you support reform that will be effective, practical, and useful - rather than harmful and in a long term projection not effective. We have a state full of primarily wonderful and dedicated cops, ones who protect and serve; if MA takes this bill forward, I am extremely fearful how many of those actually good cops will remain on this job. We will then see an increase in less qualified and possibly more of the "bad cop" type increasing in numbers on departments. Empower and support the wonderful and progressive work which this state has already accomplished - the fact that many departments have embedded clinicians, the there are recovery coaches and other addiction support staff within departments, that departments attend Critical Incident Training, that Chiefs support their officers in attending training to better be able to use their firearms and are on specialized teams to be able to better serve yet. Instead of beating down this profession, let's re-frame it and look at all the good they have done and continue to do.

Let's look at how social workers and police can continue to partner instead of replace, and let's remember that we are all human and most American's have no idea what it is like to stand in a cops shoe's - let alone be willing to even try to understand or ask to better understand. If you are someone who supports this bill, but cannot speak to efforts, initiatives, policies, and procedures which are already in place in your town's police department or Massachusetts in general, please learn firsthand before speaking further. Please become informed rather than just listening to the news or reading the thousands of comments of people claiming to "know the truth" or going with the vote which will get you re-elected. Reform can and will occur, but please, let's make sure it doesn't interrupt the reform that started years ago and is finally starting to take off and be trusted in.

Massachusetts is already a leading voice in positive response to mental health and substance use, to name a few, please acknowledge this and continue this leading status as you create a bill that will actually support police while supporting the need for reform as well, while also highlighting the years of work and dedication which has already been poured into this tag-team type response to modern day policing.

Please reach out if you'd like to have further dialogue around the interesting and important intersect which I sit in in my role as a police based social worker.

Thank you,

Samantha Reif

Subject: Against restricting police qualified immunity.

Dear representative Aaron Michlewitz and representative Clair D. Cronin,
We raise our voice in strong objection to the provisions in the Police Reform Act that will restrict qualified immunity for police in Massachusetts. The negative effects of such provisions are obvious - frivolous lawsuits against the policemen who attempt to use legitimate force against the people who violate the laws This, inevitably, will make police less willing to enforce the laws (the major function) and to impede their recruitment efforts. This is a disaster in the making, in our opinion.

Please consider changing the incoming legislation in the way that does not have these extremely negative consequences.

Respectfully

Dear House and Ways and Means Committee,

I am writing to you today to please reconsider the bill s2820. For all public servants to do their job efficiently they should not be in fear that someone is going to judge them on the decisions that they need to make. I am asking you to help change these amendments.

1. Qualified Immunity
2. Due Process/Collective Bargaining.
3. Make up the POSAC board.

I work in the school department. I have been in cases where the child was going to harm herself. I needed to intervene to keep the child safe. Then the parent then pressed charges. If I had not intervened and the child fell off the top of the swing set and broke a bone I would have been neglectful at keeping the child safe. How does a public employee do what they have been trained for with their first thought could I be sued for doing this. We are now putting the public in danger because we will not act as quickly as we have been trained .

My husband is a police officer. Everyday he is put into dangerous situations. His job to keep him and everyone else safe. If police are to do their job the way they are trained. Their first instinct should not be could I be sued because I offended someone's feelings first. They are professionals and they are trained to handle stressful and dangerous situations. If they are second guessing their training because they are afraid they could lose their job or be sued. They are now putting their life in danger along with the law abiding public.

As a public employee Due process/collective Bargaining is extremely important. Public employees are most vulnerable to elections, political winds, and changing current events. The fact that a bill wiping out their rights is even under consideration a good example of why this protection is of the utmost importance

As for the POSAC board. I am extremely concerned that a group of people who have never been under the stress and demand of a Police Officer are allowed to determine if there was excess force. Even as a wife of a police officer I could not judge if there was excess force. I have seen my husband come home hurt, defeated and frustrated at what he has witnessed and dealt with. Being a family member of a policeman, I understand that not all situations are as easy as people like to believe they are. How can you make a board and not have someone who has lived in their shoes determine if they could have used other means to de-escalate a situation. Please reconsider the makeup of the board and to make it fair for all involved. If your goal is to make fair for all why is the board made up of non police members?

Thank you

Subject: Testimony re: S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Police Reform Bill S.2820

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Anthony Gabriele, a police officer from Shrewsbury, for the past three and a half years. I've wanted this job ever since I was a young child; when I watched my uncle graduate from the Worcester Police Academy when I was 7 years old. Growing up, it was a dream of mine to protect and serve, and am lucky enough to do so in the town I grew up in. I am writing today to express my concerns for bill S.2800 (now, bill S.2820).

Proposed bill S.2820, has many sections that make me question my future in this profession. This Anti-Labor bill diminishes collective bargaining for police, it reduces qualified immunity, and does not offer any law enforcement on the POSAC committee, unlike every other profession (i.e.: lawyer's board has lawyers, doctor's board has doctors, etc.). I have a long way to go in my career and I believe I perform my duties the way they were meant to be performed. However, the career of policing consists of many potentially life changing decisions, made only in a split second. This bill will jeopardize the safety of citizens, my colleagues, and myself.

The way this bill was proposed, many of my colleagues and myself would reluctantly leave the job. I believe there would be a mass exodus of police throughout the state, ultimately creating a large spike in crime and an underwhelming interest for the career in new recruits. The career I dreamt of doing my entire life would get cut short, due to the fear of risking my family's well being and assets. Please consider the effects that this bill would have on the thousands of police officers and their families lives across the state.

Thank you for your time,

Anthony Gabriele

I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now. I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

I am a lifelong resident of Csnton Ma and I urge you to not pass this bill as written. My son is a police officer, you don't want people judging black people because of a few yet you are punishing police in this state because of the actions of a man in MN . You can't pass a bill in a year bit this bill is flying right through. Who protects you? Please step back and get input from all involved parties. This is the fair way to do this, pandering to this movement will not help anyone in the long term. I urge you to stop this and maybe try to focus your evergies on one of the many bills that are sitting in the pile that haven't been passed.

Dear committee members,

I appreciate the opportunity to voice my thoughts as you prepare to debate Bill s2820.

Qualified immunity should stand and be removed from this bill.

I support further, not less, investment in law enforcement; more focus on exposing and prosecuting "bad" police and most of all standing behind and standing up for the great majority of police who serve us all, at their own risk and sacrifice, to keep us safe.

Black lives is language used in the summary of the original bill. No need to single blacks out. Communities of color says it all. Racism has no place in our wanting our police to be the best they can be.

I have family and friends who are devoted police officers, everyday heroes who deserve our respect and support.

Hello,

I am writing as a concerned resident of Tewksbury, MA to urge you to:

Please preserve the vital reforms in the Senate bill, such as the following:

- * Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body
- * Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages

- * Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records
- * Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities
- * Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual and is strikingly not yet illegal

Please go further than the Senate bill by

- * Strengthening use of force standards, e.g., by outright banning chokeholds and tear gas
- * Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)
- * Lifting the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund

Thank you.

Subject: Opposition to Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Scott Spaner and I live at 46 Roy ave Attleboro, Mass 02703. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer 1. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Scott Spaner

Subject: Police bill

I agree with many parts of the new police reform bill, however, I do not agree with the part about qualified immunity. Police officers have the difficult task of making quick decisions under stress— just as doctors, nurses, and other front line workers. If we take that away we will be left with police officers unwilling to help or take risks. We will end up conveying a message to these brave men and women that the fact that they risk their lives, day in and day out, doesn't matter.

Please do not pass this bill as it is. It needs to be modified.

Thank you for your time,

Subject: Opposition to Bill S.2820

To Whom This May Concern,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage.

Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Public Testimony on S.2820 - Expungement Expansion

Dear Speaker DeLeo, Chair Michlewicz, Chair Cronin, Vice Chair Day and Committee Members:

Please accept this testimony for S.2820 in SUPPORT of expanding the current youth expungement law. As practitioners in the juvenile court for a decade, we have seen first hand how youth are harmed by the current limitations on expungement. While youth (as part of adolescent development) naturally grow and leave their juvenile behaviors behind them to become incredible adults and leaders in their communities, they currently cannot leave their youthful criminal cases behind them. This is incredibly important as criminal records are often no longer representative of the young adult but continue to be a large barrier to finding self-sustaining work and community roles. It is a stigma that young people should not have to worry about while they are young--in case after case, young people do not come to understand the impact of a criminal record until long after they are adults. This is not fair. By allowing young people whose cases have been dismissed to expunge their criminal records, including those youth who have more than one case, we are supporting their future. Part of tackling systemic racism requires us acknowledging who the brunt of insufficient expungement, even for dismissed cases, falls on: youth of color. As attorneys who stand for racial justice as part of the legal system's promise of justice for all, expansion of the current expungement law is critical. We are proud to be signatories to the Expungement Movement that has been organized by the state's amazing young leaders; we write separately to emphasize just how important this change is.

To whom this may concern,

My name is Nicole MacLean and I live at 244 River Street, Waltham, MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong. My brother in-law, Jospeh Garcia, has been a law enforcement officer in Boston, MA for 25 years and has dedicated his life to the safety of others.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Nicole MacLean

To whom it may concern,

As your constituent, I'm writing to ask you include three essential measures in any legislation on police accountability and racial justice. Please prohibit violent police tactics, impose meaningful restrictions on qualified immunity, and ban the use of discriminatory face surveillance.

Massachusetts is not immune to systemic racism in policing. It's long been clear that Black people in the Commonwealth are over-policed and under-served. Meanwhile, police are rarely held accountable for corruption or serious misconduct. This moment presents a significant opportunity for racial justice, and we should seize it.

First, please implement strong use of force standards as set out in Rep. Miranda's bill, An Act to Save Black Lives, including complete bans on the most violent police tactics.

Second, impose strict limits on qualified immunity to ensure that police can be held accountable when they violate people's rights. Banning violent police tactics is meaningless if there is no way for people to hold the police accountable when they break the rules. Victims of police brutality deserve justice.

Finally, please support an unequivocal ban on the use of dangerous facial recognition technology that would supercharge racist policing. The dangers of face surveillance and systemic racism in policing will not evaporate in mere months. The moratorium on the use of this technology should not be lifted until the legislature enacts meaningful regulation to guard against racial bias, invasions of privacy, and violations of due process.

Dear Representative / Senator /Governor/

My name is Mandi Safford Williams and I live in East Longmeadow MA. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now. I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous. Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Alexander Tiberii and I live at 89 highland st, Middleboro ma 02346. I work at Old Colony Correctional Center and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Alexander Tiberii

To whom it may concern,

As a registered voter in Agawam, Massachusetts, I am writing to express my support for S.2820. It is crucial for the safety of all residents of the state, especially black residents, that we put policies in place to hold problem officers to account by ending qualified immunity and decertifying officers who abuse their power. The use of tear gas, rubber bullets, chokeholds and no-knock raids must also be prohibited as they have been shown to lead to serious injury and/or death as well as further escalating already tense situations.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jessica O'Connor

Subject: Bill S2820 (S2800)

Dear House and Ways and Means Committees,

My name is Timothy Reynolds and I am a Police Officer for the City of Worcester. I am writing to you about the bill you received from the Senate. This bill is very ANTI LABOR and with the political landscape on the left side who are supporting to eliminate Collective Bargaining & the Right to Due Process is a Major flaw and goes against the platform of being Labor/Union supporters. I am asking that you please make amendment to the bill for the following areas;

- 1- Qualified Immunity
- 2 - Due Process / Collective Bargaining
- 3 - The Makeup of the POSAC board

I have been a police officer for 23 years and during that time I have been hurt several times which has led up to having one of my knees replaced. Another time I was put on meds as a precaution, because I had cuts on my arms covered with blood of a person that was HIV positive and this was when my wife was expecting our first child. Once after getting hit by a car and not being home around my normal time I had to call and wake my wife up and let her know I was ok and what had happened to me and the other officers. After that happened once I returned to work on the overnight shift, if I was going to be late I had to call home otherwise my kids were calling me thinking I was hurt and that is if they were not disturbed by nightmares that daddy was not coming home. This is an experience a lot of Police Officers have had and until it happens to you or a loved one it's hard to really understand. Just imagine when going on these medical call or even a Breaking and entering call if Police don't have Qualified Immunity and they attempt CPR on someone's loved one and they break a rib which usually will happen and the family wants to sue them now, or the family member doesn't make it and wants to sue them. How about an Officer goes to a breaking and entering call see a person leaving the house or business and chases them. The suspect falls and gets hurt or struggles and fights with the police. Yup you guessed it they are going to sue. The officer may win the lawsuit but not before his family is dragged through the mud, or loses the case and has to pay thousands of dollars. Even though they were acting in good faith the way the bill is written the Police officers and the Cities and Towns are going to be facing way too many frivolous lawsuits that should have never happened. Before you think well the officer will be covered by the City or Town. You should know they do a cost analysis on each case and as you very well know most are settled out of court to limit the possible expense. So when Qualified Immunity is gone they will have to spend that much more. That money is going to have to come from somewhere whether the Police budget, the Fire Department, Schools, or DPW.

We know some people think the Police don't need to go to overdoses, medical calls like heart attacks, babies not breathing, car accidents and so on. But the reality is the Police are 9 times out of 10 right around the corner and are able to administer Narcan, start CPR, much faster than if people had to wait for an ambulance or a social worker. I have had to perform CPR on a newborn that was not breathing and still attached to an umbilical cord.. I'm sure that mother doesn't want to think of what the outcome would have been had she had to wait longer for the ambulance to arrive, considering the baby was breathing before they arrived. Don't misunderstand me. I do believe there are times that a social worker, drug addiction partner, or other individuals could answer some of the calls we get dispatched to. The Worcester Police Dept has officers that are trained and work with outside agencies to help the drug addiction problem, the homeless individuals in the city as well as those suffering from mental health issues.

Do Police Officers know there is room for Reform inside the Criminal Justice system, absolutely. Most Officers are not afraid of Body Cameras because they do their jobs correctly. They just want to know that when accused of wrongdoing and the camera footage shows they did nothing wrong then the person that lied should be held accountable.

DO YOUR OWN RESEARCH BEFORE YOU VOTE! You have been presented with a 71-page Bill that:

* changes dozens of laws, creates and funds many new agencies and Commissions

- * eliminates collective bargaining rights of police officers
- * removes authority from Cities and Towns to control their own employees
- * removes the rights of police to monitor gang activity in schools
- * removes the due process rights of public safety officers
- * exposes police officers and their families to personal liability even when acting in good faith
- * will open the floodgates for frivolous lawsuits against Municipalities and increase the cost to taxpayers to defend those cases
- * puts the lives of police officers in danger unnecessarily
- * creates a police licensing board that is staffed by organizations who sue our communities and advocate for the elimination of police services

I thank all of you for the opportunity to be heard, and hope you will consider what I have said and asked of you.

Thank you,

Timothy Reynolds

Thank you for responding. I'm glad there are no plans to end it. Much like health care professionals and teachers the law enforcement community has a job to do, it's not an easy one, but some days are good. There are always good patients, good kids, and good people we interact with. But it's not always that way, there might be that one person who we can't reason with or calm down. We may have to use reasonable force on them to protect someone else or to prevent them from hurting themselves. The majority of people in law enforcement take this responsibility seriously, at least every single one I know in Massachusetts. Other than excessive force or criminal acts we shouldn't have to worry about being sued because someone didn't want to get arrested.

Please forward this comment to the Chairperson

Thank you for writing Jeff. The Senate bill did not end qualified immunity and while we do not have a House bill yet, I do not think that there will be plans to do so either. That said, there will be a hearing at some point soon and I'm happy to forward your comments to the Chair if you would like. Just let me know.

Thank you again and I hope you are well.

Subject: A Concerned Citizen

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Sarah DeArville

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Eric Tomasia and I live at 253 reed st New Bedford Massachusetts 02740 . I work at Ash street Jail which is a facility of the Bristol County Sherriffs Office and I have been a Corrections Officer for 10 1/2 years. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????????????? ?????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????????????? ?????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,
Guinivere Terhune

Subject: REJECT SB 2820

To Governor Baker and the MA Legislature,

I am writing on behalf of myself and my wife to strongly urge you to reject the recently passed SB 2820. This bill is a danger to public safety as it would essentially "handcuff" police officers. Even in normal circumstances police officers must make split-second decisions in order to protect their lives and the lives of others. With the current state of our country regarding COVID-19 and the racial issues we are facing, the circumstances are no longer normal. The volatility of the situations police face has increased exponentially. They are already hesitant to act due to the hostility they are facing from many in our culture, including elected officials. Removing qualified immunity and limiting legitimate use of force will put their lives in danger as well as the law abiding citizens who rely on them.

Also, the committee that would be created as a result of this bill would be significantly lopsided. Wouldn't it be wise to include members of the law enforcement community on this committee so there would be a balanced conversation including people who actually have experience dealing with the issues on the street?

Another disturbing aspect of the passage of this bill in the Senate, is the fact that it was passed without any public hearing. It's also interesting that it was passed overnight and completed at 4:30am on a Tuesday in the Summer. It's obvious that the Senate wanted as little attention as possible when it came to the vote/passage.

Lastly, it's also obvious that this is an attempt to appease the radical leftist activists that have been calling for defunding the police. I'm glad MA is not taking such extreme measures as other states but it's still concerning that this was handled the way it was.

I'll end with this question. Who would rather see police defunded or limited in their ability to use necessary means to fight crime, law abiding citizens or criminals?

Sincerely,
Adam & Katrina Ripka

We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also as that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Matthew Tibbetts

Subject: House Bill S.2820

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Donna M. Belcher and I live at 50 Jasper Street, Saugus MA 01906. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my family and neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police Bill

Hello

I am a citizen of Massachusetts and my voice should be heard as much as those that everyone seems to quickly give in to.

I find it completely disrespectful to push this bill through without the proper procedure.

I also believe that being reactive verse truly making an educated positive change is an insult to the Massachusetts people. The bill overall has many issues but the biggest issue would be the qualified immunity bill. Taking away that protection from police is absolutely unacceptable. To allow anyone to sue them personally for anything they choose is plain ignorant.

This bill should not be put through without everyone taking a deep breath and thinking about what the real goal is. We want change not a quick fix. Please stop this bill!

Dear Chairs,

I am writing to voice my wholehearted support for the Reform-Shift-Build Act. As a resident of East Boston, I get to see and celebrate diversity every day. We are a community made up of many cultures, representing the full spectrum of race that this globe offers. My family and I have fed from that spectrum and we have given back as well. Right now, we are not safe. We have been unsafe for quite some time. We will remain unsafe as long as the current state of policing is maintained. We here in East Boston are not the only ones.

Our State and Nation face a long postponed reckoning with race., We must keep a stern dialogue with how we police one another as part of that reckoning. The Reform-Shift-Build Act opens that dialogue in unprecedented ways. Stringent certifications, inroads towards banning excessive force, review boards staffed by community, and a stronger stance against surveillance technology are just some of the impressive pieces we will be bringing to the state with this Act. Perhaps the most impressive piece to this is a focused reform to the doctrine known as "qualified immunity."

Passing this act while keeping the reform of qualified immunity attached to it would be historical. It would send the appropriate message to the Nation. If we as a people are to be policed, it must be under an entirely reimagined officer. There are glimpses of good in all of us. There are glimpses of good in our law enforcement. But there is also an unspeakable bad in all of us. As it permeates all of us by degrees, so too does it fester in our law enforcement.

I have witnessed firsthand what can occur when unchecked racist thought and sentiment spills into human behavior. There is no thermometer check for hatred, dislike, annoyance, ambivalence. And that temperature rises and subsides throughout a life. Thoughts are truly free, and should not be governed. Action is governed. But actions are rooted in those thoughts. The action to take another's life, to choke another out, to abuse another, to dominate another, to correct another, without impunity is what I believe qualified immunity too often permits.

Reform, and regulation are necessities for police in Massachusetts and everywhere. But the protective mask of qualified immunity must fall. We face consequences as citizens. Those consequences do not police our thoughts, but they force us to think twice, or even just once before acting. For too long has our police force acted without impartial thought when it comes to another's life and rights.

I am asking you to support the Reform-Shift-Build Act for my family, for East Boston, for Boston, for Massachusetts, and for the entire United States of America. I am asking you to share my voice with your fellow legislators, and amplify it yourself in your championing of this Act.

Thank you for your time.

However, I felt it was important as a MH professional who trains on deescalation techniques to directly address what I strongly feel is egregious: the police system (including training and actions) which directly results in the ongoing traumatization and death of black people and black communities.

I have worked on inpatient psych units and in residential care for over a decade of my life. For over half that time, I have been responsible for teaching various deescalation and safety training classes. This includes physical restraint. During this time: I have been spit at. I have been kicked, punched, pushed, bitten, called names. I have had my hair pulled out. I have had my glasses broken. I have gone to work with a cracked rib. I have been on worker's comp twice with back issues. This list is not exhaustive nor is it written to make you feel sorry for me. I fucking love my job, I love these kids and families, I love what I do. It is not a job to me- I couldn't imagine doing anything else.

I'm here to say this: NONE OF THESE THINGS ever necessitates putting your knee on someone else's neck- never. Not for a moment. The staff we teach literally learn that day one. Restraints (which are still used- and I could go on a whole other tangent about that, but that's for another time) are ONLY for use as a last resort, after everything else has been tried- and ONLY when there is imminent risk to that person's safety or the safety of someone else. They learn that prone holds significantly increase the risk of positionally-related asphyxia. This is also why we instruct that they are not allowed to place their hands anywhere across their back, neck, or head. They are told to release and assess immediately if at any point there are signs or statements the person cannot breathe.

NONE of these things was even CLOSE to happening when Derek Chauvin put his knee on George Floyd's neck for OVER EIGHT MINUTES WITH THE INTENT TO KILL while he was CALM AND NOT RESISTING. Two other officers held him down while a third stood guard, all saying nothing. ONLY ONE OF THESE MEN HAS BEEN ARRESTED and it took FOUR DAYS. Four days of protests and George Floyd's murder being graphically circulated around the internet, further traumatizing the black community. Derek Chauvin's initial charge- third degree murder and second degree manslaughter- is an absolute joke. The fact that Chauvin was still an active duty officer despite EIGHTEEN previous complaints is negligent. The fact that the initial autopsy attempted to blame "underlying health conditions" is a cover-up for both.

When the people of Boston came out on Sunday to demand justice in an organized fashion, the police waited until after dark- then blocked exits and began tear gassing people who were attempting to peacefully leave toward the T. They chose to use fear and military style tactics which escalated the situation immensely. Oh pardon- my mistake, tear gas is actually a chemical weapon deemed illegal for use in warfare by several international treaties. Minor detail. Anyway- the police barely interacted with protesters until this decision. No verbal deescalation or statements, just yelling, straight tear gas, and preventing people from leaving via the T. They kept the T shut down for hours, and people were wandering around confused and begging for rides while violence escalated.

Is this protecting and serving? Targeting peaceful protesters rather than holding colleagues in your own chosen profession accountable for their egregious actions? This is the amount of planning, thought, and effort that was put into their response to a protest they knew was coming? Additional incidents of disproportionate use of force and police brutality have happened in other cities, but I can speak directly to these- as I was there for the 3+ hours of a peaceful protest, making it out just before one of my best friends was trapped inside while trying to leave.

I am so sick of hearing white people, cops, and politicians try and justify these actions and inexcusable levels of force... and I am white and not LIVING THIS experience on a day to day basis. Nothing close to this was seen when white men decided to military LARP with AR-15s inside "government property" because they were asked to wear a mask and stay home during a global pandemic. They were allowed to posture with semi-automatic weapons while unarmed protesters are being kicked and tear gassed for standing in the street vs the sidewalk, or at some points when kneeling. I don't want to hear any of these weak excuses or cover-ups, dismissal and distraction tactics, or cute stories about "good cops" until ALL cops are loudly and vocally holding each other accountable. I will not.

This type of policing is literally killing and disproportionately traumatizing black communities. It is one major reason WHY we are seeing children so dysregulated and traumatized that they assault the very adults who are trying to help them. I hold my staff- some of whom are literal 21year old new college grads making shit pay (also a conversation for another time)- to a FAR higher standard.

WE SHOULD ALL DEMAND THE POLICE DO BETTER. This is ESPECIALLY true if you work in human services. We cannot afford to post and move along.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Tony Tran and I live at 72 Whitten Street, Dorchester, Ma 02122. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019, the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. Subject: Opposition to Parts of Bill S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now. I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing as a proud member of the Quincy Police Department to address the ongoing legislative proposals currently circulating at the Massachusetts State House. We are aware that several different bills aimed at police reform are in the works and most likely will be expedited for a vote in the very near future. We are also very cognizant of the current political climate and we recognize the anger that the vast majority of people feel over the terrible and tragic death of Mr. Floyd. Nobody truly hates bad cops more than good cops. That being said, we are incredibly proud of our profession and of the dedicated men and women in Massachusetts Law Enforcement, particularly of the members of the Quincy Police Department.

As a professional organization we are always looking for ways to improve and continue to earn the public's trust and confidence. We just ask that you allow us to be part of the conversation. We have read several versions of bills that are being pushed forward. Some of the ideas we welcome, POST standards state wide, databases of police officers unfit for the profession and increased reporting of statistics. However, some of the other ideas seem overly complex and constrictive.

If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

3. Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. We deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

4. Some of the ideas include language for steps that shall be taken before using any type of force. Requiring de-escalation techniques and mental health evaluations on every call is not possible. This would be setting officers up for failure and opening them up to having their licensed revoked and ending their careers.

We would welcome the opportunity to sit down with you and answer any questions you have about the tools, tactics, policies and technology that the Quincy Police currently use and how we employ them to keep the citizens of Quincy, our officers, and the suspects we encounter as safe as possible.

Thank you for your time and for your service to the citizens of the Commonwealth. We hope to hear from you soon.

Respectfully,

Patrolman James Karvelis

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear Judiciary Committee,

My name is Scott Phillips. I am a police officer with the Middleboro Police Department. I am emailing in regards to the police reform bill. Most notably qualified immunity. There's been a lot of speculation as to what the change to qualified immunity will be. My understanding is that people will now be able to civilly sue police officers for violations of civil rights/violation constitutional rights. This essentially gets rid of good faith exception that police officers have. For example, I arrest someone on a warrant and for whatever reason it's an error. I technically violated their civil and constitutional rights. So now that person can sue me? The same goes for motor vehicle stops. If at night I read a license plate wrong and stop a car based on information I receive and it's wrong I can be sued. I arrest someone for domestic assault and at court the victim says it never happened. Now I face a lawsuit? These are all real life scenarios that police officers face. We make split second decisions and now we are going to be hesitant to make those decisions for risk of frivolous lawsuits. Now I understand in most of these cases the lawsuit will most likely not go anywhere, but it still hangs over that officers head until it's settled. Imagine doing everything perfectly right and facing a lawsuit that may last 1, 2, 3 years.

I understand you want to be proactive with legislation, but this bill is completely reactive. MA is not other places in the country. We have high standards for our police officers which is why our academy is accepted almost everywhere in the country.

If this bill passes there will be bolt for the door. I work in a relatively small department and my guess is we lose close to 10% of our officers almost immediately either by retiring early or just walking out the door. I consider myself a pretty darn good cop. I have a spotless record and have never had as much as a complaint filed against me in over 8 years. I am the last person a legislative bill should worry and this bill worries me. My wife is telling me to get a new job. I'd be lying if I said I'm not considering it.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kyle Moriarty and I live at 3 Mark Twain Drive in Lakeville MA. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Kyle Moriarty

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Bill S.2800

* As your constituent, Pat Schultz from Norwood, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to S.2800 which was passed by the Senate. I ask that you oppose this bill as constituted when it is debated in the House of Representatives.

We also ask that it be debated in the light day and not voted on in the dark of night.

The bill is ill conceived and politically driven. We agree that police reform is important and needs to be addressed but passing a poor bill for the sake of passing a bill based is not in the best interest of the Commonwealth.

This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. It will cause many good officers to leave due to the new burdens and make it harder to recruit individuals into law enforcement.

S 2800 establishes a review committee with overly broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations. The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment rights against self-incrimination (see Carney vs Springfield) and constitutional protections against "double-jeopardy."

Qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for the police officers we send out on patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot purchase a home, a car, obtain a credit card, or other things for the benefit of them and their families. Good luck with police recruitment.

In addition S 2800 failed to follow the normal and appropriate legislative process of holding public hearings to accept testimony from citizens and experts. I ask that you vote NO when S.2800 comes to the House of Representatives for the reasons stated above, and others.

"We cannot support a measure which takes handcuffs off drug dealers and gang bangers and puts them on police, allows criminal records to disappear while tearing open police personnel files and allows criminals to appeal for monetary damages while denying police due process to appeal for their job," said James Machado, executive director of the Massachusetts Police Association.

Please vote NO on Bill S 2800.

Thank you,

Sincerely, Pat Schultz 781-769-2819

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin
Massachusetts House of Representatives
24 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kelly Wenz and I live at 36 Hathaway Circle in Arlington, Massachusetts. I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Kelly WenzFrom: Michael Best <mabest13@yahoo.com>

Subject: S2800 Bill letter

To Whom It May concern:

My name is John Sylvia and I reside at 51 Ada Street Fall River. I know you have been a staunch supporter of law enforcement and the city of Fall River in the past, which is why you have always had my vote, as well as the votes of my family and friends. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, and law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

I would like to add that the Fall River Police Department is one of the very few police departments out of 351 cities and towns within MA that have both state and federal accreditation. If you remove qualified immunity from police officers, you will have a mass exodus from law enforcement due to fictitious lawsuits as a way to make money, and it would place all police departments within the state at even a more record shortage / dangerous crisis levels. No one wants to be sued personally for every single time a police officer takes action whether on or off duty.

The process to hire a new officer is usually a 1.5 year commitment on average, assuming they even willingly accept the job now days. As you know, it takes approximately six months or longer, to properly screen a perspective candidates for criminal and psychological background checks, baseline physical fitness requirements, additional prerequisites, etc. The police academies are roughly 6 months, and field training is three months.

Furthermore, you could cut down on both police officer liability, as well as potential injury to a police officer and suspect, by simply making the resisting arrest law a more serious crime and a felony. Right now it is only a misdemeanor in MA, just like assault and battery on a police officer. If you spray-paint someone's property it's "tagging" as well as felony vandalism. If you hurt any type of animal in anyway, it's cruelty to animals, which is also a serious felony. Meanwhile attacking a police officer and resisting arrest are minor misdemeanor crimes.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,
John Sylvia

Dear Members of the House of Representatives,

I have been a police officer in the Town of Randolph for the past 24 years. As I'm sure you all will agree the job has become tougher and tougher each year. The passing of Bill S2800 will make the job of a police officer even more difficult especially the Qualified Immunity portion of the bill.

I ask each of you the following question. A police officer in Minneapolis, Minnesota was charged with murder so the Commonwealth of Massachusetts needs police reform?

A part of this bill will ban choke holds. Do you folks understand that police officers in Massachusetts are not trained to use choke holds so there is no reason to ban a tactic that is not used.

Senator Ryan Fattman of Sutton said it perfectly when he was referring to law enforcement officers in Massachusetts. He so eloquently said "the egregious sins of other law enforcement in other parts of the country should not be their burden to bear.

The legislation in Massachusetts is trying to fix a problem when there is no problem. I respectfully request that all members vote against this bill.

Sincerely,
John Bringardner

Subject: S.2820 Opposition

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: reform bill

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Derek Dalton and I live at 33 Crystal Way Bellingham MA. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Derek Dalton

Subject: Bill S.2800

Good evening,

I hope this email finds you well. I am writing to you to express my numerous concerns with Bill S.2800 that focuses on police reform and shifting their available resources toward other means.

First, I have several family members and friends who are in law enforcement. They made a choice to go into this profession to serve, protect and to try and make this world a better place. Police officers all over the country are being treated with the utmost disrespect due to recent events. The officers who were not even involved in the cases such as George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ellijah McClain, are having bricks thrown, trash thrown, their cruisers defaced etc. The fact that police officers who dedicate their time, and sometimes even their lives to this country, are going to be put in a position where they may have to hesitate for fear of being sued, or other repercussions is completely ludicrous to me. Yes, there are bad officers out there who abuse their power. However, why should the majority of "the good ones" have to suffer for the actions of the bad?

I am sure you are aware of the story of Weymouth Police Sergeant, Michael Chesna. He was my cousin's brother-in-law. Mr. Chesna was in a situation where he hesitated in fear of the consequences and repercussions of what might happen if he were to act against the individual, who was supposedly "unarmed" and had "just a rock." Due to his hesitation, Michael Chesna proceeded to have the rock thrown at him, then had his gun taken, and was killed with his OWN gun by this other individual.

I am extremely fearful that many other police officers will be faced with this same exact fate if this bill were to pass. Absolutely there is police brutality in our society. However, I truly believe that this bill is not the answer to helping alleviate and eradicate this problem.

My brother, who was a police officer in Manchester, NH for 6 years was involved in many situations that put his life in danger. I recall one instance that he was so shaken by and felt the need to express to his family. He was called to a domestic dispute one night, multiple times. Upon arriving at the residence, he was told by a man that everything was fine at the door, but he knew there was something wrong. He acted on his instincts in the situation, and saved a woman's life from being a victim of domestic violence. However, in this situation, if this Bill was in effect, and my brother had to hesitate, that woman's outcome could have looked very different, and she might not be alive today.

I am extremely concerned about the psychological effect this Bill could have on not only our police officers but also citizens as well. Also, it could have lasting physical effects on innocent people. If a police officer is called to a situation or an altercation, it is for a reason. I know that I would not want a police officer hesitating to act because of a Bill that could put their livelihood at risk.

In closing, I am a fourth grade teacher in the city of Lawrence. If this Bill passes, I am concerned about the effects it could have on teachers. Who's to say that then teachers wouldn't be placed in the same situations of having to hesitate when teaching. Hesitation can have extreme consequences in an elementary age classroom. For instance, if one of my students is choking, am I not supposed to help them for fear of being sued for "putting hands" on a child or other actions that the family might take? If a student receives a grade of a C because that is the grade he or she earned, am I supposed to rescind and change that grade if I get pressure from the family because they feel that grade was not justified?

Were any former police officers, current police officers, or other civil service employees on the board that came up with this bill? Was their feedback and views taken into account?

Thank you so much for your time, and please consider all of these situations and points that I have given.

Very best,

Jennifer Regan

Subject: Bill 2820

Representatives,

I write to you today as a lifelong resident of Massachusetts, a Police Officer, and a concerned citizen. To give you a bit of background I am 34 years old and have been a Police Officer for 3 years. I grew up admiring and respecting the profession and was honored to accept the responsibility it comes with. Until recent I would have argued with anyone this is in fact the best job in the world.

Unfortunate recent events have changed my perception. I grew up on Grafton Hill in Worcester My entire life. I played sports, participated in all extracurricular activities available, and always had a diverse group of friends. I fortunately never directly experienced racism or witnessed it with my friends from other ethnic backgrounds. Myself and my immediate friends always respected Police and the few interactions I had with them as a teen we're positive.

The events that took place in Minneapolis are disgusting and do not represent this profession as a whole. The majority of Police are being attacked and vilified for the minority. In all professions we have good and bad people I'm sure we can both agree. Unfortunately in this Profession you sign up for abuse and you learn to take it in stride. The recent abuse we have been receiving feels different though. The profession itself is under attack and as I said my opinion of this job has changed. If you were to ask me today if I feel this is the best job in the world I would advise you to stay clear.

My mindset since day one has been that of self sacrifice. When I leave my house everyday I am mentally sound knowing I may never come home and I am ok with that. I know that what I do is dangerous, and I know I am the line of defense for the population that cannot defend themselves and I take pride in that. I also do not expect appreciation even though generally appreciation is shown. I also have come to realize that the world is in a very dangerous place at this point in time. I feel quality good Police is now more important than ever even though we are being portrayed as the villains. I feel the people that want to defund and abolish the Police realize that's not logically possible. I believe they decided if they can't get rid of the Police, they will make an effort to make the job undesirable.

A few key aspects of the Bill you are reviewing that I feel will help corrode the profession and insure you no longer find quality candidates as well as force good cops to seek employment elsewhere would be the following;

1. Qualified immunity-

This safety measure insures I can do my job without hesitation. To give a real life example I responded to a call a year or so ago that involved an assault actively taking place and an attempt to kill an animal in the home. When I arrived the suspect party was extremely agitated and yelling at volume 10 in his home. It came to a point after investigation that this man had to be arrested. When the male realized that was our intent he became violent and assaultive. He climbed on the kitchen table yelling screaming and swinging in a dark room filled with knives and pans. In that split second I made a decision to grab the male and pull him down from the table before he hurt himself or the other parties in the room and he immediately punched me in the face. A fight ensued and the male was placed under arrest with only minor injuries to all involved.

If this situation were to happen in a scenario where qualified immunity didn't exist would I question my actions? Would I fear losing my home and all my belongings? Would the expense of just the lawsuit alone for lawyers fees bankrupt me? I don't want to have to worry about things like that I want to be able to focus on keeping the peace and keeping people safe. I fear living in a world where the law offers me more protection to stand and wait than it does to protect and act.

2. Collective Bargaining-

If we lose our ability to bargain we again will put ourselves in a position to be taken advantage of. This will leave to further lack of desire for this profession as we will lose our ability to fight for fair and equal terms for employment. The public wants better quality Policing and we will not obtain that by not providing competitive options to the men and women interested in this job.

3. Due process and right to appeal-

If a Doctor commits malpractice they have a right to due process and are held accountable by a jury of their peers. If a civilian breaks the law it's incredibly important they have a right to fair trial also with a jury of their peers not a jury of Police Officers. Why would Police not be afforded the same opportunity? Again this change will impact recruiting quality Police. If the profession is no longer fair to their employees who would want to sign up?

This bill is incredibly dangerous to the public's safety and is an anti labor bill. Having only three years on the job I don't foresee me lasting 29 more if this passes. Fortunately I have other skills I can fall back on but I never expected to consider that as I committed my life to this job when I applied.

In closing I would like to thank you for taking the time to read this and hear my concerns. I appreciate the difficult situation you are in but would hope you would make any decision thinking about the long term not just today's forecast. I ask that you please protect me, so I can continue to protect you.

Subject: Testimony

Good evening,

My name is Bill Bonczar. My wife and I are both employed as Police Officer's for the State of Massachusetts. I got into this profession to give something back to my community and make a difference. I am very blessed to have this career.

What happened in Minnesota cannot be put into words, it was absolutely wrong and appalling. That being said, Massachusetts is not Minnesota. We should not be held accountable for something that occurred 1500 miles away. Its not justified.

Now, I am open to change and other opinions on various matters pertaining to Policing. Licensing of all Officers and educating on racism is an excellent idea. Licensing would keep track of an Officers complaints and any uses of force etc. I think that is fair.

I do not agree with the majority of the bill. Majority of it from an Officers stand point is bogus and undermines the profession. Tear gas is a crowd control technique used to control a rowdy and dangerous crowd. It is used in extreme situations. Situations like those 'peaceful' protests in Boston last month that turned into riots. The same 'peaceful' protesters that were throwing bricks at Officers.

I read the bill and saw that schools can't tell Police Officers if a student has gang ties? This is ludacris. My wife is a student resource officer (SRO). She absolutely needs this critical information to do her job and create a safe environment for the hundreds of children she is protecting. Not having it puts everyone at risk.

I attended a full-time police academy in Massachusetts. Personally, I was not trained on choke holds. That being said, due to the extreme and unpredictable nature of this job, things and situations change in an instant. If an officers life is on the line and the only way he/she can survive to go home to his/her family is to perform a 'choke hold', I am ok with it. Basically what im saying is that should not be taken off the table, in extreme dire circumstances. The Officer should not be held accountable.

Now, the biggest topic for me and the reason why I am writing this is the handling of qualified immunity. People do not understand that this isn't a free pass to do whatever they want. Its a layer of protection giving to civil servant's to do their jobs.

