To Massachusetts Reps:

I am in favor for:

- 1) Qualified Immunity for Officers
- 2) Due Process/Arbitration
- 3) Have members with law enforcement experience on the POSAC board

Please help our country by supporting the law enforcement men/women who give their life to protect citizens.

Thank you,

Massachusetts can take a bold step towards ending systemic racism in policing by passing S. 2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

We need strong use of force guidelines for police in Massachusetts, public records of police misconduct, a duty to intervene policy, and bans on no-knock warrants, choke holds, tear gas, and other chemical weapons.

Please pass a bill that includes each of these critical reforms.

This senate bill is anti labor legislation. It removes our rights to due process, collective bargaining & inserts a board that has no training, experience or background in law enforcement. Please consider our public safety! This is hand cuffing all police officers rather than the bad police officers that really need to be handcuffed, and weeded out. Thank you for you time.

Subject: Support for the Reform, Shift + Build Act

Hello,

I hope you are doing well in this time of so much uncertainty and change. While the past few months have been difficult, I believe that these struggles have brought important issues to the forefront of our minds. These times of strife have exacerbated deep-rooted issues that have existed in this country for a long time, like racial injustice. I think the positive part of this situation is that this new context has captured the country's attention. These issues demand to be solved, and what better time to make positive change than now? What better way to make use of this new normal, than to improve this country and this Commonwealth, to create a new reality that is actually new, and to build a future that is better than the present and the past? Together, we can use this time to build a new normal that is better than the old.

We need to address the police brutality in this country and the disgusting treatment of Black Americans. We need to do something. We need to make change. The time is now.

We need to reform police standards. That is why I am expressing my support for the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800). I am asking you to please do the same. Please make sure that the qualified immunity language stays in the bill. It is so important to make sure that police officers are held accountable for their actions. We need this change to stop abuses of power and dismantle systemic racism in our policing.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Massachusetts needs police reform

Hello, my name is Benyamin Meschede-Krasa with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 221 Langley rd. Newton MA. I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

* Civil service access reform

- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

These measures above are the bare minimum and must be viewed as a small first step in reimagining public safety. If you face roadblocks and opposition in moving this legislation I urge you to compromise and take out the requirements for trainings and certifications. Grassroots organizations like Families for Justice and Healing and Blackd and Pink Boston have called out the bill for including the language on training so it is unclear why they were included in the first place if the goal is to respond to communities' calls for police reform.

Thank you very much.

Subject: Police Reform Bill S.2820

Dear Representatives,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

?Dear Jennifer,

Thank you for writing to me about this bill, I've heard from countless people on it and I agree with you entirely. It would be a terrible idea to remove qualified immunity protections from police officers and the other professionals that we rely on every day.

While I could certainly support a bill that provides some reforms I will not vote for or support a bill that takes away this vital protection from law enforcement officers.

The bill will be getting a full public hearing and it's my hope that we will make the appropriate changes so that we can have a bill that has the full support of the public, the police, and elected officials. I will certainly do all I can to make that happen.

Cc: DeLeo, Robert - Rep. (HOU); Cronin, Claire - Rep. (HOU); Gonzalez, Carlos - Rep. (HOU)
Subject: Testimony from Giffords, fmr Congresswoman Gabby Giffords' organization

Dear Speaker DeLeo, Chair Cronin, and Chairman Gonzalez:

On behalf of Giffords, the gun violence prevention organization founded by former Congresswoman Gabby Giffords, I urge you to work to ensure Massachusetts leads on efforts to enact comprehensive measures to reform policing, justice, and public safety policies in the Commonwealth.

After decades of systemic oppression of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color communities, and in the wake of the recent killings of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Tony McDade, and thousands of others at the hands of law enforcement, people have risen up across the country to demand meaningful reforms to the systems that continue to allow killings like these to occur without consequence.

For years, Americans have been presented with a false choice between just and effective policing, but the evidence is clear: transparent, accountable, community-oriented policing that builds community trust is vital to both officers' and community safety. Policing reforms help prevent excessive force and police violence, build community trust necessary to effectively protect, serve, and solve crimes like homicides and shootings, and help avert cycles of vigilante retaliatory violence from taking root when the formal justice system has failed.

The evidence is clear that abusive and unaccountable policing, by contrast, results in more death and violence to victims of police violence, to officers, and indirectly to whole communities. As we discussed at length in an in-depth report released in January, In Pursuit of Peace: Building Police-Community Trust to Break the Cycle of Violence, there is a strong link between community distrust and community violence. Research has shown that significant numbers of people, especially in BIPOC communities, do not report violent injuries to law enforcement, not because they do not care or seek justice for violence, but because they do not trust law enforcement to justly or effectively keep them safe or treat them fairly. Research has also shown that police brutality and killings weaken community trust, lead to significant drops in crime reporting and 911 calls, and lead to sharp spikes in gun violence in turn, like the ones we've seen in recent months in cities across the country.

Policing is at its most effective at its most vital task--keeping people safe and when it is performed with a commitment to respect, equity, transparent and accountable procedural justice, and meaningful partnership with community-based service providers working to help people break free from cycles of violence, desperation, trauma, and retaliation. Giffords encourages Massachusetts to take the important and necessary steps toward police, justice, and public safety reform with an eye toward equity, accountability, respect, justice, and community participation.

We have endorsed the provisions of the George Floyd Justice in Policing Act, which recently passed the U.S. House of Representatives, and urge you to ensure Massachusetts crafts a comprehensive police reform bill with the following essential principles and provisions in mind:

1. Hold officers and agencies accountable for unconstitutional or abusive policing practices.

* End Qualified Immunity for law enforcement to allow people to recover damages for constitutional violations.

* Create a state civil rights statute to empower Massachusetts' Attorney General to conduct "pattern and practice" investigations to identify abusive and/or unconstitutional policing practices and bring civil actions to eliminate patterns or practices of unconstitutional policing.

* Publicly disclose records from investigations into officer misconduct and use of force.

* Create a police officer standards and accreditation committee or agency, with the authority to certify, renew, revoke, and modify LE officer certifications.

* Require certification from this agency as a condition of employment by a law enforcement agency.

* Prohibit recertification and hiring of officers who have records of abuse.

2. Establish transparency about the current state of policing in the Commonwealth through data collection, analysis, and study.

* Require collection and reporting of data, including race of person stopped, from instances when officers stop a vehicle or person or issue traffic citations.

* Require collection and reporting of data, including race, on law enforcement-related injuries and deaths.

* Create and maintain publicly accessible databases with information about officers' employment, certification, misconduct, and complaints of misconduct.

3. Invest in BIPOC communities, and in community-based violence intervention responses.

* Ensure that Massachusetts continues to build on its critical investment in SSYI and other community-based violence intervention initiatives that help hire and deploy professional violence interrupters, street outreach professionals, youth counselors, and similar violence prevention professionals as a critical part of Massachusetts' crisis response and public safety infrastructure.

* Foster safe and welcoming schools by investing in mental health and de-escalation professionals rather than assigning law enforcement with firearms and arrest powers to schools on a regular basis.

* Clarifying Massachusetts' recently enacted expungement laws to authorize more people with lower-level juvenile offenses to expunge their criminal records, gain full employment opportunities, and fully reenter society.

4. Modify law enforcement training and standards with an eye toward racial equity and harm reduction.

* Prohibit racial, religious, and other discriminatory profiling.

- * Establish stronger standards for use of force by law enforcement officers that prioritize the sanctity of life, ban chokeholds and similar neck compression holds, and require the use of de-escalation tactics when feasible.
- * Require officers to intervene when they observe colleagues using excessive force.
- * Train officers on de-escalation in crisis response, and consider the use of trained non-law enforcement staff in crisis response when a law enforcement response may be excessive.
- * Place strong limits on the use of 'no-knock' unannounced entry warrants.
- * Restrict the use of chemical irritants and militarized police tactics against civilians for crowd control.
- * Limit the transfer of military-grade equipment to state and local law enforcement.
- * Require body and dashboard cameras, and establish strong requirements for their use that account for privacy concerns of civilians and crime victims.

Subject: S2820

Representative DeCoste,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

My name is Audrianna Harrington and I live at 10 A Powers Street, Spencer MA 01562. I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers, of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all public servants including myself working for the Department of Public Works in the City of Worcester.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits. I deserve to have this continue for me in my job working for the City of Worcester.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. Subject: Opposition to House Bill S.2820 as written

Good Evening

My name is Kathryn Canny and I live at 191 Hillside Drive in Hanover. I write to you today with regard to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer. Over the first 20 years of my husband's career I had the obvious worries of any law enforcement spouse, but those worries were relatively small and I always felt confident that he would come home safe at the end of his shift. It was a different world then. Police Officers were respected and appreciated for the job they did. As the wife of a Police Officer in today's world things are different. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "be safe". The last words our children say to their dad when he leaves are "be safe". In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do, not all families need to say "be safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget where I was when my husband got the initial call about Mike. I will never forget where I was when I learned that news that Mike had died. I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will never forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform.

Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support the accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well-trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Canny

Subject: Pass a strong police accountability bill with key provisions from S.2820

Members of the committee:

It seems our national is finally having a moral reckoning, dealing with the original sins of its creation: black peoples captured and sold into slavery, and native peoples dispossessed of their homelands. Unfortunately, it seems police unions are trying to resist this process. I urge you to pass a strong bill, which preserves the vital reforms in the Senate bill, such as the following:

1. Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body
2. Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages
3. Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records
4. Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities

Throughout your deliberations, I hope you will feel in your hearts the weight of 400 years of oppression, and the loss of uncounted beautiful lives of color... all sacred in God's eyes.

Thank you,

Subject: Senate bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Christopher Bumpus and I live at 13 algerine st Berkley, Massachusetts. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Corrections officer 1. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to aquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Christopher Bumpus

Hello MA House Ways and Means Committee,

As Senate Bill 2800 enters the House Ways and Means, Massachusetts has a unique chance to change Qualified Immunity and start the path towards police accountability. Believe me: I am a unionist, and want to support police as workers for all they help they truly do, but NO worker is extrajudicial. We need this important change to qualified immunity to put us on the path to true racial justice for our communities.

To the Representation of the Commonwealth,

It seems as this Police Reform Bill affects more than reforming police interaction with the public. As this bill does not in fact deliberately improve the quality of training officers will receive. Also the fact of adding an additional certification to become a police officer does not help the situation of police interaction with the public. Instead this bill seeks to charge police with the full responsibility of protecting the public without receiving any support in return. Without protection from civil lawsuits police officers cannot in good faith carry out their duties to protect the public. Also, with even more restrictions for police officers in less than lethal options, you are only making situations more unsafe for the general public by limiting what can and cannot be used in a life and death situation.

This bill honestly sounds like a room full of people who have never policed a thing in their lives came up with a way to increase their voting platform by sowing racial and economic dischord into the public. With most Representatives in this state having an anti police track record, it is no surprise this vote was pushed through easily.

Which brings me to this process. How on earth do you pass a bill that has such legal ramifications for not just police officers and the general public, but all public officials to include teachers, firefighters, and so on with no public testimony? And you can say how this needed to be quick because of George Floyd and racism was afoot, or any little reason. It doesn't matter, the representation of Massachusetts has clearly shown that they will put a bill up to vote without at least hearing anyone speak on the matter, TO INCLUDE BLACK POLICE OFFICERS. But no, our representatives couldn't even get that right.

I must say thank you very much for failing the people of Massachusetts. You are encouraging entitlement, anarchy, and the liquidation of the core values that made Massachusetts the spirit of America. It is troubling to think of the wars that were fought since the inception of this nation to prevent the very thing this bill is looking to accomplish.

No one is more free or more safe as a result of this bill. In fact it is quite the opposite. Most people I talk to about this bill find it comical that you can sue a police officer in a civil case, over almost anything. However, there is a different tone when I remind them that there is less liability for a police officer to simply do nothing and watch violent crime take place. I wonder if our teachers would be willing to discipline unruly children with the thought of potentially being sued. I know my mother had threatened lawsuits to teachers, and principals. It's an entirely different thing where this is nothing to stop someone suing you out of spite. What do you think will happen to test scores? Maybe more houses will get burned down because firefighters can be sued after carrying someone out of a burning house. Maybe police officers back from intervening in a violent crime. As a result, we will become uneducated, poor mannered, constituents of an unsafe society where decisions are made for the people without any form of consideration or public testimony. George Floyd didn't die in Massachusetts. We do not have a public immunity problem, we have a problem with legislators who think they can pass any bill they want with no future ramifications. So in short I DO NOT support this bill at all.

Sincerely,

A veteran

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely, Keith Howe

Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

?I am a resident of Templeton and a police officer for 9 years in the town of Winchendon. S2820 is causing major concern for me and my family. This will remove the protections that allow me to do my job without the worry of personally being targeted by baseless lawsuits. Over the last nine years I have seen law enforce officers become more and more hesitant to take the necessary actions to do their job safely because of fear that their leaders will not back them when needed if their actions would cause the suspect harm. This has resulted in several officers being harmed and risking their safety while doing their job because of fear of what could happen to them just because they are doing their job. This bill will just add to their hesitation while doing their job further increasing their risk of being injured in the line of duty. I have personally considered my options as an officer as I am no longer willing to put my families lively hood at risk because leadership no longer supports law enforcement and is willing to put criminals ahead of those who protect the citizens. The last 9 years I have seen the state of Massachusetts as one of the leading states in law enforcement. There are fewer use of force cases and fewer law enforcement Officer deaths here because we are better trained and better educated. With the passing of S2800 I fear there will be a mass exodus of experienced and quality officers no longer willing to work under the risk of losing it all for their family. I also fear the number of officers needed to backfill that number of officers leaving will be filled with sub par candidates as it is already hard finding a few officers qualified. No one will want to be an officer if they are not supported by their leaders. Sorry for the crude email as I am currently on vacation and have to use my phone. I have spent the last week on vacation watching S2800 be pushed through without proper debate or thought. The idea of the bill is great, more training and accountability is always supported but risking Law enforcements safety for a political statement is unacceptable. Please DO NOT PASS this. Thank you for your time reading this.

Subject: Single Mom - 2 minute read

Good morning,

I won't take up more than 2 minutes of your time.

My name is Lauren Voellings. I'm a single mother of a beautiful 4-year old girl named Ava.

I'm her primary caretaker and the love of her life.

I'm also a police officer, a Sergeant in Worcester.

While I realize that it's often hard to associate an actual person to the title of Police Officer, I wanted to share with you the type of person that is being affected by the Police Reform bill. It's me. It's a mom. A daughter. A well-intentioned, hard-working person who goes to work every day to do good for the community.

The senate bill that was recently passed was completely anti-labor legislation. It removes our rights to due process, collective bargaining & inserts a board that has no training, experience or background in law enforcement.

While I do empathize with the unfortunate and unjust situations that have unfolded in our country, that isn't Massachusetts, that isn't the men and women of the police departments in Massachusetts, and that certainly isn't me.

This reform bill is not taking into account the real people, IN THE STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS, who truly do a mostly thankless job, but continue to do it with the very well-intentions of helping people, saving people, and keeping people safe in our communities. Please think of me, and the thousands of other "real people", that this bill will affect in a very negative, unfair, and action-limiting way. We need you to stand up for us, be fair, and remember the faces and families behind the uniform who truly need your support right now.

Thank you

Respectfully,

Dear Representatives,

I live in Stoughton, MA. It came to my attention that last night the MA Senate passed the bill to end qualified immunity for police officers. I am appalled that the legislature of such importance was passed without a public hearing.

The very idea that such a thing as removing qualified immunity from police can be seriously proposed, let alone voted for 30 to 7, seemed totally absurd just a few months ago. Qualified immunity of elected officials and members of the law enforcement community is the bedrock principle of any government. Without it, no government institution would be able to function. And policemen, due to the very nature of their work, are the most vulnerable group.

This shameful legislation is unfair, immoral, and harmful to the extreme, especially to the people of color, whom it's supposedly designed to help - this group needs strong law enforcement and police protection more than anybody. By taking away qualified immunity from police the Commonwealth of Massachusetts essentially declares itself non-governable territory. Scores of policemen will retire, which is already happening. And nobody will be interested in joining the police force - the group that not only is unjustly vilified but now even deprived of any legislative protection.

A horrible death happened in Minnesota and everybody condemned it. But why the whole profession of policemen is punished for that? I talked to Brookline police and there has been not a single incident of police brutality for the years of existence of Brookline police. Massachusetts police in general is an exemplary organization. Why are you in such a hurry of changing the law? This new law will harm not only police but the whole population of Massachusetts.

In the strongest possible terms, I urge you to keep qualified immunity for MA police officers intact.

My name is Lynn Mason-Small and I live at 50 Wolfson Road, South Yarmouth, MA 02664. I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820.

2 years ago Sean Gannon, a hometown police officer, was brutally murdered in our community. Those same politicians, who mourned alongside his grieving widow and his parents- vowing more protection for officers - are now quickly throwing together legislation that will take away the rights of those who protect us each and every day. I am strongly in favor of police reform, but only when well thought out by clear minds. Not minds reacting to our very current state we find ourselves in. Reactionary legislation is absurd.

I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I ask you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin

I am rushing to write before the narrow window for comments closes, to express my deep concern at the content of the bill S2800, now called S2820. I have read it and find numerous aspects of it to be of concern. In summary I would point to the power of this commission to advise, oversee, monitor, appoint, receive settlements for cases, determine and instruct according to a framework of racial equality which is not stated. This gives great power to this permanent commission to oversee all government activity, yet they have no governing oversight. They can solicit funding as well making them subject to influence and cronyism. Is there any other government commission that fundraises? And also receives settlement payments for cases? Is this not a conflict of interest for real justice?

They are given offices and access to information citizens are not. Police officers will have no privacy of information if they are investigation. This treats our law enforcement as sub citizens. Who is going to oversee the selection of consultants and the payment for such? There is not equity in justice if there is no balance. I am all for some aspect of police reform through training and support. But to allow this organization such power to control information, records, training requirements and oversight of training...there is too much power given to this group, as a knee jerk reaction to the current situation. There should at least be some representative of the police force on the commission where their voice is heard and true collaborative reform could happen. Is the history of slavery in US really what's important here? There are many cops of color. What is the real goal in this legislation? To push a narrative or to move forward as MLK would do for equal justice for all?

It gags school officials from reporting immigration status and whether a student is a member of a gang as dangerous as MS-13. It is involved in creating education for students. This bill is hurried through, passed in the darkness of the night and now being pushed through to vote. Reminds me of Nancy Pelosi's "let's pass the bill and read it later" mentality. This bill is fraught with power transfer and tentacles of control into too many areas not related to real reform.

Please REJECT this bill.

To whom it may concern,

Below is a letter I sent to the senators regarding the hastily put together Bill S.2800, now S2820. I, as well as many others are disappointed to say the least, with our elected officials who are trying to rush a bill into law for political reasons with blatant disregard for the safety of the majority of citizens in the state of Massachusetts. Just over a month ago law enforcement officers were regarded as heroes during the surge of Covid-19 here in Mass., many participating in birthday car parades for children unable to celebrate in normal fashion. They are still heroes, that hasn't changed. We should be doing MORE to protect not only law enforcement, but all of our municipal workers. We are watching the detrimental effects of giving more rights to lawbreakers and criminals than to those brave enough to uphold the law. Crime and violence is rapidly increasing throughout the country and especially in our major cities. Crime has been at multi - decade lows but that is now reversing at record pace. Boston will no doubt experience this extreme spike in crime if this bill is passed as is. What I know is that 5 other officers were shot in the past few years in the Southshore/Cape area alone; two of which paid the ultimate sacrifice with their lives; Officer Gannon and Officer Chesna and the latter because he hesitated taking necessary actions to stop the assailant who stole his gun and shot him. This bill will only lead to more of these dangerous situations. Cops will no longer be willing to take the risks necessary to do their jobs in fear of being persecuted for doing so. Policing will be reactive, not proactive as it has been. To my knowledge only one department- Springfield in a total of 357, has been investigated for any wrongdoing. This is not systemic. Please protect the rights of our public servants. This bill should not be passed without more careful consideration just to meet an unrealistic deadline or to satisfy a political agenda. It would be irresponsible and dangerous.

Respectfully,

Crystal Patsavos

Dear Legislator,

I'm writing in regards to the S.2800 Police Reform Bill currently being discussed. I am the wife of Dennis, Ma. police sergeant Nicholas Patsavos who was a recipient of the George L. Hanna Award for saving the life of a complete stranger while risking his own without hesitation. He has been an officer for over 20 years serving the community with compassion and the utmost respect for all citizens regardless of who they are. The VAST majority of police officers are kind, decent people who enter the profession to SAVE lives, NOT take them. For these brave men and women it is a calling and a job few are able to do as most of us are incapable of the sacrifices they make, and the risks they face daily. I have never been more disturbed by the vilification and demoralization of these heroes today. All should not be punished for the poor actions of very few. For the many "hats" they wear on any given shift - a variety of emergencies and tragedies they witness daily, we ask and expect a lot from them. They too are only human. Perfection at all times for any human being is not attainable yet some expect this from our officers. They deserve the respect and same constitutional rights that every citizen in the nation is entitled to. Though some form of police reform may be necessary - regardless of what any of you claim , this bill is being rushed and the consequences are not being fully thought through. Particularly, in regards to Qualified Immunity, which protects them from frivolous lawsuits when it is clear they are doing their jobs properly and in good faith acting reasonably in the eyes of the law. This does not protect those problem officers who don't act appropriately. Officers are in harms way at any given time and sometimes have to make life altering decisions that most of us can't even fathom in a matter of seconds. If they truly feel their life is in danger they should certainly have the right to protect it. They didn't sign up for the job to not have that right. Their loved ones constantly live in fear that one of these days they won't return home safely. I have two children and their dad is their hero. The choice they are left with in the event of a legitimate threat to their well being is either be killed or defend yourself and risk losing everything/possibly go to jail- just for doing the job we ask of them. Without qualified immunity officers are more at risk as well as every citizen because they won't risk taking the necessary measures to do their job effectively for fear of persecution for doing so. This is just wrong. I do not feel the majority of the public supports this, and far too many aren't even aware of this being pushed along by legislators at all. Laws and Bills need to protect EVERY citizen, police included. Most officers go way above and beyond the call of duty. They help citizens with so many different acts of kindness, Ive seen them do so- whether it's a meal for the homeless, shoveling a driveway for an elderly individual, giving a ride to someone in need, or emotional support to someone suffering loss and tragedy; not to mention rushing to aid anyone in need anywhere when off duty. My own husband has done so many times over the years because that's just what they do. They are our first line of protection always running towards the dangers the rest of us run away from. How quickly we forget the collapse of the Twin Towers/9-11, the marathon bombing, and countless other tragedies they've dealt with across this nation. Always in harms way rushing in to defend all of us- strangers of all colors. They deserve the same- to be protected and defended by every one of us. It is not fair for those who don't walk in their shoes to make decisions they are not experts on which will make it difficult for them to do their job. And that's if they even stick around long enough as many won't and are walking away across the country. Can't say I blame them. It will no longer be worth the risk for many of them. Please consider all of this to make the best possible informed decisions for ALL. I don't want to live in a world without police and one none of us are safe in. The treatment of police in general has been shameful and disgraceful. Those who decide to break the law should be held accountable on BOTH sides- law enforcement as well as the law breaker. Respectfully,

Crystal Patsavos, concerned citizen and police wife

I am a Police Officer and I am writing to you regarding bill S2820, which I do not support. These opinions are of my own and do not reflect on my employer. I work for a Community College in Boston. There I can interact with people in positive ways. I can help people make the right choices and direct them away from the criminal justice system. However, my hands will be tied if bill S2820 is passed. Most importantly if qualified immunity is removed.

If qualified immunity is removed law enforcement in Massachusetts will struggle to move forward. Police Officers will leave the profession in such massive numbers it will take years to recover. I fear that Officers that do stay will be under qualified, overwhelmed and only looking for a paycheck. This will lead to long wait times for calls of service. Qualified immunity does not protect that bad Officers out there, it protects good Officers who are doing the right thing and acting in good faith.

If qualified immunity is removed what worries me for example is a scenario like this. I go to a call for a car accident, upon arrival I notice a person trapped in the car that is on its side and its on fire. I pull the person out and they break their arm in the process. The insurance company sues me for their medical bills to reduce their payout to this person.

In conclusion I do not support this bill as it stands and there must be changes done before I can support it. I know if it passes as it stands, I will have to consider and think deep about looking for a new career that won't have these same negative impacts on my family.

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Pass SB.2800, Reform, Shift, Build Act

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Cheryl Clark. I am a resident of Jamaica Plain (Suffolk County). I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I have been disgusted by witnessing police brutality, particularly the inability to deescalate situations, use unnecessary force, and not to speak to the true humanity of all people.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Clark

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity, introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no-knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

This is the time to act and make our state into a shining beacon of justice and peace.

Subject: I am a Hispanic female police officer

I am a 30 year Hispanic female police officer in Worcester and I'm extremely concerned with this new bill. It removes the right for due process, collective bargaining and inserts a board with no training, experience or background in law enforcement.

I'm proud to say that I work with an overwhelming amount of great police officers who are professional, kind, honest and caring. I back officers in my city and state because I HAVE PERSONALLY WITNESSED for the past 7 years as an officer, the overwhelming professionalism my fellow officers show on a daily basis. Officers who are NOT racist, unjust or violent people. To allow this bill to pass is a total betrayal towards me (a minority female officer) and my fellow officers who consistently put our lives on the line for our City.

We are not the issue. Do not categorize us with what is happening in different states and allow us to continue to do our job safely.

I want to go home to my son every night and be protected against vindictive people who have no regards or respect for the law and law obeying citizens.

PLEASE VOTE NO!!!

Sincerely,

A mom and police officer.

Subject: S.2820 Bill Testimony

To Whom It May Concern,

I am reaching out to you today in regards to the proposed S.2820 bill. My name is Keith Klucznik and I have been a Worcester Police Officer for over four years now. I have taken pride in serving, protecting, and patrolling the neighborhoods of this great city I grew up in. Every day I enjoy putting on my uniform, getting in my cruiser, and interacting with the community. However, after reviewing the proposed bill, specifically the sections that involve Qualified Immunity, Collective Bargaining and Due Process, and the POSAC board, I am nervous as to how my career will be drastically affected.

I personally believe that these new proposals will make the job of a police officer extremely difficult and dangerous. Police Officers face dangerous and deadly situations constantly where split-second decisions need to be made in order to protect their own lives along with the lives of the citizens that call for our help. I believe that this new bill will cause myself and other officers to second guess our decision making in these dangerous situations. This brief pause in these situations can have deadly consequences for the lives of both Police Officers and citizens. I personally have had knives, machetes, and other weapons pulled on me while on calls in the city of Worcester. Just last night, July 16, 2020 I responded to two shootings, in which at one of them a two-year old female was struck by a piece of shrapnel in the leg. I am worried that this bill does not protect the rights of Police Officers, and we will not be able to perform our duties to the full potential. Officers will be concerned that they will suffer consequences where they would lose their jobs, houses, families, and even their own lives.

In regards to "Qualified Immunity," I believe that Police Officers will not be able to fully perform their duties in volatile situations. It will be difficult to act knowing that there is no protection for your actions under the Good Faith Doctrine. I would be fearful that if something were to happen when I was attempting to save a life or apprehend a violent criminal, that I could be sued and lose my job. Furthermore, having those actions judged by the proposed make up of the POSAC board makes me even more nervous. It is difficult to understand the stress and danger that goes into this profession if you have never been in these dangerous situations before. I would not feel that my career is safe with this proposed bill.

I write this e-mail to you today to urge you to strongly reconsider the passing of this S.2820 Bill. Thank you for your time and consideration in reading my testimony.

Regards,

Officer Keith Klucznik

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Hello, my name is Catherine (Dru) Greenwood with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 66 Winchester Street, Brookline, MA 02446. I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implementation of Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

I urge you to adopt the Senate language to reform the legal doctrine of qualified immunity. This reform will allow the few applicable cases to be heard by a jury without being dismissed because the particular violation of 4th amendment rights by a public official, such as a police officer, has never been previously contemplated by a statute or a court precedent. Those cases deserve to be heard on their merits, not thrown out using a non-statutory legal doctrine. It is simply outrageous that those who have suffered from the egregious violations of police officers cannot get their day in court.

In addition, it is clear that qualified immunity reform will not have devastating financial impact on any police officers as they are indemnified by the municipalities that employ them. Any such claims are not based on fact and should not be considered as you consider this reform.

Thank you very much.

Subject: ACT TO SAVE BLACK LIVES

"Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

Massachusetts can take a bold step towards ending systemic racism in policing by passing S. 2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

We need strong use of force guidelines for police in Massachusetts, public records of police misconduct, a duty to intervene policy, and bans on no-knock warrants, choke holds, tear gas, and other chemical weapons.

Please pass a bill that includes each of these critical reforms.

Key provisions of the legislation include: ? Ban the use of chokeholds, tear gas, and other dangerous "less than lethal" weapons and tactics ? Reform policies to require de-escalation before force is used ? New independent oversight of misconduct investigations ? Creates a "Duty to Intervene" when an officer witnesses excessive use of force ? Establishes that unnecessary use of force by an officer violates someone's civil rights ? Data collection and reporting processes to prevent abusive officers from being hired ? Ban "No Knock" warrants ? Create public records of police misconduct investigations and outcomes

July 17, 2020

Re: S.2820 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees,

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

Thank you for the opportunity to submit written testimony in support of expanding the expungement law as the House takes up S.2820 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and directly relates to over representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

The Children's League of Massachusetts is an ever-growing statewide non-profit association of over 60 private and public organizations and individuals that collectively advocate for public policies and quality services that are in the best interest of the Commonwealth's children, youth and families. Many of our member provide services to children and families in the child welfare system - and hire qualified individuals with juvenile records that as a result of their lived experiences - are better able to serve as role models to children in residential, foster, and adoption programs.

CLM supports this bill in order to ensure that that individuals are afforded the opportunity to find and retain gainful without being held back by a juvenile record, particularly when their record does not serve a public safety concern. Juvenile records prevent access to higher education, employment, housing, becoming a foster parent and other opportunities. This is true even for individuals who were not found to have done anything wrong - under current law, restrictions on expungement eligibility are true even if a case is dismissed or the child is found to have not committed the offense.

That being said, juvenile records create lifelong barriers to success. The lawsuit, Gregory v. Commonwealth filed by the Lawyer's for Civil rights on behalf of childcare workers impacted by their juvenile records, highlights a problem that also affects child welfare service providers - an already fragile workforce committed to serving the Commonwealth's children.

To explain this more: As you are aware, the Department of Early Education and Care (EEC) is one of the agencies that has access to juvenile records, including sealed juvenile records, for background checks for all employees, volunteers of agencies licensed by EEC - child care agencies, private child care providers - and residential placements (non-child care). As of October 2018, EEC began phasing in regulatory changes to its background record check process (BRC) which have unjustly excluded some prospective and pre-existing employees from serving children in child care, residential care, and foster and adoption placement services. Specifically, the new regulations have expanded and re-categorized Criminal Offender Record Information (CORI) findings, and the accompanying disqualifying offenses as well as how these findings are applied to both candidates for employment and currently employed staff, which is resulting in what appears to be biased permanent exclusion from the field.

EEC has applied its revised and expanded CORI standards retroactively, culminating in long time employees being notified by EEC that they are no longer considered "suitable" for employment and employers informed that they must terminate these employees due to things like minor juvenile records. In one example an exceptional candidate with lived experience, was told to walk away due to charges from over 32 years ago.

If passed, this legislation would ensure that juvenile records that are expunged would not be subject to a background check and would allow individuals a chance to succeed and not be haunted by irrelevant childhood transgressions. States where there are minimal barriers to clearing juvenile records have significantly reduced re-arrest, recidivism rates and increased college graduation and incomes as these young people transition to adulthood.

We respectfully urge the House to work diligently to retain the expungement expansion and work diligent for its passage.

Subject: Senate bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Jacqueline M. Sueldo Guevara and I live at 579 Raymond Rd, Plymouth, MA, 02360.

As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Jacqueline M. Sueldo Guevara

Hello,

I am a resident of Brighton, MA and I unequivocally support the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800).

Massachusetts has always been on the forefront of states passing legislation to support the people that live here and we've never shied away from decisions that seemed radical at the time. I have always been proud of MA being the first state to legalize gay marriage, and I hope to see us continue to make the right choices ahead of the curve and set the standard for the rest of the country to follow. It's time to eliminate qualified immunity, ban chokeholds, reallocate state funds to communities disproportionately impacted by the criminal justice system, and allow the Mass AG to file lawsuits against discriminatory police departments. I hope to see this legislation pass so I can continue to be a proud resident.

Thank you,

Ian

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely, Francis Mooney

Subject: Please support law enforcement and look at bill S2820 with a fine tooth comb

Dear Chairman Michelwitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

My name is James M. Casey and I am a Sergeant with the Rehoboth Massachusetts Police Department. I am writing to ask that you not support the now called bill S2820. As you know the State Senate recently passed bill S2800 in the wee hours of the morning earlier this week. That bill as it is written is a knee jerk reaction to what happened to Greg Floyd thousands of miles away. That incident was an unfortunate one and I can assure you that I nor anyone in the Law Enforcement community stands with and/or condones what former Officer Derek Chauvin did to Mr. Floyd. Mr. Chauvin deserves to go to jail for a very long time.