Officers are afraid of getting sued for the most basic interaction with the public. How is this fair to us as a profession? It is not. Qualified immunity has not been abused in this state, it merely protects us from frivolous lawsuits. Taking qualifed immunity away will lead to excellent Police Officers finding other careers, its that simple. In doing so less qualified candidates will take the job as a Police Officer. Crime and poor decisions will go up and the moral fabric of this society will drop. It seems extreme, but it is not far fetched.

Police Officers in this state feel very unwanted and in the dark right now. It absolutely is not right. We are the same people that handled the Boston Marathon bombing. We are the same people that the public calls on in dire situations.

In closing, I hope this email gets to the right audience. We are a very proud and humble profession, please do not diminish it.

Thank you,

Officer Bonczar

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Mark O'Brien and I live at 53 Brookfield Road, Andover, MA 01810 <x-apple-data-detectors://0> . As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sent Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Charles Geier. I live at 41 Forrester Rd, Wakefield MA 01880, USA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

 Subject: Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Nancy Moz and I live at 6 Forest St Wilmington, Ma 01887. I work at Millipore Sigma as an Associate Scientist. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While they are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Nancy Moz

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committee,

I am writing in favor of S.2820 to bring about needed reform of our criminal justice system in MA. I urge you to act quickly to pass this bill into law and strengthen it. The follow items should be contained in the final bill to start the transformation we need to address systemic racism in our state:

1. Qualified Immunity needs to end as it is shielding officers from being held accountable for misconduct and perpetuating systemic racism.
2. We also need to establish a statewide certification authority for police and a process for decertifying problem officers - this is already in place in 46 other states!
3. Ban use of choke holds and no knock raids which have resulted in the murders of far too many people, disproportionately Black and Brown, at the hands of police. These tactics should not be allowed in the state of MA.

Please pass this bill into law to ensure a safe and equitable justice system for all citizens of our state.

Sincerely,
Carey Manning

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kerna Pettorelli and I live at 5 Skyview Terrace in North Andover, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Kerna and James Pettorelli

As a police wife of 15 years, the only thing my husband should have to worry about when on the job is coming home safe to our three children and myself. The atrocities that police officers see and face every single day cannot even be imagined by the general public. The very people who are pushing for this bill, could never last a minute in their shoes, let alone 15 years.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am a registered voter in the state of Massachusetts and want you to know how disappointing I found that the senate's bill was rushed quietly through at 4 in the morning without any discussion from their constituents. I hope you don't do the same.

The Senate bill is an anti-labor bill who are supporting to eliminate Collective Bargaining and the right to due process. It is against their platform as being labor/union supporters.

They blanketed all law enforcement with a broad brush. That is unfair to them and the community. They risk their lives everyday for people like me to stay safe, go to work and live in peace. They should have the same opportunities as other professions do. Nurses and teachers have collective bargaining, are protected from being sued and have a board made up of their peers. How is law enforcement any different?

I support Qualified Immunity, Due Process/Collective Bargaining and a POSAC Board made up of their peers and other law enforcement professionals.

Thank you for listening to me and know I and many others will be watching this closely to how this is handled and addressed since it's an election year.

Thank you,

Danielle Fahey

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Subject: Qualified immunity

To Whom it May Concern,

I am strongly opposed to many of the components of this bill. Qualified Immunity exists so that Officers who are acting in accordance with their agency's policies and procedures and using the appropriate actions/force based on the situation they are presented with are protected from civil liability. Qualified Immunity doesn't exist to protect officers violating their agency's P&P or using excessive force.

Should Qualified Immunity disappear officers will no longer be proactive or try to apprehend a suspect or violent person for they very real risk of being sued personally. I honestly believe criminals will be emboldened with the knowledge an officer won't try to apprehend them or put their hands on them. Crime will rise and the innocent public will suffer. Results are already evident in many major cities where officers are taking a hands off approach like the public had called for. Now in those communities leaders are coming forward asking for anti-crime units to be put back in place and more law enforcement.

In law enforcement, unlike many other professions, people can often be left unhappy when an officer is doing "good work". Good work means writing tickets to speeders hoping they slow down in the future and prevent major crashes resulting in injuries or death. Good work is arresting the spouse who just beat their significant other- even though neither want the police to make an arrest. But an Officer does it knowing the next beating could be their last one if they are killed. Good work might mean using lethal force to save someone else's life or your own. Does any officer want to be put in these situations? The answer is no. Sadly until every citizen abides by the law police officers need to respond accordingly.

By taking away Qualified Immunity speeders won't be stopped for fear of accusations of bias or profiling. Batters won't be arrested for fear the couple will accuse the police of using excessive force, even if the appropriate amount was used. A lawsuit could be filed against the officer even if it was found the police acted accordingly. Officers and innocent citizens will die at higher rates when an officer hesitates to use the appropriate amount of force in a lethal situation (or perceived lethal situation- the police are not psychics) for fear of their family losing their home and savings... or even just being portrayed in the media as a murder. I believe Sgt. Michael Chesna lost his life and an innocent woman because of the fear of using excessive force as the male was "only" armed with a rock.

Good officers doing good work and being proactive will generate complaints. I have been a police officer for 11 years in the community I grew up in. Everyday I try to serve and protect those in my community to the best of my abilities. I truly care about people and often I am kept up at night wondering if the victims I work with will be okay upon my next shift in. In my career I have generated complaints because people were not happy they were pulled over, placed into protective custody for their own safety when they were highly impaired, and felt discriminated against due to their mental health when I assisted and elderly couple get restraining orders against their abusive adult child struggling with their mental health. Having a database available to the public will place a target on officers more than there already is. It is very easy to find addresses available to the public and showing and Officer has a certain amount of complaints will give the false perception the officer is a bad one.

In closing, I respectfully request you do not remove Qualified Immunity and do not have a public database regarding officer complaints this jeopardizing Officers and their family's safety. Thank you for taking the time to read my testimony.

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Ray Toothaker

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Matthew Chambers and I live at 54 Plymouth Rd Wakefield MA 01880. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

Subject: S.2820

My name is Leah Karvelis and I live at 52 Read Drive, Hanover, MA. I am writing to you today to express my strong opposition to many pieces of S.2820. This bill, as currently written, includes some very concerning pieces. I appreciate the willingness of the House to listen to the people you represent. Thank you.

Here are a few pieces that concern me the most:

- 1) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolous lawsuits.
- 2) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. Police Officers deserve the right to appeal given to all public servants.
- 3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include members of law enforcement. In the same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

Taking away Qualified Immunity and Due Process for Police Officers is unfair and dangerous to not only the police officers it protects, but to the communities they serve. Good police officers will be subject to frivolous civil lawsuits. Police Officers put their lives on the line everyday, should they also be forced to put their homes and life savings on the line? Police Officers need to make split second, life or death decisions, and do so to the best of their ability. I fear that losing Qualified Immunity and Due Process will cause them to pause before taking action, putting their lives in further danger. Don't they give enough by putting their lives on the line each and every day? Should they now be afraid of losing all they've worked for? For their families to lose their homes and life savings? A majority of Police Officers are GOOD police officers. They became Police Officers because they want to help people, not because they want to hurt people. They put their lives on the line everyday to serve and protect their communities. Are we to punish those good and decent police officers because of the deplorable actions of a few? Are we to judge all police officers based on the actions of a few? Are we to make their jobs even more dangerous? Who would want such a job? I fear our communities will lose qualified police officers, that qualified future candidates would not want to become police officers. I fear for our current and future communities. As a Hanover resident, I want the most qualified officers protecting my family. I don't want them to pause when responding to my or my family's urgent need for assistance. I want to call 911 and know that I am protected by the best. I want to feel safe in my home and community. As a citizen I deserve no less.

My husband is a Quincy Police Officer. Each time he leaves for work, we are well aware of the risks, the fact that he might not come home. We hug him and tell him to be careful and we pray for his safe return. We await his arrival back at home so we know that he is safe. In today's world, the job of the men and women in law enforcement is more dangerous than it has ever been. My children ask why everyone hates their dad. What kind of world do we live in where our police officers are the enemy? They fear he will be killed simply for being a police officer. What kind of world do we live in when police officers are targets because of the work that they do? Law Enforcement Officers know the risks when taking the oath to protect and serve their communities, but to be targeted and hated, is wrong. And now to have their rights taken away, is simply unacceptable. This bill, as currently written, will make it nearly impossible for these officers to do their jobs safely and effectively.

The men and women who protect and serve in our Massachusetts communities are some of the most professional and educated in the nation. As a citizen, a community member, a voter, the wife of a police officer and, most importantly, as the mother of children whose father is a police officer, I implore you to spend more time evaluating this bill and making the necessary amendments to afford the men and women in law enforcement the rights and protections needed to do their jobs safely and effectively. Their lives literally depend on it.

Respectfully,
Leah Karvelis

Subject: Personal Testimony on Policing Omnibus Bill S.2820

Dear members of House leadership,
My name is Elizabeth Curtis, I have been a resident of the Fenway/Longwood area of Boston for 6 years. I am writing to you today to express my testimony regarding Policing Omnibus Bill S.2820. This bill does almost nothing to prevent state violence against Black people or stop the flow of Black people into jails and prisons. I have also been horrified at the strong-arm bullying I have seen the MA police unions (specifically the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association) use in attempts to sway our elected officials. The police must be held accountable for violating our rights: we cannot let them intimidate elected officials and stand in the way of justice.

I believe S.2820 will cause more harm than good by increasing spending on law enforcement through training and training commissions, expanding the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and making no fundamental changes to the function and operation of policing in the Commonwealth. Real change requires that we shrink the power and responsibilities of law enforcement and shift resources from policing into most-impacted communities. The definition of law enforcement must include corrections officers who also enact racist violence on our community members.

If the Massachusetts legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and addressing systemic racism, this bill would eliminate cornerstones of racist policing including implementing a BAN without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should DECRIMINALIZE driving offenses which are a major gateway into the criminal legal system for Black and Brown people and poor and working class people. Rather than limiting legislation to moderate reforms and data collection, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. I also support student-led efforts to remove police from schools.

The way forward is to shrink the role and powers of police, fund Black and Brown communities, and defund the systems of harm and punishment which have failed to bring people of color safety and wellbeing. S.2820 does not help us get there. Representatives- you can do better.

Thank you. I look forward to watching your discussion and holding you personally responsible.

Best,

Elizabeth Curtis

Subject: S.2820

Good Evening,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Hello

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Rodrigo Araujo and I live at 6 Ernest ave, Worcester MA, I work at Mci Shirley and I am a Corrections Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Paul Shibley

Subject: Comments on Police Reform

Dear Representatives Cronin and Michlewitz,

I have learned from Rep. Garlick about your willingness to hear testimony on police reform legislation. I am not a professional nor a directly impacted person, but I volunteered with The Justice Collaborative for most of the year and have been educating myself on criminal justice reform. I would like to share some of what I have learned with you.

I have learned that community involvement is key in any efforts at reform, transparency is critical, data collection must be accurate, and the Attorney General should be empowered to investigate police and sheriff departments that violate someone's constitutional rights. One place where many of these reforms have been adopted is the Sacramento Police Department. After the murder of Stephon Clark in 2018, the department was investigated by California Attorney General Xavier Becerra; this investigation led to a number of reforms, later enacted in law, to clearly define excessive use of force, compel officers to intercede in and promptly report on excessive use of force they observe to their superiors, who must in turn report it to the DOJ, and to obligate officers to immediately procure medical care for someone injured by use of force (AB 392 and SB 230). Much of the content of these laws drew upon recommendations from the Police Executive Research Forum:

Sacramento Police Chief David Hahn, the first African American to lead this department, has incorporated community exposure into police training because, as an African American in policing for 30 years, he recognizes that no amount of training is a substitute for the experiential learning that comes from imbedding oneself in a community. His department has instituted a requirement that police in basic training volunteer in the community. He also includes presentations by people directly affected by the justice system in the continuing education program. See:

Attorney General Becerra goes even further, stating that he believes police officers should be required to live in the neighborhood that they police. He promotes the adoption of "Eight Can't Wait," immediate reforms to all police departments recommended by Campaign Zero. These reforms include: ban chokeholds and strangleholds, require deescalation, require warning before shooting, require exhausting all alternatives before shooting, duty to intervene, ban shooting at moving vehicles, require use of force continuum, and require comprehensive reporting. <https://8cantwait.org>

It has been demonstrated through data collected by Microsoft's Campaign Zero that police union policy is the biggest impediment to compliance with regulations imposed at the state level, so police union contracts must be renegotiated to reflect desired outcomes. Here is a list they compiled of the barriers to effective misconduct investigations and civilian oversight present in police union contracts:

Phillip Atiba Goff, CEO of the Center for Policing Equity, believes that everyone has bias based on race, gender, religion etc., but that under stress decisions will most reflect these biases, so it is imperative to mitigate the stress. He did research in Las Vegas, where police established a foot pursuit policy wherein the officer who was giving chase would not be the first person to put their hands on the suspect; coordinated backup arriving on the scene would instead take on that role. The idea is that foot pursuits frequently led to excessive use of force simply because in high-adrenaline chases the officer and the suspect can get really angry, really fast. The policy change seemed successful, having resulted in a 23% reduction in total use of force, and an 11% reduction in officer injury over several years and a decrease in racial disparities. See: <https://www.vox.com/2020/6/1/21277013/police-reform-policies-systemic-racism-george-floyd>

Oakland, CA has just approved a new foot pursuit policy requiring that if an officer loses sight of a suspect, they cannot continue to follow them, they have to step back and set up a perimeter. Again the idea is to remove the immediacy to decrease the impact of bias. See: <https://www.wbur.org/hereandnow/2020/07/14/understanding-implicit-racial-bias> <https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.wbur.org_hereandnow_2020_07_14_understanding-2Dimplicit-2Dracial-2Dbias&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=SUWHUulUvQJmOmr7skziunGZFfyerloymh-AY9tyq50&s=PrIplsYOx05QfIlIkLZrJDyyvTcCt_7bq5k-LpLqfo8&e=> .

As you have heard, there are many who advocate decreasing the portfolio of police to eliminate things like interactions with the homeless, the mentally ill, and drug users. The basis for this proposal is data such as a NY Times analysis demonstrating that only 1% of calls to 911 are for violent crimes, only 4% of police time is spent on crime, and 20% of calls are mental health calls. See:

<https://www.nytimes.com/2020/06/19/upshot/unrest-police-time-violent-crime.html> <https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.nytimes.com_2020_06_19_upshot_unrest-2Dpolice-2Dtime-2Dviolent-2Dcrime.html&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=SUWHUulUvQJmOmr7skziunGZFfyerloymh-AY9tyq50&s=SlHBCivuS-LYn2McHnXltNGLz79nTCb8vH5uDSZLtwY&e=> . Data from Los Angeles show that one third of use of force cases involve homeless people. See: https://laist.com/2019/03/12/lapd_homeless_report_force_citation.php <https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__laist.com_2019_03_12_lapd-5Fhomeless-5Freport-5Fforce-5Fcitation.php&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=SUWHUulUvQJmOmr7skziunGZFfyerloymh-AY9tyq50&s=vwvXG5kcfVTsUwxcqppVg2C990QcavZnagxXOKpXu5U&e=> .

It is crucial that community organizations that address homelessness, mental health, and drug addiction be installed before we engage in major changes in the police portfolio. Changes must be adopted incrementally so that data can be collected on the success of each intervention. Interventions must be built from the bottom up, as in the example of the community safety interventions implemented by the Colorado Justice Reform Coalition, where attention to detail was paramount and was accomplished at the local level. <https://www.ccjrc.org>

<[I have just touched the surface here, but I hope that I am conveying how complicated it is to correct injustices that result from current policing methods, and the importance of data-driven approaches, focused research on each aspect, and input from local communities, and a realization that we may not find one size fits all solutions.](https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.ccjrc.org_&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=SUWHUulUvQJmOmr7skziunGZFFyerloymh-AY9tyq50&s=owwBEjBYEHJdYqg4n96hRGWv2k8AIRD7wtgfrnLRZLM&e=><div data-bbox=)

Subject: Public In put on S2800

Senate Bill S2800 was reviewed in the dead of night and passed in the early morning hours by the Massachusetts' State Senate without a required Public Hearing. I was informed at 2:00 pm today by Sen. Bruce Tarr that I would have until 11:00 am tomorrow, July 17, 2020, to respond to it in writing.

These are my Concerns:

1. Since S2800 circumvented the normal requirement of a Public Hearing for such a far-reaching bill, I believe it may have been an "emotional reaction" to the horrific events that have been happening in cities throughout the United States. It grieves me that there has been organized efforts to fan the flames of conflict between races and both financially and verbally support of racial division. Some of those who are "fanning the flames" may have the political objective of overthrowing our Constitutional Republic and replacing it with a Socialist government. I think that only a well thought out, unhurried and rational approach to review the need for Police Oversight should be taken.

2. Such terms as "systemic racism" and "racial justice" seem to apply to one race rather than to all races. We have had "Affirmative Action" for many years. I am concerned about "reverse racism". One cannot cure racism by instituting another form of racism.

3. The bill did not enlist input from any Black or Latino Police Officers who may have given another or additional perspectives.
4. A Citizen's Committee that may not have diverse opinions and do not have representatives from the Police department should not have so much power over our Police and other municipal servants. There could be an Advisory Committee to the Governor which should be composed of individuals who have opposing insights and opinions.
5. The bill limits "qualified immunity" for good police officers and limits their ability to control violence on our streets by:- Banning use of facial recognition and limited chokeholds, -Limiting use of tear gas and - Making school resource officers optional.

As a senior citizen, I am concerned that our Police Officers feel that they have strong support from leaders in our Commonwealth in doing their many times very dangerous job. We do not want Mob Rule nor Vigilantism that may fill the vacuum left when there is no power to enforce law and order. I only ask for open minds to my opinions during such tumultuous times.

Best regards, Lorraine D. Masi, Beverly

Subject: Please support the reasonableness standard in the police reform bill

Honorable Members of the House Judiciary and Ways and Means Committees,

I write in support of the Police Reform Bill S2820 in front of you, in particular the section pertaining to Qualified Immunity and the creation of a Reasonableness Standard.

Right now, citizens have nearly no recourse in the event that their personal or property rights are violated by the police. Even the most egregious violations, confirmed by video or admission, do not meet the standard for civil or criminal action.

This law would create a standard whereby if an officer can be shown to have known they were violating someone's rights, they (or their employer if so indemnified) can be held liable.

This is still a very high standard, as it requires knowledge of the officer's state of mind, and would require a blatant violation of civil rights.

We ask a lot of officers we hire to protect us, but we also give them a monopoly on the use of force. We must treat that monopoly as a responsibility, and expect officers to use it well.

Thank you for your time,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Lyle F. Cooper

Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, Vice Chair Garlick, and Members of the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees:

I am writing to express my support of strong police reform and accountability legislation as the House considers S.2800, the Reform, Shift, and Build Act, which recently passed the Senate. I also urge the Committees to consider the disparities facing LGBTQ youth with respect to policing, the school-to-prison pipeline, and involvement in the juvenile justice system, which have led to LGBTQ youth—particularly LGBTQ youth of color—to be starkly overrepresented in the juvenile and adult justice systems.

As the recent murder of black transgender man Tony McDade at the hands of police sadly exemplifies, LGBTQ americans are all too often subjected to violent persecution at the hands of the police. Massachusetts, vaunted blue state though it may be, still struggles with this fact. Last August, at Boston's infamous "Straight Pride Parade", an overwhelming and over-militarized police presence was turned against the LGBTQ community, beating and pepper-spraying dozens of peaceful counter-protesters without provocation, escalating a peaceful situation into a violent one. All too often, in this and similar situations, the police are the aggressors, taking advantage of their overwhelming superior force and functional freedom from consequence to take out their frustrations on our LGBTQ bodies violently, knowing that they can act with impunity. As a transgender woman and as a member of the Massachusetts State Commission on LGBTQ Youth, I am urging you to protect our community from the ever-present threat of police violence.

LGBTQ youth are twice as likely to enter the juvenile justice system as their non-LGBTQ peers, while LGBTQ youth of color are 4 times more likely to be incarcerated as white youth. An estimated 85% of LGBTQ youth in the justice system are youth of color. Various forces contribute to the overrepresentation of LGBTQ youth in the juvenile justice system, including discrimination and stigma that increase the number of incidents of harassment and violence against LGBTQ youth. Discrimination and stigma may also result in policies and policing strategies that disproportionately target LGBTQ youth, especially youth of color.

I urge you to pass significant limits on the use of force by police officers, as laid out in Rep. Miranda's bill (HD.5128), and to include additional protections for children during interactions with law enforcement officials. This legislation should include a prohibition on restraining minor children in a prone or hog-tie position, mandate that de-escalation techniques that are developmentally appropriate be utilized, and that law enforcement be trained in these techniques. Finally, I urge you to include school resources officers, constables, and special service officers in the definition of law enforcement officers subject to use of force provisions.

It is absolutely imperative that Massachusetts abolish the dangerous doctrine of qualified immunity. because it shields police from being held accountable to their victims. Limiting the ability of the police to use force is meaningless if those limits cannot be enforced, and police who abuse their power must be held accountable to their victims. The alternative is, frankly, terrifying, for what does it matter who watches the watchmen if nothing can be done about it? That is the situation we have today, where even the most blatant and violent civil rights violations cannot be punished due to qualified immunity. It denies victims of police violence their day in court. If police are able to act with impunity, we arrive at a situation where police officers are able to appoint themselves judge, jury, and executioner, and that is not what the american justice system is meant to be. Ending or reforming qualified immunity is the most important police accountability measure in S2820. We urge you to end immunity in order to end impunity.

I also urge you to pass significant limits on the use of force by police officers, as laid out in Rep. Miranda's bill (HD.5128). Chemical weapons such as tear gas are banned by the Geneva convention- why do we allow the police to subject our own citizens to weapons so harsh that their use would lead to a trial in the Hague in any other circumstance? Even so-called "less lethal" armaments like rubber bullets can still permanently destroy eyes and fracture skulls, making them completely unacceptable to be used on civilian populations. I also urge you to include additional protections for children during interactions with law enforcement officials. This legislation should include a prohibition on restraining minor children in a prone or hog-tie position, mandate that de-escalation techniques that are developmentally appropriate be utilized, and that law enforcement be trained in these techniques. Finally, I urge you to include school resources officers, constables, and special service officers in the definition of law enforcement officers subject to use of force provisions.

Thank you for your consideration,

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Nicole Walker and I live at 47 Mildred St Dracut MA 01826. I work for the Massachusetts Army National Guard and I am a Decon Operations Non-Commissioned Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Nicole E Walker

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

You stood with me at my graduation. Please stand again with myself and all of my brothers and sisters of all backgrounds, races, colors and creeds against this bill. We want to move forward and upward. This bill is not the answer.

Thank you,

Testimony in support of: House Bill S.2820: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Submitted by: Jamie Labonosky of Milton, MA.

My name is Jamie Labonosky, I am a white-privileged, female resident of Milton MA.

I, and my family, have the deeply painful lived experience of having lost a loved one to police-involved violence while they were in the midst of a mental-health crisis. Hence, I strongly support any and all efforts to decrease the use of force by police and in turn any efforts to increase the use of nonviolent de-escalation tactics.

I am also a clinical social worker and within my experiences serving local communities as a mental-health provider I have become well aware that people of color are often deeply fearful of using any sort of emergency-response, especially police, to seek support or security for mental health concerns or crises for valid concern of the disproportionate likelihood that the emergency-response would endanger, rather than secure or support, the person in crisis. All of our commonwealth's residents should feel safe seeking support in times of crisis and not live in fear of inappropriate use of force or violence by police.

Hence, I urge you to support House Bill S.2820 for a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that truly values and ensures the safety of Black lives and communities of color.

Thank you.

These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Kristin Cronin

Subject: SUPPORT for S.2800 & and an end to qualified immunity for police

Honored Members of the House Ways & Means Committee:

As an American, and a resident of Massachusetts, advancing racial justice is one of my top priorities. Racial justice is a justice issue. It is a public health issue. It is a national security issue, because our failings can be used by our adversaries to further divide us and to undermine the U.S.A. as a beacon of democracy.

I urge the Massachusetts legislature to include in the final Reform, Shift and Build Act the strongest provisions of:

1. HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, which bans choke-holds, no-knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate; and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

2. HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

Ending qualified immunity will simply put police officers on the same footing as doctors. Local governments will be able to get insurance for their police if the departments don't have bad records and bad practices.

In the United States of America, there needs to be equal justice before the law. Armed agents of the state who are granted vast powers over the public should not have "qualified immunity," which is an invention of the courts, not a bedrock American principal, like equal justice.

Thank you for your consideration of my testimony.

Subject: I oppose S.2800

As your constituent, Harry Clow from Walpole, I am writing to you today to express my strong opposition to S.2800 which was passed by the Senate. I ask that you oppose this bill as constituted when it is debated in the House of Representatives. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities. It will cause many good officers to leave due to the new burdens it imposes and will likely only encourage poor candidates for the job.

S2800 establishes a review committee board with overly broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations. Review boards typically review a process or an event after it has occurred for the purpose of implementing a change. Reviews should not be conducted during the course of an investigation as that would in all likelihood jeopardize the investigation. Why is this language part of the bill?

The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment right (see Carney v. Springfield) and constitutional protections against double jeopardy. Qualified immunity protections (which are really the hallmark of sound and reasonable protections against frivolous lawsuits) are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections for the police officers we send out to protect our communities and who often deal with the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no backup. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open up officers to personal liabilities the likes of which they cannot withstand. That is a standard that makes no sense and are unnecessary as current laws today adequately address any overreach by law enforcement officers.

I am also demanding that this bill be debated in the light of day and not in the cover of darkness. If you have to resort to sneaking a debate and vote in the middle of the night, then I assert it is "prima facie" a bad bill and "prima facie" bad faith on your part as my Representative.

In summary, this bill is ill conceived, and quite frankly, it is a cornucopia of drivel. If you could set aside for one moment your partisan loyalties, perhaps you will admit to yourself that it is a bad bill and bad policy. Further, how can you or any other Representative reform something of which you know little. Until and unless you have taken substantive police training, I would again ask that you oppose this bill. While I agree that some policing reform should be addressed (good policing should always be evolving as new things are learned) but passing a poor bill for the sake of passing a bill is not in the best interest of the good people of Massachusetts.

I would also encourage you and all your colleagues in the House to perhaps live in a poor urban community with a high crime rate for one month before you decide to change something about which I am going to assume you have little to no knowledge or experience.

For all the reasons stated above, I ask that you oppose this bill.

Sincerely,

Harry Clow

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Shane Pelletier and I live at 81 Aldrich road Wakefield . As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

My name is Mark DuBree and I live at 325A Washington St. Wellesley, MA. I work at Suffolk County Sheriff's Department and am a Corrections Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Subject: I REJECT S2820

To whom it may concern,

I am a Alexandria Sirois, a student attending a university in Boston.

I am contacting anybody that may be able to share my strong feeling to REJECT S2820.

This bill does not allow safety to the hard working men, women, persons of color, or anybody who are in a police uniform. As a matter of fact, this bill not only put police officers in danger, but any criminal of the many who still live outside of prison walls will now find this as an opportunity to act on their bad intentions.

Just the other day, the daughter of a police officer, and strong advocate for BLM stated, "the killing of police officers is the price of ending racism."

I strongly advocate for eliminating racism in this world, BUT I do not stand for the inhuman acts that have resulted from people who oppose police officers, and I do not stand for reducing any security the police force may have. This is not the answer!

This bill will cause much more murder, especially of the police officers who already risk their lives daily. It will invite those who have been hiding in the shadows to come out and wreak havoc because they would be given much more opportunity to do so.

I am free to discuss this matter further with anybody who is willing to listen. I STRONGLY ADVOCATE FOR REJECTING THIS BILL!

Subject: Due Process and Qualified Immunity

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Julie Fariel and I live in Rockport MA. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31 st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration

Subject: Bill No. S2820

Dear Representative Aaron Michlewitz, Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, and Representative Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary,

My name is Alexander Samarov, I am a resident of Brookline, MA for the last 42 years.

To my utter surprise and outrage, I just learned about the passage of the bill in the Massachusetts senate to end qualified immunity for police officers.

The very idea that such a thing as removing qualified immunity from police can be seriously proposed, let alone voted for 30 to 7, seemed totally absurd just a few months ago. Qualified immunity of elected officials and members of the law enforcement community is the bedrock principle of any government. Without it, no government institution would be able to function - anybody, from public school teachers to senators, could find themselves frivolously sued for any action that made somebody unhappy. And policemen, due to the very nature of their work, are the most vulnerable group.

This shameful legislation is unfair, immoral, and harmful to the extreme, especially to the people of color, whom it's supposedly designed to help - this group needs strong law enforcement and police protection more than anybody. By taking away qualified immunity from police the Commonwealth of Massachusetts essentially declares itself non-governable territory. Scores of policemen will retire, which is already happening. And nobody will be interested in joining the police force - the group that not only is unjustly vilified, but now even deprived of any legislative protection.

In the strongest possible terms, I urge you to keep qualified immunity for MA police officers intact.

And I vote.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Gregory Hayes

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police Reform Bill S.2800

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

??: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Vaughn Gibson

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Aaron Rego and I live at 16 Bluejay lane, East Taunton MA. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Corrections Officer I. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: S2820 Opposed to ending Qualified immunity

Dear Senator,

My name is Tracy Ascolillo and I live in Beverly MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Tracy Ascolillo

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is John Quinn and I live at 17 D Street, Dracut, MA. I work for the Town of Dracut and I am a police officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

??: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

??: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

??: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
John Quinn

I'm writing to support these two pieces of legislation. Massachusetts police are not exempt from the abuses of police power towards African Americans and other minorities. It's said that all police should not be judged by the actions of a few bad apples, but the saying should be completed that a few bad apples spoils the bunch. Please pass this legislation so that it is easier to hold the bad apples accountable and to prevent further harm.

Subject: Qualified immunity

To whom it may concern

I am writing to you regarding the potential impact of qualified immunity. My husband has been a police officer for 26 years. He chose the profession because he truly wants to help people. That is just his nature. On and off the job.

The fact that this bill may pass is a scary thought for all police families. Officers are out there doing a job that no one else wants to do, risking their lives everyday and will potentially be offered NO protection against frivolous lawsuits.... all because they are acting in good faith by doing their job.

It could have devastating consequences for a lot of people. We have 3 children and have worked hard for everything we have and it doesn't seem right that it could all be taken away from us by someone who called police for help and then decide to turn the tables and sue the officer personally simply for being there to help and doing their job. Most likely the lawsuit will be because they weren't happy with the outcome.

Officers put themselves out there everyday and there is no protection for them. Citizens can do and say what they want, file false reports against an officer and there is no consequences even when the report is found to be false.

Citizens say they want justice.... where is the justice for the officers out there helping ?

What's going to happen is that no one is going to want to become an officer and the officers close to retirement will simply retire early. As a police wife, I already worry everyday whether or not my husband will come home from work each day. I kiss him goodbye hoping it's not the last time.

We don't need more to worry about.

Something to think about. Put yourself in an officers shoes or even think about your own job. How would it affect you and your family if you could be sued personally simply for doing your job?

Better yet, contact your local police department and ask to do a ride along with an officer for a day or night. See what they really deal with day to day or if you think you can do a better job than them, the police academy is always taking applicants. YOU go try to do the job they do and have to make split second decisions and just hope you don't get put in a position where a criminal could take everything you and your family have worked so hard for.

Please for the safety and protection of all officers out there, do not allow this bill to pass.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely

Jennifer Puntonio

Subject: Bill S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

To Massachusetts Lawmakers,

I endorse wholeheartedly the remarks below as issued by the LWVMA.

"The League of Women Voters advocates against systemic racism in the justice system and supports preventing excessive force and brutality by law enforcement.

We urge you to support the inclusion of the following measures:

HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, State Representative Liz Miranda bans choke-holds, no knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, State Representative Michael Day which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights."

Sincerely,

Deborah Schneider

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Jason Bernardo and I live at 93 Captain Bacon, Road, South Yarmouth, MA. I work at Barnstable County Sheriff's Office am a K9 Handler. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019

the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

The fact that the proposed legislation petitions to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street

Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Jeffrey P. Young and I live at 415 Boxford Street in North Andover, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard in the Massachusetts House of Representatives tomorrow for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Very truly yours,

Jeffrey P. Young

Sirs;

With all due respect, S2800 is a terrible bill from the get go. Perhaps well intentioned, but will do nothing but handcuff our first responders.

The best thing that could happen is for it to die in committee.

How could anyone in their right mind consider a bill that includes provisions that

- prohibit schools from cooperating with law enforcement agencies
- allow individuals to expunge more than 1 charge before their 21st birthday
- prohibit the use of biometric surveillance
- remove the requirement for a school resource officer
- authorize the AG to bring civil lawsuits against officers
- allow a person to bring civil lawsuits against officers
- remove monetary claims from qualified immunity

I would expect much better from our elected representatives.

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Dear Chairman,

I want to thank you for reading my plea. My name is Patricia Ann Menton, residence at 43 Sparkill Street, Watertown, MA (617)816-8815.

I am writing to you as a mother of a police officer, a fire fighter and a nurse in our community. I am opposed to any change in Qualified Immunity for Police, Firefighters, and Nurses. These essential employees have the toughest jobs. When others could remain safely at home during the harshest part of the Covid-19 pandemic, these three professions, had to continue working with the public, putting themselves and their family members at great risk.

To undercut or cause them to second guess their immediate actions due to ill- considered litigation while working is dangerous for all involved. Police Officers, Firefighters and Nurses shouldn't have to second guess their participation in their actions.

I implore you to consider exactly what this bill will do in the long and short term. This is not good for our people in Massachusetts. Think outside the box. Do you really want to live in a community where Police, Firefighters and Nurses are afraid to act?

Respectfully,

Subject: Public testimony for S.2820

Elected Officials,

Massachusetts police officers are among the most highly trained in the country. On average officers in the commonwealth are trained for over 800 hrs during the full time police academy. The MPTC ensures that the standards are consistent and cover subjects that include constitutional law, criminal law, use of force, defensive tactics, juvenile law, ethics, sex crimes, community policing, firearms, emergency vehicle operations, and many other important course. In addition to academy training the majority of officers also have college degrees in criminal justice. Many of which are advanced degrees.

Officers in the majority of the communities in the commonwealth already attend 40 hrs of mandatory in service refresher training annually. It is important to recognize that this annual training is supplied by the MPTC and generally includes legal updates to law, changes in policy, and any additional guidance that may be deemed necessary to keep officers safe and educated in how to perform their duties appropriately.

Under our current system qualified immunity is used to protect those officers who while performing their duties in good faith become defendants to frivolous law suits. It is important to understand that an officer who violates policy, procedure, laws, or a citizens rights is not protected under qualified immunity.

With regards to training I would offer that you will find that officers in the commonwealth welcome more training. They look for opportunities to engage their minds and learn ways to improve the quality of life in our communities while keeping the criminal elements at bay. The issue is frequently a budget problem. Many cities and towns are unwilling to approve overtime or change an officers schedule to allow for optional training that would enhance public safety. In the current climate we have even seen many supporters walk away from law enforcement agencies out of fear. Police leaders and officerz do not have the ability to allocate funds not already in the budget for additional training. They look for grant opportunities and partnerships with public and private entities to enhance learning. I would suggest that a fund be set up to allow officers who wish to seek additional training an opportunity to apply for it.

The topic of licensing is also not an issue for many of the larger departments. Where I there may be some challenge would be smaller departments that may need additional officers and training staff to comply with 120 hours of training in a 3 year period. I am aware however that officers from Massachusetts are often considered desired candidates in many other POST states but we lack the certification and are therefore subject to lengthy reviews when applying for emplyment in other states. By adopting POST system I would warn that there may be a mass exodus of officers who seek more favorable working conditions.

The process for reviews of officers licensing is important and should also not be decided hastily. There should be great consideration to the make up of such a board. The officers and the citizens deserve to know that they are getting the very best results and that the process is fair and accurate. Any board should include both police officers and supervisors, legal experts, retired justices, and members of the community to ensure that a fair and equitable process is established before deciding an officers future. We cannot allow the possibility that any officer is not allowed the same due process we would expect anywhere else such as a civil or criminal hearing. It is also important to include any accused officer in the hearing process and to allow the presentation of evidence as well as the ability to face an accuser.

I hope that this helps in the development of a fair and reasonable solution for all and that both the profession of law enforcement and the community can move forward together.

Respectfully,

A good cop

Subject: Leave Qualified Immunity Alone

I would like to voice my concern over the Senate's bill to do away with qualified immunity for police officers. Qualified immunity is given to ALL members of state, municipal and federal employees in the course of the performance of their job for a reason. It is a protection for the employee and their families to not have to worry about losing their home or life savings because someone didn't like the way they did their job. Qualified immunity as written does not protect individuals that violate the constitutional rights of others. But it does protect them and their families from frivolous lawsuits.

I am the wife of a police officer and I don't want to have to worry about our house, life savings or children's college savings plans.

If you take it away from only one group - then that is discriminatory. And where does it end - EMT's, fire personal, DCF workers, city councilors, state reps?

If qualified immunity is no longer given to police officers, I believe the Commonwealth will lose a lot of qualified law enforcement officers.

While I understand the need for reform, please do not go overboard by punishing all police officers. They are not the enemy.

Thank you.

Subject: S.2800 Testimony

Hello,

I am a constituent of Rep. Provost in Somerville, and I am writing in support of S.2800. Police in Massachusetts must be held accountable for their actions. The many of the abuses performed daily by uniformed officers all over this country, including in Massachusetts, are protected by the law. If we wish for there to be trust in the law and its enforcers then there must be ways to hold those who abuse their power accountable. This starts with restricting the use of force, including the option to use chokeholds or chemical weapons like tear gas, ending qualified immunity, and removing officers with a history of unwarranted violence. All of these steps will make the state safer and more humane, for people of color, working people, and everyone else.

Sincerely,
JT Hinchey

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

My name is Sean Antunes and I live at 99 Pierce St., New Bedford MA 02740. I work at Old Colony Correction Center and am a Correction Officer I. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Police Reform S.2820 Testimony

?Good Evening,

My name is Megan Strong and I live at 275 Carver Road in Plymouth. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer. Growing up with Police Officers in my family, I don't really remember being worried about them going off to work. It was a different world then. Police Officers were respected and appreciated for the job they did. As the wife of a Police Officer in today's world things are different. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "be safe". In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do, not all wives need to say "be safe" and not all kids have to say "be safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget where I was when I got the initial call from my husband, that he had "been involved in a situation, but couldn't tell me much more right now". Immediately after his call, my phone began ringing off the hook with friends and family members, asking me if my husband was okay, and that the news and social media reported that an Officer was shot in Weymouth. After trying to call my husband back to find out if it was him and receiving no answer, I threw myself in the car and drove to Weymouth to a family members house to be closer in the event I was needed. Shortly after arriving, I was notified that the Officer was killed and that my husband was okay, but that he was one of the two responding Officers first on scene. Once I was finally able to see my husband, I learned that the suspect responsible for killing Mike Chesna, also shot 4 rounds at my husband and another Officer's cruiser during this confrontation. By the Grace of God, they were both physically unharmed.

In the coming days after July 15, 2018, my Blue Family in Weymouth came together, and truly never left each other. I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting on busses in what felt like hours of a procession, as community members lined the streets of Weymouth, Hanover, and Braintree out of support for Mike Chesna, his family, and the Weymouth Police Department. I remember sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives... something none of us will ever forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform.

Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Megan Strong

Subject: S.2800 Testimony

My name is Thomas Gaughan III, I am a campus police officer for Boston Medical Center Dept. Of Public Safety, member of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers Local 905 and the Massachusetts Police Association. I am not officially representing my organizations for this testimony. I am representing myself. I live at 1073 Tucker Road in Dartmouth. My telephone number is 617-828-5066.

I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

As a constituent and as a police officer, I am writing you to express my concern and disgust that the House and Senate would even consider an unconstitutional bill that would affect any public servant and deny us our constitutional rights to due process. More discussion on what qualified immunity is and how it applies to all public servants is needed.

Voting Yes on a bill that puts a person in a position of authority based solely on race is offensive, racist, unconstitutional, unconscionable, and immoral. As police officers, we are sworn to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, as well as enforce the laws of the Commonwealth.

Like most of my neighbors and fellow police officers, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in the proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants. This is especially true for officers who are falsely accused of wrongdoing.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement. We also have world class training curriculums for both full time and reserve intermittent academies through the Municipal Police Training Committee (MPTC). I urge you to look at our current training curriculums, they develop and mold excellent police officers.

It is my firm belief that police officers, our unions, and fraternal organizations must have a seat at the table to discuss these issues along with the general public.

In Massachusetts, we have always been the example of police training with the MPTC and police accountability. I ask you to look at the recent Mass State Police scandal and how that was handled. Those troopers who violated the law were held accountable.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing, and we do not have the same issues as other states. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Thomas Gaughan III

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions
from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

I am opposed to 3 aspects of the bill, and they are: Changes to Qualified immunity for state and city/town Police, Firefighters, EMT's, Paramedics; The complete ban on chokeholds; The restriction on the use of tear gas. I urge you to not support this bill because of these above-mentioned issues.

Subject: Police Reform

Dear Representatives,

We all certainly agree that the murder of George Floyd was horrific. We all can agree that there are instances of police abuse of power. I'm also certain that we can agree that there are GOOD police officers.

It is egregious that the overwhelming majority of dedicated and good police officers in this Commonwealth have been lumped together with the bad in S2800.

What is reprehensible was the HASTE with which the Senate passed this bill.

I respectfully request that the House of Representatives take the time necessary to carefully gather information, consider and debate the important issues at hand.

I request that the Members of the House seek input from police at all levels of law enforcement. After all they are the subject of this legislation.

I most importantly ask that all of you work together in a spirit of cooperation with the men and women who have sworn to SERVE and PROTECT.

This process need not be - nor appear to be adversarial!!!

This process should rather bring all parties together to draft a police reform bill which enhances the abilities of law enforcement to do their job in addition to addressing the failures of those officers who have abused their powers.

My hope is that the House of Representatives will do what the Senate failed to do.

I hope that through open and transparent dialogue the citizens, the police and the lawmakers can come together and to draft the BEST BILL.. Many Senators, in their debate, claimed to support the police, however the tone of their comments spoke volumes to the contrary. It is no wonder that the members of law enforcement felt attacked and greatly disheartened!

I hope that as the bill goes forward, the Representatives in the House can undo some of the harm caused. An overwhelming percentage of our law enforcement professionals are deeply caring, dedicated, educated and committed to serving their communities. We need these brave men and women. We do not want to see them leave the profession they love and take their talents elsewhere. None of us want to be unappreciated in our jobs - imagine how they feel being villainized.

In closing, I ask you to remember that our Law Enforcement Officers go to work each day not knowing what dangers lie ahead. Their families share these same fears. Must a Police Reform Bill also erode the protection of Qualified Immunity to compound their fears?

Please bring all your Colleagues together to pass a bill which strikes a fair balance protecting and supporting our Good officers while addressing the failures of others.

Respectfully,
Janice M. Jones

Subject: S.2800 Police Reform Bill

Dear Representative's Aaron Michlewitz and Claire Cronin,

I am writing to you regarding the recently passed S.2800 legislation which is now before the House of Representatives. As a local Police Officer for 23 years, I urge you to vote no on this legislation and any legislation which removes Qualified Immunity and Due Process for police officers. I implore the House of Representatives to do what the Senate failed to do, and hold public hearings so that common sense and fairness can be restored to this process. I am certain there is common ground where significant police reform can be realized, including standardized training through a POST program.

Qualified Immunity and Due Process for Police Officers who make split second life and death decisions are an absolute necessity to do this job. I am deeply concerned and frustrated with the current legislation.

Specifically, what concerns me, my family and my fellow police officers is the current Senate bill:

- Eliminates collective bargaining rights of police officers.
 - Removes due process rights of police officers.
 - Exposes police officers and their families to personal liability even when acting in GOOD FAITH (qualified immunity).
 - Municipalities and individual officers will face frivolous lawsuits.
 - Unnecessarily puts the lives of police officers in danger!
- Creates a police licensing board that is staffed by organizations who sue our communities and advocate for the elimination of police services.

I encourage you to listen to the voices of the law enforcement community and make decisions based on facts, and on actual Massachusetts data. This bill does not reflect Massachusetts Law Enforcement performance history. Massachusetts has one of the lowest annual rates for deadly force incidents in the nation at 1.2 incidents per one million people. Massachusetts police officers have successfully handled millions of calls for help, often involving volatile and violent individuals without incident.

This proposed bill will destroy the morale of police officers and guarantee a mass exodus from this profession. Those with enough time to retire, will. Those with very little time on, will quit. Those of us in the middle will reluctantly stay, practicing risk avoidance to mitigate the inevitable slew of frivolous lawsuits. Qualified Immunity and Due process do not absolve a police officer from improper conduct, but rather is a common sense and reasonable protection which the courts have upheld for decades.

Respectfully,

Greg Hudon

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

To Whom it May Concern,
My name is Kellie Defelice.

I am a MA resident. I am a Military wife. I am a Law Enforcement wife. I am a teacher. I am the cousin of a firefighter. I am the daughter of a nurse. I am the friend of many first responders. I have lost family members to drug addiction. I have had family members saved by law enforcement with Narcan. I am a mother who wants my child kept safe.

Last week my husband, a MA Transit Police Officer was on his way home from his shift. He came across a Northeastern University police officer who seemed distressed. He pulled over to see if he needed assistance. The Officer was waiting for help to arrive but there was a man laying on the road with no pulse and a needle in his arm. The Officer there didn't have Narcan because they don't carry it. My husband grabbed his and administered it. He saved that man's life but now he could be sued for that kind of response. Will he stop next time? Risking his family? What if that's your son, daughter, niece, nephew, etc. next time?

My cousin was 27 and overdosed on a train in Norwood. Police responded and saved his life. He was suicidal so they brought to the hospital to be saved. They saved his life. The hospital discharged him within an hour. He stepped in front of a train 5 minutes after his discharge. 5 minutes later. You want others to take over for the police. Those police officers saved my cousin. The others let him go and are the reason he is dead. Officers in Boston de-escalated the situation when his brother who is also an addict had scissors and was a threat as he was high on meth and paranoid. His mom who already lost a son watched as police saved his life and she didn't lose another son.

There are over 800,000 police officers in this country. There are millions of interactions with police in this country. Yet only 1,004 people were killed in this country last year by police and only 41 of them were unarmed. The majority of police Officers never shoot their service weapon at anyone in their career. Then the small amount who do? The majority are justified and in self defense. Do we have an issue in this country? Yes. Was George Floyd murdered? Yes. Is it a reflection on all police officers? No. The facts don't lie. The majority of police officers don't kill anyone.

Do we need more training for police officers? Sure. Do we need to defund them? Absolutely not. Do we need to take away qualified immunity which protects them from frivolous lawsuits? Absolutely not. Do we need a bill rushed through because of incidences in other states? NO. How many MA police officers killed unarmed people this year? Last year? The year before? We have the best police departments in this country and yet you are all throwing them under a bus and acting like they are murderers. This is a disgrace. I am 100% against racism. I am 100% against police officers that murder someone like George Floyd. However, you are holding police officers in our state responsible and that's reprehensible. That is not okay. That is unacceptable. Should we hold you responsible for all the actions of politicians? You should hope not. Will you give up your qualified immunity? Will judges?

If this bill passes, you will see us lose so many good police officers in a state that may need work but overall does a fantastic job with policing. You will see our crime go up. You will see more addicts die. More cops will die. You have wording in this bill that encourages anyone, civilians with no training to do harm to police they "think are doing wrong". If you think that doesn't open up major floodgates to police being killed and assaulted you are not awake.

I urge you to do the right thing and not pass this bill. I urge to educate and train our police officers while supporting them and not making rash and ridiculous bills. More training? Great idea. No chokeholds? Already not allowed and great to put it in writing. The rest? Dangerous, not thought out and a gut reaction to things happening in other states.

Sincerely,

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Written Testimony on Senate bill S2800

Dear Representative Coppinger,

My name is Jeanne Carroll and I live in West Roxbury. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Jeanne L. Carroll

Subject: Police Accountability Bill

To Whom It May Concern,

I was hoping to address a couple concerns with the S. 2800 that I am hoping to see addressed in the House version of this bill.

1.) The Senate bill lists "tampering with a record for use in an official proceeding, as defined in section 13E of said chapter 268" as a decertifying offence. I understand that this bill does create a commission for body cam usage, but I hope to see disabling or intentionally obstructing a body cam explicitly included as a form of tampering with a record. I was informed by Senator Brownsberger that, as the bill is written, inappropriately disabling a body cam would not necessarily constitute tampering with a record for official use.

2.) I don't know if this has been explored, but has any consideration gone into uses of AI and facial recognition other than for law enforcement purposes? For example, many remote proctoring services use AI and facial recognition to flag suspected cheating, the footage of which is then reviewed by a human. As schools, including public colleges and universities, are largely going to be remote in the fall due to COVID, they will presumably increasingly rely on remote proctoring services, however as the Senate bill is written it seems that this would be prohibited. I completely support a moratorium, if not a complete ban, on facial recognition for law enforcement purposes, however I am concerned about how this may impact other sectors.

3.) I completely, unequivocally support this bill's limits on qualified immunity, and I hope to see this included in the House bill as well.

4.) I understand that the Governor's version of the bill included monetary bonuses for law enforcement officers completing additional training, and that this was not included in the Senate version. I hope that these bonuses are not included in the House version either.

Thank you,
Jess Rush

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Todd Barreira and I live at 152 Hudson St. Fall River ma. I work at Bristol County Sheriff's Office and am a correction officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

I am writing to you in opposition of Bill S.2800 as it currently stands.

While I do agree with the certification program as other professional groups require and are held accountable to; I am deeply concerned of the thought of limiting a police officer's qualified immunity, removing school resource officers and potentially taking away the tool of pepper spray.

I do understand and completely agree that it is time to reform however I feel this bill is being rushed through without enough thought and input. I implore you to give more consideration to this bill - start slowly by getting the certification process developed and rolled out and then add addendums where needed.

As the mother of a police officer who is thoughtful, kind and a great community leader, as well as being a Massachusetts voter my entire life I beg you to reconsider pushing through a bill with all of these contents for fear of jeopardizing our honorable civic servants. Please, I truly believe there will be serious unintended consequences to the police force as a whole as well as society.

Subject: Do Not Strip Law Enforcement of Qualified Immunity

I am 100% against stripping Law Enforcement of qualified immunity. This action would take away their protection and due process. The good men and women who serve the people of this Commonwealth and it's cities and towns put their lives on the line every day and have continued to do so even though they have been unjustly vilified in the news media. Prejudice, judging a group of people by the actions of a few, based on race, religion, the language that someone speaks or even the uniform they wear is wrong, And there seems to be a lot of that happening here. If you take away qualified immunity, you need to ask yourself how many good law enforcement personnel will continue on the job and who, if anyone, will take their place.

The men and women in Law Enforcement deserve our respect and our support and the public deserves well-trained dedicated Law Enforcement personnel. Do not strip them of qualified immunity.

Judiciary Committee:

I hope the House Judiciary Committee will support the Senate bill that passed this week S-2800. I know there are changes the House could make, AND THAT I SUPPORT, to make the Reform Bill stronger, but the important thing is that the Senate and House approve a bill during this soon-to-end legislative session. HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, State Representative Liz Miranda < to intervene and to de-escalate and would require maintaining public records of officer misconduct. HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, State Representative Michael Day would end the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

Whether these more progressive changes are made or not, though I hope you will vote for S-2800.

To The Honorable Representative Whelan,

I appreciate you taking the time to reach out to members of the commonwealth for our input in regards to bill S.2820. I know you requested name, organization, and telephone number. I can provide those, but I need to stress that I am a MEMBER of my employing agency, and I do not speak on BEHALF of my employing agency. I do however, speak for the Sharon Police Association, as I am the Sharon Police Association President.

Name: George K. Demeris Jr.
Organization: Sharon Police Department/Sharon Police Association
Telephone: 508-654-2557

I understand that you must be receiving a large volume of emails and calls to your office, and once again I thank you for taking the time to read and listen to as many as you can. Simply offering the opportunity to be heard is more than the Senate allowed.

-Section 221 addresses who will be on the independent police officer standards and accreditation committee. In it, it states that a person who has "been personally involved in or impacted by the criminal justice system". What type of impact? Is this person to be a convicted criminal? Somebody who has had their civil rights violated? Somebody who has successfully sued a police officer, or unsuccessfully done so? Any of these or similar types of people I believe provide a biased point of view, and should be no part of an accreditation committee. Police Officers are often compared to Doctors in regards to liability. When a doctor contends with a malpractice committee, is a patient who has had a botched surgery a member of that committee which passes judgment? I ask you to reconsider this language in the bill.

This chapter states that this method is completely unusable, even if the officer is in imminent danger of being killed. I believe the bill language should reflect that in the case where deadly force is being used against an officer, he or she should be allowed to employ a chokehold if it has the opportunity to end the conflict.

Ch. 147A, Section 2., (f): Namely, the section about K9's ("dogs", as they are referred to in the bill). The language seems to only change the use of force in regards to K9's in a crowd setting, stating that the K9's may only be utilized on a person if it is proportionate to the imminent harm displayed towards officers or others. I believe this needs clarification, as K9 use in crowd control events is very different from tactical events where in patro dogs are tracking armed and dangerous suspects. Whereas a K9 may not simply be sent to apprehend a protestor unless they are actively displaying assaultive characteristics, if a suspect has a knife or blunt weapon and is hiding in a wooded or urban area, a K9 apprehension of the suspect (or even simply a display of the K9 by barking) can non-lethally end a scenario, whereas if the K9 is only able to track a suspect, but then another officer has to go hands on with him, it may result in the serious injury or death of the suspect and or officer involved. Responsibly deployed K9's save lives when they apprehend armed and dangerous suspects. They allow for the officers to go home safe, the suspect his day in court, and the victims a modicum of justice. These are life SAVING tools, and must be allowed to be used.

Thank you for taking the time to read my suggestions. I can only hope that these ideas permeate the minds of the Honorable House of Representatives, and allow for a reform bill that serves ALL members of the Commonwealth, as we are members as well, and should also be privy to fair and equitable treatment, as well as due process.

If you have any questions or wish to converse about any of this, I can be reached at this email, or by cell phone at (508) 654-2557. Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: S.2820 qualified immunity

Dear Representatives,
I am deeply concerned with the provision of the bill that significantly reduces qualified immunity for members of the Commonwealth Police Force. This will make already difficult and dangerous police work to be even more difficult by adding a fear to be sued for any decision that often needs to be taken in a split second time and in the life threatening circumstances. Not only it will make the police to be less efficient, and its work even more dangerous, but it will also make joining the police a lot less attractive for next generation of officers. We desperately want the best young people of all communities to become good police officers dedicated to serving their communities and the whole Commonwealth. The society owes its emergency workers and especially those who risk their life to protect other people. They should not feel vulnerable to the frivolous law suits, when their life and often the live of the others is dependent on their ability to act quickly and decisively.

Subject: Police Reform and Racial Equity legislation

To the HWH Judiciary,

Following years of issues, which have finally come into prominence over the last several months, I think we should concentrate on these legislative actions:

1. Creating a Peace Officers Standards and Training (POST) system to certify police officers and enable de-certification for misconduct and abuse;
2. Establishing civil service exam review and oversight to review examinations for appointment and promotion of peace officers;
3. Creating a commission on structural racism to study how the systemic presence of institutional racism has created a culture of structural racial inequality; and
4. Adopting clear statutory limits on police use of force and requiring an independent investigation of officer-related deaths.

Let's make Massachusetts a leader in the United States as we face the inequities caused by Racial Injustice. Let's emphasize the Peace in Peace Officers.

Thank you for taking my comments.

Dear Senator,

My name is Richard Wu and I live at 350 Foundry St Easton MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Richard Wu

To whom it may concern:

My name is Michaela Dauplaise and I live in Westfield . I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Hello Honorable Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin + the respected members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committee. I am writing in support of S.2820 which will bring critical reform to the criminal justice system in the Massachusetts Commonwealth. I urge your honors to expedite this bill to pass it in to law and take every opportunity to strengthen it.

We must fully eliminate the loopholes that prevents police accountability and ban qualified immunity. We need to also create strong decertifying problem officer standards. We must completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the terrible case resulting in Breonna Taylor's death.

I write as a survivor of violence, a trained human rights investigator, a graduate of public health, an experienced policy & programming director of antiviolence initiatives at local & state level, and a colleague to municipal police officers. We all work with vulnerable populations of people because we want to support and help ALL people.

This bill will bankrupt working families not just police and fire but also nurses who have been on the front lines caring for families during covid 19.

Please veto Bill S2820 , S2800

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

> ?????????????????????? ??????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

> ?????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. Consequently, the provision to scale back or eliminate "Qualified Immunity" will alter the principles of local police work. Police action of running/chasing and capturing a perpetrator of an immediate crime will change. Who in their right mind "would take down" a perpetrator who committed that immediate crime? Obviously, ethics and the professional obligation of that potentially responding officer would be ripe with confusion to "subdue".

If Qualified Immunity is part of this bill watch crime soar. Never mind inside my beloved city of Boston, but watch it happen in other cities to include my adopted city of Quincy. The elimination or modification of Qualified Immunity should not be part of the Police Reform Bill.

Subject: Please pass a strong police reform bill

Dear House of Representatives and Representative John Lawn:

My name is Tracey Seier, and I live in Waltham Massachusetts.

For far too long, Boston has had a reputation for being one of the most racist cities in the country, and our policing in Boston contributes to that reputation. We have long accepted a separate and unequal life for minorities in our city and in the Boston Metro area. And over policing is a part of that.

Everywhere in the Commonwealth, Black and Brown people are stopped more in traffic stops, are more likely to be abused by police officers, are more likely to be jailed for minor things. Our poorest teens have police officers in their schools, ready to charge them with crimes if they make any error. While their rich White peers have rock climbing gyms and theatres in their schools.

We need to fundamentally change our ways.

Massachusetts led the country in Marriage Equality. Massachusetts can once again lead the country in police reform. We can reduce violence in our communities, end over-policing of minor things like drug possession, forbid violent police officers from ever serving in the commonwealth again, end the careers of police officers who lie under oath or plant evidence on citizens. We can make sure that rapes are solved. We can have a police force that matches the complexion and culture of their community, with training in social work, mental health crisis intervention.

Please quickly pass the Bill to Reform Police Standards and Shift Resources to Build a More Equitable, Fair and Just Commonwealth That Values Black Lives And Communities of Color.

It is high time that the Massachusetts State government passed policies reflective of the public at large, not serving the interest of police unions. The DOJ--under Trump--who has expressed clear support of police officers, recognized the abuse within Springfield, MA and produced a scathing report. <https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/justice-department-announces-findings-investigation-narcotics-bureau-springfield> <https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A_www.justice.gov_opa_pr_justice-2Ddepartment-2Dannounces-2Dfindings-2Dinvestigation-2Dnarcotics-2Dbureau-2Dspringfield&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGIInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=8Oo1fBqlpiDaamtQ3rIfPXE7tMzQ86Qrny84xDLWmKA&s=c5h25_ac0LwrBo8SZtFvfZQsG_wCIz-ENY7Ez1k8nA&e=>

Massachusetts is not exempt from the criticism raging across the nation right now. Our state--and the police in it--are actively complicit. Police are meant to serve and protect the people. A vast majority are actively failing in this and must be held accountable. The systems and the processes governing law enforcement MUST change. Please please please pass Bill S. 2800.

Best,

Anna

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Leonard Rizy

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Paul Briggs I live at 755 Whittenton St. Taunton, Ma. 02780. I work at MCI-Cedar Junction and am a Lieutenant. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Request that the House preserve the reforms in the Senate bill, such as the following:

- * Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body
- * Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages
- * Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records
- * Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities
- * Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual and is strikingly not yet illegal

Request that the House expand the Senate bill by

- * Strengthening use of force standards, e.g., by outright banning chokeholds and tear gas
- * Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)
- * Lifting the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund

 Subject: Proposed Police Reform

To Whom it May Concern,

Growing up in a small community, I have always known many of the first responders, both employed by the state and those who work on a volunteer basis. These men and women are some of the most selfless individuals, and often stop to assist whether they are on the clock, or off of it. I do strongly believe that police reform is necessary, and that community based policing/engagement should be more prominent throughout the commonwealth, however by removing qualified immunity I believe there will be more harm than good. Many of these men and women will walk away from professions that were once seen as honorable, because the risk against their own wellbeing will be very high. I fear that in the end we will be left with individuals who are in their profession for a paycheck, rather than the good of their community.

The calls that police officers, EMS personnel, and firefighters run to are often the situations that others run away from. If they are willing to take a risk to protect us, as citizens of Massachusetts, I strongly believe that the bill should be reconsidered, so we can continue to protect them as well.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Re: Testimony re S.2820, the Senate's Police Reform Bill

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am shocked beyond words at what happened to George Floyd earlier this year. Therefore, I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely, Robert P. Pepin SR.

Subject: Senate bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Brandon Moniz and I live at 5455 north main st. I am an employee of the Bristol county sheriffs office. I am a correctional officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Brandon Moniz

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

The Honorable Rep. Claire D. Cronin
Chair, Joint Committee on the Judiciary

Re: Testimony in Support of Police Accountability -- Use of Force Standards and Qualified Immunity Reform

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

On behalf of The Coalition for Social Justice, I write in strong support of the many provisions in S.2820 designed to increase police accountability. In particular, our organization urges you to:

1. Adopt strict limits on police use of force,
2. End qualified immunity. Police accountability is a must. Victims of police violence must have their day in court, and police must be held to a high standard.

Our organization has been active in southeastern Massachusetts for the past 25 years. We have active chapters in Brockton, New Bedford, Fall River, and Falmouth. We have been active in criminal legal reform for the past decade, and played a leading role in the 2018 Reform Bill. We also are currently playing a leading role in the movement to hold Sheriff Hodgson accountable for his questionable practices in the Bristol County House of Correction and the Correia Detention Center.

We have seen our share of police overreach: in the death of 15 year old Malcolm Gracia at the hands of the New Bedford police; with excessive racial profiling through "stop and frisk" policies; warnings given to young Black men to stay inside during the summer months, amounting to the police acting like an occupying force; instances of racial attacks against innocent people at the hands of the Dartmouth Police, for which the town had to pay handsomely. We know that any city or town in Massachusetts is open to this kind of abuse because structurally there is no way to hold police who commit acts of malfeasance accountable. This has to stop. The police cannot feel they are above the law. That kind of attitude leads to murders like George Floyd's, which can no longer be tolerated.

Massachusetts must eliminate the shield of qualified immunity in order to enforce limits on the use of police force. Too many people have been seriously injured or killed as some police have violated people's civil rights without consequences. Ending or reforming qualified immunity is the most important police accountability measure in S2820.

We also urge you to establish strong standards limiting excessive force by police. When police interact with civilians, they should only use force when it is absolutely necessary, after attempting to de-escalate, when all other options have been exhausted. Police must use force that is proportional to the situation, and the minimum amount required to accomplish a lawful purpose. And several tactics commonly associated with death or serious injury, including the use of chokeholds, tear gas, rubber bullets, and no-knock warrants should be outlawed entirely.

It seems to us that a great deal of funding is given to repression rather than going with effective tried and true programs that can prevent unlawful behavior and reduce unnecessary injuries and deaths. If we can redirect monies to successful programs and interventions, we could greatly reduce crime. For example, strong jobs programs for young men ages 16-25 have been effective in keeping people on the law-abiding path. Well-funded drug treatment and mental health programs are essential and badly needed.

There is another way, and we need to change our priorities so that our citizens can be helped rather than lost in this needless cycle of state sanctioned violence.

Sincerely,

Debra Fastino

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Regards, Lisa

Subject: Police reform bill

Dear Chairperson,

My union has been advised that the house is drafting their version of a police reform bill.

Although the incident that was the catalyst for all this reform happened a thousand miles from here I can see we are being governed by mob rule and do not want to hear facts about incidents that happen here in Massachusetts. I know it doesn't fit the agenda right now. Police are not shooting unarmed people on a regular basis like they are claiming in the media. I have been a police officer in the city of Everett for 23 years. Just a few months back with covid we were heroes going in to unknown sicknesses without the proper equipment for ourselves to save lives. We not only exposed ourselves but our spouses and children. Massachusetts has the best trained officers in the nation and that's why we don't have the issues other parts of our country are experiencing . I ask the speaker and the house to show a little political courage and common sense.

Some of the concerns I have with this haphazardly written bill on the senate side.

- This is union busting at its finest
- Circumventing our CBA's. It's unions that built this country and protect its work force right down to the 40 hour work week.
- Stripping due process. There already is a system that does work to get rid of problem officers. I have seen it first hand. My department has fired numerous officers over my 23 years. I have also seen bosses reduced in rank when they did not handle situations properly. The media is putting out a false narrative that problem officers can never be fired. That's just a lie.
- Qualified immunity. Everyone knows this will lead to frivolous lawsuits, taking officers off the street During these invests and cities losing tons of money. Police are routinely in hazardous situations and have seconds to make a decision. Only to have everyone else especially the media on Monday say they did this or that wrong. I would be perfectly fine with going 32 years and retire without shooting at any one. Unfortunately when we fight for people who can't fight for themselves we are put in those situations.
- Citizens Interviening In an arrest because in their untrained opinion believe something being done is excessive. Meanwhile not knowing what the defendant was being arrested for or understand the training you have. This will definitely cause citizens to get hurt. Further escalating violence!
- These boards the state wants to create with naacp/aclu and political appointee members on them. These organizations routinely sue cities and police departments for various issues. They not only would be biased for their organizations client they have zero law enforcement experience. There is a clear conflict of interest. The majority of the board should be compromised from experienced expert law enforcement from various ranks in the state of Massachusetts. Retired judges not activists ones who understand the law.

I ask that you consider all these points while drafting the responsible house version of this bill and realize how important these are to have a safe civil society

Respectfully, I will be holding the line. Will you?

I am sending you the attached as a concerned citizen of the commonwealth. This bill is moving to fast and not all concerned parties are being heard. I did not create the following but do agree with the points of issue.

Thank you in advance for considering the following

Todd Neale

Citizen of Royalston

Massachusetts

Written testimony is due almost

1. Qualified Immunity - do not accept the talking point that there is not much of a change here. Not only did they make it more difficult to get Qualified Immunity (essentially turning it into a fact issue to be decided at trial, as opposed to a legal issue a judge could weed out early) - but - the real sneaky part is that they removed an element from the State Civil Rights Act, and also provided a provision for attorneys fees to be awarded to plaintiffs. These two changes are huge - will create tons of new state law claims against public employees to be brought in the state courts - as opposed to Federal Courts - where they will cost employees and Cities and Towns so much.

<https://nolanperroni.us3.list-manage.com/track/click?u=fdb5064f10a7ad27e13aff127&id=5fc55f0fa5&e=db4alab9f1>

2. Indemnification - Some legislators are pointing to the lack of changes in the State Indemnification Law (GL c. 258) as a reason that officers should just not worry - suggesting they will still be defended against all of this expected onslaught. DO NOT ACCEPT THAT. First - GL c. 258

discriminates against municipal officers. Indemnification for municipal employees (police, fire, local officials, etc.) is discretionary. They do not have to do it. On the other hand, people like legislators, and the State Executive branch enjoy mandatory defense and indemnification for up to $1,000,000.00 if they violate the civil rights laws

Also - don't forget - the Massachusetts State Police have a special statute of their own - GL c. 258, Sec. 9A - that provides mandatory defense and indemnification for up to $1,000,000.00 for civil rights violations as long as they are not willful or malicious. MUNICIPAL OFFICERS ARE THE ONLY ONES WORKING WITHOUT A NET.

3. Due Process Rights - Obviously there is so much wrong with this bill - but the idea that your careers may be put into the hands of a inherently political board, mostly non-law enforcement, many with anti-police agendas, and of the law enforcement is mostly management, is alone disheartening enough. Here are some thoughts:

First - That board should be made up of a majority of law enforcement professionals, with representatives of management and labor, with appropriate and limited non-law enforcement representation. JUST LIKE EVERY OTHER PROFESSIONAL BOARD IN THE COMMONWEALTH.

Second - the way the bill defines a "sustained complaint" is that it views it as final once the CITY makes its decision. It does not allow for an unbiased review by an arbitrator or civil service - both rights which most have relied upon forever. This is shocking. In fact, both bargaining law and civil service law acknowledge that the city level process is biased - and more, even says that employees have no right to a disinterested or unbiased or even full hearing at the city level. THE REASON FOR THIS IS THAT THE LAW PROVIDES THESE APPEALS TO ARBITRATION AND CIVIL SERVICE. So - with this bill, officers will be stuck with only the permissibly biased, final decisions of local officials. This cannot stand. Just cause protects good officers - not bad officers. Every good public manager and Chief knows that if they follow correct process, they are able to remove unfit officers.

Third - the Governor's bill did not allow the Board to do its own investigations into complaints, and to be a place where people could complaint directly. The Senate changed this and now allows this political board to ignore local IA findings clearing officers, to ignore arbitrators and civil service officers, to ignore DA findings of justified force, etc - and simply do their own thing. This is wrong. This review board should be required to use the facts and findings of unbiased officials, should not be independently creating their own fact findings (which are insulated from appeal other than a legal "abuse of discretion" type appeal). This independent function should be removed and it should be consistent with the Governor's bill in that the board has a review function only.

The entire reason that public employees need just cause protections and appeals are to protect against political influence - just like what is going on now. Will your Rep be taking this protection away from other municipal workers? from teachers? from themselves?

Subject: Police Reform Bill

I would like voice heard regarding the Police Reform Bill.

I'm most definitely against the violation of civil rights and to the use of unnecessary force by any police department. The situation with George Floyd was tragic and should never have happened. Training and evaluations wouldn't be the worst idea, as this is accepted protocol in many industries. Massachusetts has an exceptional track record. Our officers are educated and well led for the most part.

I am against limiting qualified immunity.

Who are any of us to determine as bystanders what the appropriate action is to take as these police officers are under incredibly stressful and dangerous situations. Look at Michael Chesna, a Weymouth police officer killed with his own gun two years ago this week, as he simply answered a call about an erratic driver. A police officer has to react swiftly using a gut reaction. We have to trust our officers to make the correct decision for that moment in time. We can't be back seat drivers and question every move made after the fact.

If qualified immunity is limited, you'll see the police force dwindle as retirees give up on their roles and young people find other professions where they are respected for a job well done not beaten down and spit at by the very people they serve. This latest witch hunt that is trending in America, where the masses have determined that the police force is at fault or that by pulling down statues we can realign history, is a farce. Until people in general start to respect each other and stop fighting vehemently like spoiled children until their opinion is accepted as the norm - we're in deep trouble as a country. Why can't people accept the fact that there is always going to be opposing perspectives? That's what our country was built on.

Limiting Qualified Immunity is not the answer.

Sincerely,

Lisa Mackin

Representatives,

Please take careful consideration in reviewing the content of this email as it immensely impacts the importance of Police Officers performing their job, and keeping the community safe. Safe you may ask?

Safe by removing guns, drugs, and violent criminals from the streets in which members of the commute walk. They may walk alone or with their spouse, children, significant partners. Maybe even just their pet. They have a right to feel SAFE! The data does not lie. Crime has increasingly gone up over recent years. More crime = a greater push for safety amongst members of the community. Please do not let the decision be based solely on political motivation.

My name is Keith Crowley and I live in Methuen. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Gerry Murphy, Quincy Fire Department, IAFF local 792. 617-767-5640

Please preserve full qualified immunity for public safety personnel. I have often been called upon to restrain violent, combative patients to keep them safe from themselves or from causing harm to others. These patients have been under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol, suffering from head injury, shock, hypoglycemia, dementia or a experiencing a behavioral emergency such as a suicide attempt.

I worked in concert with fellow firefighters, ems providers, and most often, a lone police officer to restrain the patient so they could be transported to the hospital and receive treatment. The motivation of all personnel engaged in restraint was ensuring the safety and care of the patient. Frequently, it requires the sustained effort of 5 or 6 people to control a strong violent patient.

In the deliberation over review and reform of policing in general, I feel more consideration is needed for the split second nature of violent behavior and how little reaction time is available when faced with a sudden threat. Sometimes mistakes are made in an instinctive attempt to defend oneself and others which might be avoided with the luxury of time and distance.

Opening the door to personal liability will prove harmful to public safety personnel and the public in general. In conclusion, over 17 years and thousands of calls, I have never witnessed a police officer, firefighter or EMT act with malice towards any patient.

Respectfully, Gerry Murphy

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,
Barbara J. McGuirk

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Samuel Carver and I live at 24 Dean St. Mansfield, MA 02048. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Sergeant. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed, but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

The bill that is being pushed (S.2800) is ridiculous and embarrassing, especially that fact that it was approved over night at 4a.m with no real discussion or public input. That bill is putting my family at risk personally as i have family who are in law enforcement, and it's also putting the public in complete danger. People are going to take advantage of this for their own monetary purposes and ruin lives just because they want to. You really need to rethink this.

We will remember this come November.

Massachusetts should not be one of the first in the nation to roll out these new "police reforms", Massachusetts should be the example that other states are basing their reforms off of. Massachusetts has some of the lowest numbers for officer involved shootings, excessive use of force complaints, and race based complaints. The commonwealth is already above and beyond many other states in progressive policing. Politicians are forcing this knee jerk reaction bill to pander to the extremists. You cannot allow qualified immunity to be taken away from the officers that should be the example for the rest of the country. This will lead to hesitation and officers lives being taken. It will destroy families and livelihoods. Policing in Massachusetts is not the national problem and should be held up as a guiding light for other states to follow. Do not allow this bill to pass and instead highlight the positive progressive work done by all Massachusetts Law Enforcement officials.

Police are taking way too much of the blame because of an incident that happened in another part of the country. Our representatives are a joke and for them to turn their backs on police when not too long ago during the marathon bombings everyone hid under the protection that police provided. If this passes good luck finding qualified candidates for the job in the future.

I think that this act, as written, will present significant long term negative impacts to the existing first-responder teams and negatively impact the future of these departments due to fear of repercussions beyond what is reasonable. These first-responders risk their lives daily for us and deserve nothing but the utmost respect. Subject: We Need Police Accountability with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I strongly urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

To whom it may concern:

Taking away Qualified Immunity presents many problems that just don't make sense. Please reconsider this part of the reform bill. Having public employees take on this personal risk is unfair. In this very litigious society, we will see an increase in frivolous lawsuits and public employees will stand by and do nothing for fear to lose their home and savings. How is that good? Perhaps an unintended consequence of this bill.

Insurance companies are probably meeting now to devise some type of insurance policy they can sell to cover public employees. It will be very expensive as insurance companies never want to pay out. They know the odds of potential claims. And the odds of many claims being filed is very good.

Please reconsider this part of the bill. And you cannot do that, then add yourselves to the bill and remove your qualified immunity.

Take a stand. Don't fall into the mob mentality. Do what is right.

Hello Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin:

I am writing in support of S2820 currently being considered by the Massachusetts House of Representatives. This bill is a crucial part of reforming our police departments and addressing systemic racism within our society. In particular I support the restrictions on obtaining military grade property, the banning of choke holds, and the restrictions on the use of chemical weapons, rubber bullets and dogs. The emphasis on training and de-escalation tactics is an absolutely necessary part of law enforcement reform.

In addition, I support the change in the requirement for school resource officers only at the request of school superintendents. There have been too many stories from students, particularly students of color, of the racism they have encountered or observed from SROs. Studies are clear that the criminalization of matters that should be handled by schools are hugely detrimental to students both during their time in school and afterward.

I know there has been a tremendous amount of resistance from the law enforcement community regarding this bill, particularly with respect to the modification of qualified immunity. In my opinion the changes made by the bill are reasonable and will help to hold police officers accountable for their actions.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Dear members of the House,

The proposed bill S.2820 does not do enough to prevent police violence against Black people or deal with the problem of the over-criminalization and mass incarceration of Black communities. I am hoping that it can be strengthened in the House.

To be clear, if there is a single drop more of spending needed to implement these changes, in either training and training commissions, I do not support it. We already see in other communities around the country where a lot of this same legislation exists that Black people are still being targeted, hurt, and killed by police. You might see this as a first step but if this bill goes through as is, it is not enough. I do not want any one of you to think that this is enough.

It is important that we chip away at qualified immunity, which continues to save violent officers from losing their jobs. All of these bans on specific policing practices mean nothing if qualified immunity isn't abolished, and I hope that this bill becomes stronger in weakening it. If a police officer commits a fireable or chargeable offense they should not be able to continue being a police officer in any community. Choke holds were banned in New York City the day Eric Garner died by one, and his murderer remained a police officer for five more years after killing him.

The way forward is to find a way to fire an officer permanently, but also shrink the role and powers of police. The millions of dollars used to increase the scope of policing should be used to fund Black and Brown communities. I want to see a decrease in police officer's responsibilities. I want to see legislation that decriminalizes minor offences, that stops pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. Policing should not be waiting around for someone to make a minor infraction, or waiting to target a random passerby hoping to uncover an infraction, to give them a ticket and rope them into our debilitating legal cycle. This cycle is entirely fueled by preying on Black and Brown communities, the poor and the working class, and will always disproportionately harm these communities no matter how much training is implemented. S.2820 does not get us to the place where we need to be, and I am afraid that all of you will stop there.

The legislative session is scheduled to end July 31. I expect to see better by then or by the return in the fall.

Thank you,

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

The recently passed Senate Bill needs serious modification in the House. There are lots of details to plow through but in short, this is an expensive bill assembled in a haphazard manner with an apparent emotional urge for the State Legislators to be in the forefront of progressive action resulting from events that occurred elsewhere. The absence of public notice and hearings is testament to the knee-jerk nature of the legislation.

There are at least ten new Commissions established by this Bill of a dozen or more people with executive directors, administrative staff, lawyers, researchers, consultants and contractors for each Commission. There are travel and entertainment expenses, expenses for Boston office suites, and millions in new social welfare spending that I fear will be 75% consumed by the administrative bureaucracy. As a taxpayer, I don't want to buy this! I see this bill costing $100million per year so that you legislators can hide behind a facade of altruism.

I see independent fundraising and government appropriations that become administrative slush funds supporting legalized graft and corruption by the Commissions.

I don't see reform coming from this Bill. I see an uncoordinated mess of bureaucracy that does not help the Black and Latino communities. I see a misguided assault on the police forces of the towns, counties and State. The bill strips the policeman of their authority, their dignity and their personal safety.

I see an imbalanced approach to community development where these Commissions are heavily populated by minority participants in order to fix the vote for any and all decisions or recommendations from those committees.

I see policemen victimized by the process with no recourse through established union contracts or the Civil Service Commission.

I see age and disability discrimination as it appears all new State Police must be cadets under 26 years of age and with no disabilities. I see no ability for a municipal police officer to transfer into the State Police thereby blocking qualified, experienced candidates from the force, as the Bill prohibits crossover and advancement. Crazy.

So many more sloppy details. An officer can get sued for civil liability for up to 4 years after an incident yet the Bill allows for the destruction of body cam video after 180 days. Why wouldn't this be kept for at least 4 years as a means of defense for an officer accused? Haphazard.

You expect the police to be race neutral while requiring them to specify perceived race for any traffic stop. Haphazard and incongruent.

Why is the Latino Commission smaller than the African American Commission by 2 people? Haphazard. Why are there dates for nominations and appointments set for the Latino Commission and not for the others. Haphazard.

I could go on.... You get the picture. You Liberals want the Police to serve and protect your political agenda, not the people, so you mask your agenda as "law." This is not lawful. Please read our Constitution again. This is a free society where people are free to succeed and free to fail. If people fail, the rest of us are not obligated to carry them on our backs.

This isn't Seattle. This isn't Minneapolis. Let's not be the next lawless metropolis.