I have been a police officer in Rehoboth for almost twenty years. In that time I have met many fine men and women who I have worked along side in Rehoboth and from other agencies throughout the State of Massachusetts. I can tell you that I have never seen any behavior such as the behavior of Mr. Chauvin's during the course of my career from any of these officers. As we all have gone through a police academy taught by the MPTC none of use have been training in a "choke" hold. That is not a part of our defensive tactics continuum. In my twenty years of service I have never observed an officer place any subject we were dealing with in a "choke" hold. With that said, I do believe that there is one instance when such a hold should be permissible. That only instance would be if an officer is in the fight of their life with someone trying to retain their duty weapon. Should that officer feel as though they are going to loose their weapon then and only then should a "choke" hold be permissible. Under no other circumstance should it be allowed. I ask that when the time comes to vote you consider this point.

Bill S2820 as it is written looks to limit the use of tear gas and pepper spray. Again if you look at our use of force continuum you will see that a subjects actions determines what level of force we go to. During the academy we are all required to be spray with pepper spray so we experience the affect of the aerosol. It was not a pleasant one but as an asthmatic I survived. In my twenty year career I have had to utilize pepper spray a handful of times but have had to show it countless times in trying to gain control of a situation. Being able to communicate and deescalate situations has prevented me from having to utilize this tool. I ask that when the time comes to vote you consider this point.

Sir and Madame, I would also ask that you consider that should the qualified immunity that protects officers in the times that we have to make a split second decision be taken away not only is the individual officer going to suffer but the public that we serve will also suffer. That is not to say that we in law enforcement should not be held accountable for our actions should we violate the law or someone's civil rights. I do believe that we as law enforcement officer should be held to a higher standard than the citizens that we protect and serve. I did not get into this career to abuse the power that was granted to me as a privilege over the people I swore to protect and serve almost twenty years ago. If we loose the qualified immunity then officers will begin to second guess themselves in a time of crisis and that could be catastrophic for the officer, the person he is trying to protect along with that officer's family. I go to work every day knowing that it could be the last day I see my wife and my children. Some people would say well "he knew the risks when he took the job". That is true. I love my job. I love the my brothers and sisters that I work with. I love the people of the town I work in. If called upon to make the ultimate sacrifice for them I will. There are thousands of officers throughout the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that are willing to make the same sacrifice as I am.

Any changes to qualified immunity would not be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

There are many other aspects of bill S2820 that I do not agree with but this email would go on and on. I ask that as you review this bill should you know any police officers personally speak with them about their experience and how this bill would change how they do their job.

In closing I would like to thank you both for your dedicated service to the people of what I think of as the greatest state in the country. As my job does, I know that your job takes you away from your families at times that are not the most convenient. Please stay safe and healthy.

Hi,

I am voicing my support for Bill S2820. I am a Roxbury Crossing resident and I am ashamed with how Boston and Mass has treated our residents of color lesser, blatantly and consistently.

Now is a time for change. Not next year, not next month, now. People of color have been discriminated against, assaulted, and murdered in this country for over a century and continue to be victims today.

It's time we strive for true equity, time we make real progress, time we enact justice.

We're all watching, very, very closely.

Do the right thing.

Best,
Miles

To Whom it May Concern:

My husband is a police officer and I am a nurse practitioner. We have put years and years of hard work, and our own blood, sweat and tears into attaining our dream careers. Ending qualified immunity puts our careers, as well as our lives and others at risk.

I am beyond frustrated, sickened and saddened over the divide in our country right now. I worked in a COVID-19 hospital during the pandemic, and saw more heartbreak, death and torn-apart families than I thought I would see in a lifetime. Essential workers like nurses and police officers worked tirelessly. Like many other nurses, doctors, paramedics, etc. , I truly put my life on the line everyday, and experienced a mere taste of what my husband, a police officer, feels every single day he walks out the door.

These are unprecedented times, and our country should be coming together to lift each other up, but instead we are more divided than ever due to recent events. I have not met one police officer, or one person for that matter, that has not acknowledged the horrendous nature of George Floyd's catalytic death. I recognize and understand the need for change. However, I do not believe that abolishing qualified immunity is the appropriate way to achieve this change. Qualified immunity is NOT a "get out of jail free" card. It does NOT allow us to perform unlawful acts without consequence. It does NOT protect us from the law, reprimand, loss of our jobs, or paying back damages in money, time, etc. when we act negligently. It does NOT give us the excuse to act irresponsibly or unconstitutionally. It does NOT allow us to work incompetently or knowingly violate the law. It does however allow us some protection when are acting in a prudent and reasonable manner, based on the education, rules and regulations surrounding our jobs.

If qualified immunity is abolished, I fear that you will not only see a profound number of frivolous lawsuits, but a mass exodus of essential workers like myself and my husband. Both my husband and I have jobs where split second decisions sometimes have to be made, usually in high-stress environments. The lack of qualified immunity will cause hesitancy and delay when making these decisions, which can affect the safety of all involved- whether it be my husband's safety, the safety of the person he is trying to save, the safety of the patient I am trying to save.... the list goes on.

I urge you vote against ending qualified immunity. I acknowledge that there is room for change and improvement. However ending qualified immunity and the ability for public servants to perform their job to the best of their ability is not the right way to bring about change.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Courtney Bendiksen, MSN, AGACNP-BC

Subject: Written Testimony for Police Reform Bill

To the Esteemed Members of the House of Representatives:

My name is Lawrence Napolitano. I am a police officer in the town of Shrewsbury. I graduated from the College of the Holy Cross with a Bachelor's degree in sociology and received my Masters degree from UMass Lowell in Criminal Justice. I am writing today in regards to the police reform act that entails many different facets and will impact policing in the Commonwealth for years to come.

The first issue that I would like to discuss is in regards to Qualified Immunity. The changes made in regards to Qualified Immunity that were made in the Senate Bill will have a dramatic impact on not only police officers but all of our Massachusetts communities. State courts would have to develop a whole body of case law to interpret this new language. This will just lead to more uncertainty for everyone. As a police officer, I will constantly be asking myself can I be sued for this action.

For example, If police go to a domestic situation and lock up the husband for beating up his wife. When it goes to trial, as often happens in domestic situations, the wife invokes spousal privilege and refuses to testify against her husband. The case then gets dismissed, the husband can now come back and sue the police for wrongful arrest. He does not need to pursue these claims in federal court where most civil rights violations are currently heard, instead he will bring these claims forward in state court. Since these amendments will limit Qualified Immunity in Massachusetts, the majority of people will bring these cases to State courts.

Regardless of the outcome of the civil case, continue the scenario. The wife calls the police yet again for her husband physically attacking her, how do the police respond? They have a duty to act but should those officers have to once again worry about being sued for attempting to save this woman?

Yet another example, an officer arrests an impaired operator for Operating Under the Influence. The resulting case is found not guilty which happens more than 80% of the time in Massachusetts, even higher in some district courts as illustrated from the Boston Globe article from a few years back. That operator can now come back to sue the arresting officer and the town in which he was arrested. What do you think will happen next? Whether the officer and town are held liable or not, both parties are not going to want to go down this road again. The officer is going to stop making Operating Under the Influence arrests for fear of losing everything he worked so hard for and the town is going to encourage him to stop making those arrests.

Changes to qualified immunity does not just affect police officers, it affects all government officials. The number of lawsuits will skyrocket and flood state courts with the provision for attorney fees to be awarded to plaintiffs. There needs to be so much more careful consideration in regards to changes to qualified immunity. Legal scholars, academics and members of the judiciary committee need to carefully consider these changes and report back to the legislative body before any changes to Qualified Immunity go forward.

Some legislators may be pointing to lack of changes in the Indemnification Law as a reason why the Qualified Immunity changes are minor but that does not always apply to Municipal Officers like myself. The State Executive Branch and Legislators like yourselves are protected for up to $1,000,000 for violations as long as you are not willful or malicious. Massachusetts State Police have a special statute of their own that also protects them from these claims. Most Municipal Officers have none of that. So now the burden will shift back to the towns and cities to create these protections in order to keep and protect police officers.

My second point of discussion in regards to this bill involves my Due Process Rights. Why should the board deciding my fate be made up of primarily non law enforcement personnel? Why can't this professional board be like every other professional board in the Commonwealth? In my opinion the board should be made up of a majority of law enforcement professionals, with appropriate and limited non-law enforcement representation.

I understand that some individuals are frustrated with the inability to get rid of unfit officers. No one dislikes a "bad cop" more than a "good cop". They make our job so much more difficult on a day to day basis. Police chiefs can get rid of unfit officers by following the appropriate guidelines. Civil service law acknowledges that processes at city and municipal levels are inherently biased. There needs to be an appeals process with an independent arbitrator to ensure that everyone has their due rights. The reason why public employees need just cause protections and appeals is to protect against political influence and other agendas. These changes will eliminate these protections and make political influence so much stronger.

I believe that most police officers in the Commonwealth take pride in doing the very best job that they can for all of the citizens of this great state. I do however completely understand the push for a change. If we as a society are not evolving and changing then we are for all intensive purposes dead. Massachusetts is not like other states, a lot of these recommendations are based on things that happen in other parts of the country not here. I am afraid that if these amendments pass as is, you will see many good police officers decide that the stress of the job is too much and the job is not worth it. You will lose way more than you gain and in my opinion, that does not make us any better as a society.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Napolitano

Subject: S.2800 Police reform bill

representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street <x-apple-data-detectors://2>

Boston, MA 02133 <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Robert Capone and I live at 53 Old Marlboro Road in Maynard, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard in the Massachusetts House of Representatives tomorrow for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straight-forward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant (most likely a police officer) before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far-reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Very truly yours,

Robert S. Capone

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Scott Doherty

We live in a country of rules and laws.

If people break those laws they are innocent until proven guilty.

A sentence is handed down.

If the police department wants to have social justice training, so be it...we have all been forced one way or another.

I disagree with your idea that a commission needs to be put into place to do anything that you stated.

I disagree with you of increasing the size government in my state of Massachusetts

What are you all thinking? No, is what I say to the new "commission".

"No" to bigger state government.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Good morning,

I'm writing today to voice support of the bill before the house to end qualified immunity, eliminate chokeholds, and take on other police reform. Police are treated as a protected class in our state – they rarely get in trouble if they do something wrong, yet they wield extraordinary power over the population. Simply put, a group that has this much power and abuses it constantly, in the supposed name of protecting the people, needs to be dramatically re-thought. The police, in many instances, create more fear than they do safety. This bill would be a great first step in reducing some of that power and the culture of fear that the police propagate.

I've lived in Massachusetts for ten years. I've never had an especially negative interaction with the police. I'm also white. To me this represents that the story everyone has been telling – that the police target and terrorize Black people – is true. We then need a concerted effort on eliminating that bias – this means the history of racism training that this bill proposes.

It also means dramatically rethinking the role of the police in our state in the first place. We need to think hard about whether we need someone with a gun to check on a noise complaint or someone sleeping on a bench. We don't. This bill doesn't go here, I don't think. But that's the next step.

Again, I hope that the House votes to pass this bill. Policing is obviously broken – we won't get anywhere unless we try to do something to fix it.

Stay safe and healthy,

With great urgency I ask that you exercise the utmost scrutiny to the police reform bill before you.

I have never had a complaint filed against me in nearly 20 years of service as police officer in the commonwealth of Massachusetts. I think that's the type of officer you strive to have in policing. I have boxes of cards and letters from the community and I have kept nearly every one as a reminder of the positive impact I have on people's lives. Nobody in my family was in law enforcement. Not one person. In fact, most of my family vehemently tried to persuade me against it. Still, after serving 4 years active duty in the U.S. Army, deploying Desert Shield and Desert Storm, I returned to Massachusetts to continue to serve yet again on a local level. When people say they support our troops but hate police, it blows my mind! In many cases, you're talking about the exact same person!

I am one of 3 females on my department. I have always been treated with respect and the utmost dignity. The men I work alongside are professional and respectful to a fault. I'm proud to belong among them in this noble profession.

The public, however has not always been so respectful. I've been called every name you can imagine. Every vulgar thing you can say to a woman has been hurled my way. I've been kicked, punched, spit on, concussed, threatened, and indecently assaulted. My family has vicariously endured this as well. The most that has ever been done over all these years to any person who has physically assaulted me or threaten to kill me and/or my entire family was probation! Even if they were already on probation, guess what happened? Just a little longer probation. What message does that send to the officer? I can tell you; it sends a message loud and clear that we aren't worth anything and our families don't mean much either! Our injuries are not taken into consideration and are "just part of the job". This is entirely unacceptable! Before now, NONE of this made me consider leaving this profession or walk away from my duty.

If you wonder why we are hyper-alert and suspicious of everyone, it's because we lose officers every day across our nation. We get the Officer Down alerts and it feels just a little bit closer. It's because courts are regularly turning people loose who are violent, carrying guns, ...stolen guns, repeatedly! We know we will surely be encountering those people; we just don't have the benefit of knowing in advance, it could be anyone at any time. I can't tell you the shock I am in when I encounter someone who is one their 2nd, 3rd, 4th or more illegal gun charge walking around free in society! What!? The public is not aware that this is even happening! We know it's happening and what these folks are capable of, and they have learned that minimal consequences, if any, will follow. The public doesn't have the benefit of this insight unless they unfortunately fall victim. These are people that have no respect or regard for us, the public or even themselves!

The same is true for the soaring mental health problem. What I'm saying is that all of these problems are continuously dumped back on police and the involved agencies are letting us down! We are in a lose-lose situation where we are being set up to fail. Police cannot cure all that ails society, but we sure are taking the bulk of the blame for it, including race issues and claims that we are not "trained" enough. If I may agree in the training regard that when we routinely are called to a group home or ½ way house for someone that the trained professionals can no longer handle. Are we somehow supposed to be trained beyond the level of mental health professionals in that field? If it's beyond their scope, how would we ever become trained well enough that we surpass the career training of these mental health professionals?

Repeated calls to these situations are often violent and are among the most dangerous and challenging we face. Many group homes are housing people in residential area that are way beyond their ability and scope to treat in that type of environment. We are fully aware that we are likely going to be put in a situation where we need to protect ourselves and others but that any physical contact with these parties will be viewed as unnecessary or excessive. At times we have to take an officer off the road to ride in the ambulance in order to protect the paramedics, while they fight and spit, putting everyone at risk of biological hazards or injury.

Meaningful change needs to occur in our mental health response! Mental health related calls have exploded. They are the bulk of what we deal with now. If there is a belief that some funding should be moved from policing to social programs, and those programs include a SERIOUS mental health initiative, we are on board! Those calls however, need to be shifted away from police and toward those mental health agencies. They need to be removed from police responses, because that's where your calls will go bad and the liability comes in for the officer, agency and community. The things that nobody wants to deal with, routinely land in our lap. Go deal with it, but afterwards, "we don't like how you dealt with it". It's because it should not have been the police dealing with it in the first place.

Mental health is the root of the vast majority of our most serious issues. If you properly deal with mental health, you avoid the consequences of mental health problems. We have a "lack of coping skills" in this country. When people can't properly "cope", they hurt themselves, they hurt others, they abuse drugs and alcohol, self-medicate. This in turn causes people to commit property crimes, get involved in drug activity or commit offenses to accommodate the lifestyle. It all truly comes back to not being able to properly cope in life and the result of that struggle.

Again, I cannot stress enough that we are failing at dealing with this key issue and we have been for a long time! Officers are routinely put in a position to take someone into custody for drugs/alcohol/mental health for a civil commitment against their will. The revolving door spits these folks back out without any meaningful assistance. I've personally taken some of the same individuals dozens of times. Now they are angry at the family members and they are angry at police. This doesn't make it easier. It makes it a lot harder!

Again, a recipe for disaster that does nothing to help anyone involved, builds frustration and creates a dangerous situation for everyone involved.

This reform bill that threatens qualified immunity and threatens to potentially bankrupt me and my family, makes me want to leave policing immediately.

I know I'm asked a lot of in policing, even risking my life and safety. I went into it knowing that. What I didn't know was that now they'd be asking me to potentially sacrifice my financial security on the whim of someone from the public making a claim against me, who wouldn't hesitate to lie or embellish the incident, after all, they're already willing to assault me and threaten me. Now place some monetary incentive behind it and you can imagine the potential.

How much is too much to ask of someone from their job? Well, I'll tell you that being at risk of criminal charges, and losing your assets when you believe you are doing the right thing, would be your answer. Where is the upside to this profession now? What is the incentive to keep doing the honorable thing when you are constantly vilified regardless of how you conduct yourself? Even when you're right, you could now be wrong based on a point of view from people who don't understand the pressure and circumstances of this job and what people are actually willing to do, even to a female (I'm someone's Mom).

I have been part of the CISM Peer Support Team for about 5 years. I don't get paid for this. I do it because it's important to help people. I care about the mental health of the folks in this profession who see the most gruesome, heinous, unimaginable things out there, all while trying to juggle their own lives and the inevitable struggles that come with it. A lot of folks are suffering from what they have had to respond to. This causes lasting detrimental effects. Poor mental health causes poor decision making. Not a good combination when you must do it quickly and often!

I urge you to rethink this bill and some of the extreme things it's asking of our men and women in blue. I implore you to at the very least, see that this bill includes Critical Incident Stress Mgmt. and Peer Support Programs, and preserve our due process and qualified (not absolute) immunity. Our officers are being vilified for the actions of officers we've never even met and probably never would. I can think of no other profession that is punished across the board in this manner. We drop everything to come to everyone else's aid when they need help. Who will come to our aid? Who is helping us?

At the bare minimum, officer mental wellness needs to be a priority. We are going to need it!

I'm a member of our department's hiring board. It's a time consuming, rigorous, careful process. Over the past few years, the quality and quantity of candidates has dropped substantially. The best candidates, not surprisingly are going to jobs with better working conditions, hours, respect and pay. I worry what kind of candidates would now be willing to step up to do this job, as most intelligent, talented people will undoubtedly pass on this.

We welcome opportunities to improve our tactics and raise the standards of our chosen profession. The public needs to bring their standards up as well!

We no longer seem to be teaching respect and law-abiding behaviors. Every call we go on now is a debate or worse. It has become a sport to challenge officers in even the most minor interaction. We didn't get the benefit of safely working from home, time off or incentive checks during this COVID-19 crisis. We did what was asked of us despite the risk to ourselves and our families. We enjoyed a brief moment of gratitude from the public and then just like that, the sickening act of one distant officer made every single one of us monsters. Is that a best practice for raising the bar in any profession? Is that really how it's supposed to work?

It makes me sad for society going forward.

There are a lot a good people in our community, and many of them work alongside me. Our communities will lose compassionate, upstanding, professional officers who have years of experience and formal education. Many volunteer in the community or commit quiet acts of kindness that nobody ever hears about.

I ask that you do the right thing and consider the impact this will have on the men and women who give so much to people, who at times care so little for us.

Respectfully,

Kelly A. Chuilli

Dear Judiciary Committee;

As a taxpayer and resident of Sterling, I strongly urge you to vote "no" on this bill. Though some changes may be needed in police reform in our state, the changes to "qualified immunity" in this bill are misguided. Allowing plaintiffs to sue police officers, fire personnel, first responders and all municipal employees at the state level for any perceived wrong doing will lead to unlimited litigation subsidized by taxpayers in each and every town and city.

Given the current fiscal challenges all municipalities face each year, adding the sure to be enormous legal costs to each community would be a financial nightmare.

Please vote "no" on this version of S2820.

Good afternoon, my name is Shannon Fabiano and I reside in Charlestown Ma. My husband is a 20 year member of the Boston Police department as well a Dad of 4 children. These past months have been a living hell for my children and I, we sit up worrying constantly about his safety. Now, we have to worry about if we will be sued for everything we worked hard for. This bill will limit his duties to serve and protect the residents of Boston who deserve the best from him. Please please I beg you to reconsider.

Subject: GBIO: Caro Murphy Police Reform Story

To: Representative Aaron Michlewitz, Chairperson, House Committee on Ways and Means

Representative Claire Cronin, Chairperson, Joint Committee on the Judiciary

My name is Caro Murphy with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization and I've lived in the Greater Boston Area for the last decade. I live at 11 Parker St, Watertown MA. 02472. Like most white people, I grew up believing the police were here to protect us. I no longer believe that. When I see blue lights, I feel afraid, and this is just a fraction of what my BIPOC friends have felt for their entire lives.

I'd like to share with you a story about how our police behave, to show you how pressing it is for these reforms to be passed.

One spring day in 2018, my partner called me, asking me to remember the name and badge number of a Boston Police officer. He was terrified.

He had been walking along Chauncy Street in the city, and had tossed a peanut M&M aside, discarding it, and it had bounced off of a nearby vehicle. The driver of the vehicle became irate, revving his engines and honking excessively. He then u-turned around in the middle of the one-way street, and drove up onto the sidewalk to block my partner's passage. The driver got out of the car and started yelling at my partner. He then lifted his shirt to reveal a gun that he had tucked into his belt.

Next, he revealed himself to be a plain-clothes Boston Police Officer, and produced a badge which had previously been tucked into his shirt. Only after committing several traffic violations that endangered the safety of pedestrians and other vehicles, verbally abusing, and physically threatening a man with a gun did the officer bother to mention that he was a cop.

All this over a peanut M&M.

Now my partner is lucky. He's lucky because he's very well educated about his rights, and used this knowledge to let the officer know he was out of line. He's lucky because there were many building cameras directed at them that could verify the officer's improper reaction, and he let the officer he would be willing to let the legal system decide who was in the wrong. He's lucky because he kept his calm, and was able to get away from that situation unscathed. But most importantly-- my partner is lucky because he's white.

If he had not been white, it's not hard to imagine that the situation would have gone down very, very differently.

The stories we hear about police using unnecessary force and intimidation are so common it's laughable, but I'm not laughing. This is not just an isolated problem-- it is a massive systemic issue in our nation, and yes, our state, that needs to be addressed right now. We need to pass these police reforms, and we need them to be strong-- it cannot wait any longer.

I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implement Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Thank you very much.

To whom it may concern,
I'm writing to you to in support of the bill on police reform. There is NO reason for murder and violence by police officers.
I write to you as a 31 year old, 5ft3inch, female who has worked on an inpatient psychiatry unit and in psychiatric emergency services for the last 9 years. I've been assaulted and threatened several times. I have no armor, no weapons, and I'm still here. I've learned how to use non violent crisis intervention. I've leaned now to use hands off de-escalation techniques. I spent the time to learn how to support those in need and manage my own fears rather than hit back. Why do police feel that they are in danger when they have weapons, shields, power. Chokeholds need to be banned. Chemical weapons need to be banned. Police constantly use the excuse of being "fearful of their life" and reacting yet an individual with no training is being asked to instantly be in complete control of their biological fight/flight response. This needs to change.
I also work with children who are living in a state of constant fear. These children see police not protecting them and feel alone. This violence is causing long term trauma which in turn leads to challenges controlling emotional response. So how to you expect these children to grow up and not be fearful, not run, not be distrusting, when the violence that this system is build around puts them in this position. Boston has been a leader in this country on so many important issues. We need to step up and protect ALL of our people. Show the rest of the country how police reform works. Do it right, do better. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Good Morning,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Siiri Morley. I am a resident of Jamaica Plain and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I stand with March like a Mother: for Black Lives because I am a citizen that believes our liberation is all connected and that none of us are free until all of us are free. I am a white woman who is also a mother to a 3 year old white boy. I know that my son will move through his life in a privileged and safe way. He will be given the benefit of the doubt when encountering the police, while other boys his age who are Black and brown will be targeted and potentially murdered. My own brother, if he had been Black, would likely not be alive today - or would very likely be held behind bars. Instead, because he was seen as "a bright kid with a promising future" he has no record and is living a prosperous life.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

I moved from Ohio nearly a decade ago and am proud that MA is considered a progressive state. This Bill is the minimum the State must do. Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin, resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

Massachusetts can take a bold step towards ending systemic racism in policing by passing S. 2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift

We need strong use of force guidelines for police in Massachusetts, public records of police misconduct, a duty to intervene policy, and bans on no-knock warrants, choke holds, tear gas, and other chemical weapons.

Please pass a bill that includes each of these critical reforms.

Thank you for your consideration

My name is Robert Rinn, I am a retired Police Officer, retiring after serving over 38 years in the Dedham (5) and Norwood (33+). I am currently serving as a Special Police Officer in Norwood.

I am writing to ask that the House vote no on this bill, or at least a large part of the bill for many reasons. I think you all know that Police officer's all over the country are disgusted and have made those feelings know over the death of George Floyd. Nobody hates a bad cop more than a good cop.

Regarding the bill I would like to say that the Commonwealth has some of the most highly trained Police Officers in the country that embraced training on Dealing With Persons Suffering Mental Health Issues long before other states. I've have been trained on this for approx. the last 10 years. We were also one of the states that began implementing Community Policing programs very early and many of these programs have become models for other police agencies across the country. Most police officers in Massachusetts hold college degrees (many with Master's degrees and several with Law degrees)related to policing as well as their Police Academy training, Specialized training, and yearly in-service training and updates.

Massachusetts has seen very few incidents of injuries or deaths due to police brutality or police misconduct. There will always be some injuries and deaths associated with policing and it is certainly the hope that none of these will be due to brutality or misconduct. No police officer puts his or her uniform on at the beginning of their tour thinking, "What can I get away with or who can I hurt today. ". Quite the contrary they get ready thinking 2 things, I hope I can help someone today and I pray that I will go home safe to my family when the day is done.

This bill would make changes to Qualified Immunity for Police Officers and many other professions who are employed by the state or municipalities such as Firefighters, Teachers, EMT's, Paramedics, Nurses. All first responders who are called upon to act in emergency situations to save lives and property. It would not change the Absolute Immunity of the court employees or Judges though. Kind of a slap in the face to the people who RUN into trouble instead of away don't you think. These same people who were being praised after 911 and during the pandemic we are now living with.

It would also create boards and committees to judge and second guess police officers interactions with criminals and others. I am not opposed to oversight for officers actions but the bill proposes people sitting on these boards and committees who have no police or law enforcement experience. Wouldn't it make sense to have law enforcement representatives on these or at minimum have the people sitting and judging officers to have some experience.

The bill also wants to ban chokeholds I was never trained to use a chokehold and never have used one in 43 years of professional policing. It also addresses use of teargas or chemical agents, there are times that these need to be used as less than lethal means to quell a disturbance or take a violent person into custody.

It also talks about police departments securing or purchasing military grade equipment. Who is in a better position to know what a department needs to police their city or town. Lowell, Boston, or Lynn may certainly need different equipment than Brimfield or Whately. This cannot and should not be legislated with a broad brush by people who don't have experience. It is nothing more than an unnecessary knee jerk reaction to an incident that happened far away from Massachusetts.

In closing I would ask that this bill as written in a hurried and haphazard manner that will make many changes that will prove to be detrimental not only to the police but dangerous for every citizen of the Commonwealth be voted down.

It would make far more sense and be a far more educated and dignified response to vote it down and come back during the next legislative session and take the time to draft and adopt a bill that addresses citizen concerns with discussion and input from all sides so that we can get it right the first time. The citizens and the police deserve this instead of a kick in the head from the screaming minority and a knee jerk reaction by government.

Thank you for putting this on record and considering my thought during your deliberations on this bill.

Sincerely,

Robert Rinn

Subject: Police Reform

I would like to register my support for the following:

- * Juvenile Justice Data Transparency (as filed in H.2141)
- * End the automatic prosecution of teenagers, but raising the age of juvenile jurisdiction past the 18th birthday (as filed in H.3420)
- * Expand expungement eligibility (as passed in S.2820, Sections 59-61)
- * Protect the profiling of students in schools (as passed in S.2820, Sections 49)
- * End police placement in schools, and require Public accountability for what police do in schools. (as passed in S.2820, Section 50)

There can be no justice without these important reforms that hold police accountable for their actions, and begin to dismantle the militarized police state we find ourselves in.

Thank you very much,

To whom it may concern:

This bill deserves more conversation. And I would appreciate it if you would take the time to really read what is written in the bill and how it will negatively affect everyone, not just whites, not just blacks, but everyone. And then make revisions so that all people are treated fairly and with respect.

Qualified Immunity allows for an officer to save a child's life without concern of being sued. Or going forward, will a waiver need to be signed prior to an officer attempting to save a life? That seems a waste of time. For example: If he were to break the child's rib in order to save him, Qualified Immunity protects the officer from a civil lawsuit for accidentally breaking the child's rib. Same for a man or woman having a heart attack and CPR is administered by the officer. Qualified Immunity allows that officer to save that life without fear of being sued. Qualified immunity doesn't apply to officers in situations when they have worked outside the framework of lawful behavior. Nor should it. Therefore, if you were to limit or remove Qualified Immunity, basically you are jeopardizing the safety and well-being of the officers, their families and ultimately the communities and every single person in those communities.

Please don't just feed into what is happening elsewhere and jump on the bandwagon. Please really consider what is right for the residents of Massachusetts.

Thank you for your time in reading my comments.

Subject: Bill S2800

I am writing this in hopes that the House Judiciary Committee will re-evaluate the language of Bill S.2820. As a law enforcement officer with over 23 years of experience in Massachusetts I am horrified by the impulsive, agenda driven actions that some of our politicians are taking in this "police reform" bill. Everyone in our profession is open to improving the quality of service that we provide to our communities but none of us deserve to be treated as the problem and left out to dry by the communities that we have sworn to protect. We have worked in conjunction with our communities over the past 20 years to build relationships, increase transparency and accountability. Massachusetts is not Minneapolis and our law enforcement officers should not be painted with the same broad brush because of the actions of a few officers clear across the country. The media and politically driven narrative is painting all officers as racist and abusive, which is just plain not true and is eating at the core of the honest, hardworking men and women serving our communities with integrity every day.

It is alarming to me that some of the politicians putting together this bill have no idea the potential long-term repercussions it will have on our society as a whole. They are not educated, although many think they are, on what Qualified Immunity is and more importantly what it is not. They are making decisions based on philosophical ideals and not based on actual evidence or practical applications.

The origins of the situations that have happened throughout our country have many layers yet we are trying to solve them with one broad ranging and misdirected bill. For far too long the training, education and value of police officers has been deficient. How does it make sense in a modern society to expect a human being to be an expert in all of the areas that default to law enforcement yet many departments have minimum qualifications of a high school diploma? How are law enforcement officers expected to deal every day with violent, disrespectful, highly agitated people on their worst day under rapidly evolving tense situations and be Monday morning quarterbacked by individuals that have never been in those situations and do not know all of the circumstances? How do we expect officers to deal with individuals in mental health crisis or those situations of life and death but we cut and only provide minimal training to those officers? Why does society look at a police officer's salary and benefits with disdain and look to minimize their value to their communities? Yet with all of these issues, and others, the first option to default to when something goes bad, which is very rarely by the way, is to question the motives and integrity of the officer involved. How do well educated elected officials and others in our community come to these conclusions? I know one thing for sure that if this bill passes as written we will see a huge increase in experienced officers leaving the field and we will be attracting a lot less qualified candidates for this thankless job. We are tired of being vilified by those we serve!

Changes need to be made, there is no doubt about that. Let's make real changes to have positive impacts on our community. President Barack Obama addressed this issue back in 2015 by saying "Too often, law enforcement gets scapegoated for the broader failures of our society and criminal justice system. I know that you do your jobs with distinction no matter the challenges you face. That's part of wearing the badge". Let's stop looking for the easy answer, let's stop the scapegoating and let's start having the honest conversations that can create substantive change for all!

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

Massachusetts can take a bold step towards ending systemic racism in policing by passing S. 2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

We need strong use of force guidelines for police in Massachusetts, public records of police misconduct, a duty to intervene policy, and bans on no-knock warrants, choke holds, tear gas, and other chemical weapons.

Please pass a bill that includes each of these critical reforms.

The bill will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals.

If the senate bill is passed in its current form, the cost to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

Dear Rep. Mark:

I write to you as a constituent and most importantly as a proud mother of two law enforcement officer sons, one serving the Town of Northampton and the other serving the Massachusetts State Police. I did not choose these careers for either son. The boys decided their own life paths, and I have supported their decisions always despite the anxiety and fears those decisions have added to my life. My fears for their safety (and their happiness) have never been more palpable than they are today. I fear passage of S.2820 will only make things worse for them. Please consider the following as you begin debate in the House.

I'm writing to offer my comments on Bill S.2820. I am thrilled that Massachusetts is taking a leadership position in re-balancing qualified immunity for police and other public employees. I am a municipal employee myself, and firmly believe that amending qualified immunity is one way that we can insure that state/city government works in the best interests of citizens. We need police accountability now-- please continue to prioritize these interests moving forward.

Subject: House Bill S2800

I am writing to you today to express my strong opposition to S.2800 which was passed by the Senate. I ask that you oppose this bill when it is debated in the House of Representatives. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities.

S2800 establishes a review committee board with overly broad powers, including the power of subpoena and in active investigations. Review boards typically review a process or an event after it has occurred for the purpose of implementing a change. Reviews should not be conducted during the course of an investigation as that would in all likelihood jeopardize the investigation. Why is this language part of the bill?

The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment right (see Carney v. Springfield) and constitutional protections against double jeopardy. Qualified immunity protections (which are really the hallmark of sound and reasonable protections against frivolous lawsuits) are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections for the police officers we send out to protect our communities and who often deal with the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no backup. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open up officers to personal liabilities the likes of which they cannot withstand. Current laws today adequately address any overreach by law enforcement officers.

I am also demanding that this bill be debated in the light of day and not in the cover of darkness. If you have to resort to sneaking a debate and vote in the middle of the night, then I assert it is "prima facie" a bad bill and "prima facie" bad faith on your part as my Representative.

In summary, I ask you set aside, for one moment, your partisan loyalties, then perhaps you will admit to yourself that it is a bad bill and bad policy. Furthermore, how can you or any other Representative reform something of which you know little about. Until and unless you have taken substantive police training, I would again ask that you oppose this bill. Passing a poor bill for the sake of passing a bill is not in the best interest of all citizens of Massachusetts.

For all the reasons stated above, I ask that you oppose this bill.