Thank you.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Stephen T Lupien and I live at 20 Woodland Road, West Bridgewater MA. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Stephen T Lupien

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

To whom it may concern,

I have been a Natick police Officer for 24 years. During this time I have been awarded (locally) Officer of the year and (Nationally) NSRO District 6, Distinct Service award recipient. I hold a BA in psychology and criminal justice. I also hold an MS in Mental Health Counseling. I am a NSRO Practitioner, which is the highest level of training nationally, a School Resource Officer can have. Lastly, I am a member of the Massachusetts Juvenile Police Association, conference board.

I tell you all this not to boast about my accomplishments but to demonstrate my commitment to the people of my town, Natick Massachusetts. I am in fear of the removal of Qualified Immunity. I am a good Officer and by "good Officer" I mean I care for the people I service. Early in my career I had to arrest one of my Sargents. That was not easy but it was right. While my son battled cancer, I still answered calls from parents/students/teachers/administrators that were in need. I made sure I was on duty as long as my son was not admitted to the hospital. To say I am committed to my town is an understatement, but I am not an unusual Officer. There are thousands of Massachusetts Officers that are the same, if not better.

The issue of Qualified Immunity, for me is, just because I am a good Officer, doesn't mean I will not be civilly sued for the interactions I have with the public. There are no protections for frivolous lawsuits. I cannot afford an attorney to go to court every time someone does not appreciate what occurred at a scene. I read the social media responses to varied events. Untrained individuals become experts and take issue with things they don't understand or they don't see the full picture. I fear people will now take those opinions and start filing frivolous lawsuits against good officers like me. I do not want to ever go to a scene and have to choose between helping a person in need or the financial stability of my family. Is it not bad enough, I carry a final good bye letter in my vest, incase an incident takes me? Now, daily I will need to be concerned about civil lawsuits.

Massachusetts has been a leader around the country with our training and policies, for law enforcement. Having said that, nothing is perfect and can always be better. There are many good parts to the bill S2800. As you can see, I enjoy training and welcome it. I staunchly disagree though with the removal of Qualified Immunity.

Thank you for taking the time and reading my thoughts. I usually only practice my civic duty at the ballot box, so this testimony is new to me. I truly appreciate the time an effort you all put into governing of state. Thank you again

Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Senate Bill S2800

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this email to you to express my grave concern over the Senate Bill S2800. I am extremely disappointed at what the Massachusetts State Senate did with the passage of Senate Bill S2800. Not only did the Senate basically label all the honest men and women of law enforcement, to include officers of color, as racist but they also attacked every public sector employee and union with this poorly crafted bill. I am still not sure why this was rushed through so abruptly in the middle of the night. There were no public hearings as well. That just screams back door shadiness!

The loss of Qualified Immunity is a principle that is fully supported by the United States Supreme Court in case law and protects public sector employees from good faith errors while in the performance of their duties. Qualified Immunity does not protect unlawful conduct by public sector employees, it never has and does not shield officers from unlawful conduct. The Senate Bill not only affects law enforcement but fire, medical and educational employees, as well as municipal and elected officials. The potential financial cost to the Commonwealth and individual public sector employees will be massive. In addition to this, the effect on law enforcement will be profound with every officer in the Commonwealth second guessing everything they do and choosing inaction over action out of fear of civil litigation for just performing their duties. This will transcend into every public sector job and field, how is this good for the state and its citizens? The Senate Bill will create a potential atmosphere that emboldens criminals and clogs up the court system with frivolous law suits. I personally do not want police officers not responding to calls based on the fact they might be sued if they look at someone the wrong way.

Another important issue in the Bill is the loss of collective bargaining rights and due process. The Massachusetts House has a long and proud history of supporting labor unions in this state. Why has the Senate decided to strip bargaining rights away from workers in this state? On top of that, take away a persons due process rights to appeal and protection from over reach or retribution by employers for any reason that they deem fit. This is wrong on so many levels and violates basic citizen's rights.

I am in full support of accreditation and certification of law enforcement. I believe a code of standards is absolutely necessary. However, I do not support the loss of Qualified Immunity or Collective Bargaining. The Commonwealth is heading down a slippery slope right now. Look at the rest of the country. This isn't an over reaction or a doom and gloom scenario. When you take away law enforcement's ability to enforce the law, you will have crime and utter chaos. I do not want to live in a society like that, nor do I want my children growing up with this.

I hope that the House of Representatives will be what you were elected to be, representatives of the people. The Senate seems to be pandering to a very dangerous progressive agenda that puts public safety and the financial well being of the Commonwealth at risk. The process needs to slow down. ALL sides must be heard from. Public hearings need to take place and language needs to be thought out to be fair on all sides. The majority of citizens in the Commonwealth do not have issue with the police. This is coming from a liberal agenda that is nothing but terrifying to the average tax paying citizen. Let's not forget, two months ago everyone wanted the police departments to help with their birthday and graduation parades. What changed? Why are they all of sudden the enemy? They are hired to do a job. That job is protect and serve. Unfortunately, with this Bill they won't be able to do either.

I thank you for your time and consideration with this matter. I hope that you will think carefully, reasonably and with some foresight. Thinking long term how Senate Bill S2800 will affect the whole Commonwealth and its citizens.

Subject: Bill S.2800

Good afternoon,

I am writing to express my complete opposition to the misguided bill regarding police reform just passed on Beacon Hill. Especially concerning are the following 2 items:

- setting up a committee of non professional civilians to set police standards??? This is absolutely inappropriate. For other professions, for example the medical profession, a board of certified peers in that profession is used to set standards and evaluate performance.
- Secondly, removing police immunity is a huge step backward. These officers are making split second life or death decisions in certain cases, and their intent has to be considered and they must be protected from frivolous and ruinous lawsuits.

Boston has a remarkable police force, one that has been held up as a national model. Commissioner Gross is outstanding, and tells things as they are. He has worked very hard to ensure policing is fair and just.

This bill is pandering to the interests of a very vocal minority, many of whom looted and burned during the protests, while the police were told to stand down. Our MA police officers put on their uniform every day, and vow to protect and serve. They should not all be lumped into the same category of the few officers that disgrace the uniform. This bill will remove their needed immunity while performing their duties. ALL lives matter, including those of our brave police officers. I implore you to not pass this bill as written.

Regards,
Dale Harrison

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Eve Fairbanks

Subject: Police reform bill

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Jon Hunter and I live at 28 Nickerson St, Plymouth MA . I recently worked at the Bristol County Sheriff's Office as a Sergeant. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Jon Hunter

Subject: Bill S.2820

Dear Committee Members,

I struggle to understand how anyone could think passing this bill could be a good idea.

I am horrified to see you buying into the opinion that our police are systematically racist. I absolutely cannot deduce that, despite what happened to George Floyd (and others) and the resulting protests. We know about 1000 people are killed annually by police nationwide (and by and large the cases are justified), but while lots of comparisons and analysis goes into how many are black vs. white, and the percentage of the population they make up. I think a much clearer illustration of the job the police are doing would be comparing how many times they interact with the (often hostile) public. How many officers X how many 911 calls, traffic stops, undercover investigations? How many people were charged with resisting arrest last year? How many times were the police forced to chase suspects, were they spit on, head-butted, cussed at, drawn on - SHOT

AT? I am genuinely impressed with the level of professional restraint they demonstrate.

You don't need to create another committee to oversee them, report on them, retrain them, reform them, or shift their resources (defund them). YOU NEED TO DEFEND THEM. They DEFEND US from the most dangerous & despicable. They willingly put on the uniform everyday and risk their lives for us. Don't you dare kowtow to political pressure for imagined inequities. Don't you dare put the vast majority of law-abiding citizens who respect and NEED the Police in jeopardy because you are afraid for your own career. We need leadership that can stand up to this political correctness gone haywire.

Subject: Regarding systemic racism in the police force

To Whom It May Concern:

I am the Rev. Marybelle Hollister, 7 Glover Square, Marblehead, MA 01945. I am writing as a minister, a citizen of the Commonwealth, a member of the League of Women Voters, and a very concerned citizen about systemic racism here and all over our country.

My plea is to support the Senate police reform bill, S.2800. I also urge you to support including the following measures:

HB.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, State Representative Liz Miranda bans chokeholds, no knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, State Representative Michael Day which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

I should think many in the police ranks would support these bills also because they ensure that only responsible individuals are hired and trained as police officers, of which there are very many, and I would guess they cringe at the activities of a vicious few, such as the man who killed George Floyd. Union bargaining rights should not be affected by these measures at all. They are bills that strengthen the culture and guidelines of policing to make it more just and compatible with the safety of the community role that police are supposed to help us maintain.

Racism is too much a part of our history and even our current culture. It is time we became active anti-racists with more than just platitudes and marches. These bills would be a wonderful testimony to the good will of our Commonwealth and its recognition of at least this one very important place where things need to change.

Thank you for looking at reality in a clear-eyed way and doing what is right by all of our citizens.

Sincerely,

Marybelle Holllister

Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: No Changes to Qualified Immunity

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is a request on behalf of the thousands of good police officers in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We urge you to think about the ramifications of hasty and uninformed decisions, and their effect on the constituents you serve.

While policing as a whole will always evolve, and always seek to improve - as it has demonstrably done since its inception - decisions predicated on politics will ultimately serve only the politicians.

For years now, police have fostered an interest in cooperation, we have embodied community, we have welcomed transparency and, we have served this Commonwealth honorably.

Admittedly, there have been instances of unscrupulous actions by a few, but to our credit we have made sure that, with due process, they no longer serve the Commonwealth.

We have grave concerns, however, with some of the amendments of S.2800.

Certainly, the rapidity of the development of this resolution epitomizes its' emotional underpinnings; however, we strongly believe that we should never make permanent legislative decisions based on temporary feelings. Some of the decisions in this bill will forever change policing in the Commonwealth, and not for the better.

Due process is a building block of our legal system, and our inalienable rights as citizens of this country. All public servants in this state have a right to appeal, a right that does not alter ones' guilt or innocence, simply a right that balances the power of the state. It is one of the inherent checks and balances built into our Constitution by our forefathers. To remove such a right, is to remove Constitutional protections from the power of the state, and serves no purpose but to satisfy a political agenda. These protections that have been afforded to all of us are essential if the scales of justice are to remain balanced. Where does this infringement on civil liberties end if due process is lost to an impetuous decision? Can we also eliminate it in civil and criminal cases across the Commonwealth?

Qualified immunity does not protect bad police officers. In Harlow vs. Fitzgerald (1982) the United States Supreme Court had the foresight to rule that qualified immunity must exist due to "the need to protect officials who are required to exercise discretion and the related public interest in encouraging the vigorous exercise of official authority" as long as their actions were within the scope of their job. Bad officers operate outside that scope and are punished accordingly. Removing this protection will essentially eliminate discretion in policing. As the courts have demonstrated, it is not feasible to have one without the other. In fact, in the same ruling mentioned above, the Supreme Court also established absolute immunity for judges, government officials and prosecutors. Should we now make judges culpable for their rulings? Should prosecutors and government officials be held civilly and criminally liable for their decisions? The plethora of frivolous suits filed against officers, their towns, counties, cities, and the Commonwealth, would place a massive burden on Massachusetts.

As officers we do not pretend to know how attorneys or judges do their job, but we can plainly observe them in court. Yet, to have officers sit and render judgement of their actions is clearly unreasonable and unequivocally ineffective. However, this legislation wants to establish a POSA to evaluate how officers do what they do, after the fact, with no experience or training as an officer? Again, the Supreme Court demonstrated its unbiased wisdom when it ruled,

" The Fourth Amendment 'reasonableness' inquiry is whether the officers' actions are 'objectively reasonable' in light of the facts and circumstances confronting them, without regard to their underlying intent or motivation. The 'reasonableness' of a particular use of force must be judged from the perspective of a reasonable officer on the scene, and its calculus must embody an allowance for the fact that police officers are often forced to make split-second decisions about the amount of force necessary in a particular situation." (Graham v Connor, 1989)

is comprised of police officers who can objectively evaluate the tenets that the courts have put forth as a metric for evaluation.

In closing, we will continue to pledge to work with you, but mutual respect and cooperation must exist if we are to make constructive and sustainable changes as policing continues to evolve within a changing society. Our voices are critical to building the best possible future of the citizens of the Commonwealth. All we ask is the opportunity to be listened to.

Respectfully,

Sgt. Edward Minelli (on behalf of the Town of Hull FOP union lodge 66)

This is a disgrace! I'm a police survivor and currently have a son on the MSP.
Police should not be sued for doing the job they are very well trained to perform.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,
Joanne Phelan

Subject: Police Reform

Hi

I am a resident of Framingham, MA. I am very impressed with the details of the police reform bill. I urge you NOT to dilute it. There must be full accountability for police actions and full consequences. I am particularly concerned that nationwide we track those police who are abusive and accumulate many complaints. Letting them find positions easily in other states is tantamount to complicity. Please have courage that these measures will improve our attitudes towards the police and towards our beloved country.

Adding additional training in the history of slavery, post-slavery, Jim Crow laws and the KKK would make it clear that we are not on an even playing field when it comes to race.

Both as a citizen of the Commonwealth and a member of the League of Women Voters Mass I strongly urge you to support HD.5128 and HB.3277. The time to take action is now! Qualified immunity has for too long been a curtain

The League of Women Voters advocates against systemic racism in the justice system and supports preventing excessive force and brutality by law enforcement.

Subject: Expungement

To: Members of the Senate and House - Public Testimony on S.2800

Our great state of Massachusetts and its constitution presented in 1780 a model for the US Constitution's Bill Of Rights, approved in 1789. No doubt, this state can also with clear eyes and right thinking support "expungement" under Bill 5.2800.

Within the justice system, provisions should be made to provide some relief in regard to dismissals versus convictions. The courts should have the flexibility to work with persons on a "case by case basis" not with the view that "all is well here" but with a view that expungement of dismissals can lay the foundation for a person to move forward productively in this commonwealth and beyond.

Expungement can be a pathway for more education and skills, or a pathway to a better job. Frankly, if this pandemic has taught us anything - all or needed to produce, so that we all can do more than survive, but live well!

Our state, needs to do more than provide people a revolving door from the justice system back to justice system, but encourage entrance for them to the marketplace and thus provide the financial means to buy food, shelter for children and families, themselves, and the means to support our aging citizens.

I know that this legislative body can balance the legal creed to "command what is right" by providing a pathway of restoration in the ways mentioned above, while also "prohibiting what is wrong."

Massachusetts has always led, so let's lead on expungement!

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

We need to make our communities feel safe, not afraid, of the people who are supposed to protect us. As a person of color, when I see a police officer I first feel fear and worry, even though I have never done anything against the law. I NEVER feel safer with them around. This has to change.

This bill will make some of the first steps towards this, it is necessary to end qualified immunity, ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor. We definitely need to enact these measures, and then continue to do more to invest in our communities. These steps are a MINIMUM requirement, and so I call on you to not accept any measures that weaken this bill. Please stand up for me and my community.

Subject: Please listen

Dear Representatives,

My name is Andrew Crosby. I reside in Marblehead Ma. I am also a Boston Police Officer. I have been with the Boston Police Department for 15 years now.

Bill S2800 is going to hurt the communities and make Police Officers afraid of doing their jobs, in fear of being sued for doing what they believe to be right. After 15 years serving the City of Boston, I am seriously debating giving up my career and finding a new avenue to support my family of four because of the current climate, and the war on police; because that is what it feels like.

We are being punished for something that did not occur in Massachusetts. Massachusetts Police Officers are some of the best trained Police Officers in the country. There is a false rhetoric that cops are going around beating people and constantly using excessive force; which simply is not the case.

If you need the facts you should look into reviewing body worn camera footage of arrests being made and the abuse officers take for upholding the laws that legislators enact. If you really want reform you should start from the top down. If you want to revoke Qualified Immunity, that only provides partial immunity, then also revoke Prosecutorial, Judicial and Legislative Immunity which is Absolute.

This bill is extremely disheartening especially for someone who has dedicated 15 years to helping people.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Deputy Gary Enos

To whom it may concern,

Stripping Law Enforcement of qualified immunity takes away their protection and due process. This state is in for some tough times if that happens. It would be safer for police and fire to do the bare minimum if this bill is passed and the public deserves more.

Please DO NOT pass this bill.

Sincerely,
A concerned citizen of Massachusetts

Subject: I support police reform in MA

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I've been following the late night sessions on police reform in MA. I have marched with the youth of MA. We need reform NOW!

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

As a citizen of Massachusetts, I strongly support police reform and I'm writing to ask you to please pass S.2820 now. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I would like it if there was a more robust rollback of qualified immunity were stronger, but I understand that getting something good through now is better than quibbling forever over perfect. There is no perfect, only striving towards better.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: Expungement Testimony

Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and we hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the over-representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Our criminal justice system is not immune to structural racism and we join you and all members in the great work needed to set things right. The unfortunate reality is that people of color are far more likely to be subjected to stop and frisk and more likely to get arrested for the same crimes committed by whites. Black youth are three times more likely to get arrested than their white peers and Black residents are six times more likely to go to jail in Massachusetts. Other systems where people of color experience racism are exacerbated, and in many ways legitimized, by the presence of a criminal record. Criminal records are meant to be a tool for public safety but they're more often used as a tool to hold communities of color back from their full economic potential. Expungement can be an important tool to rectify the documented systemic racism at every point of a young person's journey through and past our justice system.

We also know that young adults have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, but that drops as they grow older and mature. The law, however, does not allow for anyone who recidivates but eventually desists from reoffending to benefit. Young people's circumstances and cases are unique and the law aptly gives the court the discretion to approve expungement petitions on a case by case basis, yet the law also categorically disqualifies over 150 charges. We also know that anyone who is innocent of a crime should not have a record, but the current law doesn't distinguish between a dismissal and a conviction. It's for these three main reasons we write to you to champion these clarifications and now is the time to do it.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due to a variety of circumstances and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, we are hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. We respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

* Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.

* Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

* Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed of the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism, to remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Kristine

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Barry Ferreira and I live at 115 High Hill Rd Swansea MA 02777. I work at Bristol County Sheriff's Office and am a Lieutenant. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Barry Ferreira

Subject: Letter of Testimony

My name is Matthew Harrington and I live at 1 Debbie Drive, Spencer MA 01562. I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers, of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all public servants including myself working for the Department of Public Works in the City of Worcester.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits. I deserve to have this continue for me in my job as a Pump Station Operator at the Reservoir Division of the City of Worcester.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and the dignity they deserve.

Respectfully,

Matthew T. Harrington

Subject: Reform-Shift-Build Act

Dear Aaron Michlewitz & Chair Claire Cronin,

I am writing to voice my wholehearted support for the Reform-Shift-Build Act. As a resident of East Boston, I get to see and celebrate diversity every day. We are a community made up of many cultures, representing the full spectrum of race that this globe offers. My family and I have fed from that spectrum and we have given back as well. Right now, we are not safe. We have been unsafe for quite some time. We will remain unsafe as long as the current state of policing is maintained. We here in East Boston are not the only ones.

Our State and Nation face a long postponed reckoning with race., We must keep a stern dialogue with how we police one another as part of that reckoning. The Reform-Shift-Build Act opens that dialogue in unprecedented ways. Stringent certifications, inroads towards banning excessive force, review boards staffed by community, and a stronger stance against surveillance technology are just some of the impressive pieces we will be bringing to the state with this Act. Perhaps the most impressive piece to this is a focused reform to the doctrine known as "qualified immunity."

Passing this act while keeping the reform of qualified immunity attached to it would be historical. It would send the appropriate message to the Nation. If we as a people are to be policed, it must be under an entirely reimagined officer. There are glimpses of good in all of us. There are glimpses of good in our law enforcement. But there is also an unspeakable bad in all of us. As it permeates all of us by degrees, so too does it fester in our law enforcement.

I have witnessed firsthand what can occur when unchecked racist thought and sentiment spills into human behavior. There is no thermometer check for hatred, dislike, annoyance, ambivalence. And that temperature rises and subsides throughout a life. Thoughts are truly free, and should not be governed. Action is governed. But actions are rooted in those thoughts. The action to take another's life, to choke another out, to abuse another, to dominate another, to correct another, without impunity is what I believe qualified immunity too often permits.

Reform, and regulation are necessities for police in Massachusetts and everywhere. But the protective mask of qualified immunity must fall. We face consequences as citizens. Those consequences do not police our thoughts, but they force us to think twice, or even just once before acting. For too long has our police force acted without impartial thought when it comes to another's life and rights.

I am asking you to support the Reform-Shift-Build Act for my family, for East Boston, for Boston, for Massachusetts, and for the entire United States of America. I am asking you to share my voice with your fellow legislators, and amplify it yourself in your championing of this Act.

Thank you for your time.

Respectfully,
Marcela Plosker

To Whom it May Concern:

As a resident of Shrewsbury and a parent of a police officer, I would like to start by saying how disgusted I am that the Senate passed the S2800 bill and the fact that they did it without a public hearing. I find it ignorant to support this bill because of political pressures from news and social media. I believe this bill will dismantle the police and result in a spike in crimes.

I am writing to ask you to vote NO when this bill is debated in the House. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and woman in law enforcement who go out every day and risk their lives to protect others.

The language in Section 55, which authorizes any person to intervene if they believe an officer's use of force is excessive, will result in more police being hurt and killed.

In Section 10, qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for police officers we send out to patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot provide and benefit their families. GOOD LUCK WITH POLICE RECRUITMENT.

As your constituent, I ask that you vote NO on bill S2800 or any police reform bill.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Lee-Ann Cornelio and I live at 121 Rumford Ave. Mansfield, MA 02048. I work at Pondville Correctional Center and am a Correction Program Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

(Lee-Ann Cornelio)

To whom this concerns,

As a resident of Shrewsbury , I am writing to you today to share my disgust regarding the defunding police bill S. 2800. This bill will make my community less safe and take away our peace of mind living in the suburbs. I believe in law and order and disapprove with the proposed bill, believing it will dismantle the police and result in a spike in crimes and making it more difficult for our officers to protect themselves along with everyone else. I do not want the safety of my neighborhood and town to change. I find it ignorant to support this bill because of political pressures from news and social media. Law enforcement officers already have an incredibly difficult job and taking away resources will make it harder. I think this bill will not only affect police officers but will affect everyone and their safety. As a female, I would feel completely unsafe in a world where police officers feels so scared to do their job correctly. I would be nervous for what the future would look like in a society with less police officers due to them leaving.

As your constituent, I ask you to please vote NO on S. 2800 for the reasons I stated above to keep the communities safe.

Thank you,

To Whom it may concern:

I am writing you today to voice my concern about the Police Reform Bill recently passed by the Senate. As a 25 year veteran of the Wilmington Police Department and Vice President of NEPBA Local 1, I am deeply concerned about how measures within this bill will affect how my fellow officers and I will continue to do our jobs. The proposal of eliminating qualified immunity for good hard working law enforcement officers is irresponsible. We work everyday with uncertainty, knowing that you could be acting reasonably and in good faith and still be the subject of a lawsuit is one more stress we do not need. Only those who do this job can fully understand the daily obstacles we face.

This rush to reform policing in an area of the country known for its training and education without input from those who do the job is at the very least insulting and negligent. Every profession can improve and evolve, we are all for those aspects of the bill that can improve policing. The last thing an officer on the street needs is one more reason to hesitate or second guess their actions. In other professions hesitation may lead to a missed deadline, in law enforcement it could lead to death. I took this job knowing the personal risk, but I always felt protected by the safeguards that were in place to protect not only me, but also my family from loosing all that we work so hard for. Knowing I could be disciplined or sued without just cause protection is career changing. We have bargained and negotiated in good faith for years for the basic union protections of due process, a fair objective investigation and the right to appeal decisions that may have been unjust. Now we face the possibility of having these rights arbitrarily and unilaterally removed. How does supporting the rights of some equate with diminishing the rights of hardworking well intentioned officers?

I fear if this bill passes, many great cops and all the experience they possess will walk out the door of police stations throughout the Commonwealth. Those debating retirement will no longer struggle with "should I put in my papers"? We have always been held to the reasonable officer standard, because only those who have put on a badge knowingly and willingly faced danger understand why and how we do things. There are things I have seen that I would never want anyone to see, I have felt fear and I have felt protected. Not so long ago during the height of the Covid-19 crisis I felt appreciated, so many expressed thanks for us still going to work and being there for the community. Now 6 weeks later I feel judged, despised, and even worse abandoned. We put our lives on the line for people we don't even know, we are teachers, counselors, parents, and mentors. Most of all the overwhelming majority of us are hardworking cops always striving to be better, to do the right thing, and most importantly make it home at the end of every shift.

The people this bill affects most deserve a say! We are not the disgraced cops from Minneapolis, so why are we being painted with the same brush?

Respectfully,

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: In support of our officers

Dear Senator Susan Moran,

My name is Susan Jusell and I live at 17 Stafford Cir Dennis Port. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Susan Jusell

Good Afternoon,

I have never written about a Bill in my life, but I am so strongly against Bill S 2820 that I had to try and make a difference.

The police officers are out there everyday trying to keep our communities safe! I understand there is some reform needed, but don't punish all the good police officers because of a few bad ones. We will lose so many outstanding officers, whether they retire or walk away, there will be no more recruits. Officers will no longer be proactive or risk a lawsuit trying to apprehend violent criminals to keep the public safe. Why would anyone want to do this job with no protection but a vest?

Everyday a police officer walks out the door to go to work, in the back of their minds they know they may never see their families again. They have to make life or death decisions in a split second. It's not bad enough that they are in danger everyday, now it's worse, they have to worry about being ambushed and assassinated! I wish the people pushing this Bill would walk a day in the boots of a police officer to see what it's like!

Getting rid of qualified immunity is disgraceful! With all they have to worry about just trying to do their jobs, now you want to take away their protection?? You might as well sign their death certificates!

Sincerely,

This sounds like an overly broad proposition to establish policies based on race. 89 pages!! Aren't we all Americans?? Why allow more and more discontent by establishing policies to benefit a certain group when those benefits already exist for ALL Americans!!!

Too much power for a commission that will be treated like State Employees?? More and more and bigger and bigger government to accomplish what? More duplication of civil protections? Are my fellow Americans (who are being put into a racial group) really having difficulty because of a skin color?

Studies have shown that the police do not arrest/harm/kill more people with dark skin than white skin.

And just what will this Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee accomplish that the Police Organizations can't or haven't? I don't buy that. We have heard for years about how much training police are getting in all kinds of areas in best practices in dealing with our varied challenges and varied American population.

Perhaps I think this will do more to polarize than to unite. Do not exacerbate problems by hyphenating Americans...we are all one!!

Subject: Senate Bill S2820

I write in opposition to Senate Bill 2820, the Police Reform Bill. Some of the provisions of this bill are not reforms, rather a slow and deliberate dismantling of police departments statewide. These provisions, endorsed by the radical left faction, without any input, public hearing, and passed in the middle of the night, if passed as is, will result in police officers being killed, seriously injured for fear of acting and being personally sued. This only pacifies the radical left movement, who would like to see a police-less state so they can steal, injure or even kill at will without fear of being caught. it will allow groups like ANTIFA and BLM to continue their violent tirades unabated.

Other provisions, such as all persons have the right to resist against the use of force. If an officer is struggling to arrest or stop an individual from doing harm to another, they have the right to hurt the officer. Likewise, it allows ANY person who observes a Police Officer using physical force in an attempt to restrain or arrest someone, to intervene in behalf of the suspect, and allow the perpetrator to get away.

When faced with a mob like situation, it prohibits the use of Tear Gas, Rubber bullets, pepper spray, etc. but it is ok for mobsters to throw bricks, rocks, fireworks and tear gas against the police and the officers cannot retaliate.

On the banning of No Knock Warrants. The United States Supreme Court has allowed No Knock Warrants for the safety of officers serving warrants. It seems the Mass. Senate seeks to overrule the US Supreme Court. How many people have been killed in Massachusetts in the serving of these type of warrants.

Officers will not be able to use a K-9 against a person. Will a K-9 handler be hesitant to use their dog if someone is lost or to pick up a scent at a crime scene? What if a suspect is located and abuses the dog and the dog bites them? Is it better to let a suspect go after committing a crime.

Now, if the bill is passed it prohibits police from having contact with a suspect for 24 hours. If someone robs a store, gets released, and the next night robs another store and kills someone, are the police prohibited from doing anything until after the 24 hour period?

It is ashamed that 1 officer in another state has disparaged the other 99.9% of Officers who continue to serve with honor and distinction. How many of these instances have occurred in Mass.? 33 Years ago, I attended and graduated from Barnstable County Police Academy. We were NEVER taught the use of a choke hold, nor in my 23 years in Public Safety have I EVER seen anyone use such a hold.

The loss of Qualified Immunity, allowing an officer to be sued personally, is a slap in the face to those who put their lives on the line every day. I would hope that this provision be removed from the bill.

This ill conceived bill should be titled An Act to Abolish Police Departments Statewide.

I would respectfully request that this matter be referred to the Committee on Public Safety for further hearings and input so that everyone can have their opinion heard in the light of day so that a reasonable bill passed that does not cripple or endanger Police Officers.

Respectfully Submitted,

Subject: S2820 An Act to Reform Police Standards and Shift Resources

Dear Rep. Aaron Michlewitz and Rep. Claire Cronin,

First, I hope you and your families are well during this pandemic. These are challenging times for our individual and collective health. Not made any easier by the unrest in society that has come to the forefront in recent months. I respect and appreciate the role you play in these very complex, often divisive, far reaching, critical issues. Especially when they have the safety of citizens AND law enforcement officers on the line. I implore you on S2820, formerly S2800, to STOP. LOOK. And LISTEN. This is what my parents taught me at a young age before crossing the street, knowing these simple steps could keep me safe, from getting injured, or worse from death. I taught my children the same rules.

STOP. RUSHING. I understand there's a July 31 deadline. But the impact of making sweeping, broad changes and reform in short order have long standing, far reaching, life altering, and potentially life threatening implications for law enforcement and their families. I read S2820 for hours. And I had already read S2800 last week so I was already familiar. I took notes. I was exhausted, overwhelmed, confused, and VERY, VERY CONCERNED. This is an EMERGENCY LAW necessary for the immediate preservation of the public safety. It took centuries to build structural, systemic racism. We should all be held accountable for that. All. And yet this 89 page document with 80 sections focuses on Law Enforcement as if they are the ones solely responsible for it. Or at least when I read this in totality, Law Enforcement stands to be the most severely impacted by the repercussions of rushing this through especially with such controversial and far reaching impacts that Qualified Immunity changes would mean. Do we know all that needs to be known about Qualified Immunity? Do we know who and what professions will also be impacted? Who doesn't get impacted? Is it distinguishable? What does any change to Qualified Immunity actually solve? What is the downside? What are the consequences? Who will take up this profession with not only this change but all the other proposed changes if enacted? It is not lost on me that it took until Section 78 out of 80 to have anything written and proposed about the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security requiring programs for critical incident stress, peer support programs, address police officer mental wellness and suicide prevention. What do you think this document and all the negative focus on law enforcement has done or will do to their well-being, morale, quality of life, not to mention their safety? I find it shameful and regrettable that an 89 page document with 80 different sections that will forever change, alter, and impact law enforcement officers took the final pages to address HOW it impacts them. And yet they are to withstand all the sweeping reform that will come with the enactment of too much change all at once.

LOOK. At what has been proposed. 89 pages of recommendations for Committees needing 14 members, Councils needing 31 members, countless agencies that impact and support Law Enforcement, etc. Suggestions to gather data, make reports, etc. And what has been done to all the work that Police Chiefs and so many critical stakeholders proposed a couple of years ago after Sgt. Sean Gannon was executed? After Sgt. Michael Chesna was murdered? After the wave of patriotism and support of law enforcement took hold following those horrific acts? Where is all the progress on Criminal Justice reform that stemmed from all that heartache, focus, testimony, collaboration, and cooperation? Where is all the training that was requested? That was pleaded for by leaders in Law Enforcement for training and training facilities? How did we fund all those necessary and critical requests that perhaps would have staved off some of the issues being brought up now years later? We had stakeholders in agreement about what needed to get done. We finally decided to add a fee to car rentals to pay for necessary and much requested additional training for public safety officers. That doesn't show strong support for the need for additional training but now we need it. And how will all the additional credentialing and collaboration and training be funded? I didn't read that part. How much is still undone from all the previously requested suggestions? How much is still unfunded mandates? We are still studying years later Nero's Bill that hasn't been enacted and that is simply providing emergency care for police K9s. We create commissions and committees to study far less important and non-life threatening issues. Anything relating to public safety and public servants should have all that benefit and complete and comprehensive professional, collaborative, focus.

LISTEN. Who was consulted in this sweeping legislative reform? Who did we miss? Why? Areas so critical to public safety and public servants should dot every I and cross every T. All stakeholders should have been informed, consulted, involved, able to provide testimony, be heard, etc. Why would there have been no public testimony in the Senate version? If all law enforcement agencies will be held accountable, were they considered for their part of being the solution to these problems? This legislation clearly lays out multiple law enforcement agencies. Were they consulted over the years about reforms and changes they were eager and willing to make? Were they supported in those endeavors? Why were their calls for changes to training, funding, and reform not supported but they will be forced on them now? Was the Black and Latino Caucus involved and have their concerns been addressed with this legislation? Has the Minority Police Union Chief been consulted? I pray all key stakeholders both inside and outside law enforcement are heard and fully understood before sweeping reform and legislation takes place. Seems to me that 80 articles that take 89 pages to complete is too broad. Can there not be strong and needed compromise so that many pivotal elements can move forward while allowing the very committees and councils being recommended here be formed, given time to collect and review data, and make recommendations with all the proposed timelines established here to allow time to study, collaborate, educate, inform and offer proposals based on sound data and feedback?

I implore you to STOP rushing through this broad legislation. Please find mutually agreed upon items that stakeholders agree can move forward. Accomplish those needed and critical things. BUT please don't rush through all these articles, especially those that involve Qualified Immunity and elements of policing that make policing more dangerous for law enforcement. Let's study the impact of those. Let's take the time to understand their far reaching impact on careers, livelihoods, and lives.

LOOK at all the formerly proposed and current proposed reforms that make policing more professional, safe, and standardized. And look at the training elements and facilities that are being utilized to provide this training. Be prepared to fund these mandates. And not with a car rental fee given a pandemic or any other unforeseen crisis would result in limited or narrow funding. Funding needs to be sustainable and predictable. Where is that funding going to come from now if car rental fees don't generate the proposed or hopeful revenue?

LISTEN. To all the stakeholders who have willingly stepped up with valuable input to share. Police Chiefs, Police Commissioners, Black and Latino Caucus, Minority Police Chiefs, professionals inside and outside law enforcement. Police Officers have much to lose with too much to accomplish in an EMERGENCY LAW enactment. Institutional and systemic racism took years to build and is not entirely the fault of law enforcement. Let's not impose broad changes that would severely punish a profession and put all this responsibility on their backs. We all have a role to play. I'm willing to accept my responsibility for change. Please include others who are also willing to be part of the solution.

Thank you for listening. Respectfully submitted,

Deanna Castro

Subject: [External]: Police Reform Legislation

Good Morning Representative Harrington:

I am writing to you this morning to urge you to do everything in your power to correct the grave and idiotic mistake made by the Massachusetts Senate by removing qualified immunity of all municipal employees in the overreacting and far overreaching police reform legislation.

I am at a loss as to why our elected representatives would pass such a ridiculous piece of legislation that is absolutely not needed in Massachusetts. Municipal employees in Massachusetts are going to pay the price because a bad and racist police officer in Minnesota committed a crime that has not happened in Massachusetts. This bill is going to set back both law enforcement and normal municipal operations to the stone age. Why would anyone want to serve in public service with this bullseye on our backs. Our hardworking and dedicated police officers and other municipal employees are being hung out to dry by the Massachusetts Senate. The Senate should be ashamed of themselves. I am personally disappointed in Senator Kennedy for supporting this carnage at 4:00 a.m. with no public input.

I am putting my trust in the Massachusetts House of Representatives to do the right thing and not blindly approve legislation that was drafted by people taking advantage of national politics to push an agenda that has no business in Massachusetts.

Please protect your municipal employees and end the madness. Thank you

Regards,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Testimony on the Policing Omnibus Bill S.2820

Dear members of House leadership;

S.2820 does almost nothing to prevent state violence against Black people or stop the flow of Black people into jails and prisons.

I believe S.2820 will cause more harm than good by increasing spending on law enforcement through training and training commissions, expanding the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and making no fundamental changes to the function and operation of policing in the Commonwealth. Real change requires that we shrink the power and responsibilities of law enforcement and shift resources from policing into most-impacted communities.

Instead of funding for police training and commissions, communities need investments in alternatives to force. We need funding for mental health professionals to respond to mental health crises, not law officers. We need to adequately fund our schools, instead of funding police officers in our schools. We need to fund housing and supports for the homeless, instead of paying police officers to punish them for doing what they need to do to survive.

If the Massachusetts legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and addressing systemic racism, this bill would eliminate cornerstones of racist policing including implementing a ban without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should decriminalize driving offenses which are a major gateway into the criminal legal system for Black and Brown people and poor and working class people. Rather than limiting legislation to moderate reforms and data collection, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. I also support student-led efforts to remove police from schools.

The way forward is to shrink the role and powers of police, fund Black and Brown communities, and defund the systems of harm and punishment which have failed to bring people of color safety and wellbeing. S.2820 does not help us get there.

Thank you,

Rebecca Siegel, Belmont

Subject: Bill No. S2820

Dear Sir and Madame:

I am writing today regarding House Bill No. S2820 - An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

What about our Blue Lives? The men and women who put on their uniform every day to risk their lives for every one!

This bill is going to generate hate for all our men and women in uniform. Look what is happening in New York, Seattle and Portland right now! Have you seen what is going on around the world? Officers getting killed every day for no other reason than wearing the uniform.

Officer Natalie Corona, only 22 years old, 5 months on the job. She was speaking to people involved in a car crash and a man walked up to her and opened fire without warning, striking her several times.

Officer Jonathan Shoop was on the job in Bothell, WA for just one year when he was shot to death while on duty.

Sergeant Michael Chesna, Weymouth, MA was hit in the head with a large rock, disarmed and fatally shot by the suspect who also fatally shot Vera Adams in her home.

As I am typing this letter, I am so angry that if this bill is passed it will be putting my Niece Office Jillian Donnelly of the Everett Police Department, life in jeopardy because she wears the uniform.

Yes, there are bad police officers and they will be punished for the crimes they commit. If this bill is passed, we will be losing all the good officers who serve their uniform proudly.

I was at a rally yesterday at Medford City Hall in support for Blue Lives Matter. There were young people with signs "Defund the Police", "Black Lives Matter" and a young black woman standing on a platform yelling "Black Lives Matter". Of course everyone was yelling back that "All Lives Matter". She was in a heated debate with a white gentleman, going back and forth yelling about which lives matter more and she wasn't getting her way and said "OFFICER I WOULD LIKE TO PRESS CHARGES AGAINST THIS MAN". My question is .... If she and her other protesters want to defund the police why did she want help from them?

Please do not let this bill pass as it stands now.

Thank you for your consideration.

Tracy

Please count myself and my family against the removal of qualified immunity. Without this protection teachers will not teach worried about losing their houses to a destructive student. If an armed home invasion occurs police will not arrest because of the same concerns. Firefighters will not try to put out a fire worried about damaging a home with an axe. Legislators will be sued for passing bad laws. Will judges still enjoy absolute immunity?

Subject: Regarding Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800)

Chair Aaron Michlewitz & Chair Claire Cronin:

I write to express my strong support for S.2800. In particular, i would like to highlight the following considerations that are very important to me:

1. Prohibiting all police chokeholds -- there is no need for this sort of violent restraint, and we've seen how tragic it's misuse can be.
2. Banning the use of tear gas and other chemical weapons -- these are internationally banned as weapons of war and have no place in our communities as "crowd control"
3. Banning no-knock warrants -- the risk of no-knock warrants FAR outweighs any potential benefits
4. Restricting qualified immunity -- qualified immunity destroys any chance of accountability in our police force

I'm heartened to see a bill like this in the statehouse, but disheartened by the organized opposition of the police unions to these common sense measures to keep our communities safe. I urge you to pass this bill so that Governor Baker can sign it into law and MA can lead the country in promoting safe, just policing.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives,

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

Section 10 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity". This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Patricia Pasternak

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is Mike Burgwinkel and I live at 122 Beacon St, Clinton Massachusetts 01510. I work at North Central Correctional Institution (Gardner, MA) and am a Sergeant. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Re: Acceptance of Written Testimony Only

Dear Senator Moran and Rep. Muratore,

My name is Melinda Adams and I live at 125 Alewife Road in Plymouth, MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Melinda Adams

I think this is a great bill. Everyone should be held accountable when they have negligence. Much like Doctors need to carry malpractice insurance, maybe if police can not follow guidelines and stop themselves from violation the public's human rights, then they should carry malpractice insurance too.

I urge the House to support the Senate's limitations on qualified immunity. For too long, the very few extremely bad officers in MA have faced too lax consequences for their actions. Similar to physicians, lawyers, and other professionals who can be sued personally for gross misconduct, its time for the very few truly incompetent or down-right bad police to be removable from their positions with this additional mechanism.

Subject: Police reform bill

?Good afternoon;

My name is Jillian Donnelly. I am a police officer with the Everett Police Department. I currently work as the School Resource Officer for the Middle and Elementary Schools within my community. I have been an officer for the past four years. I have a Bachelor's and Master's Degree in Administration of Justice from Salve Regina University.

Prior to becoming a police officer I worked many years in human services such as the Department of Child and Family in Middleton Rhode Island, Riverside Community Care specializing in the treatment and rehabilitation of children suffering from mental and behavioral health issues as well as those who have been physically and sexually abused. I also worked at Riverside Community Care in Everett specializing in substance abuse and mental health. I then worked as a Public Safety Officer at Boston Medical Center before entering into the police academy.

The reform bill that has been proposed and passed by the Senate calling for "justice and reform" takes away justice from those of us who have dedicated our lives to protecting and serving our communities. This bill in and of itself is unconstitutional because it strips away our rights to Due Process which every American citizen has a right to.

This bill is a slap in the face to anyone who wears the badge. This bill single handedly strips away our ability to serve and protect because we are not protected! Our job requires us to go hands on in many different situations whether it is a use of force situation or saving a life. Without Qualified Immunity I cannot render aid or protect myself without facing civil litigation which I have to pay for. This bill has handcuffed me and placed me under arrest without even reading me my Miranda Rights.

This job in and of itself already puts a target on my back and because of the disgraceful display of media propaganda and now this "reform" bill I also have a monetary bounty on my back as well. I will be forced with the constant question any time I go into work, "if a kid has a cardiac arrest in front of me, if I render aid I could be sued and potentially fired if I break a rib and am found to use "excessive force" but if I don't do anything and let the kid die in front of me, I have to live with that as well as face the ramifications of being sued, being fired and potentially face federal prison time for failing to act.

It as a lose lose situation every single time and it truly disgusts me. I work in a school system where we have gang members who recruit within the schools. This bill will prevent me from getting information of these kids from school officials as well as not allow me to go hands on without facing serious consequences. When rival gang members start shooting and stabbing each other we will have another Sandyhook scene.

Society is in extremely grave danger because of this bill. The members of the Senate who voted to pass this bill will be responsible for the increase in crime, murders, deaths, lootings, rapes, robberies etc that have been going on in Seattle, New York and across the country with this bill. That will happen here!

Everyone will suffer. This is not why I became a police officer. I hold the line with members who have sacrificed their lives in Afghanistan to come home to be treated like this! This bill allows criminals to increase crime and prevents police from doing anything about it.

This bill allows a civilian counsel who knows absolutely nothing about the job I do to be the judge, jury and verdict about my life. The members proposed in this civilian counsel represent the defendants that will be against me therefore creating a bias and verdict of guilty before I can even argue my case.

Any person with even a shred of intelligence would run for the hills from this job. The good cops like myself who actually do this job with pure motives will be forced to leave this profession because legislators have turned their backs on us who they expect to "hold the line." No one will want this job and without law there is no order. There will be civil unrest across the Commonwealth and once you open up Pandora's box it cannot be closed.

I truly and whole heartedly hope this email does not fall on deaf ears. Peoples lives are at risk. I would plead with you to vote no on this bill and to let this bill be tabled completely until law enforcement officials as well as legislators can communicate and come up with common ground reform.

I thank you for taking the time to read this letter. I hope and pray you take into serious consideration. My name again is Jillian Donnelly, I reside at 18 Maplewood Avenue Everett Ma 02149 and can be reached via email here as well as phone 617-823-7575. Again, thank you!

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,
I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.
I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

My name is Donald Fleming and I'm a resident of Waltham. I'm against removing qualified immunity for public safety and other government employees. I can't believe this bill passed the senate with this language in the bill. If everyone in this state wants to rally against the police who protect us there won't be an officer left when this bill passes. The damage of removing qualified immunity won't be able to be undone for decades if not longer. To say this bill won't affect good cops is laughable. According to all the protesters out there, there are no good cops. This is why this reform bill was created. This state is going down the wrong path and I hope someone with commonsense steps up to halt this insanity.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Camille Gravallese

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

I'm a Massachusetts citizen writing in support of S. 2800.

I'm an organizer with an activist group called Andover Area Solidarity. We organize around issues of justice in our area of the Merrimack Valley, and we often host family-friendly local protests or attend larger ones in the city. Having seen and heard of many instances of Massachusetts law enforcement physically striking peaceful citizens holding signs on public sidewalks at protests in Boston, I now refrain from bringing my young daughter with me to peaceful demonstrations. I'm thrilled to see the increased accountability via independent oversight in this bill around police militarization, and the use of tear gas and rubber bullets against crowds, among other things.

I've read the bill from top to bottom and every section contains a reasonable solution to a widespread issue that deeply impacts the safety of my Black and brown neighbors. They deserve to see these changes, and have their taxes fund agencies that actually serve them. I stand with them in demanding action.

I hope that you will vote this legislation favorably out of committee. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Fresen

Subject: Support S2800

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and we hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the over-representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due to a variety of circumstances and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, we are hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. We respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

- Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.

- Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

- Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed of the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism, to remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

Most Sincerely,

Ruthie Liberman / Vice President of Public Policy

Subject: Fw: Police Reform Bill 2820

Dear Members of the House Committee on Ways & Means,

I am writing to you today out of concern and extreme frustration over Bill S.2800 that was passed by the State Senate today, currently changed to Bill S.2820 in the House. This bill has been hastily thrown together and is a knee-jerk reaction to what is currently happening now in this war on police. As you know, Massachusetts has a fantastic police force at the municipal and state levels and yet there is an agenda some have to destroy the great policing that is done here. This Bill, as written, robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong. The fact that it has been so hastily pushed through the Senate without any transparency only leads credibility to my comment about a hidden agenda.

There are MANY aspects of this Bill S.2800 that I, and many of your other constituents, find troubling but I will just list a few here that are definitely of the greatest consequence if passed as written:

1. Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

2. Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does NOT protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

3. POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA committee MUST include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

4. Removal of requirement for State Police Colonel to be appointed from within the department: This should NOT be removed as it should be extremely important for the Colonel of the State Police to have first hand working knowledge of how a department works and the appointment should definitely come from within the MA State Police department. If for some reason this requirement is removed there should be a requirement that the person have at least 20 years experience in law enforcement and at least 10 years in a high profile leadership role within law enforcement.

I hope you will be sure to stand against those that would do harm to our state by unfairly persecuting and removing rights from those people that put on a uniform to keep us all safe every day. It has never been more important that our elected officials fight for our brave men and women in blue. It is already a thankless job and it will be near impossible to get anyone to want to do the job if this horrendous reform bill is passed without some major overhaul.

Thank you for your time and serious consideration of the points I have made here today.

Regards,

Tina Collins

Subject: Written Testimony S.2820

Dear Senator Cyr,

My name is Carrie Diauto and I live at 42 Papnomett Rd, Mashpee, MA 02649. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong. They're jobs are tough enough as it is and in today's climate they should be afforded protections.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Carrie A. Diauto

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,
Robert Villeneuve

Subject: MA Bill S.2800

To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing to you today in regards to MA Bill S.2800. I have recently been doing a lot of research regarding the proposed Massachusetts Bill S.2800. While I can see that there are many excellent points within the bill, such as requiring additional training, a licensure requirement (which requires renewal every three years), and essentially consistently holding officers to a high standard with review boards, I take issue with removing qualified immunity from our police officers. Our officers go into this line of work to help people and make a positive difference in their communities. Removing any and all protections that they have will ultimately hamper their ability to do their jobs, and will eventually lead to a culture in which officers cannot appropriately respond, for fear of being personally sued, for trying to help the people they swore to protect. Our officers run into situations in which people are in fear for their lives. They put their lives on the line every day to protect ours. While I do believe in increased training, oversight, and required licensure, I respectfully ask that you reconsider stripping officers of these rights. This bill certainly has some valid points, and may be heading in the right direction, however, removing qualified immunity from our officers is not the way to get there. I look forward to your response.

Dear Representatives,

Thank you for soliciting public feedback on police reform, and for taking action!

I think the just-passed Senate bill is good. While it could have gone further, I feel the most critical thing is to get a bill signed into law this legislative session addressing some key concerns:

1. Qualified immunity. While I am uncertain whether the Senate bill goes far enough, restricting qualified immunity is a critical first step.
2. Systemic and structural racism. Much more could be done, but what the Senate bill does seems good.

3. Police accreditation. We are long overdue for this. The Senate bill may put too much police power on the POSAC, but it's much better than not having it at all.

4. Limiting use of force. Both training in de-escalation and requiring it be used are excellent, as is the duty to intervene.

5. Shifting funding from policing towards community investment. This is something to explore more over time, but the Senate bill seems to make a good start.

The Senate bill also contains a number of small details I appreciate, such as a moratorium on facial recognition, school-policing issues, keeping bad cops from becoming corrections officers, and more.

If there were longer in the legislative session, there would be many things I wish could be added to this bill(1). But there isn't, so I urge the House to pass a bill that is extremely easy to reconcile with the Senate bill so that it can be signed into law in the next 2 weeks. I would rather have a good bill that we can expand upon in future legislative sessions than an excellent bill which doesn't make it.

PS: From what I read, the House has been better about soliciting feedback from minority communities than the Senate has - I applaud this! Please keep doing it! And if those communities tell you there's some provision that needs to be included that the Senate bill lacks, please listen to them, and I'll be more than happy to write my State Senator urging her support for reconciliation including it. I'm only concerned that too many differences will make it too difficult to reconcile in time.

Sincerely,
R. Eric Reuss

(1) = Greater data-gathering on police use of force; guaranteed access to that data for the public and insurers; a requirement that police officers be covered by malpractice insurance; limiting the power of police unions (in particular their ability to block towns from firing cops); better civilian oversight of police; body cameras; changing police training to remove the indoctrination of violence / "fighting a war" mindset; and much more.

I would like to voice my concern over the Senate's bill to do away with qualified immunity for police officers. Qualified immunity is given to ALL members of state, municipal and federal employees in the course of the performance of their job for a reason. It is a protection for the employee and their families to not have worry about losing their home or lifesavings because someone didn't like the way they did their job. Qualified immunity as written does not protect individuals that violate the constitutional rights of others. But it does protect them and their families from frivolous lawsuits.

If you take it away from only one group - then that is discriminatory. And where does it end - EMT's, fire personal, DCF workers, city councilors, state reps?

If qualified immunity is no longer given to police officers, I believe the Commonwealth will lose a lot of qualified law enforcement officers.

While I understand the need for reform, please do not go overboard by punishing all police officers. They are not the enemy.

Thank you.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is Christopher Macomber and I live at 43 south kingman st lakeville. I work at Old Colony Correctional Center. I am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Christopher Macomber

Subject: Extremely concerned resident and law enforcement family

Dear Representative Michlewitz and Representative Cronin,

My name is Angela Kuzemczak, and I am reaching out to you as a concerned citizen, educator, mother, and wife of a law enforcement officer in the state of Massachusetts.

This year has been truly difficult for my family for so many reasons. My husband is a US Navy veteran, and also a patrol officer in Winchester, Massachusetts. He is a good man with a heart of gold. His favorite stories from work are the ones where he does something to bring a smile to a child's face, or when a resident genuinely thanks him for his help. Often he will tell me how by showing the lights on his cruiser a disabled child will light up with joy, and the parent tells him: "you've just made my son's day". That is my husband. He went into this job to help people, as he did the Navy. He did so knowing full well that it could be at the sacrifice of not coming home to our family, especially our young son, who is four years old.

I am an educator. I have been teaching for over 12 years now in the public schools. As such I know and recognize when there is a need for reform and change. I also know how reform and change take time. I am greatly concerned that the bill passed by the state Senate has been done in haste and hasn't given the adequate amount of time necessary to truly get input from all sides.

As the wife of a law enforcement officer, and an educator, I know change needs to happen. I want there to be change. I want that for both my friends and students who have suffered racial discrimination, but especially so I don't have to fear for my husband's life or the livelihood of my family. Several parts of the bill have frightened me to the point where I am literally thinking of moving out of Massachusetts, to protect my family. I have lived here my whole life. This is the first time I have ever been so scared. My main concerns are:

1. The loss of qualified immunity, which will open up the possibility of frivolous lawsuits that could cause us to lose everything. Including the home we worked so hard to get. We live paycheck to paycheck as public workers; to have that protection taken from us would bring us to our knees.
2. The bill seemingly takes away almost every option of non-lethal use of force. I beg of you and the other representatives to argue for appropriate items for non-lethal use of force to be allowed, as doing so will be beyond detrimental.
3. The elimination of no knock warrants gives potential suspects a 15 second opportunity to arm themselves, therefore putting our officers at an immediate risk of their lives. This has most recently been seen in the news following the death of two Texas police officers that were responding to a domestic disturbance call.

4. The suggestion for an online database where incidents are made public, including the particular officer, puts a direct target on the back of my family. More than my husband's life, I have to now fear for my son and my own.

I have several other concerns but these are just the four that literally keep me awake at night.

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin, I am a registered democrat, my concern here is personal, and not related to the politics of today. I donated to Senator Elizabeth Warren during her primary campaign. Yet in times like these, I feel abandoned by my fellow democrats. For the first time in my whole life I am considering registering as an independent. If the people in my party won't hear the voices of those literally involved in law enforcement, how can I identify with them anymore?

I assure you, the phrase; "no one hates a bad cop more than a good cop" is true. Yet, my husband, who has a heart of gold (I'm sure Tillie would attest to that, she's known us since his Navy days), has come home recently in tears. People look at him as a demon. A woman slowed her car as he was directing traffic during a medical aid and called him a "fat pig" and said, "I hope you die." How could I ever explain that to my son? The acronym "ACAB" (All cops are bastards) was painted in a church parking lot where my husband sits on duty. It was deliberate. He sees it on every shift as do his colleagues. I saw it the other week when I brought him lunch, and for the first time I couldn't get my son out of the car to say hi because I didn't want him to ask about it.

I'm not saying there is no need for reform. I am saying it is being rushed. If it passes as is, we will lose numerous amounts of good men and women who took their oath in good faith. I fear for the quality of officers who would continue the job when essentially they have no protection. If true change and reform are to be made, all parties must get together at the table and discuss.

Thank you for reading and for your attention to this matter. I'm more than happy to speak with you if you would like.

Stay safe and healthy,

Sincerely,

Angela Kuzemczak

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely, Julia Magliozzi

Joe Albano

Worcester Police Department

I am thankful for the opportunity to to provide my testimony in regards to Bill S.2820. I have great respect for the work you do day in and out whether I agree or disagree with some decisions. I write you today with great concern for the magnitude of importance your decisions on this bill will have. I have proudly been a Police Officer for 14 years and the recent events and discord in our society has brought me great sadness and pause. The actions in Minneapolis were beyond horrible and have no place in this society or policing. Those actions brought great shame and embarrassment to all of us in the Law Enforcement Community. Those actions should not be accepted or considered the norm of how men and women who put the police uniform on everyday act. Can we do better, of course there is always a need for improvement. I have no issue with reform, but it is my opinion that we as a society are reacting to the actions of a few with a broad angry brush in a manner that is rushed way too quickly for such an important issue. To keep it short some of the issues that concern me most are:

Qualified Immunity- Police officers should be responsible for our actions but to expose us to frivolous law suits without protection would not only be wrong but careless. Police Officers risk their lives everyday they put the uniform on to protect the public leaving behind their families and children who only wish that mom or dad comes home. They shouldn't also have the added stress that their lives could be ripped apart because of a lawsuit. Egregious actions should be punished but there needs to be protection in those circumstances where you would have to put yourself in that officers shoes.

Due Process/Collective Bargaining- It would be a stance of Anti-Labor if due process was excluded from the de-certification process. We have the right to defend ourselves, present witnesses, cross examination, and to be part of a process where so much is at stake. Proceedings of such importance most provide rights to those being accused. If defendants in the court proceedings have rights why would we not extend those rights in this process.

Make up of the Board- I applaud the goal of creating a diverse board with different sectors of society. My concern is that a majority of these members will be making decisions on Police related matters without having the training, education, or experience in Law Enforcement. Split second decisions can easily be rewinded and slowed down on a video and be "Monday morning quarterbacked" by anyone. If you have not been exposed to the situations and stress of those moments I do not feel you can accurately judge those actions. I believe these members should have to have training that will allow them to understand what goes through the mind of Law Enforcement when certain situations arise. Such trainings as defensive tactics, use of force model, and MILO (Multiple Interactive Learning Objective)

I again thank you for the opportunity to express my concerns and provide my input to such an important decision that you will have to make.

Sincerely,

Joe Albano

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Maria Sciannameo

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Melissa Gonzalez-Brenes

And this is only the tip of the iceberg. There are several other bad provisions of this bill.

The House of Representatives is taking testimony on this Policing Bill until 11 AM tomorrow morning.

Please take 30 seconds to email the House and tell them reject SB 2820 by clicking here.

Also, despite the fact that the legislature has yet to even consider the budget, the Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security reported the Sanctuary State legislation, HB 3573, SB1401, favorably.

That means the legislature could take it up and pass it at any time!

P.S. The radical leftists in the Massachusetts State Senate are attempting to ram their agenda through the Senate Policy bill SB 2820. It gags school officials from reporting immigration status and whether a student is a member of a gang as dangerous as MS-13. Tell the House of Representatives to reject this legislation by clicking here. You need to do this before 11 AM tomorrow morning!

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Abolish Qualified Immunity

I am in favor of removing qualified immunity for public employees, including police officers. I do not believe that anybody should be above or immune to the law. If we maintain rigorous standards, train our police and other employees well, clearly define appropriate response and actions— as the new bill does, then I see no reason to grant immunity. I know this was a contentious issue in the MA Senate debate, and will likely meet the same in the House debate. I do hope the House will vote to retain the language of the Senate bill and dissolve qualified immunity.

Subject: Please reject Senate Policing Bill SB 2820

Dear Sirs:

The Senate Policing Bill, SB 2820, contains radical provisions that would prevent even school officials from reporting to any law enforcement authority a student's immigration status or whether a student may be a member of a gang! This is outrageous and I encourage you strongly to reject this misguided bill. Thank you, and may God give you the grace to do what's right.

Subject: RE: S.2820

Good afternoon,

We are living in some crazy times. It is wild to think that over the course of three months we, as a nation, can go from praising civil servants ( ie. police officers, fire fighters, EMT's and nurses, etc...) as heroes, to then go on to attack police officers. I have police officers in my family and many friends that have also taken on the noble and sometimes scrutinized calling. My father, whom is a member of a municipal police department, has told me policing is no longer the job that it used to be 10-15 years ago. He has said he is happy I became a nurse instead of waiting for my name to appear on the civil service list. He, along with many other veteran members of police departments, are just riding the wave until retirement. My friends in Law Enforcement, that have only worn the badge for a few years, are actively contemplating and looking at other career fields due to the recent climate in society.

I have recently relocated to North Andover from the South Shore. It disappoints me that this bill was passed the way it was without public input. Especially as it was passed within hours of the two year anniversary of Sgt. Michael Chesna's end of watch. This is a situation that has been theorized to have happened because he hesitated shooting a man armed with "just a rock". As you know this unfortunately cost him his life and the life of Vera Adams.

It is my fear that repealling qualified immunity will put officers and civilian lives at danger. We, as a people, need police that are willing to act and not worry about being sued and losing everything they have worked for. Unfortunately, police upset people daily, whether it's handing out a speeding ticket or arresting the aggressor of domestic violence. Removing qualified immunity, to my understanding, would give anyone with a grievance towards a police officer the ability to sue that individual officer for whatever they can claim happened. It is my fear, as a concerned citizen, that that possibility will make more officers hesitate to act. Most occasions with a police officer happen because they were called there by someone. They have to show up, no matter the nature of the call.

Over the last few years we have seen countless cell phone videos of incidences with police that appear to show police brutality. While this has been the case in cases such as George Floyd, many are debunked. These videos show a moment in a larger situation. Videos can be persuasive of one argument or another. Many cases can show police are justified when body cameras, video surveillance, eye witness testimony and forensic analysis are introduced into the equation. Take for example the Michael Brown situation. Public outcry said he was shot in the back running away from Officer Darren Wilson. Forensic analysis proved that was not the case and that Officer Wilson was in a struggle with Mr. Brown inside his police vehicle when the shooting occurred. If the type of legislation that is currently proposed was in place in Missouri at that time, Officer Wilson would have been exonerated of criminal charges, but he would have been open to a civil suite.

I believe this one part of the bill sets a dangerous precedence for other occupations that fall under the civil service umbrella. It could one day lead to teachers being sued because a parent feels that their child was not graded properly. A highway department employee could be sued for damages incurred to a vehicle because a pot hole was not filled in in a timely manner. A fire fighter could be brought to court because they had to knock out the windows of a vehicle illegally parked in front of a fire hydrant during a house fire.

I also have a grievance with the oversight committee that would be formed if this bill progresses through the process. Why do we need another committee, group, agency for anything? Where does that money come from? Don't police officers, in this state, have to meet training requirements and hours to become a police officer as it is? I pay enough in taxes to fund border line incompetent and arguably corrupt agencies such as the RMV, OEMS, Mass Board of Nursing and the UMass system. I have had dealings with agencies like these that take months because people are unable to do their jobs properly or fluidly. If this new committee has hiccups in the beginning, like all other agencies, will there be police officers off the job because they cannot get their license approved in a timely manner?

The issue for all of this comes from a disgusting act that happened 1,000 miles away. Society is the problem. Rocks are being thrown at the men and women that ran into the World Trade Centers and Pentagon. Let that sink in. The NYPD has seen significant increases in retirement from officers that were on the job on that horrendous day. No police officer wakes up, goes to work and is determined to get into a life and death situation. These are men and women that put on the uniform and want to make a positive impact on their communities, just like you wanting to be State Representatives and Senators. These men and women need the backing of their communities now more than ever. As a country, we are on the brink of change. While change is good and hard to do, we should not be making it harder to make this a safer town, city, commonwealth and country.

I believe that if your committee is willing to pass Bill S.2820 you need to rethink the stance on gun control and the Attorney Generals law in the commonwealth. As we are seeing increased numbers of shooting in other states/cities that have "defunded" the police, I believe it is of the utmost importance that we, as private citizens, can protect ourselves. The rules governing how to obtain a license to carry change from town to town and can change when there is a new police chief. The argument in the past was only the police should have guns. Unfortunately if there are less police, they are more hesitant and the number of violent crime increases; we need to be able to protect ourselves.

Thank you for your time,

My name is Ana Curral and I live at 16 Peach Blossom Rd, Acushnet, Ma. <x-apple-data-detectors://0> I work at in Healthcare and am a Human Resources Manager. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Ana Curral

Subject: Police Reform Bill S2820

Dear Chairs,

As a parent of a law enforcement officer, I feel offended All Lives Matter is never considered in your proposals. We are all made in the image and likeness of God. By putting one life over another, you are degrading all others simply by your choice of words. Words matter. Qualified Immunity needs to stay. If it is removed from the men and women who protect all of us, then it should be removed from all of you who benefit from it. As a parent of someone in law enforcement, you are telling me that my child and his family mean nothing except to protect and serve you with no help from you in return. In these times in which we live, everyone is law suit happy and wants to take aim at the police. I am disgusted by the fact the Senate Bill was rushed through the way in which it was. I hope The House has more integrity, common sense and values than the Senate. Reform of any kind must be a two way street. I hope and pray you keep in mind that every law enforcement officer has a wife, children, mother, father, siblings to come home safely to at the end of each shift. It is difficult, but try to put yourself in their shoes. Every stop they encounter is of the unknown. Every stop they encounter could be their last.

Thank you for your time.

You are deliberately punishing every law enforcement officer because of the bad acts of one individual in MN. Would you punish all the children in a neighborhood if 1 child misbehaved and was punished? I think not.

The Senate Bill was passed in haste. Please do not do the same.

Thank you for your time,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Leo Haskell IV

I am very concerned after reading this proposed bill and the speed at which this bill is being forced upon police officers, voters and taxpayers. No discussion, and no input from the public or the police who are both greatly impacted by this legislation.
*Taking away qualified immunity will open up officers to frivolous litigation.

*Without collective bargaining rights Officers will be subjected to unfair working conditions with no way to remedy the situation.

*Subjecting police officers to having thier disciplinary records open to the public, when criminal board of probation records and sex offender registries are not open or accessible to the public

*Violating an officers 14th amendment rights to due process. Subjecting them to a board which is made up of members of certain groups who abhor the police and support anti police sentiment.

* As a citizen, voter and taxpayer where is all the money coming from to fund all these committees, training, and initiatives????

Police reform is needed, we can all agree on that, but more time and discussion is needed to do this right. There is no emergency situation in the State of Massachusetts that warrants immediate action. No other occupation in the United States or Massachusetts is being forced to adhere to such stringent policies that affect their life and liberty as well as their family's lives. No other occupation in the United States is being judged so harshly as a whole by the actions of few. Please stop this bill, we need to do better for all involved.

Subject: support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due to the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools, organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model to be used. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Sincerely,

Steve OConnell

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Devin Paul and I live at 42 East Briggs Rd in Westport, Ma. I work at the Bristol County Sheriff's Office and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????? ???????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ???????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Officer Devin Paul

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Randall Tyler

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

Just last week I had to file a complaint against the Cambridge police department for handcuffing a 21-year-old black man for crying loudly and trying to get into our apartment building, where his mother had just suddenly died. I am a doctor and I have never treated a grieving family member like that.

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

The problem is here, I have witnessed it myself. Please help.

Subject: House Bill

To the Chair of the House Committee:

First and foremost I would like to thank you for the opportunity to listen to the public and allow us to contribute our opinions regarding this bill which is something that the Senate members failed to do. My name is Santiago Flores and I am currently employed at the Everett Police Department. I want to simply begin by saying that I have spent my entire life fighting for this country from my days in the Marine Corps and now as a Police Officer. I strongly believe that in order to become better individuals and a better state as a whole we need to adapt and change the way we do things. Although change is needed, some of the points that were touched upon by the Senate I believe will not only destroy the job of policing, causing crime to sky rocket, but will also severely and negatively affect the job of all public workers such as nurses, teachers, and firefighters. Below I will list several points that I believe should be included in the bill as well as items that I believe should be left out.

As you probably already know the topic of Qualified Immunity is probably the most important topic that is being discussed. Qualified Immunity is in place in order to protect public employees and allow us to perform our jobs to the best of our ability without having to worry about being sued for doing the right thing. In a world where everyone is quick to sue for everything, I believe that if Qualified Immunity is taken away, it will lead to ridiculous lawsuits from individuals simply looking to make a quick buck. In addition, why would public workers do their jobs to the best of their abilities knowing that they may lose everything even if they do the right thing? I believe in due process and if ANY public employee does something such as the disgusting act that occurred in Minneapolis he/she should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. However people will still continue to be held accountable for their actions with Qualified Immunity in place and I believe this is where the general public is getting confused about this topic.

Next I will discuss certain Use of Force situations that was covered in the Senate bill. As we all know the use of "chokeholds" is being banned all around the country. Throughout my time on the job, a chokehold is something that I have never used and never seen used. In addition, it is something that was never taught in the police academy. I have trained in different martial arts for years such as brazilian jiu jitsu and kickboxing and have performed and experienced many techniques like this and can say that it is a very dangerous technique that many people do not know how to perform properly and can cause serious injury. I agree with the Senate, and a chokehold should not be allowed in policing in 99% of circumstances. What the Senate bill did not cover is what should be done in a deadly force situation. In any deadly force situation, we must use any force necessary to simply survive and this SHOULD include using a chokehold. To be put simply, a chokehold should be banned from being used unless an officer is faced with a deadly force situation. The second item that was mentioned in the Senate bill was that officers would not be allowed to fire at a vehicle attempting to run them down and that a vehicle will not be labeled a deadly weapon. I will not even waste your time speaking about this topic because it is just absolutely ridiculous. I have responded to many calls for service involving a pedestrian struck where the pedestrian has sustained life threatening injuries or has died. Although in these situations there was no ill intentions by the operators of the these vehicles, they had no control of what sort of damage their vehicle would cause. Now imagine someone deliberately trying to use their car to run someone down. What kind of damage would this cause? I urge you please dismiss this from being on your bill.

Although the Senate bill that was approved had many issues it did bring up some good points. It stressed the fact that officers should go through de-escalation training in order help reduce the amount of use of force situations that occur. I fully agree with this and as an officer that treats every situation that I encounter as respectful as I can I strive to be the best that I can be and go to as many training events that I can go to. This however brings up the question that if police departments begin to get defunded, how will we have the money to further the training of officers? If anything we require more money for training and not less. At the very least, funds should be re allocated in order to be able to properly train officers in de-escalation. I personally believe that this is where we as officers can make the biggest difference and help prevent a bad situation from happening. Some officers are not very good in this part of the job, not because they don't care or because they want to end every call in arrest but because they simply are not trained properly in dealing with an emotionally disturbed person. We need to work hand in hand with social workers so we can understand fully what they do and vice versa. Something else to consider is when we receive calls for service it is very difficult for us to be able to devote all of our time on one call helping a single individual. Often times we are traveling from call to call and as much as I would like to talk to someone that needs help for an extended amount of time it is not always feasible. I do not know what can be done to alleviate this problem but that once again touches on the fact that if police continue to get defunded it will only make this problem worse than it already is.

I could sit here all day writing to you with my thoughts on the Senate bill as well as ideas to help make your bill improve the field of policing but I know that you simply do not have the time to listen to the thoughts of one person. What I have touched upon in this email I believe are some of the key points that should be brought up. Before I conclude I simply wish to ask one favor. I urge you to look around at cities around our country. As police have been defunded in cities like NYC and LA, crimes have skyrocketed and innocent people have paid the price. I believe that here in the state of MASS, officers have always been held to a higher standard and are better trained and qualified than in other areas in the country. Let's continue make officers better and well trained, helping the communities that we serve. This is not done by taking away qualified immunity or defunding the police, but by working together and improving upon what we have been doing for years. Is our system here truly broken? Or do we simply need to tweak and adjust certain things. Like a car needing an oil change or a tune up, I believe that is what we need. I urge you to listen to the people and not pass a bill on a knee jerk reaction to please a small group of people that know nothing about what we do as officers. I thank you for time, and appreciate you listening to what I have to say. Stay safe and God Bless America.

Respectfully Submitted,
Officer Santiago Flores

Subject: My Opposition to Parts of Bill S.2820

?Good Evening,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Michael Smallwood and I live at 44 Braley Hill road Rochester ma. I work at Old Colony Correctional Center and I am a CO 1. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your

I cannot believe that you would tie the hands of the police with this kind of legislation. There are much better ways to get equitability and I believe you should all put your thinking caps on and lead with creative ideas rather than bowing to the loudest folks. Find a better way to keep us ALL safe and prevent abuse of power. Let's use some common sense.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

With S 2800, the police defunding bill having been passed in the Senate, Massachusetts is getting a newfound but undesirable reputation for lawlessness. In response, I will quote the highly competent and vastly underrated President Calvin Coolidge, who so pithily noted the following when he was Massachusetts Governor and much clearer and more reasoned thought prevailed in the Massachusetts Senate and in the Governor's Office:

"It is my purpose to maintain the Government of Massachusetts as it was founded by her people, the protector of the rights of all but subservient to none. It is my purpose to maintain unimpaired the authority of her laws, her jurisdiction, her peace, her security. This ancient faith of Massachusetts which became the great faith of America, she reestablished in her Constitution before the army of Washington had gained our independence, declaring for 'a government of laws and not of men.' In that faith she still abides. Let him challenge it who dares. All who love Massachusetts, who believe in America, are bound to defend it. The choice lies between living under coercion and intimidation, the forces of evil, or under the laws of the people, orderly, speaking with their settled convictions, the revelation of a divine authority."

— Governor Calvin Coolidge, excerpts from an Address at the Tremont Temple in Boston, October 4, 1919.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

J. Bruce Gabriel

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

This scapegoating is an appalling abuse of power by the legislature. Blaming the entire establishment for the sins of a single bad apple is the most unjust action this nation has seen in decades. This is discrimination under the shade of political correctness.

?Ladies and Gentlemen,

My name is Robert Berrena. I am a former UMass-Amherst police officer of 9 years and am presently a Trooper with Massachusetts Department of State Police. I understand the above mentioned bill is is an extremely lively topic that could change many things, including me and my family's future well-being. I agree with change. I agree with the public feeling safe. I especially agree with accountability. I assure you when I signed to be a police officer I vowed to do the right thing and treat all as equals. I speak and interact with people in a manner in which I would want to be treated. So do my coworkers. I see the good in this bill....I truly do.

My concern is this; by taking away and/or adjusting the "Qualified Immunity" for police officers the Commonwealth will lower it's quality in policing, tenfold. I wanted to stay in Massachusetts. I opted to seek a job that protected the citizens here. I love raising my two daughters here In Western Massachusetts. This is our home. I was promised a great career that included honor, integrity, self achievement, and promise of a pension. A safe and achievable retirement is/was very comforting, especially doing something I love and putting 110% effort in each day I go to work. These things were assured as long as I got up everyday and "Did the right thing". I have lived by this for the past 16 years of full time law enforcement. I will continue to as well.

I read the blanket response from Senator Hinds explaining the breakdown of our qualified immunity and that it will still exist. I read his personal interpretation of same. I understand changes were made to protect us. I am familiar with the bill's breakdown but am fearful of the questionable language written in. I saw the 4:15 <x-apple-data-detectors://1> in the morning vote that pushed the bill through the Senate. Police officers will be reluctant to act and/or be proactive. Men and women in blue will take up a reactive type of policing each day in their respective jurisdictions. We will be wondering if we will lose our jobs, or if our kids will eat and be sheltered. Or if someone is suing us for everything we have...We have seconds to make life altering decisions. Everyone else has days, months, or even years to pull it apart, while sharing the same unaltered qualified immunity. So please entertain my concern and the concern of many. I am one of thousands. The concern here is not just of police officers but for the citizens who currently enjoy their quality of life. They will be deprived of that safe feeling knowing blue lights are coming with confidence to help them in crisis or emergency. There will be hesitant and nervous police officers responding there, trust me. New York City is a prime example of failure and police officers reluctant to act. I personally would like to be alive for my daughters and wife. Is that too selfish Of me? People actually like the police within the Commonwealth. It is shown to me everyday I put the boots on and go to work.

Before this bill is slid into law under the cover of darkness or in the early morning hours, please reconsider and make an amendment guaranteeing our qualified immunity's original protections. Why can everyone else hold this comfort and security but the police? Our job is at most risk of scrutiny at all times. Many of us are too vested to start over. I do not know how to build a house or design a building. Nor do I want to abandon this job because I feel it is being abandoned by many. I have been a police officer since I was 20. This is all I have and will continue to my best....If allowed. Nobody I know including me, condoned the awful tragedy that happened 1,000 plus miles away in another state with George Floyd. It was horrible. I feel awful for his loved ones and family. We have very few of these types of situations within Massachusetts because of the existing demand of qualified and trained police officers. It is one of the highest standards in the nation. This is why our academies are laterally accepted in most other states as a transfer. The Commonwealth's recruitment of qualified and sound police officers will diminish with the stripping or "adjusting" of our qualified immunity.

Thank you for your time.

To Whom It May Concern:;

My name is Elizabeth Murphy and I live in Rockport MA. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration,

Elizabeth Murphy

Subject: S2800 Bill

My name is Jennifer Regan and I live at 855 Front Street Weymouth, MA I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Regan

Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

To Whom it May Concern,

This email is a show of support for the Reform, Shift, Build act. I want the state of MA to eliminate qualified immunity and put a limit on the use of force.

I also support the movements within the bill to:

Certify officers and investigate misconduct complaints, and decertify officers who act improperly

Redirect funding away from policing and corrections into communities affected by mass-incarceration

Demilitarize the police force by requiring a public process for any military equipment acquisitions

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police Refom

Good Evening,

I am writing this email in regards to the Police Reform Bill. I am writing in support to all of the great law enforcement officers in Massachusetts.

On May 25, 2020. The murder of George Floyd occurred several states away. The actions of the police were disgusting, and It makes me very angry that an individual would abuse his badge like this. I truthfully believe that this is not what policing is about, and that individual is isolated. Prior to this event in Massachusetts, there was no extreme concern with Law Enforcement here in Massachusetts. There was no reason to rush a bill through legislation in less than a month. One incident that happened several states away is now effecting all law enforcement officers in Massachusetts and country wide, all of whom do not agree with the actions of those police officers in Minneapolis.

In Massachusetts, all officers are trained by the Massachusetts Police Training Council. All officers have the highest training in the country. We have strict use of force policies, none of which include a choke hold. We have a system of checks and balances with internal affairs investigations. We have the best officers in the country. Well trained and well respected.

As a police officer in Massachusetts I go
To work everyday and take great respect and pride in what I do.

Police Officers go to work every day, leave their families at home and put their lives on the line. They are our first line of defense against terrorist attacks, like the Boston Marathon Bombings. They respond to murders, shootings, stabbings, home invasions, armed robberies, suicidal individuals, intoxicated individuals and mentally ill people. All of these calls could go wrong at any one second. With all this in mind I ask that you look at numbers of complaints and use of force problems. That number is almost too good to be true here in MA. So few complaints and even fewer use of force issues. Why? Because of the great training we go through. Police officers go to work defend the great people of this state. I ask that you defend the police.

In order for the police to successfully and effectively do their jobs. Qualified immunity is a must. Police must know that their actions, good faith and reasonable actions are protected. That if they act in good faith that they won't lose their house, that their family won't lose their house. If police start second guessing themselves and walking on eggshells in fear that at anytime they could be personally sued, more people will get hurt and the effectiveness of policing will go down. The rate of violence will undoubtedly go up.

I ask that you look at good faith and policing especially when related to use of force. Think of a suicidal individual threatening to jump off a building or jump into traffic. Will an Officer be covered if they physically remove them from the ledge or street. Saving a life and getting that individual to the hospital. Or an intoxicated individual who needs medical help, but is physically refusing. Can a police officer assist in keeping medics safe by helping restrain a patient. All good faith efforts where an arrest would make matters worse. Police are here to help people. The goal is to get these people to a safe environment so they can receive help. If reasonable force is necessary in good faith then so be it. An arrest would in no way help that individual.

Due process and collective bargaining are very important. In the United States we give murderers, terrorists, and violent felons due process rights. Why would we take them away from police officers? Officers reserve the right To appeals and collectively bargain. They deserve this because they are all US citizens who signed up for a job to help people while putting their life on the line Unions and civil service were started in this state/ country for a reason. Why would we take those away from the police. This sounds like an anti labor bill. I ask that you look at why civil service was started and why the protections of civil service and unions were given. Police deserve these protections like all the other hard working people in this state. Again police officers go to work everyday to help people. Every call we answer there is a Person in need of assistance.

Lastly I ask that the licensing committee Is created with members who have backgrounds and experience in law enforcement. No one understands and sees what police officers see and do on a daily basis. We see things that no one else sees. We deal with things no one else deals with. We wouldn't put a dentist on the board for plumbers. I ask that we fill the board with well respected members of the law enforcement community. Nobody hates a bad cop more Then a good cop.