Sincerely,

Dr Grace Govatsos

Hello, my name is Valerie A. Bonds with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization and Alliance for Cambridge Tenants. I live at 808 Memorial Drive, Cambridge MA 02139. Please find below my public testimony I would like to submit to you.

My neighbors and I love to gather around the stoop of our apartments to chit chat and watch the children play. The day was pleasant. We wondered about the activities planned for the summer.

There seemed to be a raucous with a police officer and a young woman. The next moment police were everywhere. Families were trying to gather their children. I ran to get some of the children away from the scene. Police were grabbing children, teens and adults in the area.

When a police officer questioned me, I asked the police officer for his badge number. Before I knew what was happening I was slammed against the brick wall of the nearest building. My back and shoulder were hurting. I tried to ask the officer what had I done. A young boy came to my side. The police officer threw me to the side, arresting the young boy who simply stood beside me. He just wanted me to let him know I was okay.

I ended up appearing in court. The police officer addressed the court first. I could not believe he did not tell the truth. Guess I was naive at that time. I never knew a police officer would not tell the truth in court

The judge could see my despair and shock. I recess was taken and I was told to dismiss the case because I would be vulnerable. A single mother living alone. Not a wise position to be in especially pointing accusations in the direction of police.

I dropped the charges. I was afraid for my five year old son and I.

I believe in police reform. I believe that public safety must be administered by individuals who are not only certified but licensed as all professionals are required to be. Certification is indicative of the necessary training and skills required to be a police officer. The licensing of police officers requires mandated performance evaluation both must be successfully completed in order for license renewal.

I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implement Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Thank you very much.

Subject: Expungement Testimony

7/17/20

Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair
Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and we hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the overrepresentation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Our criminal justice system is not immune to structural racism and we join you and all members in the great work needed to set things right. The unfortunate reality is that people of color are far more likely to be subjected to stop and frisk and more likely to get arrested for the same crimes committed by whites. Black youth are three times more likely to get arrested than their white peers and Black residents are six times more likely to go to jail in Massachusetts. Other systems where people of color experience racism are exacerbated, and in many ways legitimized, by the presence of a criminal record. Criminal records are meant to be a tool for public safety but they're more often used as a tool to hold communities of color back from their full economic potential. Expungement can be an important tool to rectify the documented systemic racism at every point of a young person's journey through and past our justice system.

We also know that young adults have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, but that drops as they grow older and mature. The law, however, does not allow for anyone who recidivates but eventually desists from reoffending to benefit. Young people's circumstances and cases are unique and the law aptly gives the court the discretion to approve expungement petitions on a case by case basis, yet the law also categorically disqualifies over 150 charges. We also know that anyone who is innocent of a crime should not have a record, but the current law doesn't distinguish between a dismissal and a conviction. It's for these three main reasons we write to you to champion these clarifications and now is the time to do it.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due to a variety of circumstances and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, we are hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. We respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

* Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.

* Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

* Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed of the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism, to remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

Thank you for your consideration,

Nichelle Sadler

Hello Chairpersons Michlewitz and Cronin,

I am writing as Waltham's Ward 7 City Councillor in support of the S2820 bill, and concur in large part with the previous statement made by the Massachusetts Municipal Association in favor of S2800. It is especially important that municipalities have the ability to act on misconduct from police departments and that the collective bargaining reforms stay in place in the House version of the bill.

I have two additional requests I would like the House to consider as they work with the current draft of the bill. First, although it was defeated in the Senate, I believe that Amendment 58 should be reconsidered. It is important to remove all chokeholds from police "toolkits," and not attempt to rationalize the reasons a person would forcibly cut off another's person's ability to breathe. Second, the legislation needs to take a stronger position to fully remove qualified immunity in Massachusetts. This legal practice needs to be completely ended in this state, so I ask that you strengthen the bill to ensure officers can be held fully accountable for their actions.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Testimony S2800

My name is Kaitlin Silva and I am a resident of Bridgewater but more importantly I am a wife of an officer.

Please accept this testimony against implementing S2800. Not only will the passing of this bill directly impact our officers in blue and their family's it will have a greater impact against all civil servants across the commonwealth.

While I completely agree we should use this opportunity to improve policing procedures hastily passing a bill without public input is not the way. We are at a point in history we will be proud to look back upon.

This bill in its current form will open our officers up unlike any other profession. In light of recent events cities and towns across our nation are experiencing an influx of retirement applications. S2800 will surely lead to more officers retiring and prevent potential new officers from enduring this career path. Our cities and towns will experience a lack of qualified officers who are not covered by their town immunity.

I ask to to open this bill up and make some serious improvements with public input.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Kaitlin Silva, a police officers wife.

Subject: Objections to S.2800 for House of Representatives Period of Open Comment

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin
Massachusetts House of Representatives
24 Beacon Street
Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Holly Moore and I live at 28 Ampere Avenue in Ludlow, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard in the Massachusetts House of Representatives tomorrow for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant (most likely a police officer) before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far-reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Thank you for your time,

> ?I know the house says they have a different bill but looking at your bill it is actually worse than the senates. You will allow police to be personally sued even when they work within the law- the risk of liability is to high for anyone to continue in their job. Currently the immunity a police officer has allows them to only be protected if they work with in the confines of their job and the law. If they work outside the law then they are not immune to the consequences and can be personally liable- so I do not understand what is the difference with the new change in the law? secondly I'd like to know who decides when a police officer works outside the law and who decides if he is immune. As a nurse I would not want a plumber deciding if what I did was within my scope of practice since he has no idea what I do for a living. On the other hand, I would never judge a doctor for malpractice if I didn't understand his practice and his training. Also for both these examples we carry professional liability insurance. There is no liability insurance for a police officer. Here is one example that makes Me scared of this new law. A police officer arrives to a scene of a school bus accident- a fender bender but the bus driver is at fault. There are children on the bus and the police officer asked the bus driver for their license. She refuses. He calls the supervisor and the supervisor comes and asks for the license. The driver continues to refuse. Then she starts to fight the police officers so they place her under arrest. They needed the license in order to file a report because there was children on board of a school bus. If that was your child would you want to know that the driver of that bus had been in an accident. It was brought to court and the judge threw out the case. The bus driver turned around and sued the police officer the supervisor and the city. This was deemed qualified immunity because they acted within the scope of the law but because the judge throughout the case which happens more frequently than not even in more serious charges she was able to sue and receive monetary damages. if this law goes through that means in this case, the driver could personally sue the officer. Even though they acted within the law, the judge threw out the case so she can sue. Who decides if he is immune? Judges? The DA? The panel of community members who have no law enforcement experience? I am not saying change is not needed. I am licensed and have to do a certain number of accreditation hours every two years. I agree that is important!! I agree that no one should be targeted due to the color of their skin. I agree that there are bad police just as there are bad nurses and doctors and teachers. As a nurse I would not work without insurance and protection from where I work. I still am held accountable if I act outside my practice but that doesn't seem to be the case here. I know you have a different bill than the senate but many good amendments were excluded. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. They also refused the need for education for the senate but require public employees to have that education- is that because elected officials do not need this education?

> Also a part that was taken out of the senate bill is included in yours- it allows any civilian to interfere if an officer that is using too much force. Do you know the consequences of this? Can you imagine how many people will assume anything is forceful and therefore attack the police office like what was done in NYC. The officer was placed in a Choke hold - the same one you deny officers to use if they are being attacked. So it is okay for myself as a civilian to resist arrest and attack the police and what do you think the police will do? Nothing - they are afraid to do anything. I ask again how many of you have risen with a police Officer in the worse areas of our city? How many of you understand their job? I am so afraid that this law will set us back decades in community policing. In Boston 2% of people commit the majority of the crimes. How much worse do you think crime will get when they know the police have their hands tied. Would you pass a law that would hold yourself liable and also risk an attack on yourself and your family. Politicians have no idea what police families have gone through. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Police Reform Bill

We are writing this to express our overwhelming concern about Senate bill S2800 (Police Reform Bill) currently in front of the House of Representatives. Between us we have served a total of 58 years with various agencies. Our experiences however do not bear up the publics perception of systemic racism within the ranks of the law enforcement community.

Given the current atmosphere within this country we do understand the legislatures desire to act upon this weighty matter. We need to understand and accept that we are all human beings. As such we will always suffer from weaknesses related to biases we individually develop. Secondly, when we mandate a portion of our society be empowered to "if necessary" use force to enforce the will of its society we will always have these problems. Human Nature!

The current Senate bill S2800 before you was passed in the middle of the night after a marathon session in the Senate. This matter is too important and costly to be pushed through in a haphazard fashion. It logically requires not only a public opportunity to weigh in, but more importantly the opportunity to have experts from all corners of this concerning topic be heard in order to craft effective and useful legislation . To "push" through legislation to leave an appearance of having done "something" does not do justice to any law. Emotional pendulum legislation is far too costly to its society before reaching any effective measure. Do not fall prey to this nonsense.

The most concerning elements of this bill for us involve qualified immunity and the effects it will have on hard working men and women in public safety and public service. When they become more consumed with worry about doing their jobs to avoid civil liability as opposed to in a good faith fashion, we create an environment where officers will be more prone to clean up messes left behind a criminal event than proactively heading off those criminal events. In the end it will disastrously affect the communities they police.

We are likewise concerned about a blanket approach to limiting officers abilities to use less than lethal tools. Thankfully during our tenure as police officers we never had to use lethal force. But we do not want to see the advances that were made technologically over the years, merely be tossed aside because their use may have had negative effects at some point. Truth be told nothing is perfect, but to have options before resorting to lethal force is always the preferred methodology. One of us was also a K-9 handler for 25 years with one of the agencies we served. To see the possibility of that valued resource be so constrained would be crippling to the effectiveness of law enforcement. Don't put the officers in a position where no action or lethal force are their only perceived options.

We are also exceptionally concerned about any potential failure to insure that officers are properly afforded due process. We have watched the recent hysteria in this nation and the knee jerk reaction on the part of governmental authorities that clearly are acting without affording their officers such. In an appearance of placating the general public. Don't legislate in a fashion that would reinforce that.

Presently our police officers in the Commonwealth are very well educated and the training system has always evolved and will continue to do so. Do not legislate so ineffectively that you make it nearly impossible to either retain or recruit quality police officers. Take the time to get it right, don't act on hysteria! Remember this will have an enormous effect upon our communities!!

My name is Merrill Forman. I am a resident of Boston and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I support this bill because our current system is broken and change/reform is needed to ensure a more just world. I grew up the daughter of a police officer and understand the challenges inherent in this work, but it is time to reexamine our policies and institute systemic changes.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Subject: University Police Union Coalition Testimony Not In Favor of
Bill S. 2820

University Police Union Coalition

MIT Police Association, Harvard University Police Association, Boston College Police Association, Boston University Police Association, Tufts University Police Association and Northeastern University Police Association

To the Honorable Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

Police Officers within the University Police Union Coalition provide public safety services at the six largest Universities in Eastern Massachusetts. Our Coalition represents over 250 sworn law enforcement Officers.

We are universally opposed to Massachusetts Senate Bill S. 2820 "police reform" presently under consideration by the House of Representatives.
The reasons for this opposition is that we see Bill S. 2820 detrimental to public safety in Higher Education Campus Law Enforcement, as well as all Law Enforcement in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

This Bill lacks transparency for Law Enforcement Officers to have Due Process and the Right of Appeal. Officers and their families will be impacted the greatest from this Bill due to a loss of employment and the degradation of their career path in Law Enforcement.

The measures under consideration are grounded in incidents of abuses in other parts of our country. As deplorable as those are, there is simply no body of evidence that compels drastic action at this time in Massachusetts to eradicate non-existence abuse.

Passage of these measures under consideration are so lacking in due process for police officers, so destabilizing to job security, and so likely to leave police officers more vulnerable to violence, injury and death from lawless elements.

We are urging the Massachusetts House of Representatives to not consider Bill S. 2820 as it is currently constructed. The elimination of Qualified Immunity and the lack of transparency in an appeals process needs to be replaced with new language that does offer Qualified Immunity and Due Process with the right of appeal for Officers.

We want to continue to serve our universities and their communities with the fair, compassionate and protective policing that has so consistently characterized our service over time. We urge you take a step back and allow for research, citizen input, debate, and thoughtful deliberation before you take extreme actions that may well have disastrous, unintended consequences.

Subject: Pass S.2800: Reform, Shift, Build Act

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Jeremy Thompson. I am a resident of Jamaica Plain. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Thompson

Subject: SB2820

Good Morning,

First, let me apologize for responding in an e-mail format, as I am out of the office and it is my only option. But, I felt I needed to respond on such an important issue facing the profession of policing. In May, I completed my 33 years in law enforcement and have been a police chief since 1998. I am a member and have been very active in many police organizations throughout my career and sit on the executive boards for the Central Ma Chiefs Association, the Ma Chiefs Association and the New England Chiefs Association.

Without getting into too much detail, I want to point out a few things:

- * No law enforcement officer that I know supports what happened to George Floyd and we condemn it.
- * I do support good thought out common sense changes to address real issues.
- * I do not feel that all police officers and police agencies should be vilified because of the actions of a few. This is not only unfair to the many great police officers in our state and country, but can and will have negative irreversible consequences to policing in general if passed as written.
- * Many of the suggested changes and additions in SB2820 in theory make sense and can be supported by members in our profession, but there are also areas that bring great concern and need to be amended or removed totally.

Therefore, I fully support the Ma Chief's Association's response to SB2820. I strongly suggest that something so important should not be rushed through this process, just because of pressure to get something done. Careful consideration and input and a common sense thorough process is needed in such an important Bill.

Thank you for taking the time in reading mine and I am sure many responses from law enforcement regarding SB2820.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Good Morning:

I am just expressing my concerns over police reform. I agree reform and accountability is needed by all not just our police! There is corruption everywhere and we as a nation need to figure out how to fix.

Please, before you rule on anything take the time to figure out what is best for our city, state and country. We need to stop reacting before we truly figure what is best for all races. Just because some are more vocal and destructive until they get their way isn't a reason to turn against folks that are here to protect our great nation!

No one and/or organization is perfect; we need to built trust within our police department not hatred towards officers.

Thank you,

Subject: STRONG OPPOSITION S.2820

Hello,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Bill S.2820 section 18

Greetings,

I am concerned about many aspects of S.2820, including the composition of oversight committees and qualified immunity, however my main concern is about the possible impact on morale of appointing a Colonel from outside the State Police.

Prior to consolidation in 1992, the State Police had a sworn Colonel and a civilian Commissioner. This is the same model that the Connecticut State Police currently uses. Separating the duties of the Colonel and Superintendent would allow new leadership into the department, while preserving the esprit de corp that comes from knowing everybody that wears the uniform has come from the same roots.

I respectfully request that the language of Section 18 replace the word "Colonel" with "Superintendent," and strike the language about the appointment being as a uniformed member of the Department.

Sincerely,

Hello, my name is Marcia Hams with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 95 Clifton St., Cambridge, MA.

We have an opportunity as a community to begin to address the deeply rooted problem of racism in policing that led to the tragic deaths of George Floyd and so many other people of color across the country at the hands of police, as well as the daily fear, arrests and insults that people of color endure as a result of unfair policing policies.

I am white, but I personally know people of color that have been stopped by police constantly while driving to their home in Cambridge, questioned by police while walking in their own Newton neighborhood and in Cambridge, and confronted and questioned by security people in stores in the Berkshires and Harvard Square. To put a stop to these dangerous inequities, the policies of law enforcement must be fundamentally reformed.

I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implement Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Subject: Reform Bill

I am writing to you today as a police officer who is asking for you to take a moment and really think about this bill. Police officers here in Massachusetts are being vilified for the actions of others that we had no part in. The media has stirred up a frenzy amongst the public and is attempting to create a larger divide amongst the public and those of us who have sworn to protect them. Our politicians are currently in the process of extending that gap even further.

I have heard many arguments about the defund the police movement. Politicians say that budget restrictions and cuts havent been implemented yet so they cant be to blame for a rise in violent crimes across the country. While cuts have not been in place yet i want you to imagine this. Imagine working a job where each day the media paints a picture of you being racist, discriminatory, power hungry and abusive. This picture is not based off the whole but based off an extremely small amount of officers, a literal handful. Yet the police continue to answer the call when someone needs help. Even while trying to help others we receive criticism ad abuse both verbal and physical from random strangers and passerby purely because of the uniform we have on. Do you think that would affect your job performance? How about if i told you hey we are going to defend you and eventually put you out of a job? Do you think that makes officers want to perform to their highest standard? Do you think that makes young adults want to get into the field of policing?

These reforms, cuts and the negative narrative being pushed are going to produce less qualified candidates because people do not want to be police officers. Yet whose fault will it be in the future when those officers make mistakes? will it be the politicians who and public that pushed for budget cuts that led to less training and less qualified candidates? No it wont. The public will always continue to expect more from us with less.

Police officers are not perfect. No one is. Everyday officers are forced to make split second decisions and then forced to live with the consequences after people sit back and review their decisions. We do the best we can with what we have. How many times have you been in a life or death situation? How many times have you had to fight with a violent felon who is refusing to comply with commands and starts reaching for some unknown item? The point being is with the committee this bill is requesting, the committee is going to have the ability to dissect an officers split second decision. Except they will be doing it in a nice comfy room all the while they havent had any training or experience in those situations. How does that make sense? In no other field would we expect people with no experience or training to judge those decisions. Imagine if i was reviewing a medical procedure that went wrong? Or a teachers failed school curriculum? Or a lawyer who failed to represent a client correctly? How can someone with no training and experience in law enforcement judge and have the power to revoke their certification?

I plead with you to please sit back and sit about the future. Think about how this bill will not only affect todays law enforcement but the future of law enforcement. You want changes and so does the public. But is this the right way to do it?

Thank you

To Whom it May Concern,

My name is Chris Sanderson, I am a resident of the Town of Abington. I am married and have 3 children with another due in October. Also I am a police officer. I am always a police officer on and off duty, this isn't something I can put down when I go home from work. I reside in the same town I work. This has its benefits, but also its drawbacks. There are people who I have had to arrest and seen later with my family. I have never had a negative issue during those circumstances, and you want to know why? I do my job to the best of my ability and treat people with respect.

With the proposal of this bill, I feel like there is a black cloud over my profession. An incident occurred 1500 miles away, it was egregious but its important to know that was an incident where someone made a very poor choice and is being held accountable for his actions. This proposed bill would not change the those circumstances. If an officer commits an act like that Qualified Immunity would not protect him, he made a decision which he has to deal with, there should not be a punishment for police officers because of this. Thousands of police officers have been injured since this started, some have paid the ultimate sacrifice. Having police officers walk on egg shells with this new proposed bill will not only hurt us as a profession but will reduce the quality of life across the state. Police officer want to go home at the end of their shift, not all of us are able to and with this bill we already have to make split second decisions to make sure we get home, now we also will have to worry about financially be held liable if we are acting in the best interests and good faith. The worst part is we will not have the same due process as the criminals we arrest. We will have no way of standing up for ourselves. This bill creates a board of non law enforcement personnel who likely have not been trained in use of force continuum, nor have ever been in the shoes of an officer making a split second decision. I'm sure Michael Chesna wanted to make it home to his family instead he was assaulted and killed by what the media would have classified as an "unarmed" individual who was "only throwing rocks".

This bill will only hurt public safety. I am all for reform, we are public servants here to serve the publics needs. We enforce laws that are placed on the table by legislature. We are the face of the issues we face as a society, its easy to point fingers at police officer because they are out there day in and day out within communities trying to make them a better place. Reform can be had but not with this proposed bill. Massachusetts is far and away more trained than other states, and has made many advancements in the way we are trained when on the job. I appreciate the hard work done to write this bill, but there needs to be more research done, look at the numbers out there and then look at what we are doing day in and day out. This should not be a knee jerk reaction to something that happened 1500 miles away. Take your time and get this RIGHT.

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

Respectfully,

Chris Sanderson

Good morning, I am writing today to express my disappointment with what occurred regarding the police reform bill. No public hearings? Passed in the middle of the night? I'm concerned about the consequences of this bill. I think passing it, as is, is a knee jerk reaction. If you didn't rush this through and you actually spoke to the people you represent, I think they would share some of the same reservations that I have with the bill. My now deceased older brother was a police sergeant with some of his years being spent as a court officer. I have a nephew who is a policeman, and a great nephew and a friend who are state policemen. A grandson schooled in criminal justice but did not follow his dream because his wife did not want to live with not knowing whether or not he would return from work each day. I've heard the stories of what actually goes on, not what the media portrays. Our law enforcement people need support, not more restrictions placed on them. My granddaughter is an EMT. Recently she was called by a mother to transport to the hospital an adult son who had not taken his psych medicines. He was a strong, angry person. When the EMT's arrived, the person was in the middle of the street yelling at and chest bumping a policeman. People were on both sides of the street and on apartment balconies with their cameras out videotaping what was going on. Spectators were yelling, telling policemen what they should or shouldn't do. How many of us would like to be working under those conditions? I thank God for those who are willing to put their lives on the line every single day to care for us and protect us. They are good people. I do not want them to retire early, switch to alternate careers, or simply look the other way because enforcing the law will mean putting their livelihood in jeopardy. I beg you not to pass S2800.

Hi my name is Christopher Panarello and I am a 25 year veteran of the Worcester police department. I am writing to you to express my serious concern for the recently passed senate police reform bill. There are numerous issues that I as a police officer and union member have with the bill. It is anti labor legislation. It removes our rights to due process, collective bargaining & inserts a board that has no training, experience or background in law enforcement to review police actions. This bill will in turn hurt all union members across the commonwealth, if police aren't protected what's to stop others from stripping teachers, firefighters or any other union member of lawfully negotiated rights? I feel this bill is political pandering by many to score points at the expense of the easy target - police officers. No one is saying George Floyd's death was not abhorrent but that was in Minnesota. Massachusetts has the most well trained police officers in the country, and if people behind this legislation took the time to do a little research they would realize that. Massachusetts police aren't killing people in the streets, it's a lie. The only thing this will do is make it harder to find good people to do this job. And in the end the people who really need the us aren't going to have them and that's the real shame

Subject: Please Support the Police

My family, friends, neighbors and I support our police and are appalled that police officers are currently being vilified and scapegoated. The vocal few don't accurately represent the overwhelming majority of your constituents who love America and support our police.

Taking away police officers' basic legal and job protections like qualified immunity and due process rights will only make our communities less safe, cause crime to increase and sink property values.

Police officers cannot effectively do their jobs if they're at risk of being sued or fired for every difficult decision they have to make.

It has also come to my attention that the senate's language on qualified immunity could adversely impact teachers, nurses, corrections and firefighters. This is unacceptable.

Finally, the proposed police officer standards and accreditation committee needs more rank-and-file police officers included on the panel. Rank-and-file police officers better understand the perspective of the reasonable officer on the scene better than someone with zero law enforcement experience or a political appointee beholden to public pressure.

Please stand with our police officers and the overwhelming majority of your constituents who support our police and vote.

Thank you for taking my testimony.

Hello,

As a teacher, now retired, I was required to certify every five years by accumulating course and/or workshop credits, this would be a good idea, including physical requirements, for police officers to remain current in their respective fields.

As far as making police liable for "excessive force" I believe that this may hamper men and women of the police department from making the correct judgements on how to handle an unruly suspect. Their own safety may be in jeopardy if the thought of litigation would affect their judgements.

Thank you for taking these ideas into consideration.

Subject: SB 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Steven Seermon and I live at 49 Dean St. Mansfield, MA. I work at MCI-Cedar Junction and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Steven Seermon

Subject: Objection to S.2820

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin, Committee Chairs

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Brian Henault, and my residence is at 37 Chartier Drive in Belchertown, Massachusetts. I am currently a Lieutenant with the University of Massachusetts/Amherst Police Department and have been employed as a police officer by that agency for the last twenty-five years.

I am writing to express my opposition to Senate bill S.2800, now S.2820. While the bill, in my opinion, does contain changes that I see as valuable - an overhaul of the training practices across the state, and a more professional and stringent certification/licensing process among them - it also contains changes, specifically to the practice of qualified immunity, that I see as extremely limiting and potentially even dangerous to police officers.

Currently, police officers, along with all public officials, cannot be held individually liable for actions taken in good faith that they reasonably see as lawful at the time. Eroding qualified immunity would put officers in a position where, while they are making split-second decisions under often trying and hazardous conditions, they would also possibly be factoring in the impact of potential litigation as a result of their actions. Will officers even want to take action on many occasions, knowing that an unscrupulous subject who may have an equally unscrupulous attorney will try to take from them their houses, their property, the assets that their families depend on? The hesitation that these issues create can easily result in officer injury or death, or the same to those whom they are trying to protect.

I would urge you to consider that rather than exposing our officers to what will likely be a barrage of frivolous lawsuits due to the erosion of qualified immunity, we use the other ideas in this bill as the impetus behind meaningful change in the training and deployment of our officers. Use the establishment of a POST system as the starting point of a hard look at how our officers are being trained, and dedicate appropriate resources to ensuring that the training of the officers reflects the expectations of our citizens.

The current actions and practices of police officers in Massachusetts are those that have been trained and developed over the years under the watch of our Governors, Senators, Representatives, Mayors, and City/Town Councils. If those practices are now deemed unsatisfactory, then we all need to work together to train and develop a new paradigm. That will take time and effort, and it is a worthwhile effort in the long-term. However, S.2820 seems designed to simply pacify loud voices in the short term.

I spend each shift with hard-working, thoughtful co-workers who have worked to develop successful relationships within our community, and I know that the vast majority of police officers in this state are doing the same within their communities. Reform, that provides us with better tools and ideas to improve, is always welcome. Reform, that negatively impacts those same hard-working officers, especially being carried out in this rushed fashion, can only result in deeper problems down the road.

I thank you for your time and consideration in this matter.

Respectfully,

Subject: Police Immunity

Rep. Michlewitz and Rep Claire Cronin,

Please do not limit the qualified immunity provision for our Law enforcement officers. This is a ridiculous overreach and will lead to many police officers retiring as they are doing in droves in New York. There will be fewer men and women that are willing to join the police force and the public will not have the level of protection we are entitled to. WE pay taxes to the state to ensure our safety and that is a key responsibility of the state. PLEASE do not turn us into New York! Your constituents fully support the police and as the senate passed this bill in the middle of the night with no public input is shameful.

I also believe that limiting school police officers I believe is a mistake. Many DARE officers have contributed immensely to reducing drug abuse and addiction among our students. This is just another move to insinuate that "police are bad and we don't want our students to interact with them." It will only be a matter of time before they are pushed out of our schools permanently. This is NOT good policy. Law enforcement connecting with our children early on and building trust and good relationships with law enforcement has been proven successful!

I am also dismayed that three of our senators voted "present." Do your jobs and take a stand.

Subject: Opposition to Senate Bill S.2800<div data-bbox=)

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin
Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street <x-apple-data-detectors://2>

Boston, MA 02133 <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Timothy Landers and I live at 105 Summer St. in Maynard
Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard in the Massachusetts House of Representatives tomorrow for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant (most likely a police officer) before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far-reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Very truly yours,

Timothy R. Landers

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Opposition to Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Michael Wilson and I live at 14 Swan Pond Road in North Reading, MA 01864. I work at the Wilmington Police Department and am a Patrolman. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to House Bill 2820/Senate Bill 2800. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work hard every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

???: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

???: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

???: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. An oversight committee with the power to certify, decertify, and make requirements on the law enforcement profession which is made up of not a single law enforcement officer? There is not another profession in this state which has its oversight done by those who are not in the profession. This would be like having an oversight committee for dentists made up entirely of cops. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt.

Another really concerning part about this bill is the broad and far reaching language which it has. The bill was so hastily put together that its language in regards to collective bargaining and qualified immunity applies to all public sector employees. All public labor unions in the Commonwealth lose their effectiveness. Firefighters, DPW workers, and even Teachers are now on the hook personally if someone does not like the job they have done.

The Massachusetts Senate passed this bill in order to say that they are doing something, and in doing so insulted every citizen of this Commonwealth. This bill was not passed by means of a fair and democratic process. Instead it was a pathetic attempt to pander to vocal special interest groups which do not understand the intricacies involved in law enforcement. Why did they not have an open dialogue with members from the community and law enforcement? There is nothing that we as police would like more than to be able to communicate with our community members in a constructive and respectful way in order to provide a public service that is fair, just and safe for everyone involved. Senate Bill s2800 is not the means to have those conversations.

I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Michael Wilson

Qualifying immunity means the public servant must qualify for exemption. They followed the rules and laws and qualify for this exemption. To take this away puts all of us at risk as police, fire, and emt will second guess themselves. Please do not leave this in the bill. Everyone's life depends on it. I am a teacher how will this affect us as well as a public employee. We need the state support to help us do our jobs. Reform is important but please leave out qualify immunity.

Subject: Reform Bill s2800

I strongly disagree with the Police reform bill s2800. In my opinion, we can have a bill that includes productive reform without inducing negative effects to the Law Enforcement industry, Officers, their families and the community as a whole. Please vote "no" on this bill as it is written. Please rather, include discussion and input from the law enforcement community. Please remove adjustments to Qualified Immunity. Please include representation from all pertinent parties on any committee who would be charged for the review/over site of police involved cases.

We need to work together on enrichment. As this bill stands, it will destroy the law enforcement community. Like it or not, law and order is necessary in our free society. None of which will be accomplished with a mass exodus of Police officers retiring early and few prospects signing on to the positions in the future.

Please vote down Bill s2800. Let's come back to the table with enriching reform that is productive for everyone!

We can do better,

Subject: Reform on police standards

Whom this may concern,

I want to start out by saying that no one disagrees with police corruption more than good police officers. The public questions police every time one bad apple is spotlighted on the news. The news hardly ever spotlights the great things police do every day. The men and women I work with are good people who only want what is fair and just. Actions taken by us are only to keep ALL people safe no matter their race, gender or financial circumstances. I have participated and witnessed officers going above the call of duty to help those in need who are either victims or suspects of a crime.

Bill No. 2800 would not only undermine what it stands for but will cause more crime to spread. Singling out one or two races is not fair. Police officers such as myself will no longer be as proactive in helping people due to fear of being personally liable. Criminals will look at this bill as a way to exploit our system and our citizens will suffer. I urge you to look at other ways to help those who are discriminated against such as community members partnering with police. I urge you to allow for studies of the negative effects of this proposed bill before innocent lives are destroyed.

Hello, I am writing in support of Bill S.2820 recently passed by the MA state senate.

I emphatically support the requirements for training in de-escalation alternatives to the use of force for police encounters with individuals and large groups, as listed in Section 4 of the bill, as well as the accountability measures in Sections 6.

However the most important component of this bill is the limitations on qualified immunity in Section 10. Well-meaning committees and training become meaningless if the public has no effective, timely remedy for police misconduct. Qualified immunity serves to perpetuate harmful misconduct and endangers our citizens.

Police are entitled to job security and good working conditions. But they MUST be held accountable when they break the law and do violence to our neighbors.

Dear Rep. Aaron Michlewitz and Rep. Claire Cronin,
My name is Sophia Rossicone and I live at 17 Magnolia Terrace. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.
Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Sophia Rossicone

Subject: Bill 2800

Being a second generation police officer my family has seen many changes in policing over the years. Although we know that it will continue to change it is unheard of that the voices of these officers were not heard by the Senate. This bill directly affects our job our family and the career we chose to pursue. The house needs to hold public hearings and receive input from the people that this bill directly affects failure to do so would be a total injustice to the men and women of law-enforcement the fire department teachers any public servant. If these public hearings are not held then our only choice is to voice our opinion at the ballot box and this will not be forgotten. Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter back the blue red and the teachers.

Subject: S. 2820

Dear Representative Blais and Representative Michlewitz,

I am a resident of Ashfield. I have been following Bill S. 2800 closely and feel the following issues must be addressed.

Our Senate has failed the citizens of this state by filing this bill and trying to push it through legislation without sufficient discussion or analysis. This bill proposes big changes and it is wrong to rush these changes through in the name of making Massachusetts a pioneer in racial equality. That is not fair to anyone in this state and is not how a proper democracy functions. Being a pioneer in bad legislation may be more damaging than no new legislation at all.

Suggesting to change Qualified Immunity for police officers warrants more time and consideration than it is currently being given. Massachusetts has not had any of the incidents that have sparked outrage against the police in the news. We have good police officers who do hard work everyday and they deserve better than to become the example and be made so over the course of two weeks. The police officers and citizens of this state deserve more than a hasty bill pushed through before the end of the legislative session. Please consider tabling the issue of Qualified Immunity until further research can be conducted.

Any decisions that the Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee (POSAC) makes should be made by a 2/3 majority.

I continue to object to Section 223 (d) as the document does not make clear if this "searchable database" will include the officer's name (as opposed to 223 (e) which states it will "identify each officer by a confidential and anonymous number"). As you should be aware, in the small towns in which we live, everyone already knows where the police officers and Troopers live. If you are to include names, it will not matter whether you include an address or not, for the officer's address will be known. In the current, tumultuous climate (June 26, 2020 "Kill A Cop Day"), this information would certainly be used for harassment purposes. To leave officers and their families vulnerable to attacks and retaliation is reckless.

I object to Section 24, 10A. In order to have more competent police officers who make the right decisions in difficult situations, one would want to attract the most intellectual candidates. Reading the laws set forth in this bill, it appears that the cadets would have to meet the same academic requirements as an academy provides, while circumventing any stress conditioning. If this is true, you will end up with officers less likely to make the right decisions under stress. If the goal of this bill is to create a police force that responds to pressure rationally, using de-escalation techniques, you will not get this by lessening training or bypassing stress conditioning! By matriculating less psychologically resilient candidates, you will have ended up undermining your own bill! If you want qualified and intelligent police, what you should be requiring is a college degree and a difficult academy.

Chapter 147A, Section 2 (e). In recent memory, there have been numerous instances where a vehicle was used as the sole weapon of attack on people, both nationally and globally. "Use of the vehicle itself" should constitute imminent harm. That line should be stricken from the bill.

Chapter 147A, Section 2 (f). I restate my previous suggestion that when the POSAC makes their decision "as to whether the de-escalation efforts taken in advance of the event and at the time of the event were adequate and whether the use of or order to use tear gas or other chemical weapons, rubber pellets or dog was justified.", they sustain or deny based on a 2/3 majority. Furthermore, perhaps it would be more logical to have a representative from the POSAC on scene at these incidents so they can determine whether the use of tear gas, etc., is justified, therefore avoiding any violation of rights. Without police body camera footage, a true understanding of the events would be difficult.

SECTION 64 (e). Body cameras should be made available to police officers as soon as possible. With the implementation of any of the laws in Bill S. 2820, body cameras should be made available to those requesting them for our citizens' and officers' personal safety and as assurance of lawfulness and truth. 2022 is a long time to wait. Why there is a task force assigned to study body cameras, but not to study changing qualified immunity does not make sense.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Catherine Lemay

I am writing in my opposition to Bill S2820. It will strip the rights of first responders, nurses and teachers. It will become impossible for them to do their jobs. This puts their lives and lives of others in danger. First responders, nurses and teachers will quit, retire and recruiting of first responders will be very difficult. I don't blame them why would anyone want to risk their lives when they are treated with such disrespect. Furthermore, judges and elected officials should also not benefit from absolute immunity. They need to be held responsible for their actions and decisions which are paving the way to a lawless society. No more paid security details by the taxpayers.

Hello,

I am a resident of Roxbury Crossing, MA and I unequivocally support the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800).

Massachusetts has always been on the forefront of states passing legislation to support the people that live here and we've never shied away from decisions that seemed radical at the time. I have always been proud of - and bragged about - MA being the first state to legalize gay marriage, and I hope to see us continue to make the right choices ahead of the curve and set the standard for the rest of the country to follow. It's time to eliminate qualified immunity, ban chokeholds, reallocate state funds to communities disproportionately impacted by the criminal justice system, and allow the Mass AG to file lawsuits against discriminatory police departments. I hope to see this legislation pass so I can continue to be a proud resident.

Thank you,

Shaun

Good morning,

I'm going to make this short.

As a good hard working police officer I am so upset and taken back by this process. The men and women police officers of this state did nothing to deserve this. You are villifying a whole profession based on what one person did half a country away.

Now our lives will be in jeopardy because of what the senate and you are about to pass. What don't you understand about qualified immunity? It does not protect bad cops. They can still get sued. What it does is protect good cops acting in good faith doing the right thing. It protects them from frivolous lawsuits that tie up their whole livelihood.

I strongly ask you to reconsider this bill. Please don't pass it.

Work needs to be done, absolutely. Why rush? Take your time and get it done properly. So what if it goes into next legislative session? It will pass then. This is rushed. Beyond rushed. Get a bill to the governors desk by the 20th? 3 days of debate? This is unheard of.

Please, for the sake of my family, my children, the community I serve, stop this bill in its place, take your time and re do it.

This is not right

Respectively,

A concerned police officer.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject line: Testimony re S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Police reform bill

Good morning

I am writing you today asking you to please not vote for this bill.

This will only put our officers lives and lives of our citizens in more danger, as the bill is written it will also allow an officer to be sued personally for anything and everything.

There are over 800,000 officers in this country who proudly serve everyday to keep us safe, yet they are being judged on the actions of a few.

Not long ago they were being hailed as heroes for being on the front lines and now because of the radicals who have waged war on them, they are left to fend for themselves.

These men and women have taken on this job in spite of the dangers they face everyday with every call, still they do it to make a difference and to be the line between harm and every citizen.

For all they have done for us we can not now turn our backs on them and put them in more danger from the very people who should be backing them when they need it.

Those who think they know what these officers face daily should go on a ride along some Friday or Saturday night, maybe they will understand.

Families watch their loved ones leaving for their shift and pray they come home safe and now they have to worry about their future and the future of every good citizen.

I am respectfully asking you to stand up and do the right thing.

Respectfully
Diane Bourisk

Subject: Police Reform Bill S2820

House Committees,

Good Morning, My name is Daniel Heavey 508-826-7007. I work for the Worcester Police Department and have been a police officer for seven years.

I am writing to give my written testimony on the Police Reform Bill S2820. I first want to thank you for having a public hearing through written testimony. To me, policing is the greatest profession there is. The profession is extremely difficult and stressful but very rewarding and I couldn't imagine myself doing anything else, until now. What took place the last couple weeks in the senate along with the bill that was voted on has me stating to consider switching professions. For me to even write this is extremely difficult because I love what I do and see the positive impact the Worcester Police Department has on the City.

The Senate Bill that was passed is anti labor legislation, it removes our right to due process, collective bargaining and inserts a board that has no training, experience or background in law enforcement. We need the amendments that were filed in the senate bill to be adopted.

1. Qualified immunity
2. Due process/collective bargaining
3. Make up the POSAC board

Look what is already happening across the country. We are seeing the number of qualified applicants down, large number of veteran officers seeking early retirement that are needed as role models and mentors for young officers as well as smart well educated officers leaving the profession for other jobs. It concerns me what departments will look like in the future.

Like every profession we to need to strive to always do better and we are welcome to improving our policing methods but this is not the ways to do it. So I please ask that you adopt the above listed amendments.

Respectfully submitted,
Daniel Heavey

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Whomever it might concern,

My name is Elvis Nguyen and I'm a resident of Marshfield. I'm writing to you to express my concern over the current police reform bill that the house is trying to pass in a rushed and uneducated manner. This bill will affect the well-being and livelihood of law enforcement families across the Commonwealth, in addition it will effect our officers judgement and have them second guessing when they are put in difficult situations. Situations, that people outside of this profession will never understand unless they do police work. Comparing the law enforcement profession to doctors and lawyers in regards to liability is comparing apples to oranges and quite frankly ridiculous. Doctors and Lawyers spend years and thousands and thousands of hours on education and have time to analyze the situation they're in. In addition people go to lawyers and doctors voluntarily to seek help. Law enforcement on the other hand, we deal with peoples freedom and at an instant a detention takes that away. This is done every single day as part of investigations for a crimes throughout your Commonwealth. Police officers aren't in school for years. As a matter of fact it's 6 months and you're sent out on the streets to do the job which requires you to detain people essentially taking their freedom away. If your only knowledge of law enforcement is what you see on TV then I invite you do a ride along with me or you can ask any police department for that matter and for a one day experience on what we experience. If you're too busy to leave your office, then you can still turn on a police radio scanner and listen to the calls.

I'm sure we can agree that the acts in Minneapolis on May 25, 2020 were excessive and flat out wrong in every aspect of humanity. I also agree that police reform is necessary in order to address the issues of injustice in our criminal justice system. There is no denial that this system needs to be fixed. However, it is detrimental to have the input of our officers on any such reforms. Officers who live the reality and answer the call to respond to issues in our communities that others do not see. Violence that the media does not report on, and violence that our legislators do not live in every day. Proposing and passing anything without a conversation and fully understanding the issue can and will have negative effects on public safety and cause more harm to the community than good.

I entered this profession with a strong desire to help people, and that desire is still there. I do not seek praise or gratitude, nor do I want it. What I do ask for is our leaders to understand the changes you make and the positions you will be putting us in with these changes. Taking away qualified immunity and changing it in anyway shape or form, takes away my peace of mind when I go to work. This is what allows me to sleep at night knowing that I don't have to worry about the well-being of my family. Please don't use the police as a scapegoat for political agendas. In my short 8 years in law enforcement, I have personally seen the morale in Officers and Troopers decline each and every day. Anybody who tells you that morale is "good" is lying. Never have I seen so many people in this profession seeking different career alternatives. Fear that they could potentially lose everything they have worked so hard for to better themselves, their families and their communities.

To every Legislator. I am a Massachusetts State Trooper, I am a husband, a father and a son. I am a minority, first generation Vietnamese American. I grew up in the City of Boston, the Old Colony housing projects to be precise. I went to Boston Public Schools. I am where I am today because of the life choices I made. I am in this profession because of one positive interaction with the police when I was younger. I worked hard to get to where I am today. I'm proud of my accomplishments. Don't strip away at the fabric that protects me and my family. I am open to a conversation at anytime. Please give me a call or email me.

In the words of the father of modern day policing "The police are the public and the public are the police; the police being only members of the public who are paid to give full time attention to duties which are incumbent on every citizen in the interests of community welfare and existence." Sir Robert Peel

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,
Please accept the following testimony with regard to SB2820 - An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

Please know that most of the Bill I support. However, there are certain issues that will have a specific negative impact on policing in my jurisdiction and Massachusetts in general. First, qualified immunity is a protection that is necessary for officers who are working in situations that require split second decisions. I refer you to Chief Kyes and the MCOA comments in regard to that. I would expect any limitations to qualified immunity would have two possible effects. First, a likely massive exodus of good, dedicated and professional officers leaving for retirement or other professions where they are not in personal jeopardy for professional mistakes that are made. To be clear, the disgusting and criminal behavior, like that of the officers involved in the George Floyd murder, should never be protected in anyway. They should be held accountable for their despicable actions.

The other possible outcome will be, those officers that remain, will be very hesitant to act. That places both them and the public in danger.

Officers will look only to act in situations where they absolutely must. Effective and professional policing will be negatively impacted.

I am also very concerned about limiting the information sharing between school resources officers, school and police departments. That is possibly one of the most important aspects of the school resource officer position. Our jurisdiction has had an incredibly positive and long standing relationship between the school and the police department. The majority of information shared has nothing to do with criminal behavior. That free flow of information helps us make sure that the schools are aware of any concern related to safety, student health and other issues that occur outside of the regular hours of the school day that they would otherwise not know. The school shares information with us the same way, for the same purpose, and with the same goal to provide the best possible environment for our children both in and out of school. It literally follows the adage " it takes a village to raise a child". Limiting that exchange of information will have a significant negative impact on our Town's ability to provide optimal situations for our children.

The last concern is related to a deadly force exception to the ban on choke holds in situations where an officer is fighting for his life. If an officer's life or the life of a citizen is in serious jeopardy and deadly force is justified, any hold or other technique should be allowed as an exception in these very limited, specific and deadly circumstances.

Thank you for taking the time to hear my concerns.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or if I can be of any service.

Respectfully,

Subject: Testimony for police reform bill

My name is Denise Harter, I'm a healthcare worker at Cape Cod Hospital, my phone number is 8572253681. My son's father is the recipient of 2 Purple Hearts and a Bronze Star.

I fully support this reform bill and only ask that instead of defunding the police money is moved from police salaries and into police education. I fully support that police officers be licensed and held accountable for their actions.

I have video of a police officer announcing they do not know what the law is (whether it is trespassing or not) while watching a man climb onto my balcony after I told him he did not have permission to be there, and then watching the man start trying to tear down my personal property, all because a member of my condo board works at the Weymouth police station and has been abusing their power. This happened after the board of health posted a letter that my balcony was not to be touched until an approved replacement for the fix I had put up was ready (it was not). It is upsetting when a police officer can announce they don't know if this is trespassing and stand by watching with a smirk while someone attempts to tear down your property.

I have had police tell me they can't do anything when a schizophrenic neighbor is threatening to stab my toddler son with a knife, unless she threatens to hurt herself. I have had police show up when I called them for the same schizophrenic woman knocking on my apartment door at 9pm at night accompanied by the same member of Weymouth police department Adrienne Colletti, calling out for a dead celebrity, Prince, that she is obsessed with. Then when the police show up they are rude and demand to search my home, for "a man" with no warrant or probable cause. Why? Because I had the nerve to run against a member of the police department for my condo board.

I work in healthcare, if I do not know something, it is not ok for me to just shrug and say that I don't know. If healthcare workers did that people would die. I speak to my peers to find out the answer or I let the doctor reading the case know the concern. I have to be registered and can be sued in my profession. The same accountability must be extended to local law enforcement. I have personally seen the abuse of power that goes on, and if you would like to contact me I can give you more information. It is not ok for multiple police officers to tell me they don't know if a man climbing on my second floor balcony is trespassing and then refuse to find out or do their job. Even going so far as encouraging the man that they "don't care what you do."

I have asked for information about certain police officers at my local police department that I would like to file complaints about and still have not received an answer.

This needs to change and a reform bill is the only way to do it. Police officers need to know it's not ok to just stand there and announce they aren't sure if something is illegal while it continues to happen. Training and education with a strong system for appropriate reprimanding and accountability will help strengthen the police force and strengthen the bond between the community and the police.

Sincerely,
Denise Harter

Subject: S.2800

Good Morning Sir and Ma'am

I am opposed to Bill S.2800 for many reasons. One in particular is removing Qualified Immunity for Law Enforcement. Day in and day out the men and women in Law Enforcement in MA put on their uniform and do whatever is asked of them. They go into the worst situations that you could only have nightmares about. They rally up before riots and protests, not knowing if they themselves will be going home in one piece. The Massachusetts Law Enforcement are the best trained in the county. They have respect for the public and they know their jobs inside and out.

To take away Qualified Immunity in any way shape or form is a slap in the face to these brave men and women. They need protection now more than ever. They face unthinkable situations at all times and need to be able to make life saving decisions in mere seconds.

I implore to you to make a stance and stand behind your men and women in blue! Look at NYC or Seattle.... do we want our beautiful Commonwealth to end up like that? NO!! Vote NO on Bill S2800

Thank you for your time,

Subject: Concerned!

My name is Maureen Tivnan and I am a lifelong member of the Worcester community. I am emailing you today to please look over parts of the recently passed S.2820. I am a Worcester Public Schools educator where I have had the pleasure of working closely with the police, especially teaching in the Main South community. The students respect these officers and it creates a positive and strong relationship. Parts of this bill will not only effect police officers but all public employees such as myself.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Do NOT Pass S.2820

Good morning,

I believe the attempt to sneak attack the public by passing such harmful bills as this one within a tiny timeframe shows guilt on the behalf of the law makers.

If there was no real harm included in this bill then why not give even a week for it to be discussed and learned about by the public? It is because this bill contains truly harmful features like the loss of qualified immunity to all civil servants, and very few people in the state realize this, that the bill must not pass.

The loss of qualified immunity for police officers would change policing into a very "by-stander" type police force, where they could not do what they need to do to protect you for fear of losing their homes from a civil law suit. Same for teachers. Teachers would be subject to suing for a myriad of reasons, and I just do not think its right.

PLEASE DO NOT PASS THIS BILL AS IT STANDS.

Thank you kindly,

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. Dear representative Aaron Michlewitz and representative Clair D. Cronin,

We have strong objection to the provisions in the Police Reform Act. We believe that negative effects of such provisions are obvious - frivolous lawsuits against the policemen who attempt to use legitimate force against the people who violate the laws. This will make police less willing to enforce the laws (the major function) and will impede their recruitment efforts.

Please consider changing the incoming legislation in the way that does not have these extremely negative consequences.

Subject: S2820

My name is Rachel Fuller-DeAmato. I am the wife of Susan Fuller-DeAmato, an MIT Police officer. Susan has been an officer for about a year now. She left an amazing Monday-Friday, 9-5 job to follow her heart and her dreams to protect and serve. She wanted to be the change, the good. To help those in their darkest hours. And now she needs your help and support. Thank you for taking the time to read this.

The changes in S2820 are going to put our good officers in great danger. Also the people they are meant to protect and serve. They will be hesitant, for the fear of being sued for every single move, and decision they make. Police are meant to make split second decisions, and this bill is tying their hands. It will cause them to delay their response time, Can you really blame them? This delay in reaction, is not only dangerous, but could have deadly results for our officers. If the public wants better officers, stripping them of how to do their job correctly is not the answer. They need backing from local officials, they need community support. They need the tools to do their jobs correctly. More training. I feel we are quite lacking in Massachusetts. Our Officers and their training seems far beyond what is given in other parts of the country. This bill is not the solution for Massachusetts. I believe this will only make things much worse. We NEED our officers to have proper funding, and to have what it takes to do their jobs efficiently for the public's safety, and for their own.

It's incredibly sad, and disheartening what's going on in the rest of the country, But Ma, is not like the rest of the country. And it shows.

We are the moms of a 5 year old little girl. We are uprooting our family because we fear for our safety here in Somerville, Ma. There is so much disgusting hatred for police officers. Our city officials support this disgusting attitude towards Officers. My wife should be able to go to work every single day without worrying about having a target on her back. But sadly that is not the case. This bill will only make things worse for her and so many others like her. As a wife of an officer, you cannot imagine how stressful and scary it is when my spouse leaves for work. It's stressful and scary on a regular day. With this heightened hatred towards our officers, that's being stirred up and allowed by local officials, it's almost unbearable. My daughter picks up on this, as I'm sure many other children do as well. My point is this oath my wife has taken to protect and serve is scary as it is. Don't strip her of the tools, and protections to keep our community safe. To keep her and brothers and sisters safe.

I ask that you hear my words, my fears, and stand by my family, and the thousands of others just like us. Please. The changes to S2820 are not the answer.

Thank you again for your time.

And HB3277 (Rep. Michael Day).

Representative Miranda recently did a Zoom call with the League of Woman Voters, updating us on her bill (and that of Rep. Michael Day). It is time for change. It is time to hold police to higher standards, to hold police accountable, and to be certain that a policeman who has been fired for outrageous misconduct cannot go to another town, city or state and work again as a policeman.

It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Erica Lenners

Dear representatives Aaron Michlewitz and Clair D. Cronin,

I object to the provisions in the Police Reform Act restricting qualified immunity for police in Massachusetts. Such change will encourage frivolous lawsuits against the policemen who attempt to use legitimate force against the people who violate the laws. This obviously will make police less willing to enforce the laws and will affect our safety. This is a very unwise change and it will have very negative consequences.

Please consider modifying the incoming legislation in the way that prevents this from happening.

Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

Massachusetts can take a bold step towards ending systemic racism in policing by passing S. 2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

We need strong use of force guidelines for police in Massachusetts, public records of police misconduct, a duty to intervene policy, and bans on no-knock warrants, choke holds, tear gas, and other chemical weapons.

Please pass a bill that includes each of these critical reforms.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

I am writing to ask that you extend the period for public comments and delay it entirely until we as a state are allowed to meet as citizens to ask questions and provide comments in a PUBLIC forum. I do NOT support what is being considered and I am certain there are more like me who are unaware as you pass things at lightning speed. If you want to eliminate qualified immunity for law enforcement, I suggest you also eliminate qualified immunity for all civil employees, yourselves included so you can be held personally responsible for your destructive and dangerous legislation.

You can't be so ignorant that you are unaware at the state of New York, Seattle, Portland, Atlanta, Minneapolis and other cities being destroyed due to ill thought out legislation being passed overnight. Their cities are in shambles as the spineless leaders meet the illogical demands of a highly organized, well funded international Marxist movement masquerading as a civil rights march.

What are the numbers of officers retiring, leaving or not joining? Where such ill thought out policies have now become the law, the cities are in chaos and the mobs have just increased their demands and have been emboldened. How many officers have been injured and even killed over the last few months? For what? How many early retirements or disability claims as of late? Stop blaming them for your feckless leadership and useless policies. I can't help but conclude that you are all just scared into silence afraid of being called "racist." It's a WORD that is so overused it's now become meaningless to anyone with a brain and I'd rather stand while we're still using words and not weapons.

How many innocent victims been killed? How many children have to die as police pull back from doing anything for fear of being charged as you legislate the criminals into the lawmakers? Are we going to have a Boston CHAZ zone soon? The legislation is pointless and you should be watching the law abiding citizens now amassing to counter the newly introduced policies, that's if they don't just pack up and move out as in NY.

You are doing nothing but pandering to an angry mob and not the rest of the citizens and as we are witnessing, there is NO appeasement. Bail has been reformed, prisons are being emptied and now you are essentially aiding in the elimination of law enforcement-- the anarchist's dream. Stop the gaslighting and get real with the situation you are supporting as I am not. And please read this part loud and clear for the record:

When they take over your police stations, what stops them from taking over your house?

Let that thought sit for a bit.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is James Williams and I live at 14 Bristol RD Peabody, Massachusetts. I work at The Suffolk County Sheriffs dept @ South Bay. I am a corrections officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
James Williams #917

Subject: Bill No. S2820

Rep. Aaron Michlewitz

Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means

Sir:

I am writing to you, as a police officer of 30 years, to vote no on Bill No. 52820. The senate version of this bill will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officers ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste without public hearing or input of any kind was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

Police Officers across the Commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years. The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. I do not support any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities I serve demand and enjoy. The oversight board should consist of law enforcement officers as well as civilians. It needs to be fair and impartial.

Massachusetts police officers are among the highest educated and trained in the country. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn. The majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity which will open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

I ask that you do not rush to pass this bill but meet with law enforcement officers around the Commonwealth to get their input in this matter.

Sincerely,

Officer Pamela Daye

Subject: Please SUPPORT & PASS the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800)

Dear Committee Chair Aaron Michlewitz & Chair Claire Cronin,

As a Black man in America, I am no longer asking, I am demanding you and your colleagues to support and pass the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800). Here is why! We have been dying in the hands of police for centuries and we have done everything possible to stop the police violence against Black and Brown people. We have voted, protested, marched, boycotted, went on hunger strikes, and conducted civil disobedience and sit-ins. Yet, we continue to be lynched, terrorized, traumatized, and dehumanized by the police in broad daylight, and justice always seems out of reach. We are simply TIRED of asking and having the entire system's knee on our necks suffocating us for over 400 years!

For me, this is a matter of life and death. Black men are 3 more likely than white men to be killed by police during their lifetime. I already live in an overly policed neighborhood, so I am literally one incident away for being the next unarmed Black men killed by police. Living with such reality is truly horrifying only for me, but for my family and friends as well. More importantly, I have a 9-year-old Black boy and I don't want him to be living with the same constant fear. I don't want him to be fighting the same battle and experience the same trauma when he grows up. I want him to live in a state and country where his humanity and dignity matters. I want him to live in a state and country where its police force is held accountable.

I cannot raise my 9-year-old in a more justice society as long as the police power and violence remain unchecked. We cannot talk about dismantling systemic racism in policing without reforming the qualified immunity. Police accountability starts with getting rid of qualified immunity. To give you an idea, the qualified immunity is what made it possible for Derek Chauvin to still wear his batch after facing 17 complaints one of which was a fatal shooting. It is eventually what allowed Derek to brutally murder George Floyd in broad daylight and remain free until the world started demanding justice. It is what prevents victims and their families not to have a day in court. It is what shields racist cops and allows them to violate the civil liberty of Black and Brown lives

Passing this bill is simply the right and moral thing to do. We are in the middle of the largest civil rights movement in this country and I urge you and your colleagues to be brave and bold and be on the right side of history.

Thank you for your time!

Sincerely,

Abdi

I was born and grew up in Boston and am proud that MA is considered a progressive state. This Bill is the minimum the State must do. We have a moral obligation to begin creating a more just and equitable society and this is a step towards achieving that. It is not OK for Black residents in 2020 to fear for their lives from the citizens whose very job is to protect their lives. If action is not taken, we will continue to be on the wrong side of history.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

These are all reasonable, fair, and frankly common sense policies that better protect our community. On a human level, banning chokeholds and limiting qualified immunity are the right thing to do, given what we have seen in our country over and over again. And on a practical level, these are my tax dollars helping to pay for tactics that should be unacceptable to all of us in a society. The role of a police force, is to serve and protect.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey C. Sullivan

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Good Morning:

I am writing to you this morning with great concern regarding the bill for police reform. As we are all aware there's a call for police reform and accountability in our nation. I am the wife of a police officer and our family has sacrificed a lot over the last 24 years to keep our city safe. I agree there is always room for reform, and I will never say police officers are perfect, but to be fair, neither are doctors, lawyers, nurses, teachers, etc. So I agree and believe change and scrutiny is always a good thing. My fear is our country is rushing to make decisions without thoroughly thinking through the consequences. Some of these changes I feel will be catastrophic to our police and more importantly our communities. Please look past some of the most vocal and demanding folks. Many people do not pay close attention to the day to day movements and my fear is in a the years to come it will be too late. Also, it appears the immediate reaction to "defund" the police has not presented any plan to reallocate the money for services. This may create a service gap that reduces services to vulnerable populations. There should be a plan how to implement change that is clearly thought out. These difficult decisions should not be made by emotion.

As a family we felt a need to voice our concerns to proposed changes that will potentially adversely impact our community. Please look closely and think of how each change in any law proposed will affect policing in our neighborhoods. Police are important, however, they are not perfect but neither are we. At this time, I am asking you to take the time necessary to make this decision and NOT to rush to please a small group of people who have become very vocal. I believe the most thoughtful decisions are made when time and consequences are considered.

Thank you for your time and I appreciate your consideration.

Subject: testimony on S2800 from a constituent

Dear Elected Representatives in the Massachusetts State House,

I keep coming back to the fact that a police officer in Minneapolis knelt on George Floyd's neck for 8 minutes and 46 seconds, in full view of his fellow officers and other bystanders, on video. How do you countenance such an action in a civilized society? Let us not forget that black people are dying at the hands of people sworn to serve and protect, and that if we choose to ignore it and do nothing- we are complicit. Let us keep the focus on this one thing- how to prevent the killing of black people by police officers. People who commit such deeds dishonor their profession. Doctors can be sued for malpractice, but apparently police officers have been immune to similar suits via the doctrine of qualified immunity. Asking for accountability does not mean we don't support, honor, and quite frankly need an honorable police force to serve and protect the Commonwealth. Honorable police officers will not be harmed by a call for accountability in their profession.

Please vote for S2800, the police reform act, in its entirety.

Thank you,

Deborah Santoro

Subject: Bill No. S2820

To The Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary,

It has come to my attention that the bill titled S2820 is under review and as it has been presented to you, I stand opposed to it.

The senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste, without public hearing or input of any kind, was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years. My strong, smart, dedicated husband is one of those officers.

The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. I will not support any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy.

What the Senate has tried to do is pass a knee jerk reaction to an incident which occurred half a country away that everyone agrees was egregious, the Fraternal Order of Police nationally and in this state had quickly condemned it.

Massachusetts police officers are among highest educated and trained in the country. My husband has spent countless hours on and off the clock continuing his training. These training are not limited to the use of lethal weapons- but there are numerous trainings for less lethal and deescalation tactics, as well as ethics and community building.

This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers. It protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few.

Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

If the senate bill is passed, the future of this state, and this country as we know will be greatly impacted. Our officers cannot in good faith stand risk to lose their houses, their families, and their livelihood because someone got angry about a traffic ticket that was thrown out, and now seeks retribution. Our officers choose to be in this field because they WANT to HELP the community. Passing this bill as it stands may lead to a mass exodus of the GOOD officers. My husband has spent over a decade of his life dedicated to to his department and the community he serves. Our family stands in solidarity with our family in blue. Please don't let this bill pass and let our families pay the price for a knee jerk reaction.

Sincerely,
Danielle Mathias

Please do not defund the police !!! They are the only ones standing between us, the people and total chaos. We are the emigrants and came from a socialist country where people could not speak up freely (only whisper in a kitchen) if they are not happy...we know all too well the price of a freedom of speech. We love America. Every life is precious and every life matter. Police is there to protect those lives because they are well trained, professional people. Please, do not fudge then based on one incident. But if they cannot get immunity and will be prosecuted for every move they make, they will simply do nothing...tax payers will pay their salary...and be not protected at all !!! You put innocent lives of law abiding Citizens at risk.
Please, do not do that !!!

Subject: Bill No. S2820 Title: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Good morning,

* I would like to voice my condemnation of Bill S2820 as it is written. This bill was rushed through the senate without much thought and it shows. I think that it is time for the House to show that cooler heads can prevail. By taking a step back and voting no on the bill, with proper research, a bill could be created that would benefit everyone in the commonwealth. There are certainly areas that could improve in law enforcement and I think that by voting no on this bill as written, it would provide time for a committee to be formed, research to be completed and an intelligent solution found and presented as a new Bill. The issues in this Bill are important ones that can't be thrown together haphazardly and expected to have a positive outcome for our citizens. The public was excluded from providing important insight on this bill. The fact that there was no input from the public tell me that the creators of the bill were aware of what input would be given by the public and that there would be resistance. Instead, they created the bill days before it was to be voted on the senate floor. I urge you to vote no on this bill.

* Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years. This is a great idea, but I would like to see it researched in depth. Where will this funding come from and how will it be instituted? Will the local municipalities be left to carry the monetary burden for this mandated training? Again, I'm being repetitive, but more time has to be put into researching the implementation of these points.

* The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The FOP will not support any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy. This is a sticking point for police officers across the commonwealth. I could understand if there were serious issues regarding officers in Massachusetts but that's just not the case. We have some of the best trained officers in the state and an incident that happened in another state shouldn't dictate changes to a system that works without much issue in Massachusetts. Officers need these protections. You are going to welcome frivolous complaints against officers and these boards will hear those complaints. I can see this ending badly when you involve people that don't understand the job of policing, case and point, our Senators. With the Bill written the way it was it's clear that they don't understand the current climate of policing in Massachusetts. We don't want the bad apples on the job and we do a fairly decent job of rooting them out.

* Their proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial. There needs to be more thought put into this, and changes made. I think this can be accomplished by taking the time to do the proper research. Is this even really necessary?

* I've said this already, but the senate is jumping on a bandwagon with a knee jerk reaction and is changing a system that doesn't appear (in the 15 years of LE experience) to have been an issue here in Massachusetts. Officers here are highly trained, and most are well educated individuals.

* This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. Officers can still be criminally charged for their actions and can also be sued in federal court for civil rights violations. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few. The thought that Qualified Immunity should be taken away blows my mind. Any change to the way in which it is written will have officers second guessing themselves and god forbid, outright refusing to get involved for fear of losing their homes and property. Through the research I've done, if Qualified immunity is taken away or changed for any reason, I'll have more protection by not taking action. That's a scary thought. This doesn't just apply to police officers either. This will affect police, fire fighters, teachers, nurses, doctors and the list goes on. If you vote to change Qualified Immunity I can guarantee that there will be a mass exodus of officers from the job. You'll also have issues recruiting candidates. Think about that for a minute. Who is going to take a job or stay on a job any longer than they have to when you could lose everything for doing the right thing? I noticed that officers would be open to a law suit if the persons rights were taken away and in the context of the bill I can only imagine that if someone had been taken into custody and at some point during the arrest that person was found not to be the suspect or probable cause was not found, the officers would now face a personal lawsuit. That's just one example of how that change would affect officers. I could have misread that article but for some reason I doubt that. This article more than anything will affect how policing continues into the future. Officers will be afraid to make that split-second decision that might hurt them, their family, or take their home from them. Bottom line, this is scary, and the fact that the senate saw a need to attack this protection is just absurd.

* Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard. As for use of force incidents and choke holds, a complete ban on any defensive tactic is absurd. When an officer is in a fight for their life, you don't think they are going to second guess themselves in using a chokehold if that is all that stands between them going home or being killed? With all the oversight, the threat of being called a racist and being the next YouTube officer, guys are second guessing themselves every day. Take Sergeant

Michael Chesna for example. I can only imagine what went through his head in the seconds before his death, but he hesitated and for whatever the reason ended up not going home to his family that morning.

* If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

* I know that police reform is the hot button issue these days, but your focus shouldn't be in places where problems don't exist. You should be concentrating on the victims of crime. Whether the officer was the perpetrator or not, laws need to be changed to better protect them. I'm sure that you are aware of it but if not, with the recent court decision regarding interfering with a police officer, if someone commits a crime against you and it isn't an arrestable offense, Officers have no power to force the aggressor to identify themselves? As an example if someone commits an assault and battery against you, and we are called to the scene (disturbance is over and everyone is just standing around) and the person that assaulted you refuses to identify themselves, Officers have no way to force that person to identify themselves. Assault and Battery in the past is not arrestable. I then have to tell you as the victim to contact your legislator to change the law, where in the past I would have been able to arrest that person for interfering with a police officer. Under the new ruling we are powerless to help that person seek justice, and their aggressor walks away. Interfering with a police officer now has to be committed using physical force. This is just one example of ways in which our jobs are being made more difficult and when legislation like this is presented and voted forward, it makes the future seem that much dimmer.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Subject: Police Reform

Good morning Ladies and Gentlemen:

Many of the thoughts produced on the legislation are encouraging. On the subject of immunity, what needs to be included are clear definitions of what would make an incident qualify for the individual officer to face litigation. I think the blanket coverage needs to be removed.

Additionally, any officer that uses his position to help someone escape the consequences of their actions (think fix speeding tickets, reduce charges) needs to be terminated. Look in any court house, this happens everyday.

The union contracts need to be looked at. For far too long cities and towns have just "gone along", we now have contract that make it hard to remove bad officers that are loaded with stipends that in the private sector are unheard of.

Lastly, do away with the Quinn Bill once and for all. Make it a requirement that to be hired you must have at least 60 college credits. In order to be promoted they must have continued their education. This is what happens in the real world.

I do not have much confidence in the state Legislature to make meaningful changes as you have had many opportunities but are afraid to show leadership. Prove me wrong.

My name is Michael Higgins and I have been a Worcester Police Officer for 21years and have been in law enforcement for 25 years total. This bill was rushed and done without any public discussions. I have never seen anything that will effect so many done so quickly and so secretly. That alone has raised so many red flags. What you are doing with this bill is inviting problems into this state that we currently do not have. This bill takes away our due process, takes away our collective bargaining, and inserts a board with no training ,experience, or background in law enforcement. You will effectively be killing our profession. It will make the police officers you have now ineffective and our ability to hire qualified candidates in the future.