I ask that you remember the Police officers are there to help. Help the victims of domestic violence, victims of child abuse, victims of sex trafficking, victims of violence, families of victims of violence etc. Help protect the police. You never need the police until you really need the police.

I lastly ask about the repercussions of this bill. Will violence escalate. Will we be able to recruit the best candidates for policing in the future. Will great officers retire and or resign I ask you to step in the boots of a police officer. Would you want a job with no qualified immunity or due process? Would you put your family through that?

Thank You,

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kevin Bell and I live at 1 Kimberly Lane, Blackstone, MA. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Kevin Bell

Below is a letter I sent to the senators regarding the hastily put together Bill S.2800, now S2820. I, as well as many others are disappointed to say the least, with our elected officials who are trying to rush a bill into law for political reasons with blatant disregard for the safety of the majority of citizens in the state of Massachusetts. Just over a month ago law enforcement officers were regarded as heroes during the surge of Covid-19 here in Mass., many participating in birthday car parades for children unable to celebrate in normal fashion. They are still heroes, that hasn't changed. We should be doing MORE to protect not only law enforcement, but all of our municipal workers. We are watching the detrimental effects of giving more rights to lawbreakers and criminals than to those brave enough to uphold the law. Crime and violence is rapidly increasing throughout the country and especially in our major cities. Crime has been at multi - decade lows but that is now reversing at record pace. Boston will no doubt experience this extreme spike in crime if this bill is passed as is. What I know is that 5 other officers were shot in the past few years in the Southshore/Cape area alone; two of which paid the ultimate sacrifice with their lives; Officer Gannon and Officer Chesna and the latter because he hesitated taking necessary actions to stop the assailant who stole his gun and shot him. This bill will only lead to more of these dangerous situations. Cops will no longer be willing to take the risks necessary to do their jobs in fear of being persecuted for doing so. Policing will be reactive, not proactive as it has been. To my knowledge only one department- Springfield in a total of 357, has been investigated for any wrongdoing. This is not systemic. Please protect the rights of our public servants. This bill should not be passed without more careful consideration just to meet an unrealistic deadline or to satisfy a political agenda. It would be irresponsible and dangerous.

Respectfully,

Crystal Patsavos

Dear Legislator,

I'm writing in regards to the S.2800 Police Reform Bill currently being discussed. I am the wife of Dennis, Ma. police sergeant Nicholas Patsavos who was a recipient of the George L. Hanna Award for saving the life of a complete stranger while risking his own without hesitation. He has been an officer for over 20 years serving the community with compassion and the utmost respect for all citizens regardless of who they are. The VAST majority of police officers are kind, decent people who enter the profession to SAVE lives, NOT take them. For these brave men and women it is a calling and a job few are able to do as most of us are incapable of the sacrifices they make, and the risks they face daily. I have never been more disturbed by the vilification and demoralization of these heroes today. All should not be punished for the poor actions of very few. For the many "hats" they wear on any given shift - a variety of emergencies and tragedies they witness daily, we ask and expect a lot from them. They too are only human. Perfection at all times for any human being is not attainable yet some expect this from our officers. They deserve the respect and same constitutional rights that every citizen in the nation is entitled to. Though some form of police reform may be necessary - regardless of what any of you claim , this bill is being rushed and the consequences are not being fully thought through. Particularly, in regards to Qualified Immunity, which protects them from frivolous lawsuits when it is clear they are doing their jobs properly and in good faith acting reasonably in the eyes of the law. This does not protect those problem officers who don't act appropriately. Officers are in harms way at any given time and sometimes have to make life altering decisions that most of us can't even fathom in a matter of seconds. If they truly feel their life is in danger they should certainly have the right to protect it. They didn't sign up for the job to not have that right. Their loved ones constantly live in fear that one of these days they won't return home safely. I have two children and their dad is their hero. The choice they are left with in the event of a legitimate threat to their well being is either be killed or defend yourself and risk losing everything/possibly go to jail- just for doing the job we ask of them. Without qualified immunity officers are more at risk as well as every citizen because they won't risk taking the necessary measures to do their job effectively for fear of persecution for doing so. This is just wrong. I do not feel the majority of the public supports this, and far too many aren't even aware of this being pushed along by legislators at all. Laws and Bills need to protect EVERY citizen, police included. Most officers go way above and beyond the call of duty. They help citizens with so many different acts of kindness, Ive seen them do so- whether it's a meal for the homeless, shoveling a driveway for an elderly individual, giving a ride to someone in need, or emotional support to someone suffering loss and tragedy; not to mention rushing to aid anyone in need anywhere when off duty. My own husband has done so many times over the years because that's just what they do. They are our first line of protection always running towards the dangers the rest of us run away from. How quickly we forget the collapse of the Twin Towers/9-11, the marathon bombing, and countless other tragedies they've dealt with across this nation. Always in harms way rushing in to defend all of us- strangers of all colors. They deserve the same- to be protected and defended by every one of us. It is not fair for those who don't walk in their shoes to make decisions they are not experts on which will make it difficult for them to do their job. And that's if they even stick around long enough as many won't and are walking away across the country. Can't say I blame them. It will no longer be worth the risk for many of them. Please consider all of this to make the best possible informed decisions for ALL. I don't want to live in a world without police and one none of us are safe in. The treatment of police in general has been shameful and disgraceful. Those who decide to break the law should be held accountable on BOTH sides- law enforcement as well as the law breaker. Respectfully,

Crystal Patsavos, concerned citizen and police wife

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820.

I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Bill 2800

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Ana Curral and I live at 16 Peach Blossom Rd, Acushnet, Ma. <x-apple-data-detectors://0> I work at in Healthcare and am a Human Resources Manager. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Ana Curral

Subject: Testimony S.2820

Dear Members of the House Committee on Ways and Means and Judiciary members,

I hope this message finds you all well. My name is Joshua Monfreda, I am a registered voter who was born and raised in the City of Worcester and have recently moved to the town of Leicester. I would first like to thank you all for slowing the process down and giving your constituents an opportunity to weigh in on such an important matter. The bill pushed forward by the Senate, is in no way something that the general public/tax payers would wish to impose upon the very people who protect our communities.

I would like to start by saying that the murder of George Floyd was downright disgusting, unacceptable and a display of pure evil. I agree whole heartedly that the discussions raised since have been fruitful and offer an opportunity to reform policing across this great nation. That being said, I feel that the worst thing we can do is rush this bill, just to be a "first." In todays society, it seems to be the common theme, with news outlets rushing to be first to break news, even though they do not have the facts and often completely make a mockery of the situation at hand. Now this bill, which I feel if rushed will do the exact same thing. Difference being, this bill cannot just be re-read on a later broadcast with corrections. This bill will have a lasting impact on our communities. Look at New York City, who rushed into decisions and have seen a disturbing spike in violent crimes. It has become so bad that now there are Black leaders in the community who are begging for the Anti-Violence Unit to be placed back into patrol. I am in 100% agreement that there is need for discussion and reform, but it should be on a state by state basis and the conversations should without question involve the men and women of the police departments and other stake-holders.

There are numerous parts of S.2820 as currently written that I find unacceptable and hope that you will agree with, at a minimum, the few that I will discuss in the following text:

I find this bill disturbing in the sense that it is without a question an Anti-labor bill. The thought that a majority Democrat Senate, who has forever been the party for Unions and Labor and would look to take the rights afforded to Unions away from Police is mind-boggling. The removal of Collective Bargaining is a slap in the face to Unions across the entire country.

Secondly, the idea that elected officials are looking into taking Due Process from the hard-working men and women of the police departments is appalling. Allowing a committee to be the say all be all is quite frankly dangerous. Having this POSAC committee have final say in decertifying a police officer and not allowing an appeals process is against everything we know as citizens of the USA. This will give murders and rapists more rights to appeal than the very heroes who so diligently put their lives on the line to protect you and I.

Third is the issue surrounding Qualified Immunity. There seems to be an extreme disconnect in regards to what Qualified Immunity offers to civil servants. Removing this little bit of protection from the Police and other civil servants is dangerous and opens up pandoras box in unsubstantiated civil suits. By removing this sliver of protection, Officers will have more legal binding to stan-by, rather than assist in a major incident.

Lastly, I would like to bring up the breakdown of the Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee. There is not a single profession that has such a large number of civilians (people who do not practice/have never practiced) the job at hand. It is quite easy to "Monday morning quarterback" a police officers actions by watching a slowed down, or single sided video, but an entirely different story to individuals who have been in a dangerous or life threatening situation. Imagine having a board of over 50% civilians overseeing a Doctors licensure. Neither you nor I could look at a malpractice situation and be able to determine if a Doctor acted improperly. The same should be offered to Police, who see the worst of the worst in live action and full speed and do not always have the opportunity to "slow it down" to analyze what the action should be. In addition, coming from the City of Worcester (the 2nd largest city in New England) I see their department and Chief as being missing from a seat on this committee. I think that there needs to be some serious discussion about this committee and who is going to have a seat at the table.

I again thank you all for taking the time to listen and hear our requests. As mentioned before, I do think that this bill needs to be slowed to let the dust settle and make sure that we get it RIGHT here in the Commonwealth. If this gets rushed through, we are going to have a mass exodus of Police Officers and be hard pressed to get qualified candidates to fill the vacancies. Nobody is going to risk their families livelihood and finances for such a thankless profession. The time is now to turn this around and back the men and women who risk their lives for perfect strangers on a daily basis. These issues do not plague the state of MA. We have had more Police Officers murdered in this state in the last few years than the other way around. I beg of you all to hear the deafening sound of the silent majority who vote every election, respect, love and admire the men and women in blue.

Respectfully,

Joshua A. Monfreda

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

With S 2800, the police defunding and bill having been passed in the Senate, Massachusetts is getting a newfound but undesirable reputation for lawlessness. In response, I will quote the highly competent and vastly underrated President Calvin Coolidge, who so pithily noted the following when he was Massachusetts Governor and much clearer and more reasoned thought prevailed in the Massachusetts Senate and in the Governor's Office:

"It is my purpose to maintain the Government of Massachusetts as it was founded by her people, the protector of the rights of all but subservient to none. It is my purpose to maintain unimpaired the authority of her laws, her jurisdiction, her peace, her security. This ancient faith of Massachusetts which became the great faith of America, she reestablished in her Constitution before the army of Washington had gained our independence, declaring for 'a government of laws and not of men.' In that faith she still abides. Let him challenge it who dares. All who love Massachusetts, who believe in America, are bound to defend it. The choice lies between living under coercion and intimidation, the forces of evil, or under the laws of the people, orderly, speaking with their settled convictions, the revelation of a divine authority."

— Governor Calvin Coolidge, excerpts from an Address at the Tremont Temple in Boston, October 4, 1919.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

J. Bruce Gabriel

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

I am writing to you to voice my support for S2820. Its imperative that we make this first step toward racial justice. We've seen to many times abuses of our neighbors at the hands of law enforcement. Its time we gave the commonwealth the protections it needs, and the legal backing for good police officers to be able to stand up against fellow officers. I ask that you preserve the language creating an independent and civilian majority police body, limit qualified immunity, and reduce the school to prison pipeline by removing barriers to expunge juvenile records.

I also ask that you strengthen the use of force standard, fully prohibit facial surveillance technology and lift the cap of the justice reinvestment fund.

Subject: Testimony to Bill S.2820

Dear Rep. Michlewitz and Rep. Cronin;

Please accept the following written testimony as it relates to a Bill (S.2820) in front of the House.

I am a concerned Massachusetts Citizen residing at 66 Crossbow Lane, North Andover, I am a parent and grandparent.

I write today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820 a piece of hastily thrown together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across this nation. It is misguided and wrong. I shudder to think of the repercussions the passage of this Bill will inflict upon the law abiding citizens that depend on our law enforcement to assure our safety in society. I worry for my grandchildren growing up in a non law and order environment and how it will impact their lives. I fear for their safety. All of you should be worried about this also and I cannot understand how ANYONE would think this Bill is the right thing to do for the citizens of this Commonwealth.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the lack of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular stand out and demand immediate attention, modification, and/or correction. Those issues are:

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
( Lieutenant Brian Pratt)

Subject: Police issue

The police, Boston police in particular have worked tirelessly for years, drawing double shifts almost every day. Running into danger, not even considering their own safety to maintain peace. It was only a few years ago when they were on the cover of sports illustrated, determined to not only help people hurt during the bombing at the marathon but also went out and got those guys. The police didn't stop until they were caught and now, they are being scapegoated. After they were met with an organized mob that tried to hurt them with bricks and the like. Working , not knowing if they will see their family. They bowed to the mob and gave them their due; and now defunding?

How will anyone be encourage to take up this once great profession once these things are in place?

Thank you for your time.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Very Respectfully,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Daniel Hollenbach and I live at 531 Less River Ave, Somerset. I work at Old Colony Correctional Center and am a CO1. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it. We cannot let another day pass without meaningful and structural reform. The status quo is not working.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor. We have no time to space - we must act now.

Good Evening,

My name is Michael Wandell, I am a 22 year veteran of the Wilmington Police Department and President of our Patrol Officers Union, NEPBA Local 1. My cell number is 978-337-8551.

I am writing you with my concerns to the Police Reform Bill S.2820. This bill concerns me as it seems to be a knee-jerk reaction, written in haste to a horrible event that occurred 1300 miles away.

I believe Massachusetts policing has been and has stayed well ahead of our country's standards in policing for many years. We spend several hours training every year in several areas including deescalating techniques, CIT (Critical Incident Training) training, which includes persons that suffer from mental health issues, persons with disabilities etc. I along with my fellow officers do believe there is always room for improvement and always look for ways to improve and be better at the job we do.

I believe putting together a committee of people that are not involved in law enforcement is a disservice and an insult to all the time and effort we put into our law enforcement profession. This is the equivalent to putting police officers in charge of a medical review board for doctors. We have no business telling a doctor how to do their job.

Stripping officers of Qualified Immunity is a disservice to law enforcement. Qualified Immunity is not there to protect illegal activity it is there to protect us who have to make split second decisions while in the performance of our duties.

Can you give me an instance, situation or case where Qualified Immunity has protected the wrongful conduct of a police officer in the state of Massachusetts? I don't believe there are any cases that apply to this doctrine as it stands.

Thank you for your time,

Sincerely,
Officer Mike Wandell

Subject: POLICE REFORM BILL S2820 - Concerns with qualified immunity within this bill to be considered

To Whom It May Concern;;

My name is Elizabeth Pszenny and I live in Rockport MA. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration,

Elizabeth Pszenny

Subject: police reform bill S2800

Good Evening,

I am writing this email in opposition of the policing reform bill Senate S2800. I have multiple relatives and friends in law enforcement that this bill if passed would affect greatly. The police should not have to go to work and fear to do their job to the best of their ability or have their loved ones at home fear that they will get that dreaded call that they have been injured or even killed while trying to do their job and protect the citizens of this state. Police officers should not have to worry about whether or not they will be sued or worse attacked, while trying to protect their communities. My aunt and her children should not have to worry if their husband and father will be injured or sued one day because some one that he came in contact with decided they did not like the outcome of their interaction and decided to file a civil complaint against him. Our police officers should be able to use their judgement in the situation at the moment to protect themselves and the community by whatever means they feel is acceptable for that situation and not worry about if they will be sued or fired because someone questions their motives. This bill would tie the hands of the police officers that swore to protect all citizens of this state. This bill would cause more unnecessary deaths for police officers and citizens like Officer Michael Chesna and Vera Adams. Also to take police out of the schools would be a detriment to the students and communities. Taking the school officers out would result in more violence in the school system. There is already enough bullying and violence in the schools with police officers present to take them out and have no one to stop what they have been would be a big mistake. This would result in more school shootings, more children being afraid of police. For some students school is the only place they feel safe because of the school resource officers. For my 2 children they love having the school resource officers in their school, it makes them feel safe and protected while there with everything going on in this world. I live in Middleboro Massachusetts and the police in this town and all over the world have mine and my families support 100%. This bill if passed would be a smack in the face to the men and woman and their families faces. They risk their lives on a daily bases too protect my family and yours. Please DO NOT pass this bill!

Thank you for your time

Subject: Fw: I oppose House Bill S2800

Good Evening,

As your constituent, Ann Ragosta from Milford, I am writing to you today to express my strong opposition to S.2800 which was passed by the Senate. I ask that you oppose this bill as constituted when it is debated in the House of Representatives. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities. It will cause many good officers to leave due to the new burdens it imposes and will likely only encourage poor candidates for the job.

S2800 establishes a review committee board with overly broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations. Review boards typically review a process or an event after it has occurred for the purpose of implementing a change. Reviews should not be conducted during the course of an investigation as that would in all likelihood jeopardize the investigation. Why is this language part of the bill?

The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment right (see Carney v. Springfield) and constitutional protections against double jeopardy. Qualified immunity protections (which are really the hallmark of sound and reasonable protections against frivolous lawsuits) are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections for the police officers we send out to protect our communities and who often deal with the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no backup. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open up officers to personal liabilities the likes of which they cannot withstand. That is a standard that that makes no sense and are unnecessary as current laws today adequately address any overreach by law enforcement officers.

I am also demanding that this bill be debated in the light of day and not in the cover of darkness. If you have to resort to sneaking a debate and vote in the middle of the night, then I assert it is "prima facie" a bad bill and "prima facie" bad faith on your part as my Representative. In addition, S.2800 failed to follow the normal and appropriate legislative process of holding public hearings to accept testimony from citizens and experts. The glaring question is "Why"? What is the Legislature so afraid of? It is an abrogation of your duty to your constituents not to listen to them and to consider what they want before you vote.

In summary, this bill is ill conceived, and quite frankly, it is a cornucopia of drivel. If you could set aside for one moment your partisan loyalties, perhaps you will admit to yourself that it is a bad bill and bad policy. Further, how can you or any other Representative reform something of which you know little. Until and unless you have taken substantive police training, I would again ask that you oppose this bill. While I agree that some policing reform should be addressed (good policing should always be evolving as new things are learned) but passing a poor bill for the sake of passing a bill is not in the best interest of the good people of Massachusetts.

I would also encourage you and all your colleagues in the House to perhaps live in a poor urban community with a high crime rate for one month before you decide to change something about which I am going to assume you have little to no knowledge or experience.

For all the reasons stated above, I ask that you oppose this bill.

Sincerely,
Ann Ragosta

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

As a police officer in Massachusetts for 25 years I simply do not understand why this controversial and complex bill (S2820) is considered to be "immediately necessary" and "declared to be an emergency law, necessary for the immediate preservation of the

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Brian Lenfest

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: S.2820

As a registered voter in the State of Massachusetts I would ask you to read my testimony and understand where I, as well as many others are coming from when voicing our opinions. I am a firefighter in the City of Worcester and my husband is a police officer for the same city. We currently work combined over 100 hours serving our community of underserved citizens as well as those that are abled bodies in all aspects. I am currently assigned to the Community Risk Reduction and Public Education Unit. I, on a daily basis, work with the police department as well as many other city agencies to improve the quality of life for all those citizens underserved including those referred to in this bill as the African Americans and the communities of color. Our impact on these communities as first responders often go unnoticed because we fail in commending ourselves for our own improvement and accomplishments in connecting these citizens to the needed services, since "that is our job". Resources are available for those that want help. We as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts do not need to shift funds from the police as there is an abundance of grants being worked on and many agencies and services already available to assist these underserved members of our communities that want to be helped. We work diligently everyday hand in hand with the police department to assist these members of the community to find the resources that each sole needs. Massachusetts has some of the most prestigious police departments in this country. I have been able to see this first hand on many occasions, not only in the city but on the state level as well. The actions of one officer, so egregiously horrific, in another part of the country should not be an example of all of our officers. Our country has fought for freedom and we should not be punished for the actions of others. We as first responders representing the City of Worcester and the State of Massachusetts take each call as its own, whether it's a sick elderly person, a hurt child, a victim of abuse, a drug deal gone bad, everyone is given the greatest care possible for the best outcome for life. Training academies for the police in Massachusetts have produced some of the greatest Officers in the country. Under no circumstances is there a need to review these standards. Records of such training are kept and trainings are remediated as deemed needed after investigations have been done and officers have been found to be in need of such. Police and Fire departments have extensive trainings in the areas of disabilities and mental health issues as we deal with these patients daily. The police departments have worked with great efforts to utilize the system to give access to the sick/disabled/mentally ill persons we encounter rather than placing them under arrest for criminal activity. Training officers from Massachusetts are constantly attending seminars and trainings to keep up with new methods of policing as well as dealing with the sick and criminals and adjust their academy and in service training to reflect such.

Our police officers and firefighters and other labor unions in the Commonwealth have worked so hard in reaching agreements with their respective cities and towns through collective bargaining. These contracts have proven to be fair and respected by both sides. Removing this right would flaw the system we ALL stand behind. As a civilian, we do not understand these trainings and therefore should not be predicting the methods of dealing with each situation as a civilian we would not preform surgery or tell a surgeon how to operate. Protection given to each professional occupation should not be taken away as it has been given as a result of need and foregoing of something. I ask that you keep in place the Qualified Immunity Act, Due process and collective bargaining rights of our unions and keep a board that evaluates a member of one occupation to those in that occupation since legal standards usually state what a reasonable person in that profession would do.

Thanks you for your time and efforts in reading my testimony,

Katie Harrington, Esq.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Dear Sir,

I respectfully ask a delay on this bill until a public hearing can be held. The rush to get this bill passed in the wee hours of the morning, without input of the taxpayers directly effected, is appalling. To say voters are disappointed in this underhanded move is an understatement. There are are far too many concerns in this bill that need conversation and explanation. Elected officials are voted to represent ALL residents of this great state. The fact that a great number of us feel neglected and ignored is a disgraceful and troubling for the future of Massachusetts.

To whom it may concern,

My name is Jessica Gillan and I am resident of Abington. My husband is also a law enforcement officer in our town of Abington.

I write to you as the House takes up S2800, An Act to Reform Police Standards and Shift Resources to Build a More Equitable, Fair and Just Commonwealth that Values Black Lives and Communities of Color, today. The following amendments are incredibly important to me and my friends and family, many of whom have also written to you. I hope that you will join in adopting the following amendments:

- (1) Amendment 26: Revocation or Non-Renewal shall be by 2/3s vote (we should be advocating that this be changed to a 3/4 vote, and it is our understanding that Senator Tarr will be doing so)
- (2) Amendment 48: State Police Colonel
- (3) Amendment 77: Discipline Changes for State Police
- (4) Amendment 114: Representation on POSAC
- (5) Amendment 116: Due Process (strike out "within the appointing authority or the committee" so that our current rights to appeal including arbitration stays in place)
- (6) Amendment 126: Changing "a preponderance of the" to "clear and convincing"
- (7) Amendment 129: Definition of Accreditation
- (8) Amendments 74 and 137: Special Commission to Study Qualified Immunity

This bill would cause a mass exodus of good police officers in our state to relocate to a state that supports them, cause those officers nearing retirement to retire early and cause other officers to leave for private security jobs. The state of Massachusetts would no longer be a safe place for many to raise their families if this bill were to pass as is.

Thank you for your consideration. I hope we can count on you to support the law enforcement officers and their families of Massachusetts.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is Stacy Matewsky and I live at 29 Ellisville Rd Plymouth MA. I work at Old Colony Correctional Center and am a CO I. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

* As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage.

Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers.

Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants.

Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. Chairman,

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

My name is Timothy Brian Menton and I reside at 59 Newell Road, Newton MA (617) 869-9377.

I am writing to you today to express my opposition to any change in Qualified Immunity for Police, Firefighters, Nurses, etc. These essential employees have the toughest jobs in our society as displayed a few short months ago during the height of the Covid-19 pandemic. They all must act quickly and without hesitation in order to complete their professions safely.

To undercut or cause them to second guess their actions due to possible frivolous litigation while working is downright dangerous. It will cause Police Officers to be hurt/killed. To think that "ambulance chasers" will not seek out clients in order to file suits against the above mentioned Heroes is naive.

I implore you to consider how professional the Massachusetts Law Enforcement community is. We do not have the rampant problems found in other parts of the country. This bill will only further victimize lower income communities because Police will take on a more reactive approach to their jobs. Gangs and violent offenders will take over these already marginalized communities. The good residents of these communities will fear for their lives and the safety of their children. We already can see an example of this occurring in New York City. Police reform can and will happen however this bill is far over reaching and will have severely negative consequences for Law Enforcement and the communities they serve.

Schools should share whether a student is affiliated or is an active gang member with the Police. If not, recruitment in our schools and violence in schools will only increase. Schools will be a safe haven for gangs.

This knee jerk reaction bill will cause good Police to leave the profession and will further scare away potential recruits in a profession that has already seen a decline in qualified applicants due to the "war on Police".

Our Police need help and any and all training can only be beneficial to them but please do not handcuff them and prevent them from doing their job which in turn will bring about increases in crime and violence throughout this great Commonwealth.

Thank you for taking the time to hear me.

Respectfully Submitted,
Timothy B. Menton

To all

Steve Sargent here and I'm the Chief of Police for the city of Worcester.

I hope all is well! I wanted to take a quick moment about the pending legislation that will fundamentally alter policing as we know it in Massachusetts.

I am sure you are receiving a lot of commentary so I will keep my thoughts brief. As you know, I have been a police officer in Worcester for 34 years. Simply put, forcing through this legislation will, as I see it, have three fundamental unintended consequences:

1. There will be an exponential increase of violence within the more urban Massachusetts communities.
2. Poorer, inner-city neighborhoods will suffer a disproportionate level of this violence and be comprehensively and negatively effected beyond higher levels of violence.
3. A Massachusetts police officer will be seriously hurt or killed because of the inherent doubt of action that some of these amendments will result in.

While any professional police officer or administrator welcomes a thoughtful analysis of police practice, policy, and procedure, this process can not be conducted on an artificial timetable without the opportunity to understand fully the result of all proposed changes.

Remember the silent majority is still the majority.

Please feel free to contact me to discuss.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Police Reform Bill S.2820

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Beth Hellman and I live at 25 Lexington Ave. in Methuen, MA. I write to express my concern about and opposition to Bill 2820. This bill puts law enforcement and citizens in danger!

My husband, Brian Hellman, is a Methuen Police Officer. He has several awards/citations hanging on our wall. He has received "Police officer of the Year" in Methuen two times as well as life saving awards and awards for going above and beyond the call of duty. As your constituent and the wife of a police officer, I write to you today to express my opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Defunded police, and limiting the ability to identify and act on crime before it happens, or stop crime in progress will result in less safe environments. It is the responsibility of our state government to support police policies that ensure that we continue to have educated officers that have quality training. We need to offer our law enforcement the respect they deserve and teach our community and our children to do the same. This bill will backfire and result in emboldened criminals, poorly staffed departments, poorly trained officers and police who may not act with conviction because they fear retaliation. This will create more problems than can be imagined. If being a police officer becomes more dangerous than it already is you will get more retirements sooner and less qualified applicants going forward. Please do not put people at risk by passing this bill as is, which limits police response by removing qualified immunity and encourages criminals to fight back knowing police response has been stifled.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in the proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. The disrespect they are being shown is very upsetting. As a wife of a police officer, I worry about my husband going to work more now than ever before. He is not only a police officer, he is a husband, father of three small children, brother, son, and friend. I think people are forgetting that police officers are real people with real lives and families. They go to work and put their own lives at risk to protect others. They are being portrayed negatively in the media. I don't think it is right to rush this bill just to appease a group of people that are against law enforcement. The actions of a few in another state, should not force this to be pushed through so quickly without the input of the appropriate people. This bill will have serious consequences not only for police officers but for the citizens they protect. I again implore you to reject this bill and to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve. Our police officers do not make the laws, but they are tasked with enforcing them. If we, as citizens of Massachusetts want to be safe, we need to support the effort of our officers so they can do the best job possible.

Sincerely,

Beth Hellman

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Teaghan Souza. I am from Swansea, MA and my father is a sergeant at the police station in our town. I am very worried about the bill that the senate is currently proposing. While there is a lot of good things within this bill that can make our state a lot safer, I believe that there are still some things within this bill as well that will put more people at risk rather than helping them. While there have been many deaths of Black Americans while they were in police custody, there have also been a large number of deaths of police officers who were killed in the line of duty. I believe that if this law is put into place that the number of those who were killed in the line of duty will rise. I already worry every day when my father leaves for work that he may not come back and that I may never get to see him again. Now with the possibility of this bill being passed, not only am I even more worried that he may never come home, but that now he could lose his job at any given point in time or he can be frivolously sued for acting in good faith while on duty. Police Officers should not have to hesitate, stop, and think "Will I be sued for doing this?" before they act. If they have to do this, there will be so many injuries and deaths caused. While I get that you all may have some good intentions when thinking about this bill, it can and will affect so many people negatively including YOU and your family. I do believe that there should be some change to our legal system, but I don't think that it should be done like this. I hope that you all will vote down this bill tomorrow and will be able to address it during a time that is not so controversial and allow public opinion into the bill. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Subject: Qualified Immunity

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Donna Balich and I live at 151 Pine Hill Road, Chelmsford, MA . I work at Smith & Nephew, Inc as a Global, Category Manager in Procurement. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????????????????????????????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,
Eva Gedrich

Subject: Police Action

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due to the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools, organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model to be used. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

To the Honorable Massachusetts House of Representatives,

I hope my family and I will be represented in your session considering the Policing Bill.

I am a 47 y/o male father of 3 children under 10. I have been a firefighter emt for almost 18 years now and have been active in my Union and the collective bargaining process.

Let me clearly state that in the 5 contracts I have negotiated we have heard the Towns concerns over finances and wages and as a Union have agreed to make the concessions at the table necessary to safeguard our members by adding staffing in our CBA and adding certifications. We have a cap on sick time at retirement , a very strict drug and alcohol policy, early retirement notification and employment contingent on maintaining licensing.

I am very concerned that "knee jerk reaction" legislation is being pushed through and panders to a small group "out for blood".

It's sad that in the great State of Massachusetts that Democracy is falling by the wayside.

No one condones the horrific act by the Minneapolis officer that resulted in the death of George Floyd.

I'm sure Massachusetts has had issues on certain calls in the past with "use of force".

I also have a more in depth knowledge of Regional teams like NEMLEC, who are geographic teams of Police Officers from separate communities that train with tactical equipment for unique events including armed, barricaded individuals and the like. These teams are a necessity as an option when all other options fail. Local Departments probably do not need that level of gear.

This legislation will have a dire impact on recruitment of new police officers and potentially firefighters throughout our State. Standards are fine, egregious and negligent behavior should be disciplined up to and including termination. Unilateral changes to Policing only endangers citizens in the future. No doubt the Criminals will benefit from these changes and new requirements. We as a society have come close to the brink of Anarchy and I am concerned what will quell civil upheaval in the future.

As a taxpayer I want the best possible candidate to be hired as a police officer to protect my town and family no matter their gender, race or creed.

We need policing, we need to stop allowing civil unrest. Policing can be reformed but please keep in mind how rioting like we saw at the foot of the Statehouse needs to be prevented and stopped when it begins.

It was disheartening and disgusting to see the rioting and looting being allowed to happen. I went to high school on Tremont street, I know the area well.

This State and our Country should tread lightly before making unilateral changes through legislation in a reactionary way. Racism is unfortunately an issue in many fascists of life. I would clearly like to state that race is not an issue in my home and my children are taught to see equal human beings through their eyes.

My son has Autism so our family's a little more in tune with not judging people based on anything other than what you personally experience with that person as an individual.

Lastly, I would also like the Representatives to consider the opportunity the Mass Municipal Association is now trying to exploit by jamming their ambitions into this bill. They are jumping on the bandwagon not to support the cause but to tip the scales in their favor as far as negotiating, collectively bargaining and discipline however they see fit without recourse.

The Massachusetts House and Senate Memberships wouldn't legislate these changes for their own bodies please don't be fooled by the intentions of the MMA.

I'm a firefighter/emt, who has actively responded to numerous COVID-19 calls during the pandemic because that is my duty I have sworn to provide. (as my colleagues and I have done through Ebola, H1N1, triple E and all new challenges that come along) To now find my career under attack and my livelihood jeopardized because of a Minneapolis Police Officer is absurd, unfair and unjust.

Police and Fire jobs/careers are dynamic and individuals are expected to act to the best of their ability to mitigate the emergency even though that emergency maybe something they've never encountered or trained for.

Please tread lightly, these footprints could last generations.

Thank you for the Consideration.

To the members of the Legislature,

My name is Estelle D'Amico and I am the wife of a Massachusetts State Police Trooper. Thank you for taking the time to read this and for having a public forum to discuss the topic of police reform unlike the Senate. I urge you not to accept the Senate bill, which was done without public input, and rushed. Member of the State Police are not against police reform and believe like any profession there is always room for improvement. Most concerning from the bill from the Senate is the eroding of qualified immunity. Every government official in Massachusetts is covered by qualified or absolute immunity. To take this away from those in policing would be cruel. They are forced to make split second decisions to protect themselves and others from violent criminals. They should not have to worry about their financial livelihood every time they go to work. Qualified immunity does not shield them from illegal acts. When someone in police breaks the law, they are held accountable. It does protect them from frivolous lawsuits and provides peace of mind when performing a dangerous job. Those of you in the Legislature are protected by absolute immunity, a higher level of protection then police, for actions you take over the course of weeks and months. To strip protection from police for actions they are forced to make in seconds is wrong.

Furthermore, the State Police Association of Massachusetts put forward a request for several common-sense amendments to the Senate Bill that would give law enforcement a voice in reforming policing. To reform policing you must include those doing the job. They only ask for a voice in this process so that the final product benefits everyone. I have included the State Police Associates recommendations below for you and urge you to consider them.

Again, thank you for taking the time to hear my voice and I trust that the Legislature will provide a more balanced and thoughtful bill then the one passed through the Senate.

Respectfully,

Estelle D'Amico

48 - State Police Colonel - Filed by Senator Rush

This amendment seeks to retain the rank of Colonel coming from within the ranks of the MSP. It states that the Colonel could also fill the dual role as a Superintendent (as is the case today), and if a civilian Superintendent was to be appointed, it greatly increases the requirements of a Superintendent, and retains the position of Colonel from within the ranks of the MSP. Further, if such an outside appointment was to be made, this amendment would ensure that the appointee would have the basic elements required to command and operate a diverse organization such as ours and would double the minimum years' experience required from 10 to 20 years.

74 - Qualified Immunity - Filed by Senator Tran

This amendment seeks to amend the bill in SECTION 10 by striking subsection (c) of section 11I. The following would be struck - "In an action under this section, qualified immunity shall not apply to claims for 431 monetary damages except upon a finding that, at the time the conduct complained of occurred, 432 no reasonable defendant could have had reason to believe that such conduct would violate the 433 law."

Complimentary to this amendment is #137 (filed by Senator Velis), which also strikes the Qualified Immunity section and adds a special commission to study Qualified Immunity.

"Qualified immunity balances two important interests—the need to hold public officials accountable when they exercise power irresponsibly and the need to shield officials from harassment, distraction, and liability when they perform their duties reasonably." Pearson v. Callahan.

77 - Discipline Changes - Filed by Senator Tarr

This amendment moves to amend the bill in SECTION 18 by striking in line 621 the words "1 year" and replacing therewith- "45 days". This would allow for our officers to seek an appeal of an administrative suspension without pay within 45 days, not the 1 year as drafted. This is an important Due Process piece for our officers and grants the Department of State Police more than the required 30 days to complete their investigation.

114 - Representation on POSAC - Filed by Senator Rush

This Amendment move to amend the bill in SECTION 6, by striking lines 164-192 in Section 221 and inserting in place thereof:-

"Section 221. There shall be an independent police officer standards and accreditation committee within the executive office of public safety and security consisting of: 13 members appointed by the governor, 1 of whom shall be the Attorney General or her nominee, 1 of whom shall be the Colonel the Massachusetts State Police (or a sworn Officer designated by the Colonel), 1 of whom shall be the Commissioner of the Boston Police Department (or a sworn Officer designated by the Commissioner), 1 of whom shall be a chief of police of a mid-sized municipality who is a person of color to be nominated by the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association Incorporated, 1 of whom shall be the President of the Massachusetts Association of Minority Law Enforcement Officers, Inc., 1 of whom shall be the President of the State Police Association of Massachusetts, 1 of whom shall be the President of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association, 1 of whom shall be a sworn Police Officer nominated by the Massachusetts Law Enforcement Policy Group, 1 of whom shall be a retired judge, 1 of whom shall be a Professor of Criminal Justice from a Massachusetts College or University; 1 of whom shall be an expert in the field of use of force, 1 of whom shall be an expert in the investigation of firearms discharge; and 1 other member; provided, however, that non-law enforcement members shall have experience with or expertise in law enforcement practice and training, criminal law, or the criminal justice system. Appointments to the police officer standards and accreditation committee shall be for terms of 3 years and until their successors are appointed. Vacancies in the membership of the committee shall be filled by the original appointing authority for the balance of the unexpired term. Members of the police officer standards and accreditation committee shall be compensated for work performed for the police officer standards and accreditation committee at such rate as the secretary of administration and finance shall determine and shall be reimbursed for their expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties."

Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and I hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the over-representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Our criminal justice system is not immune to structural racism and I join you and all members in the great work needed to set things right. The unfortunate reality is that people of color are far more likely to be subjected to stop and frisk and more likely to get arrested for the same crimes committed by whites. Black youth are three times more likely to get arrested than their white peers and Black residents are six times more likely to go to jail in Massachusetts. Other systems where people of color experience racism are exacerbated, and in many ways legitimized, by the presence of a criminal record. Criminal records are meant to be a tool for public safety but they're more often used as a tool to hold communities of color back from their full economic potential. Expungement can be an important tool to rectify the documented systemic racism at every point of a young person's journey through and past our justice system.

Young adults have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, but that drops as they grow older and mature. The law, however, does not allow for anyone who recidivates but eventually desists from reoffending to benefit. Young people's circumstances and cases are unique. The law aptly gives the court the discretion to approve expungement petitions on a case by case basis, yet the law also categorically disqualifies over 150 charges. Anyone who is innocent of a crime should not have a record, but the current law doesn't distinguish between a dismissal and a conviction. It's for these three main reasons I write you to champion these clarifications. Now is the time to do it.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due for a variety of circumstances, and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, I am hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. Expungement for youth also may influence better mental health outcomes due to the decrease in negative police interactions, reduced perception of discrimination, and improved employment opportunities. (MIT. Health Impact Assessment July 2016)

I respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

* Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.

* Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

* Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed of the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism; remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

To House Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I am writing to you to express my concerns and absolute frustration with the police reform bills 2820 and 2800 that have been circulating around the House of Representatives as well as the Senate. First let me say that I am appalled to say the least on how Police Officers are being treated regarding this matter. Look at the numbers and you tell me if Massachusetts has a problem! Massachusetts officers are some of the best in the country and do their job to a high standard.

Let me start by saying Police officers are some of the most under appreciated men and women in this country and these two proposed bills prove it! How do you expect someone to do the job as a police officer which is already hard enough with no qualified immunity. How could law makers, leaders, and everyone else for that matter expect someone that already puts everything on the line to do so without protection from being sued. This bill will have so many unexpected consequences! We are not talking complete immunity rather just qualified immunity which means you must be acting in good faith. Being racist is not good faith That's plain and simple. So why is there such a push to remove a protection for our police officers? You can have accountability without taking away something that's a protective measure to these men and women.

We live in a society that puts athletes and musicians on a pedestal paying them millions while the men and woman of law enforcement, firemen and the military are risking their lives only to get shit on (lack of a better term). Why are we attacking the very men and women that protect us day in and day out? When is America going to wake up ? When are we going to learn that knee jerk reactions don't solve problems it makes them worse?

Lastly the unintended consequences of this bill will be ever lasting. We will lose not only great men and women in the profession, we will lose protection which should be afforded to them so that they can do their jobs and keep these streets safe! Where is the rush? This happened with the juvenile reform bill which tied the hands of law enforcement and still does to this day. Let's think before we act and get a real solution! Training officers is the real solution!