Subject: Senate reform bill to the house of reps

All that I ask is that you take the time to review and understand your version of a criminal justice reform bill: Understand the consequences... understand the pitfalls... understand that forcing a bill just to say you passed one is not the right thing to do.

YOU have an opportunity at this moment to make meaningful legislation. Law that will work to better both the citizens of the commonwealth and help law enforcement do their job better. Most law enforcement officers do their job well. It's the few and far between that have gotten society to this point. I feel the senate hastily passed something that some even admitted to being confused on aspects of it.

Please note these two main points below:

WHY DUE PROCESS MATTERS- Any legislation must allow fair and equitable due process under the Law. Currently, when an officer is disciplined, he/she is entitled to due process and an appeal process with the employer. A new outside board (like the POSA Committee) should allow this process to complete before instituting a review. This will not only maintain fairness, but will allow the new Committee to have a full record and make determinations after a thorough and neutral process has been undertaken. Other public employees such as teachers go through a similar process; police officers deserve the same respect and rights.

WHY QUALIFIED IMMUNITY MATTERS - Qualified immunity does NOT protect bad officers who knowingly violate the rights of members of the community. It's worth saying again. It does not protect bad cops. Instead, it protects good officers who play by and follow the rules. The doctrine allows lawsuits to proceed if a government official (not just a police officer) had fair notice that his or her conduct was unlawful, but acted anyway. The standard is objective reasonableness. By abolishing or changing qualified immunity as it exists today, police officers will not know what is lawful or not. This creates hesitancy and uncertainty in how they perform their duties. This is UNSAFE for all communities.

In closing, we are NOT Minneapolis. So, changing due process or qualified immunity in Massachusetts, which would affect police officers only in Massachusetts, would only serve to punish the men and women in blue for something that happened 1000 miles away. Instead of penalizing and scapegoating, we should be celebrating and promoting the fact that our police officers, some of the best in the nation, are impressive examples of how policing should be done.

On a personal note,
Every officer I have personally spoken to does not condone what happened to George Floyd. It was wrong. But we as a society can't jump 180 degrees and fault all officers for what that one officer did and those 3 officers watched. I know there can be police brutality incidents but the percentage of all interactions do not escalate and do not cause harm to others. Most officers join the profession to do good for others and good candidates are still joining the ranks even knowing what lies ahead with all this hatred against them just for wearing a uniform. In a day and age where an officer is killed in the line of duty every 61 hours in this country, people are still willing to step up and serve and protect. Yes, that's right, every 61 hours... and it's only getting worse because leaders think it's ok to cave to social media and hatred. There can be mutual respect in both sides. Officers can always be trained better but officers also have shown significant restraint over and over in the commonwealth, specifically in the city of Boston. If you aren't willing to better yourself and continue to improve at anything you do you shouldn't be doing it. That's why I'm asking the house of reps to not dig their heads in the ground and think they know everything. Be open to hear all perspectives. Be willing to listen learn and lead for the safety of all.

To members of the House Committee on Ways and Means.

I am writing to you as a plea. A plea for sanity and a plea for law and order. Events throughout the country have triggered a very vocal minority wanting to defund, change and dismantle law enforcement.

These issues have arisen from the murder of George Floyd by an officer using unjustified use of force.

Issues of police brutality in Massachusetts are one of the lowest in the country. The MPTC run academies do a great job of teaching recruits how to be Police Officers. They teach us de-escalation and appropriate use of force.

Currently the hot topic is Qualified Immunity(QI). The news and other media have made the public believe that QI exempts police officers from civil liability. This is not the case and US code 42 U.S.C 1983 is the vehicle which to hold Police civility liable.

What QI does do, it prevents frivolous claims from ruining the lives of Police officers. These frivolous claims are going to jam up the already overwhelmed court system, and they are going to cost municipalities millions in legal defense. This bill to limit QI not only effects police officers, but every government entity acting under the color of law.

Ending QI would be the end of proactive policing, which is what the vocal minority wants. They want lawlessness and believe it will be a Utopia. The real world does not reflect the views they dream of. Please look at New York City as a warning. NYPD eliminated their anti-crime unit. So far, shootings have gone up, and a one year old child was murdered.

Thousands of people are arrested every day. Most people arrested go into custody without incident. A small percentage resist arrest, which is still a crime. The laws that are being written are protecting these people who committed an initial crime to be arrested, then an additional crime in resisting arrest. These laws are not going to effect the general law abiding population, but are only going to benefit criminals who are looking to prey upon that population, then go after a pay check filling frivolous lawsuits after being arrested. Currently an officer arresting this individual would be protected by QI, and if the officer did violate that persons rights, would be held accountable under 42U.S.C. 1983.

In closing, ending or even changing Qualified Immunity would be a mistake and an injustice. The brave men and women wearing a badge patrolling the streets deserve to be protected from frivolous claims. The average citizen deserves to live in a peaceful society. The criminals who prey upon law abiding citizens deserve to be held accountable. Ending Qualified Immunity puts all of this at risk.

Thank you for your time,
Salvatore Paci

I am writing to you in favor of bill S.2820 to bring desperately needed reform to our policing and criminal justice system. I urge you to swiftly pass this bill and strengthen it.

The bill in its current form does a lot of good things that I know will help fix some of the problems my patients of color face with the police and the criminal justice system; but it also leaves a lot to be desired.

The final bill should be stronger in three areas:

1) Eliminate qualified immunity. We must be able to hold our police accountable. This should not be controversial. The current language in the bill is simply too weak. Qualified immunity is a loophole that should be completely closed.

2) Completely ban the use of tear gas. The amendment introduced in the Senate to ban tear gas passed unanimously, except it did not actually ban the use of tear gas. The use of tear gas is an archaic crowd control measure that can permanently harm protesters and bystanders; it causes serious respiratory issues that will only increase the burden on our healthcare system, especially in a respiratory disease pandemic like the one we are currently in.

3) Completely ban the use of chokeholds. In its current form, the bill does not actually ban the use of chokeholds due to the narrow definition of a chokehold that includes intent. Under the current definition, Derek Chauvin's chokehold of George Floyd would not be illegal until the last minutes. That is outrageous. I believe intent language should be removed to ensure no one is killed on our streets like George Floyd was.

Thank you,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

The Massachusetts Senate hastily passed a bill on police reform without doing their due diligence, having hearings and educating themselves to what the serious consequences will be to their actions.

Under Senate Bill 2800 (2820 final version), the elected officials have effectively tied the hands of not only the police but all public officials. This bill removed qualified immunity from all public employees (except themselves of course).

What does that mean? That means that even if myself or my brothers and sisters in blue and red act in good faith under rule/color of law we will now be responsible and open to civil lawsuits. This also opens the municipalities we work for up to frivolous lawsuits for anything, costing you the taxpayers even more.

An example of this is we respond to a medical call where you have a loved one who requires CPR, we arrive on scene do everything we can within the scope of our training and department policies for your loved one but they unfortunately don't make it, we are now open to civil lawsuits for damages.

This is just one major issue with this hastily drafted and passed bill.

It is also important to know that the elected officials who sold us a bill of good and promises of things they would do or stand behind are nothing but wimps who succumb to the bullying of higher ranking elected officials to ensure they keep their positions on appointed committees. I know this is probably no great shock to some but this is the stuff that needs to get out to the masses!!

People are calling for police reform for systemic racism and other injustices that occur. Well reform needs to and should start from the top. If our elected officials are so influenced by bullying and pressure from higher ranking elected officials then maybe the reform needs to start with our elected officials and work its way down. Our representatives, at least in the State senate don't give a crap about the people who they serve and the people who voted them into those positions. What they also don't realize is how easily it is for them to loose the support of their constituents and be voted out next election.

Subject: S. 2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I support for S.2820 the Senate's police reform bill and I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible so it can be signed by Governor Baker by the end of July. At this moment in the history of the United States, when glaring inequities in police behavior toward vulnerable populations have been made increasingly visible, it is essential to start addressing policing throughout the Commonwealth and I believe the provisions included in S 2820 will move us toward that.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Please advocate for Expungement in Massachusetts in house bill focused on racial justice

Dear MA Judiciary,

My name is Siera Barton and I am from Cambridge, MA. I am reaching out about the effort to expand the existing youth expungement law so that it is more accessible to young people in Massachusetts. As a public health professional, specifically working in community violence intervention and prevention, I want our state to commit to upstream solutions, such as financial investments in communities, housing first, and a robust social safety net, which all contribute to safer communities. I want to live in a society that prioritizes growth, not punishment.

Let's amend the expungement law applying our understanding of young adult recidivism rates (young adults have a 76% recidivism rate over three years), cognitive brain development (people are more risk averse before their mid-twenties), and the seven year expiration of a criminal record's effectiveness as a tool for public safety.

The current law is very exclusive and most young people cannot qualify. It doesn't even distinguish between a conviction versus a dismissed case. Race plays a central role in the problem with criminal records. Black youth are three times more likely to be arrested than their white peers. Black individuals are six times more likely to go to jail than whites despite being just 7.5% of the population. People of color are over-represented at every stage of the legal system and expungement will go a long way to undo the harm from this systemic racism. Criminal records stay with people forever and prevent many from getting good jobs and education which puts an unnecessary strain on our economy. Records also have a very negative impact on mental health and they particularly hurt communities of color.

We respectfully ask for an amendment that will:

- * Allow for multiple offenses to be expunged (prior to age 21).
- * Remove the list of 150+ charges that automatically disqualify and let the judge decide. Charges don't reflect the reality of an individual's character, guilt, likelihood of future risk, or ability to contribute to society in a positive way. Instead we should allow for judicial discretion. Since the 7 year felony and 3 year misdemeanor wait periods only begin at the end of one's sentence, the most severe charges like murder and aggravated rape which come with life sentences will never be eligible.
- * Differentiate between convictions and dismissed cases. Not all charges are equal.

I know that the Legislature is planning to pass legislation to address police accountability and racial justice and I would really appreciate your support to make sure an expansion to the expungement law is included. As your constituent, I would appreciate your leadership on this issue.

Thank you for your consideration! This issue is very important to me, the young people in our community, and the entire Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Sincerely,

Siera Barton

Subject: Opposed

Good morning,

I am strongly opposed to bill S.2820. This bill ties the hands of our police officers and creates a dangerous situation for our communities and our police. I would also like to point out that we have not had any problems with policing in this state and have been congratulated for our great practices and the professionalism of our police. An incident that took place 1,200 miles away should not dictate what we do here, as it does not in any other situation. This is an obvious political move and disgraceful.

* Altogether banning any type of force is dangerous as the public can use any type of force against those who protect us. If a police officer is fighting for his life, you are saying he/she is not able to save his/her life if a chokehold is his/her only option. Yet, a person can use a chokehold to kill a police officer. Chokeholds are already limited to lethal force. Limiting force in certain situations is more logical than outright banning it.

* Creating a certification process without the opportunity or due process is a dangerous road to go down with all of the frivolous complaints that are made against police officers just due to the nature of their job. The argument keeps coming up that most other states have a certification process. Well, most other states do not have the level of training our police officers have and that is why Massachusetts won't accept other state's certifications already. Again, other states with certification have had the problems where Massachusetts has not.

* Qualified immunity is what allows a police officer to do his/her job. I will leave you with a few scenarios

* One of your loved ones drops from a heart attack. There is no pulse when the police arrive, they immediately start CPR. During CPR, trying to save your loved ones life, they break a rib (very common with CPR), As it stands now, police are covered by qualified immunity because they were acting upon their training, in good faith, and trying to save a life. Without qualified immunity, the Supreme Court has ruled that a police officer would be more protected to NOT try and save a life then try and help. Without qualified immunity, that officer could be sued for breaking that rib while trying to save a life.

* You and your family members are involved in a horrific car accident, a police officer activated his blue lights and siren and follows his training and legal authority to get to the scene as quickly and safely as possible to save your child's life as you look on helpless stuck in the car. On the way, the officer is involved in an accident themselves rushing to try and help your family. Without qualified immunity, this officer can now be personally sued by the other party involved in the accident even though they were acting in good faith and within the boundaries of the law and their training. Do you think that officer is going to get there so quick next time to try and save your family when seconds count?

* Domestic violence may take a turn for the worse with officers afraid to arrest and be sued.

* A person calls because a dog is in distress in a hot car. Before, the officer would break the window to save the dog. Without qualified immunity, that officer could be sued for breaking that window and therefore may not feel comfortable doing so. According to the Supreme Court, officers are not required to act.

* There are a million scenarios that are running through my head. Think of any situation that an officer responds to and there is the possibility to be sued without qualified immunity for simply doing their job. Without qualified immunity, officers will either hesitate to act or not act at all.

* Some things you could do to help:

* Stop pulling training funding for police.

* Bring back the Quinn Bill to bring in higher educated police officers who are proved to use less force.

* Fund body cameras to hold everyone accountable. I have a feeling this one is not in there because you do not want proof that goes against your party line. You don't want to see what police officers really deal with on a daily basis.

* Stop taking away non-lethal force options so you only leave a police officer with a lethal force option.

There is no need to villainize the men and women of the Commonwealth who lay their lives on the line every day or you. I know some of you use even them on a regular basis for your own protection at home or at the office. Policing is a noble profession and should be treated as such as nothing has happened with Massachusetts trained police officers to make you think otherwise. Passing this bill and changing policing under the guise of national rhetoric is dangerous and irresponsible. Please use some common sense, read actual facts and studies (not the media) and think about the citizens in the state, and the children who have to grow up in this state, who need police services on a daily basis rather than your political party line. Most of all, do not make knee jerk decisions without the proper time to research and be sure a safe and effective bill is being passed.

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter, and I want to stand up for all families that have lost loved ones to police violence. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Marsden

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Alden Cowap. I am a resident of Cambridge and I support Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

As recent events have brought to light, the police system in this country is far from perfect. It was built to be a racist system, and has maintained that to this day. While reforms are only the first step to protect black and brown lives against excessive police violence and lack of accountability, they are an important first step. I strongly support this bill and believe you should too. It will not hinder the police officers' efforts to maintain peace, but will signal that Massachusetts is a place that cares about the health, safety, and life of every one of its residents.

SB.2800 bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Best,

To Whom It May Concern,

I'm appalled at the desire to remove qualified immunity from our first responders.

Qualified immunity does not protect bad police officers that break the law. They are still prosecuted. It protects good, hardworking police officers and other first responders who risk their lives daily to diffuse situations and actively protect our citizens.

By removing qualified immunity, you are making it possible for individuals to present frivolous lawsuits against our first responders. This is a waste of both time and money, and I fear that our police officers will constantly question their actions therefore endangering their lives and the lives of those they've sworn to serve and protect.

I fear for my husband's life when you look to remove protections from his job. He wanted to be a police officer his entire life, to be viewed as a helper, someone who serves his community, please don't take his rights from him.

To the honourable Committee Chairs, Reps. Claire Cronin and Aaron Michlewitz, and members of the committee,
I am writing to voice my support for S.2820, the bill under consideration for reforming some of our Commonwealth's police standards and create more resources for Black and Brown people in our community as our entire judicial and law enforcement system continues to work towards becoming free of racial bias.

I am delighted to see the scope of the bill, which does so many needful things at once: reduce the potential for qualified immunity so that when law enforcement infringe on civil rights, they're called to answer for it; establish standards for law enforcement training and education in the equally crucial areas of de-escalation and appropriate use of force, AND the history of racism in this country, so that the implicit biases we all carry can be fought before they turn deadly in a police officer authorized to carry a weapon and use force; and establish committees to monitor, report on and work to improve the disparities in the application of justice that racial biases inflict on Black and Brown people in our commonwealth.

In the course of the past month, I have been saddened to hear stories come pouring out of the woodwork in North Andover, where I live, and Haverhill, where I work, about Black and Brown people - including educators and clergy - being stopped more frequently by police and treated with more hostility by them than the average White person driving or walking by. I know from my work in immigration, how much more likely a Latinx person is to be stopped, asked for documentation of status in this country and possibly detained, than a White person.

In both North Andover and Haverhill, and throughout MA, we have the good fortune to be served by many, many, many phenomenal officers and other members of law enforcement. My advocacy for this bill casts no aspersions on them personally. But nobody, not one of us here in America, is free from implicit bias, and until we adopt changes like those proposed in this bill - accountability, data collection on instances of racial discrimination in law enforcement, strengthening of community relationships, and mandatory training on both racism and de-escalation for our officers - implicit bias unaddressed in law enforcement will continue to humiliate, oppress and sometimes kill Black and Brown MA residents.

Please support S.2820.

Hi,

I'm a Massachusetts resident submitting testimony for the House hearing on the police reform bill.

Name: Anna Nowogrodzki
Phone number: 607-252-6803

Thank you for your attention to this important matter. I strongly support many provisions of the Senate bill and it is imperative that the House include these provisions in their version of the bill:

- The same limits to qualified immunity that the Senate included. This is vitally important to protect the constitutional rights of Massachusetts residents.
- Amendment 80, which gives superintendents and school committees the ability to authorize a school resource officer, rather than the current unfunded mandate for every district to have SROs. Districts should have local control over their own budgets and policies.
- Amendment 108, which prevents schools from sharing personal information about students into local, state, and federal databases.
- Amendment 65, which bans tear gas, a chemical weapon banned in warfare.

Subject: Police Reform

Good morning,

Thank you for taking the time to read this email. I am a police officer with the city of Worcester where I have worked for the last 15 years. I am an instructor in our police academy as well as a defensive tactics instructor for the state of Massachusetts. I take great pride in training police officers and believe that Massachusetts has the best officers in the whole country.

The recent reform bill that was passed in the Senate is going to have severe negative consequences for not only the police but also the public that we serve. There are a few areas of major concern that I would ask that you please give your attention to. First I believe what was passed is anti labor legislation. Second it removes the rights to due process. Third it also removes collective bargaining. Finally it inserts a board that has no training, experience or background in law enforcement.

I believe that these areas of the bill are of the utmost concern and should receive the most consideration. I ask that you please make the proper changes to these areas Thank you again for taking the time to read this email.

Hello, my name is Samuel Botsford with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 24 Monmouth Court Brookline, MA. I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implement Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Thank you very much.

To whom it may concern,

I strongly support many provisions of the Senate bill and it is imperative that the House include these provisions in their version of the bill:

- The same limits to qualified immunity that the Senate included. This is vitally important to protect the constitutional rights of Massachusetts residents.

- Amendment 80, which gives superintendents and school committees the ability to authorize a school resource officer, rather than the current unfunded mandate for every district to have SROs. Districts should have local control over their own budgets and policies.

- Amendment 108, which prevents schools from sharing personal information about students into local, state, and federal databases.

As a Massachusetts citizen, taxpayer and parent of a law enforcement officer, I stand opposed to S 2820. To fast track this bill without debate on policy implications and fiscal impact is woefully irresponsible. There is no regard for the courageous men and women who put their lives on the line every day. If passed, I will join fellow citizens to pass an initiative petition to overturn key provisions of this bill that are not only morally wrong, but dangerous to our society and to the people who keep us safe.

Subject: Pass SB.2800, Reform, Shift, Build Act

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Rachel Upshaw. I am a resident of Boston (Jamaica Plain) and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

It is imperative to pass this bill in order to right the wrongs of the past, create a safer city for all citizens, and hold police accountable. Boston must be a leader in this area in order to serve all its residents.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Rachel Upshaw

Good morning,

I urge the House to preserve the Senate language in S.2820 that:

- * Creates an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification board
- * Limits the qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages
- * Reduces the school-to-prison pipeline and removes barriers to expungement of juvenile records

I request that the House improve the Senate bill by:

- * Strengthening use of force standards
- * Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology
- * Lifting the cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund

I am asking for you to NOT support S.2820 as written. This bill was hastily written, with insufficient public comment. More so, it will impede law enforcement officers to fulfil their duties as they do today. Massachusetts has some of the best trained officers in the U.S. If this bill passes as written, all officers will now be second guessing every decision they have to make which could take precious seconds away from them possible resulting in serious injury or death to either themselves or the public they are trying to protect and serve. Almost every officer I know, of which I am a mother to two of them, are considering leaving the profession they love if this bill passes as written. Again, I ask that you NOT support this bill. Subject: Police Reform Legislation

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Philip Nassise

Subject: Police Reform Bill Testimony

Good morning,

I am writing to urge you to support the need by the state to raise the age at which emerging adults are processed in the juvenile system from 18 to 20 years-old as part of the Police Reform Bill under consideration.

This is a key area for young people, especially our young men of color, to get derailed. In all the many efforts to promote racial justice and reform our criminal justice system, we need to prioritize not pushing our children into adult jail and serving them in a more developmentally appropriate juvenile system. Only 25% of Massachusetts' young adult population is Black or Latino, but 70% of young adults incarcerated in state prisons and 57% of young adults incarcerated in county jails are people of color. We need to get them out and keep them out.

The DYS census (juvenile system) is down and there is existing capacity to do this. The outcomes are better, education is required in the juvenile system, and we prevent young adults from being crippled by CORIs- all of which is better for public safety and the lives of young people.

Thank you,

Subject: bill S.2800

Good Morning,

I write to you today to express my strong opposition to the recently filed S.2800 and I ask that you vote NO when this bill is debated in the House of Representatives. This bill is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of this bill:

In Section 55, this bill authorizes "any person" to "intervene" if they believe an officer's use of force is excessive. This language will be exploited and used as a defense by anyone who is charged with assaulting a police officer. This language will result in more cops being hurt and killed.

In Section 56, this bill authorizes for treble damages if a police officer is found to have submitted a false pay record. This would make police officers the ONLY public employees subject to this punishment.

In Section 6, this bill the POSAC Committee is granted broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations- even when the original law enforcement agency has conducted it's own investigation. The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment rights against self-incrimination (see Carney vs Springfield) and constitutional protections against "double-jeopardy".

In Section 10, qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for the police officers we send out on patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot purchase a home, a car, obtain a credit card, or other things for the benefit of them and their families. I know 3 Officers I work with who stated they will quit if qualified immunity is removed. I am unable to retire this year but I will take an inside job and never work the street again.

Additionally, this bill re-writes sections of the 2018 Criminal Justice Reform Bill (see record expungement and corrections) as well as the Hands-Free law the legislature just adopted. Those bills were signed into law after the normal and appropriate legislative process of filing a bill, holding public hearings to accept testimony from citizens and thoughtful debate over a span of many months.

As your constituent I ask that you vote NO on S.2800, for the reasons stated above, and others. Policing has become increasingly dangerous and difficult over the years. We have seen difficulty in recruiting Officers. Legislation such as this will further deter people from seeking a career in Law Enforcement and it will force many Officers into early retirement.

Thank you,

Sergeant Kate Stephens, Salem Police Dept.

Afternoon Representative Frost,

Wanted to reach out and praise the work you and your peers are doing at the State Capital during these insane times. Also, wishing you continued success and health as we move forward with COVID-19 and everything else that 2020 is throwing at us all.

However, I'm reaching out today in regards to the Qualified Immunity Bill that has recently been presented on Capitol Hill and that our local state government is considering. I can tell you I am an informed voter. I pay attention not only to issues within the financial services field, which I've been deeply involved in over the last 20 years as a NAIFA member, but also to those bills that would deeply affect our community such as this one.

Any bill that would jeopardize and negatively affect our local and state police forces in Massachusetts from doing their jobs without hesitation and will result in those protecting the citizens of the commonwealth, from being unprotected in executing law enforcement... I find to be unacceptable.

Clearly, there are current provisions that allow for action to be taken against any government officials who willfully abuse their roles, such as what happened in the George Floyd case in MN. However, additional regulations can be seen as nothing more than a rush to action based on political pressures.

I ask that you vote against any bill that will make it even more difficult for our police departments, those who protect the good people of the commonwealth, to do their jobs to the best of their abilities and effectively. Anything that would change the existing Qualified Immunity regulations will do just that and make our community less safe and create a distinct disadvantage for our current and future police forces to do their jobs.

Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I'm writing this to show my support for the police officers of Massachusetts and to ask you to not pass this bill which would make their jobs much more difficult to do.

We were all horrified by the actions of the officers in Minneapolis, but those actions can NOT be aligned with Massachusetts police.

If this bill passes then officers will face a constant barrage of frivolous lawsuits and will be reluctant to perform necessary duties to keep citizens safe. Qualified immunity does not protect officers who commit crimes, it protects officers who act in good faith.

We need you to be the adults in the room and have the courage to do what is right. We've all seen the escalating violence across the country. This violence will continue if police aren't allowed to do their job. Thank you.

?Hi Subject: S.2820

Dear House Committee on Ways and Means,

Hello my name is Gary Quitadamo and I am a Lieutenant for the Worcester Police Department and have been a police officer for approximately 30 years. First I want to personally thank you to allow public written testimony relative to House Bill S.2820. Unlike your Massachusetts Senate brethren, I firmly believe it is of utmost importance to elicit and allow public testimony when the legislature attempts to grapple with such an important public issue like Law Enforcement Reform. However, I respectfully would suggest the legislature and Governor Baker should not expedite such an all-encompassing and complicated topic and place unnecessary deadlines on this important issue. I firmly believe, no matter where you stand in the political aisle, we all believe a civil conversation must occur where all sides of this argument has the ability to be heard. All too often rushed legislature typically results in ineffective legislature/statutes.

As a police officer and registered voter I ask that you support the following issues of S.2820;

Ø Qualified Immunity (QI) - The Senate Bill significantly alters the language would eliminate Qualified Immunity for Police Officers and many more public employees (i.e. correctional officers). At minimum a committee should be established to study the resulting profound effect on Law Enforcement if QI was eliminated. The Senate bill significantly alters language that has been historically supported by federal case law.

Ø Due Process / Collective Bargaining for Police Officers - The Senate Bill as written will remove the right of due process for police officers. It will eliminate the right to be heard by an independent and neutral arbiter which has been the our right for more than 50 years.

Ø Police Officer's Standards & Accreditation Committee (POSAC) - The proposed Senate Bill establishes the aforementioned committee which will have power to decertify an officer when complaints are filed, reviewed, and adjudicated. My issue with this proposal is the make-up of the committee, which will be mostly civilians with no experience or knowledge of law enforcement practices. Like all other professions (doctors, dentists, teachers, and all public employees) our goal is to ensure the make-up of the committee (at minimum the majority) include law enforcement representatives and/or civilians with law enforcement background, degrees, and/or experience.

Respectfully,

Gary Quitadamo

The Honorable Rep. Claire D. Cronin

Chair, Joint Committee on the Judiciary

Re: Testimony in Support of Police Accountability -- Use of Force Standards, Qualified Immunity Reform, and Prohibitions on Face Surveillance

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

As a Brighton resident and a clinical social worker, I write in strong support of the many provisions in S.2820 designed to increase police accountability. In particular, our organization urges you to:

1. Adopt strict limits on police use of force,
2. End qualified immunity, because it shields police from accountability and denies victims of police violence their day in court, and
3. Prohibit government use of face surveillance technology, which threatens core civil liberties and racial justice.

I spent my clinical internship last year working with school-aged children of color, and I often worry about how, in a few short years, they may no longer be seen as children by police officers. I'm reminded just how many victims of police brutality are young people. I am deeply troubled to know that my clients of color are not truly safe in their communities due to laws that protect police when they exploit abusive practices. We've seen the tragic outcomes of this many times before - enough is enough.

George Floyd's murder by Minneapolis police brought hundreds of thousands of people into the streets all around the country to demand fundamental changes to policing and concrete steps to address systemic racism. This historic moment is not about one police killing or about one police department. Massachusetts is not immune. Indeed, Bill Barr's Department of Justice recently reported that a unit of the Springfield Police Department routinely uses brutal, excessive violence against residents of that city. We must address police violence and abuses, stop the disparate policing of and brutality against communities of color and Black people in particular, and hold police accountable for civil rights violations. These changes are essential for the health and safety of our communities here in the Commonwealth.

Massachusetts must establish strong standards limiting excessive force by police. When police interact with civilians, they should only use force when it is absolutely necessary, after attempting to de-escalate, when all other options have been exhausted. Police must use force that is proportional to the situation, and the minimum amount required to accomplish a lawful purpose. And several tactics commonly associated with death or serious injury, including the use of chokeholds, tear gas, rubber bullets, and no-knock warrants should be outlawed entirely.

Of critical and urgent importance: Massachusetts must abolish the dangerous doctrine of qualified immunity because it shields police from being held accountable to their victims. Limits on use of force are meaningless unless they are enforceable. Yet today, qualified immunity protects police even when they blatantly and seriously violate people's civil rights, including by excessive use of force resulting in permanent injury or even death. It denies victims of police violence their day in court. Ending or reforming qualified immunity is the most important police accountability measure in S2820. Maintaining Qualified Immunity ensures that Black Lives Don't Matter. We urge you to end immunity in order to end impunity.

Finally, we urge the House to prevent the expansion of police powers and budgets by prohibiting government entities, including police, from using face surveillance technologies. Specifically, we ask that you include H.1538 in your omnibus bill. Face surveillance technologies have serious racial bias flaws built into their systems. There are increasing numbers of cases in which Black people are wrongfully arrested due to errors with these technologies (as well as sloppy police work). We should not allow police in Massachusetts to use technology that supercharges racial bias and expands police powers to surveil everyone, every day and everywhere we go.

Long-term, efforts should focus on reducing police budgets, removing police officers from schools, and funding community resources that prevent violence. I stand by my colleagues in social work and other health professions in addressing violence as a public health concern. Our field offers a rich array of evidence linking youth unemployment, economic neglect, lack of access to health and mental health services, and chronic stress with violence. It is critical that we divest from policing and incarceration - which are shown to be ineffective in addressing root causes of violence - and put our money towards what communities are actually asking for.

There is broad consensus that we must act swiftly and boldly to address police violence, strengthen accountability, and advance racial justice. We urge you to pass the strongest possible legislation without delay, and to ensure that it is signed into law this session.

Sincerely,

Adam Lang (He/Him/His)

Subject: Concerns to 2820 as amended

Dear Chairwoman Cronin and Chairman Michlewitz,

After reading the letter drafted by my association, MA Chiefs of Police President, Chief Jeff Farnsworth and Major City Chiefs Association President, Chief Brian Kyes, I am in Full support of their (our) concerns.

Rather than overloading the same message in my words, regardless how important our concerns are, I am signing on to this letter as a Massachusetts police chief.

I have been a successful law enforcement professional since 1997, becoming a police chief in 2008. I strongly believe any changes to the qualified immunity law would be detrimental to law enforcements daily functions in keeping a decent quality of life for our communities.

Please consider our outlined concerns drafted by both chiefs mentioned above.

Thank you for your time.

Respectfully,

James Palmeri

Subject: Bill S2820

To Whom it May Concern,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Good Morning Sirs and Ma'am's- my name is Keller Williams and I am a Massachusetts State Police Trooper assigned to the Violent Fugitive Apprehension Section. I was in the Coast Guard for 10 years and an Amherst Police Officer prior to joining the State Police. I have been assigned to one of our tactical teams and have also been a Drill Instructor for 9 years spanning 6 classes where I trained over a 1,000 Troopers.

My partners and I provide a unique service to the State and local communities, we arrest the worst of the worst. Suspects wanted for murder, kidnapping, rape, child sex offenses etc. I have never felt more disenfranchised and demoralized by my elected leadership. I implore you to support us and by us I mean every law enforcement officer in the state. We need your support on putting more experienced law enforcement on the PSOA. We need your support regarding Due Process, which is a right afforded to all citizens. We need your support on Qualified Immunity, which allows us to do our job to our fullest ability and allows to feel confident we will go home at night to our families.

My family's nucleus is made up of my beautiful and loving wife Mandi and daughters Logan (21) and LiLi (18). They may have met some of you. I am a recipient of the Hanna Award. I am also the recipient of two Medal of Valors and the Medal of Lifesaving from the State Police, the Chicopee Medal of Honor and the MPA Medal of Valor. These have been the result of 3 separate shootings and saving a 5 year old girl from her mother who was trying to kill her. I'm proud of my service and wouldn't change a thing, but this environment being created around us cannot continue.

Subject: Public Testimony - Bill S.2820

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to you about the proposed bill to reform police standards. I am just an "average" citizen living in Charlton, MA. None of my family members, or close friends, work in law enforcement. I know, and have worked with, a number of police officers in my community though and am compelled to write to you.

There seem to be some reasonable points to the now revised 70+ page proposed bill, but I am alarmed for a number of reasons. I would like to explain my point of view on a handful of them.

First, it seems our state government has worked on this "under the cover of night." I cannot imagine how circumventing the legislative process with no public input, or input from police officers (or possibly the police unions) is appropriate in any way. Thankfully, it sounds like the House Ways and Means Committee and the Judiciary are soliciting public testimony now.

Requiring officers to carry their own insurance and removing qualified immunity seems like an utter disaster of an idea to me. Who in their right mind would want either to remain as a police officer, or to become a police officer in the future, if they could risk everything because someone's abbreviated video from a cell phone camera portrays an interaction with an officer in a less than perfect light?

And if / when this door is opened, what other professions will be subject to similar "standards?" How about public school teachers, our firefighters and EMS, etc.?

Who would ever want to provide a public service for a living if they could lose everything over a misunderstanding or the inability to go through due process to discover the facts about a situation vs. what much of the biased, mainstream media seems compelled to report on?

However, if that is what our government puts in place, the mainstream media must also be held responsible for the never-ending stream of misinformation that is being peddled to the public. I firmly believe they are one of the biggest dangers to Americans.

Removing school resource officers seems like another slippery slope. I've heard nothing but good things about the connections that Officer Brian Cardrant has at our regional high school, Shepherd Hill. Why would we want to remove a valuable resource who is building relationships with students? He provides support for them in ways that members of a school's administration and staff do not. He is also a positive role model who influences kids in their formative years to contribute in positive ways to society and not succumb to the many, negative peer pressures that they encounter.

To my knowledge, extrajudicial justice in the form of lynching was not conducted in Massachusetts. If that is not correct, at least the NAACP website lists Massachusetts among several states where there were no lynchings for a period of nearly 90 years. In that case, why should Massachusetts taxpayer dollars in 2020 and beyond go to fund a requirement for police officers to be trained on the history of lynching, slavery and racism in general?

Governing.com's 2013 data for safety and justice (most recent available) indicates that the Boston Police Department has a total minority share of 34.5% with 507 black officers. Would minority officers, including those who are black, be required to complete this training? If that is the case, will every public servant, including our elected representatives at all levels of town, city and state government, our educators and administration, those who represent these groups (unions), etc., also be required to complete this training? If not, why not? After all, they are directly involved with public policy and interactions with the general public of all ages, gender, backgrounds, beliefs and ethnicities.

There is plenty more in the 70+ page document, but I don't intend to write you a 70+ page e-mail outlining my concerns.

I am neither a registered Republican, nor a Democrat, but I implore you to craft a police reform bill that doesn't likely put the lives of our officers, their families, and our citizens, in grave danger.

In closing, I believe...

- * That there is a thin, blue line that separates chaos from order
- * It doesn't need to be a thick blue line
- * Some people want to eliminate or erase that line all together, which would be disastrous
- * There are good and bad people in every walk of life and profession, including the ranks of law enforcement and public service of all kinds (including police, security, military, government, etc.)
- * We are on the brink of a national disaster if dangerous bills like S.2800, or S.2820, are allowed to pass without opposition or common sense amendments
- * This shouldn't be about hasteful expediency because the Governor wants something on his desk by July 31st
- * It should absolutely be about doing the right thing, for the right reasons
- * Meaningful reform shouldn't include a bunch of bundled trade-offs encompassing "everything and the kitchen sink," just to appease representatives in our two party system; it shouldn't be about political agendas - it should be about the people
- * And now, more than ever, we need the logical and pragmatic voices of our state representatives and officials to be heard on behalf of people who can clearly see what will jeopardize our future

Thank you for this opportunity to express my perspective. I hope you will truly consider what the public has to say about this critical matter.

Sincerely,

David Smolski

Subject: Please advocate for Expungement in Massachusetts in house bill focused on racial justice

Dear MA Judiciary,

My name is Rachel Isaacson and I live in Cambridge, MA. I am reaching out about the effort to expand the existing youth expungement law so that it is more accessible to young people in Massachusetts. As a public health professional, I want our state to commit to upstream solutions, such as financial investments in communities, housing first, and a robust social safety net, which all contribute to safer communities. I want to live in a society that prioritizes growth, not punishment.

Let's amend the expungement law applying our understanding of young adult recidivism rates (young adults have a 76% recidivism rate over three years), cognitive brain development (people are more risk averse before their mid-twenties), and the seven year expiration of a criminal record's effectiveness as a tool for public safety.

The current law is very exclusive and most young people cannot qualify. It doesn't even distinguish between a conviction versus a dismissed case. Race plays a central role in the problem with criminal records. Black youth are three times more likely to be arrested than their white peers. Black individuals are six times more likely to go to jail than whites despite being just 7.5% of the population. People of color are over-represented at every stage of the legal system and expungement will go a long way to undo the harm from this systemic racism. Criminal records stay with people forever and prevent many from getting good jobs and education which puts an unnecessary strain on our economy. Records also have a very negative impact on mental health and they particularly hurt communities of color.

We respectfully ask for an amendment that will:

- * Allow for multiple offenses to be expunged (prior to age 21).
- * Remove the list of 150+ charges that automatically disqualify and let the judge decide. Charges don't reflect the reality of an individual's character, guilt, likelihood of future risk, or ability to contribute to society in a positive way. Instead we should allow for judicial discretion. Since the 7 year felony and 3 year misdemeanor wait periods only begin at the end of one's sentence, the most severe charges like murder and aggravated rape which come with life sentences will never be eligible.
- * Differentiate between convictions and dismissed cases. Not all charges are equal.

I know that the Legislature is planning to pass legislation to address police accountability and racial justice and I would really appreciate your support to make sure an expansion to the expungement law is included. As your constituent, I would appreciate your leadership on this issue.

Thank you for your consideration! This issue is very important to me, the young people in our community, and the entire Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Sincerely,

As voting citizen in the state of Massachusetts, I feel that the police bill should be voted on by the citizens not the representatives. It is time to give the voting population the power of major decisions and how those decisions affect the people of the state. Give the people the power to decide what they want. I, myself, think this political atmosphere has to change and it will only change if you give back the power to the people not the few politicians at the State House. Do not pass this police bill!

I have been a foster parent to a young woman who came into our family at age 16. She is now 22 and, while she has not had any crime or drug problems, her emotional and maturity development are clearly delayed. I ascribe this to early trauma. Fostering this teen into early adulthood has provided me a lens into the struggles other kids face. Layering race into the equation makes this bill more urgent. I believe reform is possible, and likely with proper intervention and continued emotional support. Sending youth into adult prisons derails chances for positive change.

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

Please accept the following testimony with regard to SB2820 - An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

You are being inundated with email communication from leaders within the police workforce asking the house to work in partnership with us law enforcement officers and take the necessary time to write this bill in the best interest of every US resident/citizen. I love my job and worked unbelievably hard to attain the position of School Resource Officer. I think you are making a horrible mistake by enacting this bill so quickly with such drastic changes to our justice system. Our society needs law and order. It pains my body to walk around carrying 35lbs worth of gear around, but I do this to protect our residents and my own life so I may return home safe to my family at the end of the day.

Please listen to our Police Leaders, we are the best in the nation. Let their experience help you mold the appropriate changes to police training. Please please do not let tyrants burn, destroy and vandalize our beautiful state. My friends, family and co-workers need you more than ever.

Subject: Bill S.2820 testimony

Good morning,

I am strongly opposed to bill S.2820. This bill ties the hands of our police officers and creates a dangerous situation for our communities and our police. I would also like to point out that we have not had any problems with policing in this state and have been congratulated for our great practices and the professionalism of our police. An incident that took place 1,200 miles away should not dictate what we do here, as it does not in any other situation. This is an obvious political move and disgraceful.

* Altogether banning any type of force is dangerous as the public can use any type of force against those who protect us. If a police officer is fighting for his life, you are saying he/she is not able to save his/her life if a chokehold is his/her only option. Yet, a person can use a chokehold to kill a police officer. Chokeholds are already limited to lethal force. Limiting force in certain situations is more logical than outright banning it.

* Creating a certification process without the opportunity or due process is a dangerous road to go down with all of the frivolous complaints that are made against police officers just due to the nature of their job. The argument keeps coming up that most other states have a certification process. Well, most other states do not have the level of training our police officers have and that is why Massachusetts won't accept other state's certifications already. Again, other states with certification have had the problems where Massachusetts has not.

* Qualified immunity is what allows a police officer to do their job. I will leave you with a few scenarios

* One of your loved ones drops from a heart attack. There is no pulse when the police arrive, they immediately start CPR. During CPR, trying to save your loved ones life, they break a rib (very common with CPR), As it stands now, police are covered by qualified immunity because they were acting upon their training, in good faith, and trying to save a life. Without qualified immunity, the Supreme Court has ruled that a police officer would be more protected to NOT try and save a life then try and help. Without qualified immunity, that officer could be sued for breaking that rib while trying to save a life.

* You and your family members are involved in a horrific car accident, a police officer activated his blue lights and siren and follows his training and legal authority to get to the scene as quickly and safely as possible to save your child's life as you look on helpless stuck in the car. On the way, the officer is involved in an accident themselves rushing to try and help your family. Without qualified immunity, this officer can now be personally sued by the other party involved in the accident even though they were acting in good faith and within the boundaries of the law and their training. Do you think that officer is going to get there so quick next time to try and save your family when seconds count?

* Domestic violence may take a turn for the worse with officers afraid to arrest and be sued.

* A person calls because a dog is in distress in a hot car. Before, the officer would break the window to save the dog. Without qualified immunity, that officer could be sued for breaking that window and therefore may not feel comfortable doing so. According to the Supreme Court, officers are not required to act.

* There are a million scenarios that are running through my head. Think of any situation that an officer responds to and there is the possibility to be sued without qualified immunity for simply doing their job. Without qualified immunity, officers will either hesitate to act or not act at all.

* Some things you could do to help:

* Stop pulling training funding for police.

* Bring back the Quinn Bill to bring in higher educated police officers who are proved to use less force.

* Fund body cameras to hold everyone accountable. I have a feeling this one is not in there because you do not want proof that goes against your party line. You don't want to see what police officers really deal with on a daily basis.

* Stop taking away non-lethal force options so you only leave a police officer with a lethal force option.

There is no need to villainize the men and women of the Commonwealth who lay their lives on the line every day or you. I know some of you use even them on a regular basis for your own protection at home or at the office. Policing is a noble profession and should be treated as such as nothing has happened with Massachusetts trained police officers to make you think otherwise. Passing this bill and changing policing under the guise of national rhetoric is dangerous and irresponsible. Please use some common sense, read actual facts and studies (not the media) and think about the citizens in the state, and the children who have to grow up in this state, who need police services on a daily basis rather than your political party line. Most of all, do not make knee jerk decisions without the proper time to research and be sure a safe and effective bill is being passed.

Thank you for your time.

Hello Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin:

I grew up in Ireland during the 70's and 80's. The police officers, Gardaí, did not carry guns. Rubber bullets, tear gas and attack dogs were only used by the British Army in the north. Moving to the US and seeing armed police officers was very jarring. As a naturalized citizen, I have seen the police force become increasingly militarized over the 20+ years I've lived here. During my commute, I have noticed more, and more, people of color being pulled over. I have come to question if they are safe from the police officers.

As a result, I am writing in support of S2820 currently being considered by the Massachusetts House of Representatives. This bill is a crucial part of reforming our police departments and addressing systemic racism within our society.

In particular I support the restrictions on obtaining military grade property, the banning of choke holds, and the restrictions on the use of chemical weapons, rubber bullets and dogs. The emphasis on training and de-escalation tactics is an absolutely necessary part of law enforcement reform.

In addition, I support the change in the requirement for school resource officers only at the request of school superintendents. There have been too many stories from students, particularly students of color, of the racism they have encountered or observed from SROs. Studies are clear that the criminalization of matters that should be handled by schools are hugely detrimental to students both during their time in school and afterward.

I know there has been a tremendous amount of resistance from the law enforcement community regarding this bill, particularly with respect to the modification of qualified immunity. In my opinion the changes made by the bill are reasonable and will help to hold police officers accountable for their actions.

Thank you for taking the time to read this and consideration in passing the bill.

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Judith Leemann I am a resident of Boston, MA. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

As the white mother of a Black son I have experienced a profound shift in understanding over the last decade of parenting him as to how policing is enacted on different communities and constituencies. It has been a painful process of having my sight become clear. From where I stand now, and in solidarity with the powerful voices lifting in this moment, I ask that you pass SB.2800 as the MINIMUM reform and as a beginning of much greater additional reform.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Judith Leemann

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep Michlewitz:

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July. I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious. Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Police Reform Bill

To All,

I am writing in my concerns regarding the police reform bill. I feel this bill is anti labor legislation and will drastically change the way law enforcement conducts business as it has for so many years. This bill removes the rights of due process, a concept I cannot make any sense of. I am opposed to removing collective bargaining and inserting a board that has no experience or background in law enforcement. It is absurd to have impactful career decisions made by someone with no knowledge of how law is applied and how law enforcement operates.

I am requesting all involved to stop the rush to pass this bill and take the time to make it right for law enforcement and the public as it will have a huge, negative impact on both.

Subject: Testimony for S2820

To The Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary,

It has come to my attention that the bill titled S2820 is under review and as it has been presented to you, I stand opposed to it.

The senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste, without public hearing or input of any kind, was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years. My strong, smart, dedicated husband is one of those officers.

The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. I will not support any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy.

What the Senate has tried to do is pass a knee jerk reaction to an incident which occurred half a country away that everyone agrees was egregious, the Fraternal Order of Police nationally and in this state had quickly condemned it.

Massachusetts police officers are among highest educated and trained in the country. My husband has spent countless hours on and off the clock continuing his training. These training are not limited to the use of lethal weapons- but there are numerous trainings for less lethal and deescalation tactics, as well as ethics and community building.

This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers. It protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few.

Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

If the senate bill is passed, the future of this state, and this country as we know will be greatly impacted. Our officers cannot in good faith stand risk to lose their houses, their families, and their livelihood because someone got angry about a traffic ticket that was thrown out, and now seeks retribution. Our officers choose to be in this field because they WANT to HELP the community. Passing this bill as it stands may lead to a mass exodus of the GOOD officers. My husband has spent over a decade of his life dedicated to to his department and the community he serves. Our family stands in solidarity with our family in blue. Please don't let this bill pass and let our families pay the price for a knee jerk reaction.

Sincerely,
Amanda Winslow

Good day, I strongly oppose the proposed changes taking away qualified immunity.

While I support the need to punish public servants who deliberately harm individuals, or those who stand by and don't intervene, my concern is the extent to which this will be implemented.

As a former RN and mother of a firefighter/EMT who is currently becoming a paramedic, I am concerned that any public servant could be held liable for inadvertent negative outcomes during the performance of their duties. This will negatively affect the performance of duty, making public servants more cautious about aggressively performing their duties when necessary.

Please do not throw the baby out with the bath water! While the intention is good to punish "the bad cops", please do not hamper the rest of your public servants, and the community, by taking away qualified immunity.

Yours truly,

Subject: Testimony Re: Bill S.2880

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Many people will pick up and leave I know I will consider leaving. It's not the place I'd want to raise a family or see my grandchildren grow. Criminals do not matter more then police.

Good morning. I am writing as a private citizen. I currently reside in Norton, MA. I would like to comment on Bill S.2820 before the House.

The proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial.

What the Senate has tried to do is pass a knee jerk reaction to an incident which occurred half a country away that everyone agrees was egregious, police nationally and in this state quickly condemned it.

The issues facing our state are significant. They are too important to hastily pass a bill and so that elected officials can say that they checked the box and fixed racism.

Many of the issues truly are systemic and it is unfair to target the police, just one part of a system that has failed minorities for centuries.

I respectfully ask that you reject this bill and initiate a thorough and proper review of the matter.

There will be law suits for every 911 call for all first responders! This bill threatens the safety of everyone.
Do not "throw" this bill together because people want change.

"Put" it together responsibly. You haven't done anything thus far why rush now?
Make change, but don't threaten the lives of our first responders.
I hope that if I ever have to dial 911 someone answers the call.
I will blame YOU if they don't..... MY LIFE MATTERS too!

Subject: Concerns on S.2820

As your constituents, we write to you today to express our strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. We hope that you will join us in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

We are, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern us and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, we remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. We again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

The Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary

- I have been employed as a police officer in the Town of Randolph for about 5 1/2 years now. Due to this bill, if it were to pass, I have been considering looking for a new career or even moving out of state to become a police officer else where. There are many officers that I work with and know throughout the state that are contemplating the same ideas.
- How do you think small towns will be impacted when say 20% of their department quit and/or retire? I can tell you one thing, crime will skyrocket and police productivity will come to a halt.
- Massachusetts police officers are some of the most highly trained officers in the country. Our academies are some of the best in the country and models for elsewhere. Also, we have in-service every year to go over updates on all aspects of our job. Then, on top of all this, most officers are so enthused to work that we actually pay to go to training on days off or take vacation days to go to trainings. In the past year I had to take vacation days and spend almost $1000.00 to attend trainings I thought would help me become a better educated and higher trained officer. I had to pay for these trainings because departments are already underfunded and can't afford to send officers to trainings.
- We go out, put our lives on the line to apprehend criminals and protect our cities and towns, only for judges to release these violent and heinous criminals. When the judge releases criminals after committing a violent crime or violating probation or any other crime, it's a slap in our face. Now the politicians want to tie our hands behind our back and expect us to do our job. You're making our job harder and the judges make being a criminal easier.
- Good police hate bad police more than anyone.
- Police aren't saying we don't want reform, we'll take extra training, in fact, we want more training!
- Qualified Immunity needs to be erased from this bill. If you want to take away our qualified immunity, then you, the politician and the judges need to have yours revoked as well! No one should have it, strip it away from everyone!!

Thank you for your time,

Officer Trevor Clark

Comittee members,

I would like to state my opposition to the Police reform bill , especially the qualified immunity portion. How can we expect officers to do all that is asked of them without this provision , impossible. I don't hear any of you giving up that very benefit in a Much less strenuous position. All we need to do is look at what is going on in other cities to see how important law enforcement is to quality of life.

Thank you

If you believe law-enforcement is here to help protect and serve, I need your help. If you believe that in living in a civilized, equality opportunistic world is worth fighting for, we need your help. Help law enforcement now so that we can be there to help you when you need us in the future.

We all know that police reform is the number one topic sweeping across our nation. Defunding the police is the new solution for every problem in America. I assure you, no one believes police reform is more necessary than your local law-enforcement officers. We would love to have mental health workers by our side working with us with the ever-growing mental Health crisis in America. We would love to have ample social service personnel along side while we deescalate every domestic situation with perfect success. We would love to go back to a world where toy guns look like toy guns. We welcome more training, higher education, and change in policies. We believe and represent a safer more diverse and equally equitable future for all. Justice and equality are at the very core of our community policing initiatives. We have invested our lives, our health, and the safety of our families in an effort to uphold the laws that our country has created. With your help we have built community relationships and raised the quality of life in our city's and towns. We overwhelmingly respond to the public's call for help in good faith, we maintain public order, we protect and we serve. With society ever evolving it is abundantly clear that the style of policing and the nature of what is to be policed has not evolved equally to reflect the needs and desires of the people. We understand reform is a path to close the gap of what is being done and what needs to be done. We know how important it is to do this quickly but we know better than anyone it needs to be done carefully. If we move too fast, if we dissolve protection with out clarity we risk the collapse of our community's first line of defense. The current language to remove qualified immunity from law-enforcement would create a world where justice cannot be served unless compliance is given voluntarily. Unfortunately America, there are bad people in this world, those who will not comply to law and order, those who will not live by civilized rules and yes at times those who will need to be physically taken into custody, sometimes by all legal levels of force necessary. To allow any government official to be held civilly liable in the LEGAL execution of the job that society has created is unacceptable. This can not happen! Reform, rebuild, re-educate, repurpose, those are the platforms to a sustainable future for your law enforcement professionals. Taking away CIVIL protection for doing everything RIGHT, is WRONG America!

Have a great day.
Lieutenant Everett L. Moody.

Subject: Police Reform Bill - Testimony

Good Morning,

My name is Brett Kubiak and I am a Police Officer employed by the Worcester Police Department.

In addition to serving as a Police Officer, I am a proud Father to two young sons, Zackary (3) and Matthew (1) and a husband to an amazing and supportive wife, Sarah.

I am writing today to ask you to please consider the ramifications of passing legislation that exposes myself and my family to undue frivolous litigation, by removing qualified immunity. The removal of such basic labor protections tears at the very fabric of civilized society and places undue financial pressure on blue collar working class families.

In addition to the proposal of "removing" qualified immunity is the idea of due process. I am greatly troubled that a review board of untrained civilians may have the ability to remove my certification as a Police Officer. I encourage anyone voting on such a House Bill to ride-along with a Police Officer on a shift and attend a 'Use of Force' training before voting on such an important issue.

I will tell you that if this legislation passes I will be looking to leave the profession of law enforcement - a career I pursued after working in the private sector for several years. It has always been a lifelong dream to serve my community as a police officer, but without the support of my legislators and the public it simply does not make sense to risk my life or my families finances anymore.

I implore you to use common sense and think about how this proposed legislation will affect your communities as you consider your vote.

Thank you for your consideration and for allowing law enforcement to have a voice in such an important issue.

Respectfully Submitted, Brett Kubiak

Subject: House Bill 5128 Police Reform

Sir, Good Morning. My name is Robert J. Deschenes I am currently a Police Officer with the Templeton Police Department, & a resident of Hubbardston. After reviewing Bill proposal #5128 regarding Police reform I was shocked. I understand times are tough right now, but some of the regulations proposed will be a huge safety risk not only to Police Officers, but also the Civilian Public we protect. We are not looking for any sympathy, but Police Work is incredibly tough, and continues to get tougher every year. We make split second decisions in an attempt to protect innocent lives and ourselves, and unless you have been put in that position you would not understand the pressure that is involved with that. Our goal is to never use force, and deescalate every situation peacefully, but that is simply not possible all the time.

Although Police Reform may be needed in some situations, myself along with many other Officer do not agree with Bill #5128, and fear the safety issues it will cause. The Bill also seems very rushed along. How can effective reform be efficient if the time is not taken to truly investigate and discuss the real issues? Thank You for taking the time to read this, its greatly appreciated.

Respectively;

Patrolman Robert J. Deschenes

Subject: Opposition S.2820

Dear Representatives

I am writing to state I am against S2820 as presented.

The senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste without public hearing or input of any kind was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years

The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. A bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy will not be supported.

The proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial.

What the Senate has tried to do is pass a knee jerk reaction to an incident which occurred half a country away that everyone agrees was egregious.

Massachusetts police officers are among the highest educated and trained in the country.

This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few.

Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

If the senate bill is passed in its current form, the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

Again, I reiterate that you consider voting against S2820 as presented.

Thank you for your consideration,
Sharon Krause

Good Morning,

My name is Dan Mendelsohn and I am a school social worker in Springfield, MA. I am writing to strongly support increasing the age at which emerging adults are processed in the juvenile justice system from 18 to 20 years old. My background studying both sociology and social work has shown me conclusive data that young adult brains are not fully formed which directly affects their risky decision making. I have also seen, through my academic and professional life, the cascading downward effect of an adult criminal justice conviction for a young adult, on them individually and also on their family members and community. Please strongly consider raising the age from 18 to 20 and saving lives using science and reason.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to voice my support for Senate bill S.2800. I read through the bill earlier this week and was encouraged to see that the legislature was taking the matter of police accountability seriously. I think an independent commission is a good first step, and I also would like to encourage the Senate to consider including all or a portion of the following two related bills:

HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety. There is no reason police need to use choke-holds, no knock warrants, or tear gas. Personnel decisions, such as hiring abusive officers should be informed by public records of officer misconduct.

HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth. Ends the practice of qualified immunity. Police officers are hired to enforce the law, and serve and protect citizens. They absolutely should be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights, as any other citizen would be. Rather than hold them above the law, they should be held to higher standards.

Thank you for taking my testimony. I look forward to reading that Massachusetts is a leader in progressive police reform.

All the best,

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Alicia Powell. I am a resident of Boston and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I have previously worked for law enforcement agencies, so I value my fellow citizens who serve as our police force. Now, as a physician caring for some of our city's most vulnerable citizens & the mother of a biracial child, I believe when my patients, child & her friends tell me about their experiences with police violence. I know that our police officers are expected to handle too much, with too little training & support (anything short of a full clinical degree in a mental health field is too little). Law enforcement culture rewards toxic masculinity & makes very little space for humanity. This must change at the structural level.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Alicia Powell, MD

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

I fully support the maximum amount of reform possible for police in MA. The complete elimination of qualified immunity. Significant reduction in police funding to reduce their roll in society to just policing. Not mental health. Not homelessness. Not crisis management. Accountability is necessary. Public database of misconduct and rule preventing the hiring of officers with histories of misconduct.

As a medical professional, if I hurt a patient or break rules regarding safety I would be personally liable for that harm. Why should police be any different. If I can help serve America's Veterans under close scrutiny, then I think local police can be held to a much higher standard.

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Matthew Warren and I live at 21 Millbrook Ln in Wakefield, Massachusetts. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

Dear Representative Aaron Michlewitz and Representative Cronin,

I volunteer with GBIO. I live at 335 Marrett Road in Lexington. I am very disturbed that even in my reputedly liberal community police would profile, stop, and humiliate motorists---even just one motorist---who pass through Lexington.

I urge you and the House to pass a strong police reform bill that is at least as strong as the Senate bill and that includes:

- * Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * A commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Yours,

Margaret Heitz

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Joseph Twomey and I live in Medford. I work at the Essex County Sheriff's Department and I am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Joseph Twomey

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear MA State Representatives,

I am writing to you today as the wife of a career well educated Law Enforcement Officer who has served the public for 33 years as a dedicated member of the Boston Police serving many ranks.

To say I am saddened and angry by the severe scrutiny and quite frankly lack of support for Massachusetts Law Enforcement Officers is an understatement. Over the last several months my family has witnessed MA Police Officers being pelleted with bottles of urine and other waste, police cars being lit on fire, and vulgarities being screamed at them by strangers who know nothing about the person who wears the uniform. All the while the Officers are holding the line not wearing any riot gear and exercising great patience. These Officers are able to do this because it's how they were trained.

In our house, we don't hear many stories about what happens at work because the Dad of two great kids and my husband usually leaves his job at the front door when he enters our home. Every work day I've watched him put on his uniform and before he walks out the door he gives me and the kids a hug and I love you. Once the door closes, I often imagine who he is going to protect, help and what tragic situation he will witness today. I never doubt that he will respond to the call and give nothing but his very best. Because you see one thing about my husband and his colleagues is they have been trained so well to handle any situation and most important respect anyone they encounter. The majority of men and women who wear that badge understand the importance of the oath they took. They treat every citizen equal and fair.

I completely understand the outrage from the tragedy that occurred in Minneapolis but we are not that state. We are Massachusetts! Our Police Officers are the very best of the best. If you look at the Boston Police, we have the first black Police Commissioner in the history of the City. He is a great well respected leader who pushes his department to be better everyday. Their Community Policing model is admired by many. The BPD has great established relationships with Community Leaders and residents. Most parts of the City heavily depend on the police to be patrolling their areas so they can put their heads on the pillow knowing their families are safe. The positive impact that BPD Officers have with kids throughout the City is amazing. I've seen it first hand through the many non profit groups I volunteer at. Shop with a Cop, BPD National Night Out, Cook Outs, Ice Cream Truck, and sometimes just a patrol car stopping in the neighborhood to share a hello and a small conversation with the kids. These are some of the things departments are doing to create that trust with their Communities. Now in a blink of eye after many years of hard work that trust has been lost. Primarily because of the media and the lack of support for the MA Police Departments.

There is no doubt MA Police Departments can always find way to improve themselves and do better. In order to achieve this, you must allow them a seat at the table for them to be able to listen, learn and share their experiences as well. Conflict is never resolved and nothing is accomplished by lack of communication.

Like I stated at the beginning of my testimony when my husband leaves for work, says his goodbyes and the door closes him and I know both know it might be for the last time. We both know that unspoken truth that if something happens our family will always be protected financially. We both know that when he has to answer that call to put himself between a domestic partner trying to murder his/her spouse with a knife, or someone on the street pointing a gun at innocent people and/or my husband, or a terrorist holding a bomb attempting to blow up a marathon...we both know that if my husband has to shoot his gun or use the take down techniques he learned by the tremendous amount training he's received...we both know he and our family will be protected from liability from the municipality in which he is employed. Let me tell you if these Officers now have to pause and question their instincts their lives and the lives of those they protect will be in a far more dangerous situation.

I am asking you today to please protect the brave men and women of Law Enforcement by not stripping them of their qualified immunity. This is not answer. I am also asking for you the MA Representatives to stand up and support all sides. For some reason most political leaders are afraid to say hey, you know what...overall LEO's in this state are doing a pretty good job.

As a kid who grew up in Charlestown, I am actually stunned that we have reached this point. I grew up, like many kids in Boston, involved with many youth programs which led me to interact with other kids for all over the city. It was awesome! Most became my friends. We shared our background and stories about the many struggles we had faced. We all understood one another a lot better and respected each other's opinions. This was 32 years ago. I've carried that teenage experience, as I'm sure many others kids did, my entire life. It is my belief that the MA community relationships has only improved since then. I'm not sure how we got to where we are today expressing such distain for Law Enforcement in the Commonwealth. Sure we've had ups and downs along the way but I've always felt we were a step ahead the rest of the Country.

Thank you for the taking the time to read my testimony. I completely understand the taunting task you have before you and I truly hope a fair outcome will prevail.

Take Care,
Kimberly Mahoney

Subject: Regarding the Reform, Shift + Build Act

I would like to express my support for this bill, S.2820, and urge the State House to pass it largely in its current form.

Police reform is necessary at all levels -- even us middle-class, middle-aged white voters can see that by this point. No, the situation in MA isn't as horrifying as it is in some places, but that's a terribly low bar: we can, and should, do much better.

There is a lot in the Senate bill that moves in the right directions: an independent review board, tightening the use-of-force standards, downplaying the use of police in schools. Perhaps above all, limiting qualified immunity like this should be a matter of common sense, and it is appalling that that isn't already in state law.

This needs to happen, and it needs to happen now. I urge the House to avoid the temptation to water the bill down, and also to avoid nitpicking it to death in the name of improvements. While I believe that we can do yet more going forward, it's important to begin making smart, measured progress.

Please support this bill, and get it passed in this legislative session.

Sincerely,

Mark Waks

Dear Chairs Cronin and Michlewitz and Members of the Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees,

The League of Women Voters advocates against systemic racism in the justice system and supports preventing excessive force and brutality by law enforcement.

We urge you to support legislation that includes the protections proposed by the following bills:

HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, filed by State Representative Liz Miranda, which bans chokeholds, no knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

H.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, filed by State Representative Michael Day, which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

It is time at last to ensure that all citizens of the Commonwealth benefit from basic health, safety and civil rights protections.

Sincerely,
Nancy Bettinger

Dear Senator Julian Cyr,

My name is Jane Lesanto and I live at 609 Great Neck Road South, Mashpee, MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Jane Lesanto

Thank you for drafting Bill S2820. I want to make sure you are aware that constituents are proud to live in Massachusetts when Police Reform bills like S2820 are being crafted in response to Black Lives Matter protests and public outcry. I support this bill and hope that we will actually get to see reform in the streets. I also hope that the money spent on policing Black people can be redistributed to actually support and uplift these communities and families.

I thank you for your work to make our country a safer, more respectable place to call home. We have hundreds of years of oppressive laws and law enforcement actions to reverse and heal from. I am glad we are taking a step in the right direction.

Subject: S.2820

Good Evening

My name is Stacey Cappello and I live at 57 Bellevue rd in Braintree. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Dectective As the wife of a Police Dectective in today's world things are different. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "be careful". In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do, not all wives need to say "be careful" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget sitting on our back deck having coffee when my husband got the initial call about Mike. I will never forget him running upstairs to get dressed to go to work and help wherever he could. I will never forget where I was when he called me to tell me the news that Mike had died. I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will never forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform.

Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,
Stacey Cappello

Good Morning,

As president of the Brockton Area Branch NAACP, I write in support of a strong policing reform bill. I support the Massachusetts Black and Latino Legislative Caucus position and priorities.

This is not Black vs White. It's about accountability vs non-accountability. Police should be held accountable for their actions and not be shield. We look to police to protect us, yet some, not all, are becoming the predators. This reform may hinder that.

Hello, my name is Christine Del Favero with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 18 Dartmouth Place, Boston, MA 02116. I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implement Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

Thank you very much.

Be well,

Dear Representatives of the People of Massachusetts,

I am not a member of any special interest group. I want to express my concern as a regular citizen of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Qualified Immunity protects the people of Massachusetts just as much as it protects first responders. Without it we will have our first responders afraid to act because of the threat of being sued. We will have good first responders forced to leave the profession in order to protect their family. As a citizen, I want to be able to call a first responder, knowing without question that if needed an action, such as performing CPR will be performed without hesitation. There will be people who will target first responders with lawsuits. It will be a nightmare for society. Please pass common sense reform, not knee-jerk reaction reform. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Wendy Cunniff

To whom it may concern:

I am totally against what you are doing. You are wasting your time and mine. But that seems natural for you.

Once again you have missed the mark. First of all it's not the Police who have the problem(.5% maybe) it's the people breaking the law. They have no respect for themselves or anyone else. If an officer asked you to stop you stop if they ask you a simple question, you answer. Why is this so difficult.

As for the Michael Rodrigues comments: "We took bits and pieces on many different ideas, and we did what we always do in the Senate: we tried to put together the best piece of legislation that we could... It's disappointing that we're not going to do the business that we were elected to do today. We know it's hard. We know it's difficult. It's just going to be as difficult the next day." He "tried to put together the best piece of legislation that we could", but it's not and it is being rushed through the process.

You have to take care of Massachusetts and any issues we might have here. Stop looking at the out of control cities across the country and focus on Massachusetts.

I strongly suggest you add a weekend ride along with Police officers for every politician elected. Let them see first hand how people react to the Police and how they have to make instant life and death decisions. The people breaking the law are the enemy not the Police. Why doesn't Sonia Chang-Diaz name the white people involved in Police shootings? It doesn't fit his narrative. Most of you political puppets are ruining this great country. POLICE are a MUST. Give them more money.

Thank you for listening.

Subject: police reform bill (S2820)

Hello,

I recall a story from my father (a lifelong Democrat) about how, when the United States Air Force was being formed, he was standing at attention with a line of other Army soldiers, and when they asked for volunteers to move over to the Air Force, the rest of the line took one step back, leaving him and just a few others as the only volunteers. Now I know this was probably just a story from him, but it leads me to the situation that we see here with this new police reform bill. Those of you with courage (seemingly only a handful) were abandoned by those with no backbone, falling to the pressure of the mob, and having no guts to stand against that mob. You should all be ashamed of yourselves... I know I'm ashamed of you.

Everything, every concept, every invention created by man can be improved upon. Nobody argues that the police are perfect, not even close. But they are nevertheless the defenders of society when that society needs defending, and that includes the removal of those from society that threaten the lives and property of the innocent. Do what is right for a change.