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Dear Senator,

My name is Paige Watson and I live at 111 Grove Street Randolph, MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Paige Watson

I also served in the United States Marine Corps prior to being a police officer. I am deeply troubled by the manner in which this process has been conducted. I also take great issue with the complete disrespect this profession has been subjected to. We take great pride everyday to go out there and do our job and make the city the safest best place to live it can be. We deeply care about our city and its residents. I would like to go in greater detail, but I will focus on this bill.

I have several issues with this bill to include the fact that it is an anti labor bill. Many of these working conditions we collectively bargained for in good faith. The fact that there is no due process. Every American is granted due process and you want to take that away from police officers. The issue of doing away with qualified immunity, and that we as a profession will not help make up the POSAC board. These issues are completely unacceptable.

I believe this bill is a very dangerous piece of legislation. I would also like you to think about the severe negative consequences this bill would have on the citizens of this Commonwealth. If you think that this bill would make our State safer or be in the best interest of its residents, I strongly suggest you think of all the negative impact it would have and vote No!

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Nelson Curral and I live in New Bedford MA. I work at Bristol County Sheriffs Office and am a Corrections Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Please consider re-evaluating this Bill. I agree with the ban of use of violence, but as a senior citizen living on my own I fear that my safety is in jeopardy. Hold officers and first responders accountable for their actions via choke holds, etc. but do not put my life in jeopardy because an officer won't give me CPR for fear of reprisal. Or a first responder who won't start an IV in an emergency if needed. If this passes, I will carry in my person and in my vehicle permission to use life saving treatment without fear of reprisal from me or my family.

My son is a firefighter/paramedic and a nurse. Please don't tie his hands. Respectfully,

Hi,

I am a resident of Boston, MA and I unequivocally support the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800). The movement that has taken hold of our country (and the world) in the past couple of months has proven that the time for change is now. More than ever before, people are hungry to see real and meaningful action taken by people in power. Simply put, it is time to eliminate qualified immunity, ban chokeholds, reallocate state funds to communities disproportionately impacted by the criminal justice system, and allow the Mass AG to file lawsuits against discriminatory police departments. Massachusetts needs to be at the forefront of passing progressive legislation to lead the way for the rest of the country.

Subject: S.2820

Good Evening

My name is Megan Anderson and I live at 111 Hillside Circle in Hanover. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer and the daughter of a retired Weymouth Police Officer. Growing up as the daughter of a Police Officer I don't really remember being worried about my father going off to work. It was a different world then. Police Officers were respected and appreciated for the job they did. As the wife of a Police Officer in today's world things are different. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "be careful". The last words our children say to their dad when he leaves are "be safe". In our world this "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do, not all wives need to say "be careful" and not all kids have to say "be safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget where I was when my husband got the initial call about Mike. I will never forget where I was when I learned that news that Mike had died. I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will never forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform.

Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have the some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Megan Anderson

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Dear Representative Naughton,
I hope this email finds you well.
First, I would like to thank you for your many years of service to the community. Your thoughtfulness and dedication is much appreciated and respected.
In the past several months the United States has dealt with tremendous upheaval. Every aspect of every citizens life has been impacted. We are facing challenging times socially, educationally, economically, and with access to healthcare. I feel this has brought to the surface many structural problems. One area of concern is the importance of recognizing the value of the disenfranchised; those who lack access to education, healthcare, housing and jobs. It is our job to recognize and address the structural problems that are leading to a collapse in society.
In order to create meaningful change we must take a critical look at ALL the forces that shape society and address each one. While police reform and standards should be examined, it is my belief the police reform presented is not the answer. There exists several fundamental flaws that would prohibit police officers from carrying out their duty safely and effectively. Specifically the loss of qualified immunity. This along with other recommendations, i.e no K9, no rubber bullets, no tear gas or pepper spray, and allowing people to interfere with police officers doing their duties if they see fit, will create a form of "defensive policing" that will undermine the ability of officers to make split second decisions. This is dangerous for all.
We ask men and women who serve across the state to risk their lives daily yet legislation is being presented that puts them at risk.
At no point has any elected official, that I am aware, stood up and recognized that Massachusetts has an educated, well trained police force. At no time, that I'm aware, has an elected official commended the professionalism, compassion, and dedication of the police throughout Massachusetts. It's been too easy to make police the enemy. Law enforcement officers deal with the most tragic, violent, gut wrenching events that affect many vulnerable people. We need to be supportive of the police and not target them with legislature that is based on a visceral reaction to a public tragedy. I strongly urge you to reject the proposal as presented.

Thanks you for your time,

I write to you today to express my strong opposition to the recently filed S.2820. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of this bill:

This bill authorizes for treble damages if a police officer is found to have submitted a false pay record. This would make police officers the ONLY public employees subject to this punishment. The courts will have a field day in overturning this.

This bill the POSAC Committee is granted broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations- even when the original law enforcement agency has conducted it's own investigation. The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment rights against self-incrimination (see Carney vs Springfield) and constitutional protections against "double-jeopardy".

Qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for the police officers we send out on patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot purchase a home, a car, obtain a credit card, or other things for the benefit of them and their families. Good luck with police recruitment.

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions
from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

I have been an EMT in the city of Waltham for just over 20 years. My husband is not only a decorated officer in Waltham but he is a minority. My husband is Hispanic and speaks both English and Spanish. We have devoted our lives and careers to public service. We have both worked extremely hard, my husband even more as english was not his first language. We were both born into extreme poverty and worked tirelessly to Become educated and make a better life for ourselves and our daughter. Can you imagine a Cuban and a girl born onto a farm without a bathroom is now living on Weston, ma. However if you vote to take qualified immunity away from public service employees you will be taking away from all we have worked hard for. Imagine an EMT does CPR on a patient. The patient lives but subsequently a rib was broken in the process of CPR. That patient can now sue that EMT such as myself in civil court.

Im asking you to chose me to speak as to why taking qualified immunity from us puts the public in harms way.

How could you not want to hear from someone that is an EMT with a 25 year veteran police officer husband that is a minority

It's so important for people to understand how this will affect us all.

Subject: Bill 2820 Testimony

To Whom It May Concern,

I am strongly opposed to many of the components of this bill. Qualified Immunity exists so that Officers who are acting in accordance with their agency's policies and procedures and using the appropriate actions/force based on the situation they are presented with are protected from civil liability. Qualified Immunity doesn't exist to protect officers violating their agency's P&P or using excessive force. I am also opposed to public databases regarding officer complaints.

Should Qualified Immunity disappear officers will no longer be proactive or try to apprehend suspects or violent persons for the very real risk of being sued personally. I honestly believe criminals will be emboldened with the knowledge an officer won't try to apprehend them or put their hands on them. Crime will rise and the innocent public will suffer. Results are already evident in many major cities where officers are taking a hands off approach like the public has called for. Now in those communities leaders are coming forward asking for anti-crime units to be put back in place and more law enforcement.

In law enforcement, unlike many other professions, people can often be left unhappy when an officer is doing "good work". Good work means writing tickets to speeders hoping they slowdown in the future and prevent major crashes resulting in injuries or death. Good work is arresting the spouse who just beat their significant other- even though neither want the police to make an arrest. An Officer does it knowing the next beating could be their last one if they are killed. Good work might mean using lethal force to save someone else's life or your own. Does any officer want to be put in these situations? The answer is no. Sadly, until every citizen abides by the law, police officers need to respond accordingly.

By taking away Qualified Immunity speeders won't be stopped for fear of accusations of bias or profiling. Batterers won't be arrested for fear the couple will accuse the police of using excessive force, even if the appropriate amount was used. A lawsuit could be filed against the officer even if it was found the police acted accordingly. Officers and innocent citizens will die at higher rates when an Officer hesitates to use the appropriate amount of force in a lethal situation (or perceived lethal situation- the police are not psychics) for fear of their family losing their home and savings... or even just being portrayed in the media as a murderer. I believe Sgt. Michael Chesna lost his life and an innocent woman in 2018 because of the fear of using excessive force as the perpetrator was "only" armed with a rock.

Good officers doing good work and being proactive will generate complaints. I have been a police officer for 12 years in the community I grew up in. Every day I try to serve and protect those in my community to the best of my abilities. I truly care about people and often I am kept up at night wondering if the victims I work with will be okay upon my next shift in. In my career I have generated complaints because people were not happy they were pulled over, placed into protective custody for their own safety when they were highly impaired, and felt discriminated against due to their mental health when I assisted an elderly couple get restraining orders against their abusive adult child struggling with their mental health. Having a database available to the public will place a target on officers more than there already is. It is very easy to find addresses available to the public online. Showing and Officer has a certain amount of complaints will give the false perception the officer is a bad one.

In closing, I respectfully request you do not remove Qualified Immunity and do not have a public database regarding officer complaints as this will jeopardize Officers and their family's safety more than it already is. Thank you for taking the time to read my testimony.

To Committee Members;

I am a Retired State Trooper, VERY PROUD OF MY SERVICE, and live in East Falmouth. The Senate passed S2800, An Act to Reform Police Standards and Shift Resources to Build a More Equitable, Fair and Just Commonwealth that Values Black Lives and Communities of Color with 7 members not voting for the bill as it was passed.

These national incidents of Police aggression did NOT occur in Massachusetts, and this legislation hastily drafted and introduced in several weeks (not months or years), does not reflect the good work that law enforcement does here in Massachusetts.

I'm reaching out to express my dismay, disappointment and strong opposition to Senate bill.2800.

It is now in the House and as a past public servant, please do NOT PASS this Bill. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of this bill:

In Section 6, this bill the POSAC Committee is granted broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations- even when the original law enforcement agency has conducted its own investigation. The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment rights against self-incrimination (see Carney vs Springfield) and constitutional protections against "double-jeopardy".

In Section 10, qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for the police officers we send out on patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot purchase a home, a car, obtain a credit card, or other things for the benefit of them and their families. Good luck with police recruitment.

Additionally, this bill re-writes sections of the 2018 Criminal Justice Reform Bill (see record expungement and corrections) as well as the Hands-Free law the legislature just adopted. Those bills were signed into law after the normal and appropriate legislative process of filing a bill, holding public hearings to accept testimony from citizens, and thoughtful debate over a span of many months. It is inconceivable that the Massachusetts State Senate would attempt this "sleight of hand" trick to re-write those laws with this rushed, bill that will be lightly debated (in the COVID-19 remote sessions) and done behind a smoke-screen of hurried "exigency".

I am a proud voter on Cape Cod, severed over 20 years dedicated to the people of Massachusetts and I ask that you reconsider what the Senate passed and PLEASE, PLEASE DO NOT VOTE HASTILY on these measures for the reasons stated above, and others.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully,

William P. Lennon

That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ?????????????????? : Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ????????????? : The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ?????????????????????? : While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: Police Reform

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Scott McAdoo and I live at 278 Waverly Road, North Andover Massachusetts 01845. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer with 12 years on the job. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police Reform Bill

To Whom It May Concern,

As a citizen of the Commonwealth, I would like to voice my displeasure with the Bill that the Senate recently passed in regards to police reform. My hope is that the House of Representatives will take a more thorough look at the current state of policing in Massachusetts. I believe that if this is done, it will reveal that police officers in this state are highly educated and trained, use appropriate levels of force, and are far from being racist. The Bill passed by the Senate creates unnecessary burdens on police officers that could result in hesitation on the part of the officer in the performance of their duties. Hesitation can be the difference between life and death to an officer.

Subject: Police Reform 52820

Dear Representative Michlewitz, Representative Cronin, all members of the house and Governor Baker:

As I single mother, I am terrified of the direction our country is going. The death of George Floyd was evil, and all of the individuals need to be held accountable. However, this atrocity happened in Minneapolis, not in Massachusetts.

Massachusetts has an excellent record in terms of our police officers. Boston's own commissioner is Black. We should be a model for other states to imitate. Could there be more training, probably. I think all organizations, both in the public and private sectors benefit from ongoing training.

I am especially nervous about the immunity clause and our limiting their ability to use certain tools to keep them and the public safe. If they are deprived of immunity, and there are protests or riots in the future, will a politician, who I understand will still be protected by immunity, be at the front of the police line to determine what tactics and force may be used? If not, will officers be willing to work a protest/riot? Looking at the initial riots in Boston, from the comfort of my couch, was terrifying to watch. I was shocked. My son (13) and I were afraid for the police and Boston. We live in Marshfield, and still don't feel safe going to Boston.

In the past month, I know 20 people, who initially were against guns, take a gun safety class to allow them to get a license to carry. Now, I wonder if I need to to get a license. Never in a million years would I think that would ever be seen as a necessity to keep my son and I safe.

Prior to rushing to appease a segment of society, I beg you To find the strength to be true leaders. Gather all key stakeholders to sit down and evaluate and analyze the data and come up with a solution. I believe too the racial issue is systemic. Therefore instead of just looking at police reform, look at the entire issue and find real solutions.

It seems like so many politicians have lost their way, and are afraid to lead. Wouldn't it be wonderful if not just the Massachusetts police, but the leadership of the Mass House could show our country and the world how to make meaningful change that will bring desired results, rather than a placing a bandaid on a much larger problem?

Please be the voice of reason!

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Subject: S.2800

As your constituent, William T. Rock, Walpole, MA, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to S.2800 which was passed by the Senate. I ask that you oppose this bill as constituted when it is debated in the House of Representatives.

I also ask that it be debated in the light day and not voted on in the dark of night.

The bill is ill conceived and politically driven. We agree that police reform is important and needs to be addressed but passing a poor bill for the sake of passing a bill based is not in the best interest of the Commonwealth.

This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. It will cause many good officers to leave due to the new burdens and make it harder to recruit individuals into law enforcement.

S 2800 establishes a review committee with overly broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations. The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment rights against self-incrimination (see Carney vs Springfield) and constitutional protections against "double-jeopardy."

Qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for the police officers we send out on patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot purchase a home, a car, obtain a credit card, or other things for the benefit of them and their families. Good luck with police recruitment.

In addition S 2800 failed to follow the normal and appropriate legislative process of holding public hearings to accept testimony from citizens and experts. I ask that you vote NO when S.2800 comes to the House of Representatives for the reasons stated above, and others.

"We cannot support a measure which takes handcuffs off drug dealers and gang bangers and puts them on police, allows criminal records to disappear while tearing open police personnel files and allows criminals to appeal for monetary damages while denying police due process to appeal for their job," said James Machado, executive director of the Massachusetts Police Association.

Dear Members of the HWM Judiciary Committee,
I urge your support for the inclusion of the following measures, despite any predictable pushback from police unions and the like.
We need our police and we appreciate that the majority of officers are full of good intention and the desire to be peacekeepers. These these proposed reforms are fundamental to the restoration of trust, particularly in communities of color and immigrant communities. Incorporating these measures will result in more effective, as well as more humane, policing practices:

HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety (State Representative Liz Miranda

sgvpuxFJPhOGSVlEGDdi-8TK5zMvvS7iKlk&e=> ) bans chokeholds, no knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

HB.3277, An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth (State Representative Michael Day) which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

Subject: S.2800 Comments

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to you regarding the S.2800 bill being considered for vote in the House. I believe it is critical that this bill be brought to the House floor for debate and voting. I also believe the legislation captured in this bill are critical to the health and safety of both police and community members alike. For far too long we have asked law enforcement to deal with those who have been failed by the system. They have been asked to walk into situations they are wildly unprepared nor ill-equipped to deal with on a daily basis. Additionally, our community members have been deeply harmed and even killed as a result of an organization being given too much power and too little oversight and accountability. It is unimaginable to say that the status quo is working for anybody. With the huge body of research and years of work to bring the changes we see included in S.2800 available, I believe it is acceptable for our government to work quickly to finally make changes. I do not believe any delay is warranted nor do I believe that this will be the last time we must revise our approach to community safety and law enforcement. This is only the beginning. But just like anything, we will have opportunities to revise it and refine it as we need. But we know the changes to things like use of force standards, police certification, use of faulty facial recognition technology, and refinement to qualified immunity are critical to preventing further harm to all. Additionally, by allocating funding to programs that are trained and equipped to address so many of the cases that police officers are asked to address, we can alleviate the uncertainty and room for error our offices encounter. Let's set everyone up for success.

We are watching and observing who responds with action during this time. Never doubt it.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: Written Testimony for House Hearing on Senate Bill S.2800

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due to the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools, organized retail theft and terrorists.
2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.
3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model to use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards, policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and will have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights. That conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards.

Subject: Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kamaron Washburn and I live at 141 Elm st. Blackstone MA 01504. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Officer Kameron Washburn

Subject: Bill S2820

To the Massachusetts House of Representatives,

My name is Karah Piscitelli and I have been a lifetime resident of Millbury. My husband of 4 1/2 years has been a police officer for the city of Worcester for the past 7 years and for the town of Oakham for 3 years before that.

I have personally seen the impact this "war against police" has had on him. He no longer feels the support from not only the political leaders in this country, but even from many people in his life. Lifelong friendships of his have ended simply because he is a police officer. He and the rest of the good, honest police officers are seen as the enemy in these people's eyes and this is taking a toll on them.

Bill S2820 will not make these police officers feel any more supported if passed. Not only will some of what's included in this bill affect the police officers, but it will be affecting their families. I believe eliminating qualified immunity will only discourage police officers even more than they already are. What police officer will want to risk everything they have in life to make an arrest that could potentially lead to a civil lawsuit? Police officers will respond to any call they need to respond to and simply leave it at that. Any kind of proactive policing will be thrown out the window in fear of getting caught up in something that could have been avoided.

I think we can all agree that some reform is necessary in law enforcement and the judicial system alike. There are some good points included in Bill S2820, but there are too many included that will have a lasting negative impact on police officers like my husband.

This is why I'm asking that you reject Bill S2820 that the Senate passed. There is a better way to hold police officers responsible for their actions and I believe that a revised reform bill can be agreed on without having to take the protection of qualified immunity away from law enforcement.

Thank you for your time,
Karah Piscitelli

Subject: Police Reform

My name is Joan Poulin and I live in Raynham. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the commonwealth EVERY.SINGLE.DAY. As the House considers legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity-legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability- egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution.

Due process and qualified immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the legislature not disturb these standards- certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate in the legislature and in the court of public opinion. We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

I for one support law enforcement and hope you have the courage to do the same, unlike your counterparts in the Senate.

Thank you for your consideration

Subject: Police reform bill 2820

Chair Aaron Michelewitz, Chair Claire Cronin,

I would like to express my opposition to the proposed bill S2820. This bill has serious implications that will negatively affect Massachusetts Police Officers and their families. I have been a Police Officer for 24 years, and duties include department use of force instructor, firearms instructor and less lethal weapons (taser, OC, baton and Pepperball OC launcher).

My concerns with the bill are;

#1 . Qualified Immunity - This bill makes it more difficult to get Qualified Immunity (essentially turning it into a fact issue to be decided at trial, as opposed to a legal issue a judge could weed out early) - but - the real sneaky part is that you removed an element from the State Civil Rights Act, and also provided a provision for attorneys fees to be awarded to plaintiffs. These two changes are huge - will create tons of new state law claims against public employees to be brought in the state courts - as opposed to Federal Courts - where they will cost employees and Cities and Towns so much.

#2 Indemnification - Some legislators are pointing to the lack of changes in the State Indemnification Law (GL c. 258) as a reason that officers should just not worry - suggesting they will still be defended against all of this expected onslaught.

First - GL c. 258 discriminates against municipal officers. Indemnification for municipal employees (police, fire, local officials, etc.) is discretionary. They do not have to do it. On the other hand, people like legislators, and the State Executive branch enjoy mandatory defense and indemnification for up to $1,000,000.00 if they violate the civil rights laws

Also - the Massachusetts State Police have a special statute of their own - GL c. 258, Sec. 9A - that provides mandatory defense and indemnification for up to $1,000,000.00 for civil rights violations as long as they are not willful or malicious. MUNICIPAL OFFICERS ARE THE ONLY ONES WORKING WITHOUT A NET.

3. Due Process Rights - Obviously there is so much wrong with this bill - but the idea that our careers may be put into the hands of a inherently political board, mostly non-law enforcement, many with anti-police agendas, and of the law enforcement is mostly management, is alone disheartening enough.

First - That board should be made up of a majority of law enforcement professionals, with representatives of management and labor, with appropriate and limited non-law enforcement representation. JUST LIKE EVERY OTHER PROFESSIONAL BOARD IN THE COMMONWEALTH.

Second - the way the bill defines a "sustained complaint" is that it views it as final once the CITY makes its decision. It does not allow for an unbiased review by an arbitrator or civil service - both rights which most have relied upon forever. In fact, both bargaining law and civil service law acknowledge that the city level process is biased - and more, even says that employees have no right to a disinterested or unbiased or even full hearing at the city level. THE REASON FOR THIS IS THAT THE LAW PROVIDES THESE APPEALS TO ARBITRATION AND CIVIL SERVICE. So - with this bill, officers will be stuck with only the permissibly biased, final decisions of local officials. This cannot stand. Just cause protects good officers - not bad officers. Every good public manager and Chief knows that if they follow correct process, they are able to remove unfit officers.

Third - the Governor's bill did not allow the Board to do its own investigations into complaints, and to be a place where people could complain directly. The Senate changed this and now allows this political board to ignore local IA findings clearing officers, to ignore arbitrators and civil service officers, to ignore DA findings of justified force, etc - and simply do their own thing. This is wrong. This review board should be required to use the facts and findings of unbiased officials, should not be independently creating their own fact findings (which are insulated from appeal other than a legal "abuse of discretion" type appeal). This independent function should be removed and it should be consistent with the Governor's bill in that the board has a review function only.

The entire reason that public employees need just cause protections and appeals are to protect against political influence - just like what is going on now. Will this bill be taking this protection away from other municipal workers? from teachers? from lawmakers?

Policing is a difficult and challenging career at the best of times. Police are called to fix problems in minutes that took years to create. We are judged from the moment we put the uniform on. Someone is always unhappy with the outcome, but we do our best to handle problems and keep people safe.?

This bill shows every Police Officer that the law makers do not know what we do, how we do it and they do not support us. My fellow Officers and I wear body armor, and must carry blood stopping agents and tourniquets in the very real chance that we are shot or stabbed. In the last five year, 6 Massachusetts Police Officers have been killed in the line of duty. In 2020 alone, 65 Police Officers have been killed in the line of duty nationwide. That's a 14 % increase over last year.

No other profession has to deal with the hate and rage that Police Officers have to deal with on a daily basis. Bill 2800 and 2820 show that the elected officials are caving to mob and not listening to the quiet majority and the professional Police Officers.

Police reform is needed. Police Officers are tasked with handling many issues that we are not equipped to deal with. As a commonwealth, we must move forward together.

If this bill is passed crime will increase. Officers will leave the force and the candidate pool for new officers will be drastically diminished. Anyone who decides to stay will not be proactive. Why would anyone join a career where the pay is minimal, with more calls to defund Police, they could die in the line of duty, be sued by the suspects they arrest and the elected officials on Beacon Hill do not support them.? I can't answer that and being a Police Officer is a job that I love.

All Police Officers are in support of having a POST system. Training is always needed and welcomed. Certifying Officers is long overdue in Massachusetts. But the bill is misguided in its intention and it needs serious work.

I ask that you table this bill and bring career, professional Police Officers to the discussion to have reasonable and long-lasting reform.

Sincerely,

Roger Downing

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Bill S2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Alex Elias and I am a constituent of yours and a Dennis Police Officer. I am writing to you today to pass on my thoughts regarding police reform which is currently in debate. I began my career in 2005 as a summer police officer on Martha's Vineyard and wanted nothing more than to become a full time officer in Massachusetts. Through hard work and determination, I fulfilled that dream. Throughout my career, I have worked with some of the most caring, thoughtful and professional men and women you could ever meet. These officers go to work every day to help the community they serve and they do it proudly.

Since the horrific death of George Floyd, the country has taken a turn for the worse. While we have seen patriotism through protests and marches, we have also witnessed destruction, riots, and increases in violent crime nationwide. This is heart breaking to watch as I truly do my best to help our community here on Cape Cod and want the best for my country.

Looking over the proposed bill regarding police reform, I have many concerns that I wish to share with you. My biggest fear is this bill, if passed, will be the final straw in ceasing all effective police recruitment. The national media has been overly critical of all police actions as of late, leaving officers with the feeling that we are under attack. There is very little vocal support for our profession as a whole, regardless of the selfless and heroic work performed every day that garners no attention. This undoubtedly leaves potential police candidates second guessing their career choice. I know of at least one town in my area that received no applicants with a job posting from this past Fall. These recent events, and bills such as this one, will do nothing to help that. My agency and all others on Cape Cod have struggled to attract candidates and seen test applications plummet, leaving potential candidate pools smaller than ever in my career. While I attempted to get hired as a full time officer, I waited in lines with hundreds or even thousands of others who paid over $100 just for the opportunity to take a test knowing only one or two positions would be available. Unfortunately, those days are over. We no longer have the interest of young men and woman who want to serve their communities as police officers. Current events are only making this worse.

Passing this bill will do nothing to improve policing. In fact, it will only make policing worse. With fewer qualified candidates, cities and towns will be forced to hire second, third and fourth tier candidates to fill vacancies. This will only hurt the community we serve, accelerate the retirement of veteran officers and lead to experienced officers seeking new career paths. I personally know several good police officers who already have an exit plan. They no longer wish to do a job that is as dangerous and heartbreaking as ours. These are good men and women who will be missed by their cities and towns when they leave. These are not the police officers to drive away. These are officers who we should be pointing to and using as positive examples. Unfortunately, with little support from the public and elected officials alike, they are unwilling to risk their lives, their family's safety and their mental wellbeing any longer. Locally, two officers from my agency recently resigned and left policing all together. These are issues that are not just in the cities, but right here on Cape Cod.

I can assure you that a combination of good experienced police officers leaving the job and fewer qualified candidates taking the job will create severe issues throughout the Commonwealth. Like all officers, I do not want to work with bad cops. I do not want to work with cops who are racist, homophobic, or sexist. Nobody hates a bad cop more than a good cop. That is not something I will tolerate. As a Field Training Officer who is entrusted to train and evaluate new hires, I do not accept attitudes like this. I instill only the best in new officers and expect them to enforce the laws justly and without bias. Furthermore, I do not want to be training anything but the best. These new officers will be working side by side with me and eventually take over for me some day. I do not want to see the hard work of good police officers wasted if lesser recruits are all we have to choose from.

I do not want the good cops who do not fall into that category throw their hands in the air and say, "I'm done. No one supports us." Unfortunately, that is what is happening. As a society, we are in the process of weakening our police departments and ultimately our communities. All we have to do is look at the increase in violent crime in Boston, Atlanta, New York and Chicago, just to name a few.

I am not against police reform. I support reform in the right way and not in a kneejerk reaction to current events. We must all meet to discuss what is appropriate, reasonable and realistic in reform. We must identify tangible issues within our profession and find a solution. A bill that simply lists politically motivated changes and paints the hundreds of police agencies across this state with one broad stroke, in an election year, will not truly make any difference. I think most people who think about that for a minute would agree.

I support better training for police officers. However, the reality is, the Municipal Police Training Committee has requested additional funding for years with almost no support from Beacon Hill. A surcharge was added onto citations issued to motorists, however this failed to be adequate. The police are simply not given enough funding for training. Demands for new training to be added to police curriculum cannot happen under the current funding model. Important classes are already cut short and most officers do not receive any hands on training for years at a time. How can you stay proficient when you are not provided with the necessary training by the state? Perhaps if more hands on training was provided, fewer use of force incidents would be necessary in the first place. Officers would be more confident in their abilities and not be forced to resort to higher levels of force in some cases

People are demanding that we receive training regarding the mentally ill and de-escalation. We do. What we do not receive is the necessary support in the field when we interact with the mentally ill who often times need to be talked down. We do our best, but the state has failed in providing us with the resources and support necessary 24/7. All police officers would agree we need help. We need mental health professionals with us in the field. What we do not need is the current system where we are expected to solve a crisis when a number of other agencies specializing in that issue have not solved it themselves.

I would ask that you please reconsider changes to qualified immunity as this has added immense stress upon officers. We are fearful that our families will be unduly attacked with frivolous lawsuits. Our families already go through enough and do not deserve added stress and fear. The fact is, qualified immunity did nothing to stop the killing of George Floyd. The officers involved were arrested and charged even though qualified immunity was still in place. That proves the current system works. There is no need to change it just for change sake.

I would also ask that you reconsider the makeup of the proposed POSAC board. With the immense responsibility this board would have, we need law enforcement professionals making up the bulk of the membership. Please do not misunderstand what I am asking. I do not say this because I want bad cops to the protected. I say this because no one knows what police officers face every day besides other police officers. We must be judged reasonably and not by those who are biased against us from the beginning. I ask that more law enforcement officers be included in the board to work with the civilians named to the board for more effective and fair results.

Finally, please strongly consider all parts of this bill which change how we can do our job. We can already look at other areas in the country which has changed what police are allowed to do. Crime is rising. Police officers either cannot or are fearful of intervening before crime occurs. This is sure to help drive crime rates up and eventually fear of crime by citizens. Please understand there is a difference between proactive policing based on statistics and facts and poor policing that we are trying to eliminate. We should not end the use of proven police tactics. We should push bad cops out of the job so they cannot use these good tactics for bad reasons.

I realize this has been a long email and thank you for your time. I understand you are busy and have a number of other emails and phone calls regarding countless issues. I just ask that you honestly consider the effectiveness of this bill and the unintended consequences if it passes before you and your colleagues vote. I would be more than happy to speak further to you regarding the current state of law enforcement at any time if you wanted.

Thank you for your service to our community.

Respectfully,

Alex Elias

Subject: Reform bill

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Rep. Michlewitz and Rep. Cronin,

My name is Joshua Tierney, and I am a sixteen year law enforcement veteran, currently employed by the Newburyport Police Department, and a resident of the 1st Essex District. I am writing in opposition to bill S2820 being brought before the General Court.

While I concede that all aspects of our governmental functions should regularly be examined and improved, I fear that many aspects of this bill are shortsighted, motivated by political expediency, inequitably punish frontline police officers who serve our communities and put their personal safety at risk, and in turn, hinder our ability to help those who cannot help themselves.

While there have been, and will continue to be protests in my community, I have received many messages of "thank you" and "it's not fair what they are doing to you," while on duty, from individuals who want to live their day-to-day lives and feel safe in their community. While these individuals may not be the loudest voices, they are constituents as well. They vote too.

I implore the committee members in their consideration of this bill to consider the long term effects on both the police officers in the field, and the safety of the public at large. Please detach from the expedient emotional response and consider the totality of the circumstances of this bill and its effects that, in many ways, will reverse decades of professional policing improvements in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Thank you for your consideration.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Dear Representative Committee Members,

My name is Patrick Browning and I live in Boston. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

?The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

?Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police officers in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

?The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in laborrelations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Pat Browning

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives,

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous.

Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz-

I am writing in support of S.2820, the police reform bill recently passed by the Senate. While I believe reforms ultimately need to be taken further, I would support the House passing this bill as-is in order to make some progress on the issue as soon as possible. I am sure there will need to be several rounds of police reform instituted, and this is only the first.

I am in favor of many aspects of the bill, the most important of which, to me, are these three:

- limits on qualified immunity
- prohibition on nondisclosure agreements in misconduct settlements
- moving funding from policing and prisons to communities

I'm also in favor of the following:

- duty to intervene when witnessing misconduct
- limits on use of force

- de-escalation training (and requirement to de-escalate)
- requirement to track racial information for police interactions
- requirement of civilian approval for purchase of military equipment
- moratorium on the use of facial surveillance technology
- appointment of a state police colonel from outside the state police
- state-wide training standards
- jail "diversion" programs
- local control over the use of school "resource officers"
- expanded possibilities for clearing juveniles' records
- prohibition on decertified officers working in corrections

To the House Judiciary Committee,
My name is Hallie Joslyn Strupp Allen. I am a resident of Andover (30 Rutgers Road). I am writing today to urge you to preserve the essential reforms that are being proposed in Senate bill S2820, including:

- * creating an independent and primarily civilian body to oversee police certification and training standards, which provides an important checks and balances system on a body that is currently imbued with too much power, authority, and immunity;
- * setting limits on qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages (though this measure needs to go farther and completely eliminate qualified immunity);
- * taking steps to reduce the school-to-prison pipeline, which threatens the very fabric of our community by criminalizing youth behavior and forcing individuals into lifelong interactions with an unjust and inequitable system;
- * establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to begin to realign the inordinately disproportionate funding of the police and prisons and to reinvest in our communities.

I also strongly urge you to look closely at where the Senate bill falls short. You, the honorable members of the House, have an opportunity and an obligation to strengthen this bill and to enact real and lasting reform. Please take this opportunity to ABOLISH qualified immunity. As the notable practitioner of restorative justice Danielle Sered has written, "Impunity guts legitimacy, and so any effort to bolster the legitimacy of law enforcement will require that its members be held to at least as high a standard of behavior as that of the people they are authorized to police." Similarly, I beg of you to pass an outright ban on chokeholds and the use of tear gas; the current language does not go far enough to protect Massachusetts citizens from unwarranted police brutality. Finally, please strongly consider lifting the cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund. Let's allow for substantial, neither nominal, temporary, nor limited reinvestment in our communities. For far too long, we have spent millions of dollars to militarize the police against our own people. It's time we do better.

Thank you for your consideration and for the work you continue to do to help our Commonwealth enact real, just, and lasting change.

Hallie Joslyn Strupp Allen

Representatives of the Commonwealth,

You have a great task in front of you regarding Bill S2820. I corresponded with a number of senators and thanked them for their efforts, both before and after the bill was passed. I would ask the House of Representatives to do more. You already are, by listening to members of the public voice their concerns. I am asking you to take a closer look at S2820, because in it's current form, is no friend to first responders. I can say that, because I have been a Boston Police officer for more than 34 years. The bill is going to affect many people across the state and I can't speak for them, but what I can say, is the current uptick in crime recently in Boston, unfortunately may be the new normal if S2820 passes in the House of Representatives in its current form. No one is against improving law enforcement with new and better tools and training. But my experience tells me that S2820 was pushed through the Senate for political reasons with direct correlation to the current state of the nation. Again no one is against reform - good reform, S2820 in its current form does not hit that benchmark. I urge you to look beyond the current climate and promote a bill that works for all.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is Anthony Mastrapasqua and I live at 20 Memorial st. Baldwinville, MA. I work for The Massachusetts Department of Correction at MCI Shirley as a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Anthony Mastrapasqua

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, the members of the House Ways and Means Committee, and the members of the Judiciary Committee,

My name is Errick Jersey of Medford, MA and I am writing to request that you pass S.2820, An Act To Reform Police Standards and Shift Resources to Build a More Equitable, Fair, and Just Commonwealth that Values Black Lives and Communities of Color.

I am a white man, and I have enjoyed extraordinary privilege in my interactions with the Boston Police Department over the 16 years I have lived and worked in the greater Boston area. I know that my experience is a reflection of my skin color and apparent class, which means that even though I can be loud and physically intimidating due to my height and strength, I have never had to be concerned that I would be treated with anything other than the utmost respect for my life and rights by the Boston Police Department.

I also know from first-hand accounts from friends and loved ones that people of color in the Boston community do not receive that same respect.

Boston loves to celebrate itself as a liberal bastion, but we have some of the most segregated schools and neighborhoods in the country. Our racism is cloaked in pity and condescension. We do not provide equal opportunities or access to people of color in this city, but congratulate ourselves for not showing the overt racism of the Deep South that I moved here from so long ago.

A massive part of that is the practices of the Boston Police Department. We have poured resources into the BPD, giving them the kinds of armor and weapons we should only see in the frontlines of war, not on our streets. We have given them tear gas, which isn't even legal in war! And they've used it on unarmed, peaceful protesters! All this while crime has declined overall over the decades. There is no excuse.

The least we can do is pass S.2820, and work towards a Boston we can be proud of, where people of color are truly welcome, and given the opportunities to be lifted by this wealthy, liberal city, where we have held them down in the past.

Sincerely and with utmost respect,

Dear Committee,
I strongly oppose the police reform bill (2800). This bill makes it very difficult for police to do their job. It makes police very vulnerable to frivolous lawsuits.
It creates too much red tape, waste and oversight. It will cost too much and the taxpayers will be ultimately on the hook.
The de-escalation restraints are troublesome. The police need to be able to control crowds more than ever given that many cities were on fire one month ago.
It's a shame that this bill was "rammed" through the process. The committee did not even take into account Mr. Crispin and his arguments against the bill.
Please do not let this bill go any further. Give the taxpayers who are also VOTERS some say in the process.
Boston Police have been paramount in coming to the rescue of the city residents time and time again. Who was running toward the bombs on Boylston Street? Who found the terrorists that planted those bombs?
Please get rid of this bill.
Boston is not Minneapolis and never has been.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Jacqueline Thibault and I live at 29 wildwood ave, Worcester, ma. I work at MCI-Concord and am a Sargent with the Ma DOC. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

?????????????????????????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

?????????????????????????????????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

?????????????????????????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Jacqueline Thibault

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police reform bill S.2820

Good evening,

My name is Edward Santiago, I live in Worcester, MA. I normally don't get involved in politics but this bill S.2820 affects my family in a personal way. My son is a law enforcement officer and I'm asking for your support in defeating this piece of legislation. I'm not sure if I'm too late to ask for your support in this endeavor but I figure that if I didn't at least try I would not be protecting my son's right to preform his duties without the fear of being prosecuted because he made a millisecond life or death decision that may change his life forever.

My son is a good man who chose to be a law enforcement officer and I'm extremely proud of his decision to put on the badge and represent the men and woman in blue to protect his community. Every time he puts on his uniform he doesn't know if it will be the last time he does. I am a registered democratic who has voted with the best intentions to help put the best representatives that I feel will best represent my views. At this time I ask that you find it in your heart to vote this bill down in it's current state and help rewrite it so that it not only protects the men and women who represent our law enforcement community but the public as a whole.

Please let me know if there is something I can do to help you reach your support for defeating this piece of legislation.

Thank you for your time and I look forward to starting a dialogue with you on this matter..

Sincerely;

Edward Santiago

Subject: Extremely concerned resident and law enforcement family

Dear Representative Michlewitz and Representative Cronin,

My name is Angela Kuzemczak, and I am reaching out to you as a concerned citizen, educator, mother, and wife of a law enforcement officer in the state of Massachusetts.

This year has been truly difficult for my family for so many reasons. My husband is a US Navy veteran, and also a patrol officer in Winchester, Massachusetts. He is a good man with a heart of gold. His favorite stories from work are the ones where he does something to bring a smile to a child's face, or when a resident genuinely thanks him for his help. Often he will tell me how by showing the lights on his cruiser a disabled child will light up with joy, and the parent tells him: "you've just made my son's day". That is my husband. He went into this job to help people, as he did the Navy. He did so knowing full well that it could be at the sacrifice of not coming home to our family, especially our young son, who is four years old.

I am an educator. I have been teaching for over 12 years now in the public schools. As such I know and recognize when there is a need for reform and change. I also know how reform and change take time. I am greatly concerned that the bill passed by the state Senate has been done in haste and hasn't given the adequate amount of time necessary to truly get input from all sides.

As the wife of a law enforcement officer, and an educator, I know change needs to happen. I want there to be change. I want that for both my friends and students who have suffered racial discrimination, but especially so I don't have to fear for my husband's life or the livelihood of my family. Several parts of the bill have frightened me to the point where I am literally thinking of moving out of Massachusetts, to protect my family. I have lived here my whole life. This is the first time I have ever been so scared. My main concerns are:

1. The loss of qualified immunity, which will open up the possibility of frivolous lawsuits that could cause us to lose everything. Including the home we worked so hard to get. We live paycheck to paycheck as public workers; to have that protection taken from us would bring us to our knees.

2. The bill seemingly takes away almost every option of non-lethal use of force. I beg of you and the other representatives to argue for appropriate items for non-lethal use of force to be allowed, as doing so will be beyond detrimental.

3. The elimination of no knock warrants gives potential suspects a 15 second opportunity to arm themselves, therefore putting our officers at an immediate risk of their lives. This has most recently been seen in the news following the death of two Texas police officers that were responding to a domestic disturbance call.

4. The suggestion for an online database where incidents are made public, including the particular officer, puts a direct target on the back of my family. More than my husband's life, I have to now fear for my son and my own.