Thank you,

Peter Skerritt

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down qualified immunity in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, and 52, as well as amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Khalid J. Johnson and I live at 55 Wayland St Apt 1 Boston, Ma 02125. I work for the Suffolk County Sheriff Department and am a Deputy Sheriff. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Khalid J. Johnson

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Reform bill

Good morning,

I am a firefighter in North Andover, MA. I love this work and am grateful every shift I get to serve my town, it's truly a privilege. I write to you to express my deepest disappointment in our politicians who have supported this outrageous bill. It cannot be over stated how ridiculous this restrictive proposal is. To suggest that public safety professionals should be exposed to legal action for simply performing their jobs, selflessly at that, is not right. The women and men of my local union are nothing short of spectacular in the way they serve our community and the public day after day. This bill takes away all power our unions have fought to uphold to keep our working conditions fair. To have people who are elected to serve the public, many of whom, who have been backed by unions like mine turn around behind closed doors and sneakily pass this crazy bill is staggering. I find this act shameful and am wondering since when sitting at a table to talk things out went out the window?!

We support our police and take this attack on them as an attack on us, which it is.

Any person who has never served in a first responder capacity has no place telling trained professionals how to handle situations that they could never fathom themselves. The professionals and civil servants I know are exactly that, professional, and to remove all hope they have of a fair process if something goes wrong is maddening. Our members will continue to serve our communities and put our lives on the line every day. I hope that this bill is destroyed like it should be.

Respectfully,
Nick Padellaro

Subject: No not push bill no S2820

Dear Chair of the House Committee,

I am writing to you to ask you to not push the S2820 bill through the House. While I understand it is vital that we take a hard look at our country's police force to discover where reform is needed, I feel as though bill S2820 is rushed and poorly thought out.

By taking away qualified immunity from our officers, we are putting them at great risk for being the subjects of legal suite on a daily basis. There are numerous times when officers have to destroy property to rescue a civilian and times when they may need to use force to prevent someone from hurting themselves or another person. This bill will make officers hesitant to do their jobs which in turn will affect the public.

Please reconsider pushing this bill forward. I strongly believe that if we slow down and take some more time a bill can be drawn up that takes into account both officer safety and civilian safety.

Thank you for your time,

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

Good morning!

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Fwd: Mass Senate Police Reform Bill

Dear Mass Senate,

This week, at 4am, the MA senate betrayed Massachusetts law enforcement and put a nail in the coffin of good faith policing. 4 am! When you vote on a piece of controversial legislation without a public hearing at 4am, you display to the citizens that you had an agenda that you wanted to push through, without proper dialogue and debate, a cowardly act.

Just 8 weeks ago, the Mass Senate and politicians in general did not have issues with how law enforcement policed our cities. In fact, some of you were calling local PD's daily asking help to celebrate birthdays, graduations, and more by driving by your houses blaring their sirens and waving to your children! These are the officers, first responders, who helped and continue to help people afflicted with COVID-19. But now, because of one murderous cop in Minneapolis, you have painted all officers as villains and calling for new "reforms." This is highly hypocritical, as it profiles and stereotypes officers because of their job. Most officers give selflessly to their communities every day in ways the public never hears about from the media and politicians.

We see you , cowards who refused to take law enforcement calls to discuss this legislation before the 4am vote and who wouldn't return emails. We see you, all of you who voted at 4am. We will remember this when you are up for reelection.

This legislation DOES NOT make communities safer. If someone has a heart attack, and an officer uses chest compressions, breaking a rib in the process (which almost always happens), the officer can be sued. If a baby is left in a hot car and an officer smashes a window to save the baby, the car's owner can sue the officer for property destruction. The list goes on and on. Good cops will be sued, fired, and even incarcerated in their efforts to help citizens. They will be afraid to help at all. The consequences are anarchy. This is appalling at every level. Qualified Immunity protects public servants who are doing their job and acting in good faith from litigation. This new legislation must not be passed.
Sincerely,
Julie Reece

Will the perpetrators show the same restraint while being taken into custody?

This issue requires much more debate.

Subject: Objections to S.2820

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street

Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Justin Green and I live at 87 County Rd in Huntington, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straight-forward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts, and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far-reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in an attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition, and objection are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Justin Green

Subject: Qualified Immunity

July 17, 2020

Whom It May Concern:

I'm hoping that the citizens can count on your support to fix the severely flawed legislation labeled S2800.

If qualified immunity is changed from its current definition, the safety of the public will be severely jeopardized.

It is unfair and immoral to change current collective bargaining agreements without negotiations

When you view these considerations along with other problems with the bill, no one will desire to be (or will be able to afford to be) a police officer, firefighter or nurse.

Look around the country and see what's happening. New York City Police Officers are retiring in droves. Minneapolis Police Officers are leaving on medical stress. Atlanta Police Officers stopped answering calls on shifts.

Do you really want inevitable similar events to occur here in the Municipalities of Massachusetts?

If the subject bill passes in its present form, no young person with any sense of self-preservation will enter public service.

When the police are gone, there will be no one to protect innocent civilians of all colors from the evil that the political radical left refuses to acknowledge.

Please consider your actions on this issue extremely carefully. Be completely aware of the unintended consequences. The Citizens of the Commonwealth do not want to live in a society of complete chaos due to the inability of public servants to do their jobs. Your careful review and consideration is critical.

Sincerely

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

I am writing in support of Senate bill S.2820.

Over the years, the ability of our city and town governments to create and manage policing that meets the needs and aspirations of our communities has been dismantled, including by the non-statutory judge-made doctrine of qualified immunity, and the Chapter 150E collective bargaining law and the Joint Labor Management Committee statute that together eliminate local government options for effective police accountability.

This bill provides important legislation that begins to return those rights to our communities. It also creates a much needed system for the training and certification of police officers, and makes other necessary changes to law and policy to improve and enhance the accountability of policing in the Commonwealth. This is landmark legislation that would help transform how law enforcement is practiced in Massachusetts, with a long overdue focus on racial equity in our justice system.

Thank you for your consideration on this matter.

Sincerely,

I'm writing to beg you not to pass that bill. Yes there are always ways to improve things. But there are major problems with that bill.

It was passed at 4am with no public comment. You are destroying all the great police officers in this state. I have never seen the people I work with so down and defeated as right now, and I've worked there 29 years. They feel under attack by everyone. How about we deal with the bad police officers, and LET THE GREAT ONES KNOW HOW MUCH WE APPRECIATE THEM! What are you all going to do when all the good ones have been driven away? This is disgusting.

As a public safety worker myself, 29 years as a 911 dispatcher, you have me scared out of my mind that I'll try to help someone, something goes wrong, I get sued, and lose my home. And I worry for all of my coworkers now. I've spent my entire adult life helping people, and this is how you repay people like myself and all of my coworkers along with all of my coworkers across the city/state.

Please do not pass this current bill. Yes there may need to be some changes but not the way that's written, and not giving the public only two days to respond.

Sincerely,

Julie Kelly

Subject: Immunity for public safety employees

To whom it concerns,

As a 20+ year veteran of the Massachusetts Fire Service, I am writing to voice my concern of my state's pursuit of removing immunity for my brothers and sisters currently employed to serve our communities.

In the wake of events perceived by certain individuals of political power as systemic racism, ALL of us are being cast (profiled) as racists. Because of this rush to judgement ALL of us now are at the gravest of threats from working in an environment that already is as dangerous as it is but now causes undue stress and hardship.

The safety net of immunity provides US the protection from baseless lawsuits from opportunists looking to cash in on perceived slights or "civil rights" violations.

To lump 99% of the dedicated, lawful and hardworking men and women in with the 1% of perceived "racists" is unfair and quite frankly offensive. How would you (politicians) feel if this false narrative was unjustly cast upon yourselves?

If immunity is stripped from US I can guarantee there will be a mass exodus of my brothers and sisters from a career that we've performed tirelessly and with honor. We will have no other choice. Can't you see it's already happening in police departments all around this nation?

This new proposal will put the lives of OUR communities at serious risk. Who will the citizens call for an emergency? You are aware that this situation has already occurred in cities all over the country and will continue to do so if WE are threatened with the loss of immunity.

If WE are stripped of immunity then isn't it only logical that YOU should be "lumped in" with the rest of the public servants (US)? It's only fair and "just" to do so.

I will not support this measure and I can safely say that the 99% of US will not either. Do not take a knee over a false narrative. YOU are literally putting YOUR knee on OUR necks!

With Respect,

Subject: Oppose SB 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Brian Sueldo-Guevara and I live at 579 Raymond Rd in Plymouth, MA. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer I. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Brian Sueldo-Guevara

Subject: Testimony

To Whom It May Concern,
Below is the testimony of a coworker that I would like taken into consideration.
He asked that I send it over on his behalf. As a fellow police officer and his union president I feel his voice should be heard. As should the voices of my brothers and sisters throughout the state and country for that matter.

I am writing to you as a concerned police officer and a concerned resident of the Commonwealth. I was told a number of things about the bill but wanted to read it for myself and draw my own conclusions.

I did not finish reading it.

I immediately started asking questions. There will be a commission overseeing law enforcement that is based on race rather than their knowledge on the subject matter? Isn't that going against what we're working towards? Not even any law enforcement representatives on the commission? Are the commissions and task forces for everything else not made up of, or at least have a few subject matter experts? And that's just the first one mentioned. There are a number of commissions/committees to be created with this bill. So we're going to cut police funding and put the money back into the community and at the same time spend millions and millions on these (many unnecessary) commissions and committees?

I quickly realized that the authors of this bill did little to no research nor did they confer with the law enforcement community. There are aspects of this bill that are already in place. They seem to have a lack of understanding of how things currently work and why certain things are in place. It was clear with what is proposed in regard to qualified immunity. There are decent ideas, but funding hasn't been there for them to happen yet, at least not in every town and city, and with this bill more funding is being taken away. People want better trained officers but when budget cuts are needed, police training is one of the first to be cut.

I'm not much of a conspiracy theorist, but I'm not quite sure what to think. There are 3 possibilities:

1. Are the authors and supporters of this bill anti-police and this is their roundabout way to defund/abolish the police? Seems that way. Higher standards for officers? This bill could ruin good officers' careers, lives, their families' lives even when they did nothing wrong. With the very real potential of losing your job or being charged with a crime and going to jail for doing what you have been directed to do by law, laws that were written in the same manner, who would want to stay in this profession? Who would want to get into it? Not the people they want.

2. Are the authors and supporters of this bill in line with the anarchists? Seems that way. This bill has the potential to have financially devastating ramifications, particularly to less wealthy towns...first. I don't want to see that happen to my town, or any other town or city for that matter. Add #1 to that. Towns and cities going bankrupt and lack of police...right in line.

3. Or, the most likely option, are the authors and supporters of this bill basing this bill off of a tragedy that no police Officer in the Commonwealth condones? Something that took place in a city, in another state, halfway across the country, where a lot of things are different than they are here, without doing any research on those differences or the effects the bill will have, without communicating or working with law enforcement, just to placate the mobs and say "look what we did, see how much we care" in the typical knee-jerk reaction that is all too common today?

I'm trying to as respectful as possible while being as honest and straight forward as possible. However, it makes it very difficult when I see this garbage (S.2820) being presented by our elected officials.

Massachusetts law enforcement is pretty highly regarded around the country. Forcing such a poorly thought out bill for the sake of "doing something" is a horrible decision at best. How quickly we forget all of the issues that came up with the juvenile law reform. The law enforcement community generally agrees that there are changes that could be made. We are more than willing to work with our community members and legislators on improving things and resolving issues, we just need to be invited to the table.

Respectfully,

Brandon Perella

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

The Honorable

Sheila Harrington

First Middlesex District

Mass. House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street, Room 237

Boston, MA 02133

Dear Representative Harrington,

I would like to thank you for meeting with some of the police chiefs from your district.

In consideration of debate for a Police Reform addressed by the House of Representatives we would urge you not to change or remove the qualified immunity protection. We ask that you apply language from Amendment #51 to the Senate Bill S.2800 that would have stricken the POSAC section of the Bill S.2800 and replace it with the Governor's language filed in his original POSAC bill.

We are concerned and opposed to efforts to change the qualified immunity protections for police officers. Qualified immunity is a foundational protection for the policing profession and any modification to this legal standard will have a devastating impact on the ability of the Police to fulfill their public safety mission.

Qualified immunity provides police officers with protection from civil lawsuits, so long as their conduct does not violate clearly established law or constitutional rights of which a reasonable officer would have known. Further, qualified immunity does not prevent individuals from recovering damages from police officers who knowingly violate an individual's constitutional rights. Qualified immunity is an essential part of policing and American jurisprudence. It allows police officers to respond to incidents without pause, make split-second decisions, and rely on the current state of the law in making those decisions. This protection is essential because it ensures officers that good faith actions, based on their understanding of the law at the time of the action, will not later be found to be unconstitutional.

Some of the benefits to the language from the Governor's Bill are:

- Included input from Law Enforcement and Black and Latino caucus',
- Creates balanced and objective process for certification and de-certification of police officers,
- Requires POSAC membership 1/2 racially diverse,
- Certifies every officer in Commonwealth,

- Makes Law Enforcement accountable for their conduct

Some of the shortcomings of S.2800:

- Widespread undefined authority: unlimited subpoena power without oversight and authority to conduct investigations,
- Language does not provide process or standard of proof for investigations, could step into DA and police internal investigations,
- Creates an arbitrary process, subpoenas can be issued by the Chair alone or just 3 members,
- There is no standard to the basis for investigation

The Use of Force language moves away from the US Supreme Court case, Graham v. Connor, which established that the amount of force used by police had to be Objectively Reasonable is being changed to Necessary. Also, the Reasonable Officer standard is being replaced with Reasonable Person standard. The Senate bill is leaving the "reasonable officer" standard and replacing it with "reasonable person".

"The reasonableness of a particular use of force must be judged from the perspective of a reasonable officer rather than with the 20/20 vision of hindsight".
Graham v. Connor

The new language changes the amount of force to "Necessary" from "Objectively Reasonable".

Necessary is subjective (who makes that determination?)

Objectively Reasonable was established under the 4th Amendment decided by USC, Graham v. Connor,

* "Allows for the fact that police officers are often forced to make split-second judgements - in circumstances that are tense, uncertain, and rapidly evolving - about the amount of force that is necessary in a particular situation."

* An officer's evil intentions will not make a Fourth Amendment violation out of an objectively reasonable use of force; nor will an officer's good intentions make an objectively reasonable use of force constitutional. See Scott v United States, supra at 138 citing United States v. Robinson 44 U.S. 18 (1973)

These language changes have very serious implications as to how officers perform their duties and how they will be judged in a court of law.

This is very important legislation and we need to get it right and not rush something out just to do something. We appreciate you considering the above points and use of the information when formulating the House of Representatives Police Reform Bill.

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Robert Fish Jr and I live at 101 Walker St Newtonville, MA 02460. I work at Suffolk County House of Corrections and am a Deputy Sheriff. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Robert Fish Jr

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear Representatives,

I am writing this email to you in an appeal to stop the mass police reform bill as it stands. Instead, I am asking that you suspend vote on this bill until the public can be heard at an actual open forum instead of only being allowed to send emails in an extremely limited time frame that will not likely be highly disregarded.

This bill is a transparent attempt by lawmakers to gain votes preying on public emotions. Sentor Tran stated the bill was "ill conceived and politically driven" and "The bill's main goal and objective is to attack and discredit law enforcement". I and all of the law enforcement officers I have spoken with could not agree more with Sentor Tran's statement and assessment on this horrendous bill. Senator Tran also stated "Democracy is about working together and getting things done right. This bill should be driven by collaboration and not politics". I could not agree more and ask that you suspend vote on this bill and meet with law enforcement officials, including minority police officials, who could be heard at an actual forum where we can work out details to make a bill that is fair, works for everyone, and will keep police and innocent people safe opposed to this horrendous bill that will endanger the lives not only of police officers but of innocent people.

When Covid-19 began, law enforcement was praised along with health care workers for being on the front lines and still keeping communities safe during a dangerous world wide pandemic. This bill's interpretation may also include firefighters and health care workers with law enforcement to frivolous lawsuits based on a reaction to a despicable incident in Minneapolis, that no one condones. Lawmakers are now trying to pass a bill encompassing all law enforcement as bad based on those awful police officer's actions. We will be open to frivolous lawsuits that will cost the tax payers ridiculous amounts of money and will further clog our courts with these frivolous lawsuits.

Taking away qualified immunity from law enforcement will make officers hesitate which will result in catastrophic consequences not only to law enforcement officers, but also to the innocent people they are sworn to protect. Please do not hesitate or second guess themselves while acting as situations unravel in the blink of an eye.

Police officers have to arrive on scene, assess a situation, determine what is the safest and best course of action to take, and then act all in the blink of an eye. The average person takes 400 milliseconds to blink. There are 1000 milliseconds in a second making it less than half a second to arrive, determine what's going on, make the best decision possible in chaos, and then act while the rest of the world had a lifetime to second guess the actions of an officer and unfairly question the officer's motives.

We have seen what defunding the police has done in Seattle, New York City, along with other cities where chaos has ruled supreme, endangering the lives of innocent people often resulting in catastrophic injuries and the death of innocent people including innocent children.

Our society regards multi millionaire celebrities and professional athletes in the highest of regards. Several, but not all professional athletes have gang affiliations where they funnel money from their multi million dollar contracts to these highly dangerous and highly violent gangs. Many athletes condone and are sponsored by Nike who pays children of indigent countries, extremely low wages in sweatshops to make their products that are endorsed by professional athletes in our country. Again, these athletes are adored and praised while law enforcement works for a minimal fraction of professional athletes salaries.

If you speak to any police officer, they will most likely tell you that policing is not about money or becoming wealthy financially, but is a calling not only to serve and protect but also serving for the better good of our communities putting our lives on the line every day to protect those who cannot protect themselves. Those of us that are lucky enough to make it home at the end of our shift, when we lay our heads down at night, we see dead people, mutilated people, innocent victims violated and taken advantage of, and evil that is every single community in our country. We wonder if we did enough, second guess and pray we did the right thing, and are thankful we came home physically safe if we are lucky to do so, but knowing the mental aspects of a days work will linger with us forever. We wake up, get ourselves ready physically and mentally, press our uniforms, kiss our loved ones goodbye as they and we know we may never see each other again, and we go to work to do it all over again.

I would respectfully ask that you suspend this bill and meet with actual law enforcement officers and agencies, to hear us and work with us in a democratic fashion to make a bill that will keep officers and our communities safe for the better good of of everyone. Thank you.

Subject: Public Safety

My name is Jim Johnson and I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

I would like an opportunity to be heard today.

I believe police need more funding. We have the very best trained officers in this state.

Let's continue to support them. Let us be heard.

Being the daughter of a police officer, deputy sheriff, and a daughter presently in training all of you have no idea what we as children have been through over the years. We've been enduring our parents not home for holidays, parents not at the dinner table for the holiday dinner, we've been enduring our parents not at our school appointments, we've been enduring parents running out the door to fill-in a day when they were going to host a birthday party for us, we've been enduring a lot. We were raised with parents who had to make those unexpected calls at the door of parents to let them know that their children wouldn't be coming home. Or witness a suicide.

I ask you have you ever done that, have you ever put your life on the line, have you ever stood up and protected a politician, have you ever stood guard outside when the governor is inside speaking, have you ever ridden beside the governor in a car to protect him, have you ever stood outside of school, have you protected a school, if you've done none of those things then you need to listen and you need to let us as children or employees in these ranks speak. Not giving us the right to speak is not fair.

Thank you I do not support this bill entirely. We need special funding to police not defunding. We need to protect their rights. You are protected, what about EMS, Nurses Doctors you take our protection away that's not right.

Subject: S2820

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin:

Thank you for the opportunity to be heard on S2820, the police reform bill.

I am a lieutenant with the State Police and am going into my twenty-seventh year of service, all of which I have served in Western Massachusetts. Over those twenty-seven years I have largely been assigned to uniform patrol or detectives attached to the Hampden and Hampshire/Franklin District Attorney's Offices.

Every shift I work I attempt to render the highest standard of professionalism, to the utmost of my abilities and capabilities, for the benefit of every resident and guest of the Commonwealth. I have never been accused of excessive use of force. I have never been accused of bias against a minority group, religion, orientation, etc. When someone- anyone- asks for my help, I do my best to assist them whether it be providing them directions, medical assistance, or attempting to bring them justice and resolution if they claim to be the victims of a crime. And when I am investigating someone accused of a crime, I do my best to approach the investigation objectively and guide my actions by the facts discovered, without any consideration to whatever social, ethnic, or other group to which they may belong.

I do not think I am an exception; not with the State Police and not with the local police officers with whom I have had the privilege of working. The animosity and, quite frankly, hatred, displayed against Massachusetts police officers these past few weeks has been upsetting, not least because I find it is so utterly unjustified. We are not Minneapolis Police. We are not Atlanta Police. In my twenty-seven years I'm not aware of the Northampton Police Department ever having shot anyone and I had never heard of a choke hold being employed by police officers at all until the Eric Gardner incident in New York. Regardless, I was present in Northampton last month where dozens of protesters were shouting profanity and insults at us and demanding our jobs. This was followed by the Northampton Police having their budget cut by ten percent. Last week I was in line at Pita Pockets in Northampton before my shift and was called a 'pig' by another customer. There is a vocal mindset among some members of our communities that reminds me of the mobs from the French Revolution and I am extremely concerned that it might be influencing legislation affecting policing in Massachusetts.

State Police training and policy repeatedly prohibits profiling and discrimination and has done so for years.

The State Police does not and never has employed choke holds and I'm not aware of any other department in Massachusetts that does.

The State Police has been providing traffic citation data for years. And, from all I have read, the data continues to show that race, gender, etc is not a factor when troopers stop cars.

The State Police has excellent firearms and other use of force training and discipline and, I have come to realize as I learn of other departments throughout the nation, has remarkably few officer involved shooting incidents. From the Worcester area west to the New York state line, I can at this moment recount three instances of troopers discharging their firearms at people over the past several years: five or six years ago when the suspect wanted for murdering Auburn Officer Tarantino ambushed troopers with a firearm; earlier this year in West Springfield when a wanted felon burst from a residence firing at officers; and a few weeks ago in the Shelburne area when a trooper attempting to deploy tire deflation on a fleeing vehicle had that vehicle driven at him. And we deal with armed people barricaded and/or engaged in criminal activity on a regular basis. As a member of the State Police Crisis Negotiation Unit for many years, often paired up with members of the State Police Special Tactics and Operations Team at armed barricade call outs, I can assure you of this. No one hears about all the armed, violent people taken into custody safely on a regular basis by the State Police and local police agencies.

You need only recall back to the hunt for the Tsarnaev brothers in the Boston area to be reminded why, sometimes, police officers need armored cars and patrol rifles and other 'military' gear and training in order to safeguard the Commonwealth. Sandyhook, CT, Jersey City, NJ, San Bernardino, CA, are a few more examples among too many in this country.

I have no problem with oversight of the State Police. I have no problem with the State Police being asked to continually review policies and training to keep them in step with the wishes of the community to respect and defend the lives and property of all members and guests of the Commonwealth. But I urge you to take a measured, careful approach with S2800 and to not kick the legs out from under your police officers doing their best to keep our communities safe.

I have read Senator Hinds' explanation of the history and purpose of the bill and what he believes it will and will not accomplish. I have also watched Senator Brownsbergers' Zoom presentation of the bill to his constituents. Overall, I find this proposed bill fairly well balanced and the expectations and requirements it puts on police officers understandable and reasonable (with many already effectively in place with most of the agencies I am familiar). My greatest concern is how the proposed POSAC and the 'tweaking' of qualified immunity will in reality affect the day to day work of officers. Despite your best intentions, these two portions of the bill will result in increased hindsight analysis of the reactions and decisions of police officers during charged, volatile situations and, almost certainly, increased litigation.

Thank you for hearing me out and considering what I have to say.

Subject: Bill S.2800

It is with great sadness that I write this letter to you. In my 70 years, I have never written a letter to the House or any political organization asking for consideration for a Bill/Law. Unfortunately, with our state and country being torn apart from within I must know not just my feelings but the feelings of the thousands who have remained silent while all this turmoil has played out over the last couple of months.

The efforts of a very vocal and sometimes violent movement are looking to dismantle our local police departments and force their socialist views on all of us. My grandparents came to this country to escape the violence that we are now seeing on our streets because we were a country of law and order. More recently, I don't have to look further than my daughter in law who came here from El Salvadore to escape the violence there. She sums it up best by saying "I love this country, people don't understand how bad it can get if you don't have the police to protect you." PLEASE, don't condemn all the police for the sins of a few. A great majority of the police work hard to keep you and me safe and are as mad as the protesters that one of their own would take away someone's rights and life.

I am asking that the House delay any vote on Bill S.2800 for at least six months so we can all take a hard look at the impact of the bill and truly see what the impact would be to our society. This Bill as any major decision in our life must not be passed hastily without proper thought and input from ALL.

PLEASE, consider a six month delay to allow proper discussion by all on this bill.

The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

My name is Adam Hakkarainen and I live at 73 North Road in Chesterfield. I have been a police officer for 27 years. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. In contrast, I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public. In fact, I believe it does a grave disservice to our citizens by limiting input from the public. We will all have to live with whatever bill becomes law. There are consequences, good and bad to every piece of legislation. Without public comment and input, and the input from our stakeholders, and those whom understand the problems of criminal justice the best, the consequences are unknown and untested. With such important endeavors such as criminal justice reform, we must get it right.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony, where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform policing in such haste. Our law enforcement officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the law enforcement officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Adam Hakkarainen

Subject: Please Pass a strong version of S2820!

I am writing to ask you to please pass a strong version of S2820. I have lived in Waltham for the past 5 years and am raising my family here. We are a white family living in a diverse Multi-racial community. As a mother I appreciate help and safety that local police departments provide the community. For example, I recently heard a loud noise on my block and a Waltham police officer came out immediately to investigate upon my phone call. However, for far too long, there has been legislation passed that has changed policing so that it is much more aggressive, more detrimental to our communities, and completely inequitable. As my daughter is growing up, I fear for the lives of her black friends and no one should have to feel this way. Supporting this bill does not mean that I think police officers are bad people. It means the system and structures in place are inequitable and they need to change. Now.

I'm writing to ask you to please support prohibiting violent police tactics -- this includes ANY choke holds that could come close to injuring a person! These have no place in our community, especially since implicit bias exists; racism exists. We, as white people, are all racist because we are part of a racist system. It doesn't mean we are bad people. It means that it is OUR JOB to strive to be antiracist and to find all the ways in which we can consistently fight racism day to day to create a more just and equal society. That includes not harming or killing community members, especially when a disproportionate number of individuals stopped by police are people of color.

I also ask that you impose meaningful restrictions on qualified immunity. Police officers need to be held accountable for their actions. Maybe if police officers are held accountable, more police officers will make a greater effort to strive to be antiracist and the amount of tragic deaths, injuries, and violence at the hands of police officers will be diminished. As a member of the diverse Waltham community, I am on my own journey of becoming antiracist and I strongly believe that if I do not fight to be antiracist (through educating myself about race, racism, whiteness, and my personal biases, decolonizing my curriculum, using culturally responsive teaching methods, analyzing and changing racist policies in my district, etc), I am not doing what's right. Police officers should be learning how to be antiracist in their profession as well - in their preparation would be best!

Finally, please support a BAN on the use of dangerous and discriminatory facial recognition technology. This technology is not valid and has been proven to make policing even more racist than it already is.

I am a mom, a wife, and a resident of Waltham. I know many of my neighbors support these same ideas. You are in a unique position to fight for antiracist policies - I am doing my part by sharing my opinions with you, but I cannot vote to change the law. Please do your job and fight for anti-racist polices; fight for our community.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Lisa Benson

Subject: Statement against S2820 as presented

To: The Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary

I am writing to state I am against S2820 as presented.

The senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste without public hearing or input of any kind was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years

The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. A bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy will not be supported.

The proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial.

What the Senate has tried to do is pass a knee jerk reaction to an incident which occurred half a country away that everyone agrees was egregious.

Massachusetts police officers are among the highest educated and trained in the country.

This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few.

Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

If the senate bill is passed in its current form, the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

Again, I reiterate that you consider voting against S2820 as presented.

Thank you for your consideration,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions, focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. Subject: Bill S2820

Too whom it may concern,

I have been a police officer since 2006 and have worked in the State of New Hampshire and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as police officer. I am currently employed as a Sergeant with the Norwood Police Department. I am born and raised in Massachusetts and I attended Westfield State University (College when I was there) in order to receive my Bachelor's Degree in Criminal Justice. I am a second generation officer as my father before me was employed with the Norwood Police Department as well as my step-mother. In order to pursue the career that I had envisioned since childhood I needed to leave Massachusetts and join the Derry, NH Police Department due to budget/hiring shortage in Massachusetts at the time. However, I was afforded the opportunity to return to Massachusetts and I gladly accepted.

I am deeply concerned at the pace and speed that Bill S2820 is attempting to be passed. I am also very concerned as to some of the contents of the bill. I ask that you all please take into consideration the men and women that thanklessly protect the citizens of Massachusetts without hesitation each and every day. I also ask that the bill be reviewed and studied as others are and with an appropriate time frame. Please do not just pass this bill as a result of emotion, please utilize logic and strategy while reviewing the bill.

I am the patrol sergeant for the 4pm-12am shift at the Norwood Police Department and I supervise several of the departments younger officers. The training that the men and women of the Norwood Police Department is phenomenal and it is shown in the work and the care and compassion that each officer displays towards their profession and the citizens they serve. I would be lying if I said that the officers are not concerned with this bill and the possible outcome and repercussions of it. The morale of the officers as well as morale of officers across the Commonwealth unfortunately is at an all time low. No good Officer, or person for that matter, condones or even comes close to seeing the actions by the horrendous human being in the George Floyd case as appropriate or justified. We are all disgusted by the actions.

I have concerns with the bill S2820 as many officers do, however I do agree with some of the issues that the bill addresses.

I am in agreement that it would be beneficial for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to adopted universal standards and training for the entire state. As many states already do this it would ensure across the state that officers are receiving the correct and appropriate training.

However, I am concerned with the issue of adjusting/changing the qualified immunity of an officer. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers nor do I want it to. It works to protect an officer that acts in good faith and as a result of their actions/enforcement an individual attempts to hold them civilly liable. It DOES NOT protect officers that act outside the confines of the law...nor should it.

Also of concern is the establishment of a disciplinary review board to review potential police misconduct. The idea of the board is not my concern and any good cop agrees with it. The requested make up of the board is my concern. At this time the bill suggests that the board be made of a majority of civilians that have no experience in law enforcement and the law enforcement professionals are the minority in of the board. As with other review boards, such as the bar association reviews and medical review boards the boards consist of attorneys and medical professionals. Why I ask then are police officers careers possibly in review by a majority of people that have no idea about the law enforcement profession?

Another concern is the issue that officers that conduct a stop and frisk even during a consensual manner must be required to issue a receipt. First off the term "stop and frisk" indicates that randomly an individual is stopped and automatically frisked for no reason by an officer. This practice is forbidden in Massachusetts and as many other officers I know not at all practiced. Many times this occurs because officers are called to the area for suspicious activity and an individual, described by a calling party, matches the description and the involvement of a weapon is either described or made known to the officer based on indicators. The fact that an officer must issue a receipt for instances like this is absurd and in fact places an officer safety and life at risk.

I am proud to serve the Town of Norwood in my capacity of a Sergeant and I will continue to do so. However, I am concerned with the speed that this bill is attempted to be passed and implore you to please properly review, conduct research, and accept some of the suggestions from the law enforcement field in adopting this bill.

Respectfully submitted,

Sergeant James Payne Jr

?I am the wife of a police officer who has served our city with dignity and an oath that he serve his community and the citizens in it. For 26 yrs . During his career I have been in awe of how he and his fellow officers can see humanity at its worst on the calls he has had to respond to. And still see good in this world. Let me ask you a question Have any of you ever sat down and listened To any officer say what they have to endure on a regular basis. Or even in their career. It is not pretty they see ugliness so often. And right now it is horrific what is happen to law enforcement by our elected officials.

As a wife of a police officer let me tell you what it is like for the family of these officers. I kiss my husband goodbye before he leaves for work not knowing if I will get a call that he is injured or has been killed . I am on edge until he is safely at home. An FYI I have gotten 5 calls that he was injured and was at hospital !!! One incident he had to be out of work for a year!!! He has been spit on not knowing if the criminal had a disease that could be transmitted thus bringing it home to us! He has seen so much hate and death caused by criminals!!! It is amazing he still sees the human race as good.. and he does he does not group all people in one category he sees the individual. He has helped so many that were on a path to destruction find a way out of it by taking a chance on the person. He uses every tool he can to assist a person if they need help.

I can only imagine how it feels to him to put on a uniform to protect and serve, something he has been proud to do only to see a false police narrative play out all over. It is disgusting to watch this legislation that is proposed!! Shame on you for trying To slide this pass. With no real talk on issues. It is a sad day that you are making a respectful job(duty) as a police officer into a disrespected profession.

I told my husband if this bill is passed to look into retirement because it will be a cold day in hell before a criminal has more rights then he does. And I have no faith in a fair panel of anyone to decide my husbands fate in his job. When the rhetoric is so anti police it is shameful.

If you want to be productive then how about looking into ways to assist law enforcement and support them and not tear them down for protecting us. There truly is a thin line between peace and anarchy and we are seeing it played out in communities that have already belittled and dismissed law enforcement.

Can we please be better than that.