I have several other concerns but these are just the four that literally keep me awake at night.

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin, I am a registered democrat, my concern here is personal, and not related to the politics of today. I donated to Senator Elizabeth Warren during her primary campaign. Yet in times like these, I feel abandoned by my fellow democrats. For the first time in my whole life I am considering registering as an independent. If the people in my party won't hear the voices of those literally involved in law enforcement, how can I identify with them anymore?

I assure you, the phrase; "no one hates a bad cop more than a good cop" is true. Yet, my husband, who has a heart of gold (I'm sure Tillie would attest to that, she's known us since his Navy days), has come home recently in tears. People look at him as a demon. A woman slowed her car as he was directing traffic during a medical aid and called him a "fat pig" and said, "I hope you die." How could I ever explain that to my son? The acronym "ACAB" (All cops are bastards) was painted in a church parking lot where my husband sits on duty. It was deliberate. He sees it on every shift as do his colleagues. I saw it the other week when I brought him lunch, and for the first time I couldn't get my son out of the car to say hi because I didn't want him to ask about it.

I'm not saying there is no need for reform. I am saying it is being rushed. If it passes as is, we will lose numerous amounts of good men and women who took their oath in good faith. I fear for the quality of officers who would continue the job when essentially they have no protection. If true change and reform are to be made, all parties must get together at the table and discuss.

Thank you for reading and for your attention to this matter. I'm more than happy to speak with you if you would like.

Stay safe and healthy,

Sincerely,

Angela Kuzemczak

Subject: Testimony for Police Reform Bill

Dear Representative,

My name is Kylie Byrne and I live in South Boston. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

?The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

?Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

?The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in laborrelations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely, Kylie Byrne

I am a resident of the city of Brockton and I am terrified to even think about what defunding the police will do for my city and the safety of its residents. Illegally obtained Guns are found on our streets weekly, arrests are made daily of people who simply cannot follow the rules of our society. If something major and dangerous were to happen here, I want a trained officer to use his department issued AR15 IF NEED BE. Civilian workers should not be called on to respond to mental health issues, these situations can be so dangerous! Having someone hired for an agency with little to no experience and taking on potentially disastrous emergency calls regarding mental health? It should be a no. Police are always trained here and always held accountable. Keep going massachusetts! We don't have the issues other states have. Our criminals are already not being judged by (what many would call) lenient judges. Why does MA need to go further? 99% of Massachusetts law enforcement officers do the right thing everyday, every time. Let's use certain parts of the bill yet cut out others. No chokeholds, no knee to necks and let's have our officers intervene when a fellow officer is out of line. I'm not a resident of a low crime community. We need our officers to feel 100% supported. Inmates also return to cities. Shootings happen daily. The crime isn't going away, so why change what funding our LE gets?

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards.

Sincerely,

Stacey Shea

Subject: Bill 2820

Dear members of the House Ways and Means Judiciary Committee...disappointed and confused by the Massachusetts State Senate's recent passing of Bill S.2800 (now bill S.2820). The Firefighters of Local 1713 praise diversity within the fire service, and expect Firefighters to provide the VERY best efforts as it relates to protecting people, and property. Race, color, creed or religion doesn't factor when saving lives of the people within our community, or our brother/sister Firefighters when called upon. These truths are self evident. Although well intended, Bill S.2800 was passed on 7/14/2020 at 4:11am and was denied a public hearing process. Bill S.2800 seemed to be rushed, includes amendments that attack ALL public employees, including Teachers, Firefighters, Public Nurses, Police, City and Town employee, etc., etc. These are the same essential workers who were called upon a few months prior to help keep society functioning, while putting themselves and their families at risk by exposing themselves to Covid19, repeatedly. Attacking qualified immunity, due process, and collective bargaining is a direct attack on hard working public employees of Massachusetts, and puts liability of good employees in jeopardy, who do their job in good faith. Furthermore the attack on "due process" and

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

I am writing to express my strong support for Bill S.2820. I support this bill because it will place some independent accountability around policing in the Commonwealth and will make it safer for citizens to exercise their right of free speech and peaceful assembly. I am frankly astounded that some of these elements still haven't been passed into law, for example a stipulation that a person in custody cannot consent to sex with an officer.

Thank you, and I look forward to hearing about the progress of this bill.

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

????????????????? ??????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Written Testimony

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

To whom this may concern,

As a resident of Millbury, I am writing to you today to share my disgust regarding the defunding police bill S. 2800. I have many reasons why I disapprove this bill, here are some examples. This bill will make my community less safe and take away our peace of mind living in the suburbs. I believe in law and order and disapprove with the proposed bill, believing it will dismantle the police and result in a spike in crimes. I bought my home in a safe neighborhood in Millbury for a reason and do not want the safety of my neighborhood and town to change. I find it ignorant to support this bill because of political pressures from news and social media.

Law enforcement officers already have an incredibly difficult job and taking away resources will make it harder. I think this bill will not only affect police officers but will affect everyone and their safety. As a female, I would feel completely unsafe in a world where police officers feels so scared to do their job correctly. I would be nervous for what the future would look like in a society with less police officers due to them leaving. I do not want a police officer to have to hesitate or think twice about saving my life in a dangerous situation because they are afraid they could get sued or lose their job. Criminals will not support them regardless so giving them the power to do that will ruin how police officers do their job. I think that police should be covered by qualified immunity because they are already putting their life at risk by helping the people.

Lastly, I come from a family of many police officers in different cities and towns here in MA. These are good men and women who wanted to become a police officer to help people and keep people safe. I have a brother who has been a police officer for 4 years and an uncle who has been a police officer for 26 years. Both of them love their job and pick up many shifts during the week. Both of them volunteer to do kind and meaningful things in their community to give back. However, they are both nervous how this bill would impact their job. And good police officers are sadly the ones who will be too scared to do their job without feeling they could get sued. Law enforcement officers risk their life every single day to protect people in a selfless way. We need to protect them in this time because they protect us ALL of the time. I think police officers actually deserve much more respect than what they are shown. I am sure that many people who are in favor of this bill would never want to do their job and respond to the horrible, unfortunate calls they go to every single day. I ask that you stand with THE PEOPLE and vote against this bill. The safety of THE PEOPLE you represent are in danger.

As your constituent, I ask you to vote NO on S. 2800 for the reasons I stated above.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Support expungement

7/16/20

Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and we hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the over-representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Our criminal justice system is not immune to structural racism and we join you and all members in the great work needed to set things right. The unfortunate reality is that people of color are far more likely to be subjected to stop and frisk and more likely to get arrested for the same crimes committed by whites. Black youth are three times more likely to get arrested than their white peers and Black residents are six times more likely to go to jail in Massachusetts. Other systems where people of color experience racism are exacerbated, and in many ways legitimized, by the presence of a criminal record. Criminal records are meant to be a tool for public safety but they're more often used as a tool to hold communities of color back from their full economic potential. Expungement can be an important tool to rectify the documented systemic racism at every point of a young person's journey through and past our justice system.

We also know that young adults have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, but that drops as they grow older and mature. The law, however, does not allow for anyone who recidivates but eventually desists from reoffending to benefit. Young people's circumstances and cases are unique and the law aptly gives the court the discretion to approve expungement petitions on a case by case basis, yet the law also categorically disqualifies over 150 charges. We also know that anyone who is innocent of a crime should not have a record, but the current law doesn't distinguish between a dismissal and a conviction. It's for these three main reasons we write to you to champion these clarifications and now is the time to do it.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due to a variety of circumstances and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, we are hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. We respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

- Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.
- Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

- Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed of the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism, to remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

Thank you for your consideration,

Subject: Please Pass & Strengthen Police Justice Bill

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear House Ways & Means Committee,

I am writing to you today out of concern and extreme frustration over Bill S.2800 that was passed by the State Senate today. This bill has been hastily thrown together and is a knee-jerk reaction to what is currently happening now in this war on police. As you know, Massachusetts has a fantastic police force at the municipal and state levels and yet there is an agenda some have to destroy the great policing that is done here. This Bill, as written, robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation, It is misguided and wrong. The fact that it has been so hastily pushed through the Senate without any transparency only leads credibility to my comment about a hidden agenda.

There are MANY aspects of this Bill S.2800 that I, and many of your other constituents, find troubling but I will just list a few here that are definitely of the greatest consequence if passed as written:

1. Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.
2. Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does NOT protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.
3. POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA committee MUST include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.
4. Removal of requirement for State Police Colonel to be appointed from within the department: This should NOT be removed as it should be extremely important for the Colonel of the State Police to have first hand working knowledge of how a department works and the appointment should definitely come from within the MA State Police department. If for some reason this requirement is removed there should be a requirement that the person have at least 20 years experience in law enforcement and at least 10 years in a high profile leadership role within law enforcement.

I hope you will be sure to stand against those that would do harm to our state by unfairly persecuting and removing rights from those people that put on a uniform to keep us all safe every day. It has never been more important that our elected officials fight for our brave men and women in blue. It is already a thankless job and it will be near impossible to get anyone to want to do the job if this horrendous reform bill is passed without some major overhaul.

Thank you for your time and serious consideration of the points I have made here today.

Subject: OPPOSITION TO S.2800

My name is Michelle Ahern, and I live in Watertown. I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong and can reasonably be expected to have devastating unintended consequences.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Michelle Rothman Ahern, Esq.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Zachary Dunne and I live at 70 patriots rd Templeton, Ma. I work at MCI Shirley and am a corrections officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

?????????????????????????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????? ?????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Zachary Dunne

Subject: Bill S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down qualified immunity in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, and 52, as well as amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Subject: S.2820

Good evening,
I am a citizen of the United States and a resident of North Andover, Massachusetts and extremely concerned about the S.2820 bill passed by the senate.
Growing up police officers were respected, admired, trusted and to many heroes.

Now all of that has been replaced with hatred, distrust and verbal and physical abuse.

The real question is WHY and why is it allowed?

Politicians have been bullied into making rash decisions by those that are making the most noise.

Certainly there has been some tragic and needless tragedies, along with the Covid 19, that has brought protests and started the "Black Lives Matter" movement.

Bad cops need to be removed and punished when they cause unnecessary death or injury.

However the truth is most police officers are good people trying to do a good job for all of our citizens and they more than anyone want the bad ones removed.

I don't know of any profession that doesn't have a few bad apples and they too should be removed.

When police officers are shot or killed I don't see the public protesting and marching against criminals. Why is that?

If more training and proper guidelines help. Let's do it. However removing "qualified immunity" is a major mistake!

Police officers put their lives on the line every day. They deal with the good, bad and ugly. Disrespected, spit at, abused, hit with many different objects, kicked, punched, shot at, injured and sometimes killed. Why do we want to punish those that put up with this every single day? Why don't we back them up and go after the criminals and why don't we keep them in jail?

Those that want to force this bill through should be required to spend 6 months as a police officer and then put together a bill that supports law enforcement as well as citizens.

If this bill passes removing qualified immunity I expect many police officers will retire or resign and others will no longer pursue law enforcement as a career.

Who will respond to accidents, shootings, robberies, rapes and murder?

Crime will escalate and those that remain will be reluctant to do their job fearing they will be sued and possibly lose their homes and savings.

I must admit I am biased by the generation I grew up in where respect and love thy neighbor was prevalent. I've never been prejudice to anyone for any reason but I feel supporting Black Life's Matter means I don't support All Life's Matter. Instead of making the world a better place it's tearing it apart.

I'm also biased because my youngest son is a State Trooper. The day he graduated from the academy and received his badge was one of the proudest days of my life. He always wanted to be a police officer and after 6 months of training at the academy his dream was achieved and I'll always remember that look of accomplishment and happiness on his face.

Now I worry for his safety every day. When my phone rings I hold my breath if it is his number as some of those calls are to tell me he was involved in a dangerous situation and he's ok. One of those calls was to meet him in the hospital after a vehicle hit his cruiser. Eventually he required surgery to repair his neck.

I'm still proud of him but if he was going to college I would discourage him from pursuing his dream

My message is please vote AGAINST bill S2820 if it includes removing "qualified immunity" for police officers.

Let's support, respect and help those that protect us.

I love my family, my country, the American flag and all lives and proud to say so!

Dear representatives,

There is a reason Massachusetts police have one of the lowest complaint rates in the country. There is also a reason we are one of the safest states and have some of the safest major cities in the nation. That reason is we have some of the best trained and best qualified officers in the country. In years past we had dozens of applicants per vacant position. Now we are lucky to get one or two applicants for a single job. Now, think about the press the police are getting (remember that none of these issues occurred within our borders). There will come a time where we can not fill vacant positions. Down south and out west they have been having this issue for many years. They can't fill positions and when they do it's usually with people who could not get a job elsewhere (many times from around here). They have to advertise to get qualified applicants and still can't fill them all. Now take this information and then make the job even less desirable. Make it so no one with an education would want this job. People with skills and life experience might take a job doing something else that would be less dangerous, more respected, and way less controversial. How many parents out there will ever encourage their child to go into a career in law enforcement? You like what you have here? You like living in a safe location? You like the fact that your police are usually nice to you? You like the fact that minority complaints against police are the lowest in the nation (per capita)? Well don't get comfortable it's coming to an end. Policing as you know it will end in the next decade or so if the state bill in its current form (S.2800 or 2820) goes through. All because you want to fix police here for things that happen elsewhere. please listen to police leaders and fix it for Massachusetts not for Minnesota or Kansas. Your kids will thank you.

Thank you,

Respectfully submitted,

Dear members of House leadership;

S.2820 does almost nothing to prevent state violence against Black people or stop the flow of Black people into jails and prisons.

I believe S.2820 will cause more harm than good by increasing spending on law enforcement through training and training commissions, expanding the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and making no fundamental changes to the function and operation of policing in the Commonwealth. Real change requires that we shrink the power and responsibilities of law enforcement and shift resources from policing into most-impacted communities. The definition of law enforcement must include corrections officers who also enact racist violence on our community members.

This bill should have been written hand in hand with community input , truly asking the community what is important to them - this feels like a bill that is being pushed through so that leadership can say it had done police reform.

If the Massachusetts legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and addressing systemic racism, this bill would eliminate cornerstones of racist policing including implementing a ban without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should decriminalize driving offenses which are a major gateway into the criminal legal system for Black and Brown people and poor and working class people. Rather than limiting legislation to moderate reforms and data collection, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. I also support student-led efforts to remove police from schools.

The way forward is to shrink the role and powers of police, fund Black and Brown communities, and defund the systems of harm and punishment which have failed to bring people of color safety and wellbeing. S.2820 does not help us get there.

Thank you,

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: Police Reform

Hello!!

My name is MaryAnn. I am a black female, currently working in law enforcement. I reside in the commonwealth of Massachusetts and I am against the police reform bill. The images of the past decade where I have seen unarmed black men who look like my brother or father being killed by police officers have sickened me. As have the riots/looting. However I don't believe change in regards to law enforcement needs to occur in Massachusetts. Massachusetts is on top of training their officers of all agencies and most importantly Massachusetts is all about holding officers accountable for their actions. We don't have the problems other states have. Would I like to see the hiring process and diversity training changed/implemented? YES! Massachusetts does not need to put forth a copycat bill just to quell BLM. I'm Black and I have confidence in our Massachusetts law enforcement officers. Please, let's not defund our police, let's take a look at other avenues to ensure that what happened in so many other states doesn't happen here. Please do not defund the police.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Cheryl Goggin and I live at 40 Benefit St, Attleboro MA 02703. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer I. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Goggin

Dear elected officials,

My name is William Recos and I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: BILL S.2800

Dear All Massachusetts Elected Senators & Representatives,

My name is Nancy Minucci and I live at 894 East Broadway, South Boston, Massachusetts. <x-apple-data-detectors://0> As a Massachusetts constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Nancy Minucci

Subject: Advocacy for Bill S. 2820

As a Massachusetts voter, I am very concerned about police reform and that the Mass house preserve key parts of the Senate bill and build on them.

It is vital to preserve these features of the Senate bill:

- * Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body
- * Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages
- * Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records
- * Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities
- * Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual and is strikingly not yet illegal

It is vital to add these additions to the Senate bill:

* Strengthening use of force standards, e.g., by outright banning chokeholds and tear gas

* Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)

* Lifting the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund

Thank you for your consideration on this very important issue.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Kathy Goodfellow

To whom it may concern:

Stripping Law Enforcement of qualified immunity takes away their protection and due process. This state is in for some tough times if that happens. It would be safer for police and fire to do the bare minimum if this bill is passed and the public deserves more!!

Subject: Testimony on S. 2820 (Reform, Shift + Build Act)

Dear Representatives,

Thank you for soliciting public feedback on police reform, and for taking action!

I think the just-passed Senate bill is good. While it could have gone further, I feel the most critical thing is to get a bill signed into law this legislative session addressing some key concerns:

1. Qualified immunity. While I am uncertain whether the Senate bill goes far enough, restricting qualified immunity is a critical first step.
2. Systemic and structural racism. Much more could be done, but what the Senate bill does seems good.
3. Police accreditation. We are long overdue for this. The Senate bill may put too much police power on the POSAC, but it's much better than not having it at all.
4. Limiting use of force. Both training in de-escalation and requiring it be used are excellent, as is the duty to intervene.
5. Shifting funding from policing towards community investment. This is something to explore more over time, but the Senate bill seems to make a good start.

The Senate bill also contains a number of small details I appreciate, such as a moratorium on facial recognition, school-policing issues, keeping bad cops from becoming corrections officers, and more.

If there were longer in the legislative session, there would be many things I wish could be added to this bill(1). But there isn't, so I urge the House to pass a bill that is extremely easy to reconcile with the Senate bill so that it can be signed into law in the next 2 weeks. I would rather have a good bill that we can expand upon in future legislative sessions than an excellent bill which doesn't make it.

PS: From what I read, the House has been better about soliciting feedback from minority communities than the Senate has - I applaud this! Please keep doing it! And if those communities tell you there's some provision that needs to be included that the Senate bill lacks, please listen to them, and I'll be more than happy to write my State Senator urging her support for reconciliation including it. I'm only concerned that too many differences will make it too difficult to reconcile in time.

Sincerely,

(1) = Greater data-gathering on police use of force; guaranteed access to that data for the public and insurers; a requirement that police officers be covered by malpractice insurance; limiting the power of police unions (in particular their ability to block towns from firing cops); better civilian oversight of police; body cameras; changing police training to remove the indoctrination of violence / "fighting a war" mindset; and much more.

Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and we hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the over-representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Our criminal justice system is not immune to structural racism and we join you and all members in the great work needed to set things right. The unfortunate reality is that people of color, are far more likely to be subjected to stop and frisk and more likely to get arrested for the same crimes committed by whites. Black youth are three times more likely to get arrested than their white peers and Black residents are six times more likely to go to jail in Massachusetts. Other systems where people of color experience racism are exacerbated, and in many ways legitimized, by the presence of a criminal record. Criminal records are meant to be a tool for public safety but they're more often used as a tool to hold communities of color back from their full economic potential. Expungement can be an important tool to rectify the documented systemic racism at every point of a young person's journey through and past our justice system.

We also know that young adults have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, but that drops as they grow older and mature. The law, however, does not allow for anyone who recidivates but eventually desists from reoffending to benefit. Young people's circumstances and cases are unique and the law aptly gives the court the discretion to approve expungement petitions on a case by case basis, yet the law also categorically disqualifies over 150 charges. We also know that anyone who is innocent of a crime should not have a record, but the current law doesn't distinguish between a dismissal and a conviction. It's for these three main reasons we write to you to champion these clarifications and now is the time to do it.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due to a variety of circumstances and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, we are hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. We respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

* Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.

* Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

* Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed of the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism, to remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: S2820 An Act to Reform Police Standards and Shift Resources

Dear Rep. Aaron Michlewitz and Rep. Claire Cronin,

First, I hope you and your families are well during this pandemic. These are challenging times for our individual and collective health. Not made any easier by the unrest in society that has come to the forefront in recent months. I respect and appreciate the role you play in these very complex, often divisive, far reaching, critical issues. Especially when they have the safety of citizens AND law enforcement officers on the line. I implore you on S2820, formerly S2800, to STOP. LOOK. And LISTEN. This is what my parents taught me at a young age before crossing the street, knowing these simple steps could keep me safe, from getting injured, or worse from death. I taught my children the same rules.

STOP. RUSHING. I understand there's a July 31 deadline. But the impact of making sweeping, broad changes and reform in short order have long standing, far reaching, life altering, and potentially life threatening implications for law enforcement and their families. I read S2820 for hours. And I had already read S2800 last week so I was already familiar. I took notes. I was exhausted, overwhelmed, confused, and VERY, VERY CONCERNED. This is an EMERGENCY LAW necessary for the immediate preservation of the public safety. It took centuries to build structural, systemic racism. We should all be held accountable for that. All. And yet this 89 page document with 80 sections focuses on Law Enforcement as if they are the ones solely responsible for it. Or at least when I read this in totality, Law Enforcement stands to be the most severely impacted by the repercussions of rushing this through especially with such controversial and far reaching impacts that Qualified Immunity changes would mean. Do we know all that needs to be known about Qualified Immunity? Do we know who and what professions will also be impacted? Who doesn't get impacted? Is it distinguishable? What does any change to Qualified Immunity actually solve? What is the downside? What are the consequences? Who will take up this profession with not only this change but all the other proposed changes if enacted? It is not lost on me that it took until Section 78 out of 80 to have anything written and proposed about the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security requiring programs for critical incident stress, peer support programs, address police officer mental wellness and suicide prevention. What do you think this document and all the negative focus on law enforcement has done or will do to their well-being, morale, quality of life, not to mention their safety? I find it shameful and regrettable that an 89 page document with 80 different sections that will forever change, alter, and impact law enforcement officers took the final pages to address HOW it impacts them. And yet they are to withstand all the sweeping reform that will come with the enactment of too much change all at once.

LOOK. At what has been proposed. 89 pages of recommendations for Committees needing 14 members, Councils needing 31 members, countless agencies that impact and support Law Enforcement, etc. Suggestions to gather data, make reports, etc. And what has been done to all the work that Police Chiefs and so many critical stakeholders proposed a couple of years ago after Sgt. Sean Gannon was executed? After Sgt. Michael Chesna was murdered? After the wave of patriotism and support of law enforcement took hold following those horrific acts? Where is all the progress on Criminal Justice reform that stemmed from all that heartache, focus, testimony, collaboration, and cooperation? Where is all the training that was requested? That was pleaded for by leaders in Law Enforcement for training and training facilities? How did we fund all those necessary and critical requests that perhaps would have staved off some of the issues being brought up now years later? We had stakeholders in agreement about what needed to get done. We finally decided to add a fee to car rentals to pay for necessary and much requested additional training for public safety officers. That doesn't show strong support for the need for additional training but now we need it. And how will all the additional credentialing and collaboration and training be funded? I didn't read that part. How much is still undone from all the previously requested suggestions? How much is still unfunded mandates? We are still studying years later Nero's Bill that hasn't been enacted and that is simply providing emergency care for police K9s. We create commissions and committees to study far less important and non-life threatening issues. Anything relating to public safety and public servants should have all that benefit and complete and comprehensive professional, collaborative, focus.

LISTEN. Who was consulted in this sweeping legislative reform? Who did we miss? Why? Areas so critical to public safety and public servants should dot every I and cross every T. All stakeholders should have been informed, consulted, involved, able to provide testimony, be heard, etc. Why would there have been no public testimony in the Senate version? If all law enforcement agencies will be held accountable, were they considered for their part of being the solution to these problems? This legislation clearly lays out multiple law enforcement agencies. Were they consulted over the years about reforms and changes they were eager and willing to make? Were they supported in those endeavors? Why were their calls for changes to training, funding, and reform not supported but they will be forced on them now? Was the Black and Latino Caucus involved and have their concerns been addressed with this legislation? Has the Minority Police Union Chief been consulted? I pray all key stakeholders both inside and outside law enforcement are heard and fully understood before sweeping reform and legislation takes place. Seems to me that 80 articles that take 89 pages to complete is too broad. Can there not be strong and needed compromise so that many pivotal elements can move forward while allowing the very committees and councils being recommended here be formed, given time to collect and review data, and make recommendations with all the proposed timelines established here to allow time to study, collaborate, educate, inform and offer proposals based on sound data and feedback?

I implore you to STOP rushing through this broad legislation. Please find mutually agreed upon items that stakeholders agree can move forward. Accomplish those needed and critical things. BUT please don't rush through all these articles, especially those that involve Qualified Immunity and elements of policing that make policing more dangerous for law enforcement. Let's study the impact of those. Let's take the time to understand their far reaching impact on careers, livelihoods, and lives.

LOOK at all the formerly proposed and current proposed reforms that make policing more professional, safe, and standardized. And look at the training elements and facilities that are being utilized to provide this training. Be prepared to fund these mandates. And not with a car rental fee given a pandemic or any other unforeseen crisis would result in limited or narrow funding. Funding needs to be sustainable and predictable. Where is that funding going to come from now if car rental fees don't generate the proposed or hopeful revenue?

LISTEN. To all the stakeholders who have willingly stepped up with valuable input to share. Police Chiefs, Police Commissioners, Black and Latino Caucus, Minority Police Chiefs, professionals inside and outside law enforcement. Police Officers have much to lose with too much to accomplish in an EMERGENCY LAW enactment. Institutional and systemic racism took years to build and is not entirely the fault of law enforcement. Let's not impose broad changes that would severely punish a profession and put all this responsibility on their backs. We all have a role to play. I'm willing to accept my responsibility for change. Please include others who are also willing to be part of the solution.

Thank you for listening. Respectfully submitted,

Deanna Castro

Subject: Criminal record expungement expansion

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick:

Community Resources for Justice (CRJ) supports expansion of the expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as proposed in S.2820, the Racial Justice and Police Accountability bill.

As you know, the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system grow up and move on with their lives. With that consideration, CRJ respectfully asks the law be amended by:

- Removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.
- Distinguishing between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.
- Removing certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges.

Expanding the expungement law will advance the goals of the Legislature's 2018 criminal justice reforms: reduce recidivism, and remove barriers to employment, education, and housing. Moreover, it will allow young people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives.

Thank you for your consideration.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Dear Senator Brown,

My name is Kecia McCaffrey and I live at 8 Nautical Way, South Dennis . As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Kecia McCaffrey

Subject: Police reform bill

Thank you for giving us a chance to voice our frustrations. I believe this bill was written in haste and rushed through very improperly for one.

Police are not the problem in society. Taking away their qualified immunity is such a disgrace and slap in the face to our officers and troopers that serve the commonwealth and our local municipalities. These men and women are out there dealing with the lowest of the low scum our society has to offer. Most all of them will have an axe to grind with an officer or trooper arrest them, so you make it easier for them to sue said law enforcement officer that does this. I have heard from many friends in the State Police that when this thing goes thru they plan a mass exodus. Also local law enforcement officers many have said the same. Why would they want to do a job that each day they go to could loose everything they have worked for protecting the citizens of this state. Seems a little backwards to me. Also you are doing this to Nurses, Firefighters, any municipal employee! What do you think is going to happen when all these people say" you know what? This isn't worth it". You are going to have anarchy in this state and no town will be safe. Your beautiful Berkshire's will become a cesspool. Second home owners will be gone and towns will suffer as local businesses shutter. Citizens will have to do the job of your law enforcement officers. That's not something anyone wishes for. Please reconsider this bill for the safety of our front line first responders and municipal employees. As a retired volunteer firefighter with 22 years experience I have seen some very sad things, but this should not be one of them. Let's keep our state safe and let the law enforcement officers do their jobs as they do everyday to make each and everyone of us safe.

Dear Committee,

I send this email today to oppose S.2820. I ask you to consider a commission to really look into our weakness and our strengths to better our communities together. I fear that removing qualified immunity for first responders is not wise.

If you are choking in a restaurant and there is a Doctor, a Nurse or a First Responder trained to save your life, they may pause. They hesitate because they are terrified at the reality they may very well break your ribs. This would open them up for civil lawsuits, and litigation just to do their life's work to save lives.

That is why I ask you to table this and study it rather than a knee jerk reaction that may very well hurt our communities in the end. Massachusetts is not Minnesota, New York, or any other state. Let's be different in how we approach our community safety and public safety.

Thank you.

Subject: S.2800 Bill Testimony

Dear Committee Member,

I am writing to provide you with testimony regarding your policing Bill as both a citizen of the Commonwealth, a student of urban economics and a professional for more than three decades. Having worked in the lower Roxbury area and affordable housing policy as a national housing consult for several years, the one constant that rang true nationwide was the need and desire from the local communities for additional policing. I was very distressed to hear that Bill 2800 was proposing personal liability for police officers. In my view, this is simply another way of defending the police. Massachusetts has always been a pillar of excellence and innovation. I have to believe that we can reimagine the police and better support our communities in more creative ways that don't necessarily call for reducing police officers.

I sincerely hope that the Committee will reconsider this aspect of the bill and once again lead the nation with an innovative and thoughtful approach to both policing and keeping our communities safe.

I am writing to express my strong support for S.2820. I believe this bill will bring crucial reform to our criminal justice system. I am therefore calling on you to work swiftly to pass and strengthen this bill. Specifically, it is essential that the final bill eliminates qualified immunity; if we do not eliminate this loophole we cannot hold police accountable for excessive force and overreach. It is also essential that bill introduces strong standards for decertifying problem officers and completely bans tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids such as the one that killed Breonna Taylor. I believe that the Commonwealth can be a leader in criminal justice reform. S.2820 provides a much needed and powerful step towards this goal.

Dear Representative Stanley and Members of the House Ways and Means Committee,

I'm a Waltham resident writing to express support for S. 2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill quickly.

I'm especially in favor of the bill's positions on limiting use of force, the duty of an officer to intervene in misconduct, restrictions on purchasing military equipment, and its modifications to qualified immunity.

I also support leaving the decision about police in schools to local superintendents. As much as I love the police officer in my sons' elementary school - she's kind, friendly, and a welcome face to them - police officers in schools by and large do not make schools safer enough to outweigh the increase in arrests and profiling of minority students. This decision ought to be up to each community.

Most of all, I hope that a good police reform bill will be enacted and signed into law by the end of July.

Thank you for your attention to this priority, and thank you for soliciting opinions on the bill (I saw Rep. Stanley's tweet and remembered I hadn't called or emailed!). Please stay well in these COVID days, and thank you for your hard work.

Subject: Written testimony regarding S2820

Please take your time to have your family, friends and all others who support police and correction officers, to copy this post and send it to: Testimony.HWMJudiciary@mahouse.gov

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is Michael Wetherbee and I live at 26 Red Fox Xing Gardner, MA 01440. I work at the Souza Baranowski Correctional Center and am a Lieutenant and a Disciplinary Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

?????????????????????????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

?????????????????????????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Michael Wetherbee

Subject: Testimony re: Senate 2820

I am the Chief of Police in the Town of Norwood. I have been a police officer for 43 years, served as president of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association in 2016, and am a member of the Board of Directors of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

To say that the morale of police officers is sagging these days is an understatement. We are all disgusted by what we saw happen to Mr. Floyd, but we also worry that the good people we serve will associate us with those who killed him, or at some level believe that any of us would do such a thing. And now, a bill is before you that promises to "reform" us, while missing the point on so many levels. So we are left with the narrowest of windows within which to try to explain how we feel, or why we believe Senate 2820 misses the mark in so many places.

First, please understand that Massachusetts has some of the best trained, most highly educated police officers in the U.S. (in spite of low state funding in these areas), with remarkably low levels of use of force. Our citizens enjoy relatively low rates of crime and violent crime, and our Commonwealth has the lowest incarceration rate of any state in the country. Our police departments lead the way nationally in training and policy related to serving people with mental illness and we embraced community policing long before it became universally accepted. We implemented and authored a white paper on the pillars of 21st century policing as outlined by the DOJ and President Obama's task force, and followed up with training on restorative justice, implicit bias, and procedural justice.

Our officers risk their lives daily, but just as importantly they provide service to their communities in a dignified and respectful manner.

As for the bill, the issue causing the most angst among officers is the threat to qualified immunity. Our officers accept that they must make split-second judgments in highly charged situations, but they expect some measure of protection from personal liability when a citizen believes they should have handled an incident differently. The change to qualified immunity in the Senate bill would affect all public employees (except legislators, judges and prosecutors who enjoy absolute immunity). It strikes me that the bill confers the lowest level of immunity on those public employees with the least time to make decisions. I fear that such a change will make it even more difficult for us to attract qualified candidates to policing.

I am troubled by the proposal to create a "police officer standards and accreditation committee." First, the name of POSAC should be changed. There are currently many police departments, including mine, that are accredited through Massachusetts Police Accreditation Commission (and re-accredited every three years) and so the similarity in titles will be confusing. If an entity is created to certify officers, it should be called the Massachusetts Police Certification Board.

The bill as written would empower the board/agency to conduct misconduct investigations with subpoena power, but we note that law enforcement officers are in the minority on the board. If medical boards are staffed with medical professionals and bar overseer boards by attorneys, why would a board overseeing the certification of police officers not be staffed primarily by law enforcement officers? And police departments must report all complaints of officer misconduct to this board? Misconduct at all levels? That is absurd.

As for the creation of a POST system of standards and training, you may already know that the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association proposed a POST system (as it is called in 46 other states) in the 2013 and 2015 legislative sessions. So I support the concept, but it should be accomplished properly.

(As an aside, Massachusetts already has two MPTCs, one of which is actually a committee, but other the state training agency. The name of the agency should be changed to "agency" or something similar. This is a constant point of confusion.)

The bill contains a requirement that an officer report every stop and frisk, even if consensual. This requirement poses a risk that the authors of the bill did not likely understand. An officer who encounters a person behind a building late at night might ask him if he's carrying a weapon and if the answer is no, ask if he can check for for weapons for his own safety. I did this many times when I was on patrol or as a detective. A law requiring the reporting of all such encounters will cause officers to hesitate to ask a person for consent out of concern that they will have to report it. And the notion that an officer would have to give every person a "receipt" is off the mark. What does a receipt do? I have never fielded a complaint from a citizen and been unable to discern which officer he or she was talking about. A receipt?

It strikes me that the data reporting in this bill looks like the provisions struck by the legislature from the hands-free bill just a few months ago. But if the legislature wants data on stops, the state should fund an interface connecting police departments to the state (we STILL don't have an interface for the eCitation system the state asked us to adopt) and the state can pull whatever information it wants.

One section of the bill deals with use of force and force reporting, and requires a police department to report to the state the use of any "chemical weapon." We suspect that this provision is aimed at the use of tear gas, but as written it would require an agency to report every time an officer uses oleoresin capsicum (OC) spray, and report "all measures that were taken in advance of the event to reduce probability of disorder." Really?

There needs to be a clarification regarding the potential use of a chokehold. Massachusetts police officers neither use nor are trained to use chokeholds. However, if an officer is involved in a deadly force situation, it is nonsensical to make an officer subject to criminal prosecution and decertification for using a chokehold, when he/she would have been otherwise authorized to use deadly force and shoot someone. This is easily accomplished by adding language like, "unless authorized to use deadly force to protect the life of the officer or another" after the language prohibiting the use of chokeholds. My Department policy already contains this language.

There are many other segments of the bill that are troubling, and the better course would be to either defer passage of the bill, or to pass a version creating a POST and take up the many related issues in the next session when we all have time to think and talk about it.

I appreciate that the members of these two committees will read this testimony and consider it in their deliberations. But I ask that you take a moment to think about the good work police officers do, often under dangerous conditions, and our commitment to community service.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Holtcamp

Subject: Public Comment on S.2800

Members of the Committee,

TLDR: I support the changes presented in S.2800.

As a citizen of the Commonwealth, it is important to me that we recognize that in the last several decades Police and Police Unions have seen an enormous growth in influence, power, and a massive decline in accountability. At this point in time, I believe it is essential that we make a substantial push in the other direction. When our laws and judicial findings prevent public servants from being held accountable for their actions, and when laws and policies provide incentive structures for Police gain at the expense of the public (such as Civil Forfeiture) steps need to be taken to address the issue.

I'm aware that our State has a relatively good record when it comes to both policing and incarceration compared to the rest of the country. It is important to note that this in itself does not mean we are doing a good job, just that we are doing better. We should continue to strive to improve ourselves as a commonwealth.

The Police need to be more accountable for their actions. Their members and unions will cry foul and tell stories about how if the status-quo is changed, chaos will reign, all officers will quit their jobs, and those that remain will continuously be charged for crimes when they were simply doing their jobs. It makes sense for them to make these appeals, because they have nothing to gain in the short term by giving up such protections.

It is up to you in the committee, the larger Senate and House, and the citizens of this state to step back and take a more clear eyed view of the situation to understand that even with some of the significant change this bill would produce, our police will still be among some of the best protected - legally and otherwise - in the world.

At the end of the day we need to strike a good balance between providing officers the ability to do their job effectively, and providing the public with the protections, oversight, and ability to hold the police accountable that a healthy community requires.

In closing, I want to note that trivial changes or changes which some might categorize as tweaks will just continue to perpetuate the problem. It would punt it down the road, to use a sports analogy. The body politic at this time clearly sees a need to make a significant change, and if our legislatures do not do so the problem will only continue to worsen. We need to take the top off the pot before it boils over.

Sincerely and with Best Regards,

Dear Members of the House Committee on Ways & Means,

I am writing to you today out of concern and extreme frustration over Bill S.2800 that was hastily passed by the State Senate. This bill has been is an attack on all public employees. People who are public employees work within the community to ensure the vital growth of the community. As you know, Massachusetts is the first in education and to take away rights from teachers is just ludicrous. For years, studies have shown that the number of people staying in the teaching profession is dwindling with the average new teacher lasting roughly 5 years. Additionally, across the Nation, there is a dire need for teachers who are people of color. This Bill sets yet another reason why young people would stay out of the profession. You know as well as I do that anyone can say what they want about anyone whether true or false and there just needs to be a modicum of doubt ruin a person's life.

Additionally, this attack on law enforcement is going to lead to a lack of law and order. It is happening every day and people just ignore it. This lack of law and order will flow through every community and school system in the state and what does that leave us?

Please do not do this to public employees and to the future of this state.

Thank you for your time.

Regards,

Subject: Bill S.2820 An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

I am writing to voice my opposition to Bill S.2820. I strongly urge the Governor to veto this and any similar bill that would come across his desk, that would establish a committee or laws for the benefit of any person or persons based strictly on the color of their skin! Any one who does support such a Bill I believe is a racist and therefore has no place in the Massachusetts government. And I will work to have those lawmakers and representatives voted out of office. This is no longer 1965 and we have moved way beyond segregation. At this time in our history we have a well respected police force that does not require these extreme measures. If there are a few who do not abide by reasonable current guidelines, they should be provided the proper training or removed from law enforcement. Let me reiterate once again, I will make it my mission to do everything in my power, to see that any racist occupying a seat on Beacon Hill is promptly voted out of office.

Respectfully yours,

The Honorable Rep. Aaron Michlewitz

Chair, House Committee on Ways and Means

The Honorable Rep. Claire Cronin

House Chair, Joint Committee on Judiciary

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

I am writing to ask you to oppose S2820, An Act to reform police standards. The bill as written has dangerous changes to qualified immunity, due process and collective bargaining. I can agree that police and criminal justice reform is needed, but this bill reaches far beyond that.

The proposed changes to qualified immunity would result in the flooding of the state court with lawsuits. Those lawsuits would cause a financial strain on the municipalities that are forced to defend these cases. The increase in costs may cause municipalities to settle meritless claims that would have been protected under qualified immunity prior. The state courts will have to interpret the new qualified immunity language. That will force the courts to develop a whole body of case law and will lead to uncertainty for public employees and plaintiffs for years to come. Lastly, qualified immunity does not just apply to police officers, but all public officials. This will put all government officials at a greater risk for individual personal liability based off of their official actions.

Given the concerns surrounding these changes, S2820 should not be passed at this time. As a proud member of the Professional Firefighters of Massachusetts Local 1032 I ask you to oppose this bill and to stand with public employees to ensure that much needed criminal justice reform is done so thoughtfully.

Sincerely,

Daniel Craven

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.