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Samara Grossman I am a resident of Boston and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

I want to live in MA assured that my neighbors and myself are not going to be intimidated, hurt or killed by police. I want to live in my community assured that we have the funds to promote health, enjoyment, employment for everyone, not just the most privileged. Redirecting funds from police will assist in this. I was shocked when I learned the proportion of funds channeled to police.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely

Samara Grossman

Subject: Fw: S.2820 Swampscott

Dear Representative Ehrlich,

As your constituent from Swampscott, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

My son is a MSP Officer and we are very concerned about these Bills being passed with expediency. The Police in Massachusetts have done nothing wrong, and are being punished for what others, and another State did, very unfair.

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in to voice my support for S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system.

I also wanted to advocate my support for these additional measures that the final bill should include:

- * language about raising the age on the juvenile justice system so that young people ages 18-20 can be moved out of the adult justice system and into the more developmentally appropriate juvenile system
- * eliminate qualified immunity (to hold public employees accountable for illegal and unconstitutional offenses)
- * introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers
- * completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor

I am writing this email because as a resident of Massachusetts, I am strongly against the passing of the police reform bill as it is currently written. This bill will greatly affect how police respond to calls due to qualified immunity possibly being taken away. How an officer is able to do their job will ultimately affect the residents of Massachusetts. I hope that you will consider not passing this bill which will only hurt us the people.

Hello Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

My name is Pastor Pierce VanDunk, and I am the Religious Services Coordinator at the Middlesex House of Correction in Billerica, MA (I speak only for myself, not on behalf of the Sheriff's Office).

I am in favor of S.2820, and I encourage you to pass this bill into law swiftly. It will be beneficial to our communities to implement things like banning chokeholds and limiting teargas use, the duty to intervene, and expanding training for deescalation and racial justice.

I also agree with limiting qualified immunity to NOT include officers who break the law or operate completely outside of their training.

I DISAGREE, though, with those who call for banning qualified immunity entirely. In my experience in correctional chaplaincy, there are inmates (and I presume people in the community as well) who intentionally cause problems and provoke officers in an attempt to create a situation where they can file and win lawsuits--some falsify information and twist details to try and win money. In situations like these, law officers who follow the law and their training (but may have the details twisted against them in court) should not have their assets and families at risk. If there is not already, the bill should have a provision that clearly addresses the issue of people trying to create a situation where they can sue, requiring courts to pay special attention to the possibility that the claimant is disingenuous.

Thank you,

Dear Senator Julian Cyr,

My name is Cara Giuca and I live at 3 Delancy Drive, Plymouth, MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

Subject: A Mother's Cry Against the Current Proposed Changes to S2820

Good morning,

My name is Noelle Stork. I have been an employee of the Commonwealth of MA for the last 12+ years. Prior to that, I worked with the Middleboro Police Department as an Administrative Assistance. My husband is a Detective

Lieutenant with the Middleboro Police Department. He is also a Veteran of the United States of America. Our family had dedicated years of service to our local communities, the Commonwealth of MA, and the United States as a whole. We are in desperate need of your support. I thank you in advance for reading and considering my message here.

The proposed changes to S2820 are going to suppress police, and other professions, from doing their jobs. It is going to make ALL people less safe. As you know, qualified Immunity does not apply if you knowingly break the law. It protects public servants that act in good faith while doing their jobs. Why in the world would we take that away? MA has had one unarmed Police death in the last 5 years. One - and not that it matters, but that man was white. This legislature is not going to fix anything in MA. In fact, it is going to make things much worse. It will result in a lot of professions hesitating to do their job.

I am the mother of three little girls. They are ages 6, 3, and 1. How will I ever explain to them that we have lost our home because of a frivolous lawsuit against their Daddy? How will I ever explain to them that Daddy isn't coming home because he hesitated to protect himself? (Michael Chesna) How will my husband ever look us in the eye knowing he hesitated to help someone on the job due to fear?

Please don't leave us in the dust. The proposed changes to S2820 will do just that. Please protect our family the way my husband has been protecting others for the last 18+ years of his life.

Respectfully,

Noelle Stork

Dear Chair Michelewitz, Chair Cronin and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820 to bring needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work to pass this bill into law and strengthen it. I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Qualified Immunity for police officers is directly linked to the unaccountability that allowed slaveholders to murder black men with impunity. In Frederick Douglass's 1892 autobiography "The Life and Times of Frederick Douglass", he described the situation thusly:

"While I heard of numerous murders committed by slaveholders on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, I never knew a solitary instance where a slaveholder was either hung or imprisoned for having murdered a slave. The usual pretext for such crimes was that the slave had offered resistance. Should a slave, when assaulted, but raise his hand in self-defense, the white assaulting party was fully justified by southern law and southern public opinion in shooting the slave down, and for this there was no redress."

Substitute "slaveholder" with "police officer" and "slave" with "black man". This issue of white, authoritarian dominion over Blacks runs deep in the collective unconscious of our society. It's time for us to do better. In light of the numerous murders of black men that the nation has witnessed with our own eyes at the hands of the police, there MUST be accountability. We cannot sit idly by and allow this unchecked violence against Blacks to continue.

Subject: S2820 Testimony

Hello my name is William Enright,

I am a police officer for the town of North Andover, Massachusetts. I have been working as a police Officer for 5 years , been through 2 academies (MLETA and the NECC Police Academy), and obtained hundreds of hours of training on a variety of aspects to policing. I have worked patrol and am now the School Resource Officer at North Andover High School. After reading the purposed bill I feel that aspects of the bill will effectively destroy municipal policing, cost millions of dollars to local governments and innocent individuals in civil law suits, and cause mass retirement from the field with very little incentive to draw high quality candidates. This will not only hurt police officers but in turn crime will rise and low income areas which tend to be majorly minority in Massachusetts will be hit the hardest effectively hurting the demographic of people this bill is designed to protect.

Section 10 (qualified immunity) need to be removed. Qualified immunity does not protect police that have operated outside the law, policy and procedure, or outside the scope of their training. Many myths about qualified immunity have been floating around and if the legislation would take the time to look at statistics qualified immunity has never been an issue and has been an involving concept which protects people who have a duty to act from frivolous law suits. The language proposed to replace the already well working system is general, left open to individual interpretation , and will take a decade of case law to even have a guideline for how it can work. If section 10 is not removed from the bill you will see a civil suit happy culture which are currently targeting police flood the court system with allegations and accusations which will not only effect police officers but their innocent families, children and community. SECTION 10 is a HUGE problem and needs to be removed. Qualified Immunity has no recorded issues in Massachusetts and police officers that are breaking the law or do anything that is considered a violation of people's rights are currently liable civilly, it does not protect bad police that do bad things.

The bill also wants to institute a board that reviews police officers and decides if they can be re certified as they go though their career. This board must consist of members that have an expertise on MPTC training, law enforcement policies and procedures, and a back round in law enforcement and criminal law. All other professions that have review boards allow only experts in the field. Putting people that don't understand policing in Massachusetts at an expert level on a review board with such declared powers and influence will bring misinformed and bias guided discussions. Also the language in the bill appears to supersede unions collective bargaining agreements and essentially over power civil service. Parts of the proposed appeals process and the sharing or testimony from all process is currently written horribly and I would consider is in violation of an individuals rights to fair due process.

Insert language that we use in criminal court for this bill. Reasonable suspicion, Probable cause, beyond a reasonable doubt, (Gram vs Connor) . At certainty will an officer face civil and and criminal allegations. Nothing Is discussed.

Insert mandatory statistic keeping to the FBI data base on use of force.

Look at Massachusetts and all the accredited departments. That is the gold standard here we are doing things above and beyond what is even asked when it comes to training but how I'll this be funded. Add a section on the program that will generate this funding or mandate the state to put forth the money to get these trainings.

Thank you

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Mary Bennett

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Carly Burdick

Subject: Please support the passage of SB.2800 - public testimony

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz and Co- Chair Rep. Claire Cronin:
My name is Laura Foner and I am a resident of Boston. I am submitting this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is th minimum and the bill must pass both houses of the MA State Legislature in its entirety.

It is past time for us to create a version of public safety for our Commonwealth which truly protects communities and prevents police abuses. This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, limits qualified immunity for police to help ensure accountability, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. This is an important historical moment that calls for bold action. We in Massachusetts can set an example of how to meet the demands of this moment.

Thank you for your consideration. Please give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,
Laura Foner

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Written Testimony SB2800

Good morning,

My name is Sarah Eknaian. I am a Massachusetts resident and a social worker in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I am reaching out to you in regards to SB2800.

In the wake of the tragic murder of George Floyd, our country is facing ugly truths about how racism and discrimination are embedded in us and in systems in place. It is an uncomfortable place to be in, when we face the fact that we aren't as progressive as we thought we were or how systemic oppression lingers in our society. This has been an extremely challenging time for me. I work for the Newton Police Department as a jail diversion clinician. I love my job. It is my passion and I look forward to going to work every day. My job entails co-responding with police to calls for service involving mental health crises. As a crisis clinician, I am deployed with the police as a part of compassionate justice. I work closely with the police to ensure that the residents have the most appropriate and safe outcomes on a call. I follow up with individuals that may need mental health or substance use help based on referrals by the police. My office isn't just a desk, it's a cruiser with a police officer. This job is perfect for me. I want to help and better others. Massachusetts is at the forefront of what 21st century policing should look like with embedded and trained mental health clinicians in their departments to work alongside police on calls for service.

With all this being said, it has been especially challenging seeing the policing profession demonized by the actions of some. I can't speak for the actions of every police department in the country and there is no excuse for the accounts of police brutality that continues to occur in our nation. That being said, I have been able to get to know various police officers throughout the state. Good police officers do still exist. Any officer that has allowed me to sit next to them in their cruiser or asked for my assistance on a call has been a representation of progressive policing. It is these officers, who I hear today that are downtrodden, discouraged, and feel hopeless in the face of reform, which will greatly affect how they do their jobs. It has been so difficult hearing good, proactive police officers say they regret ever becoming police officers.

While I can't say that I disagree with the entire proposed bill, what concerns me is the potential negative effects on school resource officers and qualified immunity. From the departments I work in and especially the department I work in presently, there are police officers that have a heart for the students they serve. They want to ensure kids get the best life they possibly can and want to work with them. Qualified immunity is a way to protect police from frivolous lawsuits when they are trying to do their job. I've been hearing from police that if qualified immunity is gone, they will be open to civil lawsuits if they accidentally break someone's ribs while trying to administer CPR. Does this mean police will stop performing life saving measures on calls? I've been on calls where police have had to perform these lifesaving measures and have been able to save lives. I've seen the look on family's faces as their loved one comes back to life, saving them the grief and heartache of having to lose a loved one when they could live. The thought of our police, firefighters, and EMTs not being able to save a life because of a civil suit is baffling and unacceptable.

As a social worker, it is part of my responsibility to stand up for others. I have been trying to figure out my voice when I feel I am in the middle. Black lives matter. I need to uphold the rights of black communities and work against a racist system. At the same time, the mental health of my officers is suffering greatly and I feel a responsibility to stand up for them too. I've had the pleasure of working in police departments in Massachusetts that are progressively and can be a model to policing nationwide. Part of this email is my story and I wanted to share it. I would gladly share any story or encounter I've had during my career. I hope to continue this line of work for years to come. Please consider my experience and please re-think this proposed bill. Please don't penalize hard-working men and women that stand for something larger than themselves.

Thank you for your time.

Respectfully,

Sarah Eknaian

Dear Rep. Elugardo,

My name is Joshua Dankoff, and I am a resident of Boston and a constituent of yours. Thank you for committing to confront racial injustice in our communities. I am writing asking you to urge the Speaker to include the below youth-focused policies in the House race equity bill. These proposals will address racial disparities in our justice system and hold law enforcement accountable when interacting with young people in our communities and in our schools:

* Require transparency and accountability by reporting race/ethnicity data at each major decision point of the juvenile justice system, as filed by Rep. Tyler (H.2141). Require law enforcement and other juvenile justice agencies to report data on young people at major decision points with the juvenile justice system to improve the state's policy and planning. For too long, we have waited for transparency <<[* End the automatic prosecution of older teens as adults, as filed by Rep. O'Day and Rep. Khan \(H.3420\): Massachusetts' youth of color bear the harshest brunt of our legal system with their over-representation in the adult criminal justice system. By raising the age at which a teenager can be automatically tried as an adult, we can hold young people accountable in a more developmentally appropriate setting, giving them a better chance to succeed and turn away from offending and reduce the harms of legal system involvement all while reducing crime in our communities. FACT SHEET
<\[* Expand eligibility for expungement to rectify the collateral consequences of the over-policing and criminalization of communities of color, as filed by Rep. Decker and Rep. Khan \\(H1386\\) and as passed in S.2800: There is overwhelming evidence

* Prohibit law enforcement restraints of minor children in a prone or hog-tie position and require that de-escalation techniques are developmentally appropriate and require that law enforcement consider calling parents/guardians to de-escalate a situation with a child. Some of these provisions passed in S.2800 amendment 41.

* National and local studies have overwhelmingly shown that Black and Latinx students are significantly more likely to be suspended, expelled, and arrested in school than their white peers. Repeal the state mandate that every school district be assigned at least one school resource officer; require school committee approval by public vote for assigning SROs; require that law enforcement officers be stationed in a police station and on-call for schools, rather than being stationed on school property; and mandate that school districts and police departments comply with the reporting requirements of school-based arrests to qualify to have an SRO. These provisions passed in S.2800 amendments 25 and 80.

This is such an important bill as it bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

Thank you and I look forward to hearing back from about your position on these priorities.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Joshua Dankoff

Subject: No on 2800

My name is Sean Hussey and I am a Police Officer with the Malden Police Department. I ask that you do not support bill S.2800.

This bill will eliminate collective bargaining for police officers. This is detrimental to our ability to negotiate a fair contract with municipalities. As a member of our union executive board, I have worked hard to represent the men and women of the Malden Police Patrolmen's Association in seeking fair contracts with the city. This bill would put us at the mercy of the city and ultimately lead to unfair working conditions.

This bill also removes due process for police officers. This would result in officers being handled unfairly. No other profession in the world is as publicly and harshly judged after the fact than police work. Everyone makes immediate judgements on police incidents with little to no information. Due process ensures officers get a fair chance to defend their actions. This process does not protect bad officers but does protect good ones.

Most importantly, this bill would eliminate qualified immunity for police officers. I truly believe this will be a huge mistake. This absolutely WILL lead to frivolous lawsuits brought against police officers personally. Political activists will be chomping at the bit to sue officers personally at absolutely no cost to them but at an out of pocket expense to officers and their families. I have a family to support and the way I support it is by going to work every day to protect the life and property of the citizens of Malden. I would love to continue to do that for the rest of my career. If this bill passes and eliminates qualified immunity, the job no longer becomes financially feasible. I can not expose my family to the financial burdens that will come along with performing my basic job functions.

Police departments have been struggling more and more each year to find quality candidates. I can only imagine this is going to force even more desirable candidates into other fields. Once the good, professional officers are gone, who is going to be left to handle the true criminal element that does exist in society? Less qualified, bottom of the barrel candidates are going to lead to more problems. Less qualified officers are going to make bigger mistakes.

While watching the senate hearings, it was mentioned several times that they needed to make what happened to George Floyd illegal here in Massachusetts. What happened to George Floyd is illegal in Massachusetts and every other state in the country. Just like all lawmakers are not held accountable when one lawmaker commits a crime, I would hope you would not hold law enforcement accountable for the criminal behavior of one officer.

I ask that you support the great men and women in Massachusetts that go to work every day to protect perfect strangers and have done so for years. Please look at facts here in Massachusetts and do not overreact to the actions of one officer in Minnesota. Please consider the true long lasting impacts of this bill down the road once the public pressure relents. We already seeing the results of officers afraid to do their job. Violent crime is already starting to rise. Please keep this in mind as you consider this bill.

Thank you,

Sean Hussey

Subject: Testimony on Senate Bill 2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing with great urgency to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. It is critical that the House enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and then get it through a conference committee, and on Governor Baker's desk, by the end of July.

I also want to call attention to the Senate bill's approach to:

- the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards,
- limits on the use of force,
- the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer,
- a ban on racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops,
- requiring civilian approval for the purchase of military equipment,
- the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases,
- allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, and
- all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I am also in favor of allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. This is exactly what we in Medford are in the process of doing and all municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Again, it is most importantly that a good police reform bill be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for your attention to this important priority.

? Dear Representative Cutler,

My name is Jeffrey Connolly and I live in your district at 30 Driftwood Drive, Duxbury and I am a huge fan of those who protect and serve our community. As you consider legislation that affects police officers and their safety, and thus the safety of our entire community, please understand that protection and preservation of due process and qualified immunity are non-negotiable and must be defended. Failure to protect both will undoubtedly put all public employees in harm's way while drastically and negatively impacting public safety for us all.

WHY DUE PROCESS MATTERS- Any legislation must allow fair and equitable due process under the Law. Currently, when an officer is disciplined, he/she is entitled to due process and an appeal process with the employer. A new outside board (like the POSA Committee) should allow this process to complete before instituting a review. This will not only maintain fairness, but will allow the new Committee to have a full record and make determinations after a thorough and neutral process has been undertaken. Other public employees such as teachers go through a similar process; police officers deserve the same respect and rights.

WHY QUALIFIED IMMUNITY MATTERS - Qualified immunity does NOT protect bad officers who knowingly violate the rights of members of the community. It's worth saying again. It does not protect bad cops. Instead, it protects good officers who play by and follow the rules. The doctrine allows lawsuits to proceed if a government official (not just a police officer) had fair notice that his or her conduct was unlawful, but acted anyway. The standard is objective reasonableness. By abolishing or changing qualified immunity as it exists today, police officers will not know what is lawful or not. This creates hesitancy and uncertainty in how they perform their duties. This is UNSAFE for all communities.

In closing, we are NOT Minneapolis. So, changing due process or qualified immunity in Massachusetts, which would affect police officers only in Massachusetts, would only serve to punish the men and women in blue for something that happened 1000 miles away. Instead of penalizing and scapegoating, we should be celebrating and promoting the fact that our police officers, some of the best in the nation, are impressive examples of how policing should be done.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Connolly

Subject: S.2820 Police Reform Bill

Good morning --

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolous lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Begin forwarded message:

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due to the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools, organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model to be used. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Dear Committee Members

I am a life-long resident of Boston, wife, mother of two adult black sons, a retired educator from the Boston Public Schools and currently co chair of The Greater Boston Interfaith Organization.

My lived experiences in Boston, especially Roxbury and Dorchester, has given me front seat observation and first hand knowledge of what goes on in my community regarding policing. I will NEVER EVER forget what happened during the Charles Stuart episodes when he shot his pregnant wife in the stomach and alleged a black man did it. White detectives came out in unprecedented numbers and destroyed a black community in hunt of this black man. Stuart killed himself when the truth came out he was the guilty one, but the spirit and trust of the black community was also killed.

Even today, we have the same type of aggressive behavior in places across MA. The scathing reports and citation from the Department of Justice around the gross misconduct of the Springfield Police Dept.'s Narcotics Bureau sheds light on this.

I don't want to get caught up in "every police officer is not a bad cop"; I am reasonable enough to know that. I don't want your attention to be distracted from the fact that much work is needed around police reform in terms of:

- Standards/training and accountability. Certification/decertification of police is necessary in any police reform package.
- Creating racial equity through civil service access reform is long overdue.
- Clear Statutory limits on police use of force.
- Qualified Immunity reform (even today people are calling to reopen "D.J." Henry case because he never got justice. He was one of our own MA residents and cases like that have even happened here in our state although the killing by police happened in NY. And was protected by QI.
- Commission for ongoing work around dismantling structural racism and racist procedures and policies.

Any police omnibus bill should have those 5 things in it, but it would be a disgrace to the black community if you stopped there. Senate Bill S2820 is a good bill worthy of guiding you to put out a strong police reform bill.

My community has been shortchanged for many years. There is too much policing, and too many blacks involved with the criminal "justice" system. It is now time to reduce risks and invest in the most vulnerable communities. Senate Bill 2820 includes the Justice Reinvestment Workforce Development Fund that put resources into the community and would make competitive grants to drive economic opportunities in communities most impacted.

I hope there is enough imagination and will in the house to make meaningful police reform based on these suggestions.

I am a constituent from Marshfield and also a 25 year veteran with Boston Police Department. I've been a Crime Scene Investigator for the past 20 years and you can only imagine what I have seen. From a mother who all but decapitated her two young children, body parts and three bodies at the Marathon Bombing (my twin boys played basketball with Martin Richard at St. Ann's in Dorchester) or the body of a poor young woman who was taken by force from outside her Southie apartment, brutally raped and stabbed over 80 times and left in the woods in Hyde Park. Physically and Psychologically I have been put through the ringer. Please know I am not complaining or looking for sympathy as I know someone has to do this work and it is work that I love to do as well as to teach others to do. I am one of many, when the call comes in for a found body, unresponsive infant or bombing at the marathon, we go, no questions asked.

Please remember my colleagues and me as you look at S2820.

I would like to weigh in on the bill that is currently in the House, S. 2820. As it stands, the Senate dropped the ball by keeping police wide open for frivolous law suits by eliminating qualified immunity. As you know, unlike absolute immunity which is something you all are given and enjoy, qualified immunity is given to police officers who do their job the right way. Not rogue officers or cops who break the law. Because of that, I urge you not to pass this bill, but if you must, I ask you to keep qualified immunity.

Another ball dropped by the Senate was something that is rightfully given to all citizens of the commonwealth and this great country, and that is due process. Essentially, by eliminating due process in their bill, the Senate has deemed all police officers second class citizens. That's is outrageous, bogus and downright wrong. Please do not pass this bill, but if you must keep all due process in and please do not deem us second class citizens. In a time when the bad guy is the good guy and the good guy is the bad guy, we need your help.

I pray that you have the courage to be a beacon in a time of darkness and be the anti-panderer and keep these two important aspects in this bill if you must pass it.

Please do not be anti police, please do not open all cops in the commonwealth to frivolous law suits, please be a leader and hear the voices of your constituents and do the right thing.

Thank you ALL for your service.

Respectfully,

Dear Senator Julian Cyr,

My name is Crista Nardone and I live at 28 Prince Path, Sandwich MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is Danielle Perez and I live at 672 Boston St Lynn MA. I work at MCI Concord and am a Corrections Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

??: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified

Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

To whom this may concern,

My name is Christina Scali and I live in Lynnfield. I am the wife of Massachusetts State Trooper and a concerned citizen. I am also a registered nurse in the state of Massachusetts. I am deeply concerned that provisions in this bill will make law enforcement officers afraid to do their job, resulting in an increase in crime around the Commonwealth. If you look at major cities like New York and Chicago, crime has significantly increased and police are afraid to do their job sufficiently as a result of the current climate. Police officers are highly trained in Massachusetts. It is unfair that the actions of one Minneapolis police officer has paved the way for lawless criminals to rebel against hard working and honest officers here in the Commonwealth.

I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. Bismillah ArRahman ArRaheem,

Dear MA House of Representatives, Staff, and Supporters,

Thank you for opening the conversation to the public on the issue of policing reform. My name is Jack Whitacre and I am a National Science Foundation PhD Fellow at the University of Massachusetts Boston. After spending two years researching community policing with DARPA, in partnership with police officers around the country, I feel that an evidence-based approach would benefit our conversation. I ask that we continue to draw upon case studies from reformed departments around the country to weigh and evaluate best practices for Boston.

In a recent Boston Globe article, some stakeholders worried that police reform would 'flood the courts'. Stepping outside of my research and academic lens into philosophy, I'll merely suggest that if justice doesn't take place in the courts, where else will it take place? In the streets? The best way to keep the country unified, in my humble opinion, and to preserve the rule of law is to use evidence based decision making, such as the work of Dr. Gary Klein and Dr. Helen Klein's research below. Thank you for your time and service. I admire your positions as servant leaders.

Subject: POLICE REFORM BILL S2820 - Concerns with qualified immunity within this bill to be considered

To Whom It May Concern:;

My name is Lori Rostkowski and I live in Rockport MA. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known.

Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration,

Lori Rostkowski

Subject: My testimony

To whom this may concern,

I am writing this to you not only as a proud resident of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts but an even prouder Sergeant of the Norwood Police Department. I want to attempt to be short and sweet with my testimony. Good luck to us all.

I have been a police officer for the Town of Norwood for almost 17 years. I got into law enforcement same like many of us do; my grandfather was a police officer for 30 years. However, I also took my Civil Service test after 9/11. I distinctly remember that day as all of us do and I remember realizing that I wanted to do more for my country, my community. Like most officers, we signed on to help. To be part of something greater than ourselves. There is evil on all levels and in all professions, races, genders and socioeconomic realms. What happened to George Floyd was murder. It's an abomination and I am embarrassed that Chauvin and others wore a badge and claimed the title of Police Officer but, they were the minority of our profession. 99% of us put the badge on for the right reasons and honor our families, communities and departments by helping people and fighting injustices.

I have seen a lot of changes in law enforcement in the last 17 years, some for good and some for bad. I am not against police reform on some level. I am however against this bill and what transpired with the Senate. If we want to better this state and make it equitable for all people, all races then, we as members of the law enforcement community should've been brought to the table to be part of the change not just the victims of it. I strongly believe that if this state keeps moving forward with what was snuck by the other morning, than all that has happened is the weakening of a state and giving power over to the very people that were protecting us all from.

Please table this bill and allow time for the stakeholders to get together and make a bill that suits, protects and enables all people the capability to make a stronger safer Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Do not allow this bill to go through as is. Please. I beg you as a police officer and a citizen of this Commonwealth. Lets slow our roll and do this right. We don't have to be the first over this line of police reform we need cross that finish line with the best product. This bill is not it. What is put through has such a great impact that we need to make sure it's done right the first time . The good citizens of this state will be the ones who suffer if this passes.

Thank you for your time. I hope you do what's right.
Thank you Sergeant Sarah C Lyden

Subject: S.2800 testimony

Dear House Judiciary Committee

I, Officer Nicholas M. Hoar, am a Police Officer with the Fall River Police Department and I am contacting you to to give my testimony in regard to the Police Reform Bill. As a proud Police Officer and Asian American Minority it sickens me to see our government bending to the will of non-fact-holding criminals who will take advantage of this anti-police rhetoric. I am a 5th generation Police Officer in one of the longest serving families in Massachusetts Law Enforcement. I whole heartedly believe that the passing of this bill will put the citizens of the Commonwealth in more danger. The shameless shaemouses that defend the criminal element in a court of law will use this bill to let them walk free without reprimand but punish the Police Officers who swore to uphold the law. I've seen it first hand. Here in the City of Fall River gun violence is at an all time high and those that are involved will never serve the minimum mandatory sentence of 18 months in jail for illegal firearms charges. It just doesn't happen.

As a Army Veteran, citizen of the Commonwealth, father, husband, a Volunteer with the Fall River Young Marines, a mentor, and a civil servant is ask that you look at the bigger picture and into the future and imagine how this decision now will effect the safety and well-being of future generations.

I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

defensive tactics. I wish that anyone that needs to be arrested complies without violence.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, and law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Officer Nicholas M. Hoar/A708

I am writing to express my negative opinion of the proposed police reform bill.

As it is written currently, it is going to be detrimental to any LEO, police force, and largely to the community at large.

I support the police; I understand that a few bad apples get in and need to be removed. And I believe the justice system as a whole needs to be looked at. But this bill needs to be rewritten and reconsidered.

As an aside, the middle of the night passage, together with the inability for a public hearing, was sneaky at best.

This is a poor bill and will tie the hands of all of the good, upstanding police officers out there. And will stop any potential applicant to think twice about applying to serve his/her community.

Thank you.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Reform

The Massachusetts Senate hastily passed a bill on police reform without doing their due diligence, having hearings and educating themselves to what the serious consequences will be to their actions.

Under Senate Bill 2800 (2820 final version), the elected officials have effectively tied the hands of not only the police but all public officials. This bill removed qualified immunity from all public employees (except themselves of course).

What does that mean? That means that even if myself or my brothers and sisters in blue and red act in good faith under rule/color of law we will now be responsible and open to civil lawsuits. This also opens the municipalities we work for up to frivolous lawsuits for anything, costing you the taxpayers even more.

An example of this is we respond to a medical call where you have a loved one who requires CPR, we arrive on scene do everything we can within the scope of our training and department policies for your loved one but they unfortunately don't make it, we are now open to civil lawsuits for damages.

This is just one major issue with this hastily drafted and passed bill.

It is also important to know that the elected officials who sold us a bill of good and promises of things they would do or stand behind are nothing but wimps who succum to the bullying of higher ranking elected officials to ensure they keep their positions on appointed committees. I know this is probably no great shock to some but this is the stuff that needs to get out to the masses!!

People are calling for police reform for systemic racism and other injustices that occur. Well reform needs to and should start from the top. If our elected officials are so influenced by bullying and pressure from higher ranking elected officials then maybe the reform needs to start with our elected officials and work its way down. Our representatives, at least in the State senate don't give a crap about the people who they serve and the people who voted them into those positions. What they also don't realize is how easily it is for them to loose the support of their constituents and be voted out next election.

Dear Representatives,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the people in law enforcement who serve our communities every day. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens and unease in performing the duties we ask of them. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 to bring change to policing, without removing the protections that make doing the job possible.

Hi, I'm Drew McArthur, a constituent of Kevin Honan, living at 7 Sparhawk hesitate to reach out to me!

I support the bill & the need for vast, wide-reaching, impactful police reform. We need to fundamentally restructure how policing works in this city, state, and country. Currently, police are given, and consistently abuse obscene amounts of power. We need to disarm the police & get them to stop escalating civilian encounters. Thank you for putting this initiative in place, and for hearing the voices of your constituency in the process.

"Donations"

The state-wide database is certainly a good start. However, line 58 of the PDF, in Section 1, the new section 72.H, is very concerning.

"The commission may accept and solicit funds, including any gifts, donations, grants or bequests or any federal funds for any of the purposes of this section. The commission shall receive settlement funds payable to the commonwealth related to matters involving racial discrimination or other bias toward African Americans; provided, however, that the commission shall not receive more than $2,000,000 in settlement funds in any single fiscal year or cumulatively more than $2,500,000 in settlement funds in any period of 5 fiscal years. Funds received under this subsection shall be deposited in a separate account with the state treasurer, received by the treasurer on behalf of the commonwealth and expended by the commission in accordance with law."

Why would the commission need to solicit funds? This seems to very plainly greenlight bribes to the commission, which we cannot have for obvious reasons.

Above all, the biggest issue facing the people is the influence of money in politics. Currently, capital completely controls congress (see here: https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=http-3A__represent.us_theproblem&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGIInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0Sck2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=vw0WXX5J1xd-H7bNOSTF4ZJjYqPrZANveHBLckrypOc&s=iGrIHYysoTljoa6Eb1EpOOZXAFmN43mVB8J91sYbKAY&e=>). In order to restore power to the people, we must limit the influence wealth has on our government. That means removing or strongly restricting the donations in Section 72.H.

Dismantling Authoritarianism

The police do not prevent crime, they respond to it. We spend ridiculous amounts on the police, and all we've gained is the highest incarcerated population in the world. All that police spending does is put people behind bars; it doesn't prevent the crimes from occurring. Sure, intimidation works to a degree, but only until the victim is desperate enough.

We can put our money and effort towards programs that will solve the root of the issue (inequality and material deprivation), or we can waste it, shoveling paper money onto the flames, abuse of power and discriminatory policing only fanning the flames. Almost every crime committed could have been prevented by providing necessities or other assistance, instead of feeding them intimidation and force, escalating the encounter.

The police are inherently authoritarian in nature. They respond to that type of desperation that leads to crime with force and retaliation. The more force, the more desperate people need to act out, and the more people can be left to struggle before they do. We should be listening to the people, not oppressing them with violence to be able to ignore their needs.

Don't listen to police unions, they only fight for themselves and would support every rotten cop before they conceded anything to the public. Don't take campaign donations from police organizations. Tax the rich to fund an actual social safety net, then we can move towards prison abolition.

Incarceration strips a person of their rights, of their humanity. We cannot stand for that. We must move past that. Incarceration also serves as a loophole for slavery in the 13th amendment. MA needs to file a resolution to close that loophole, if not federally then at the state level.

Specific Requests

As for the rest of this bill, every suggestion I have boils down to giving the people more power to hold their own against an authoritarian state.

1. Perform audits of police complaint submitting processes. Investigative journalists have explored this and oftentimes the process is difficult or impossible. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vnJ5f1JMKns>
<[2. for all data being made available, it should be made available to the public both on a clean, accessible & widely available website, but also to an API, so the public might programmatically design tools that use official govt data.](https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.youtube.com_watch-3Fv-3DvnJ5f1JMKns&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=vw0WXX5J1xd-H7bNOSTF4ZJjYqPrZANveHBLckrypOc&s=PTpsZtJd33iel_mEC1o19EKvAAGgLBTaGIwHvaan1N0&e=>><div data-bbox=)

3. A lot of the racial profiling that happens is due to the socioeconomic status of people being profiled. Lifting citizens out of poverty will reduce that disparity.

4. Expunge the records of anyone convicted of marijuana offenses. Cannabis was obviously made illegal under racial pretense, and is incorrectly scheduled to be weaponized by the prison industrial complex, our modern day slavery. And despite the legality of cannabis and middle class white businessowners profiting massively, we still have people of color incarcerated & forced into slave labor. We MUST expunge those records.

5. To reiterate, we cannot allow the police commission to be bribed.

6. Eliminate completely no-knock warrants, qualified immunity, and school resource officers (put in place to stop school shooters, but they've only been arresting Black children).

An excellent resource for more testimony exists on State Senator Will Brownsberger's wordpress site, and the comments below.

Subject: Reform Bill S2800

My name is Paul McGarty Jr my phone number 7742087578

I do not agree with this reform bill. Problem cops are dealt with thoroughly through Internal Affairs, the police academy and their superiors. This bill holds no opinion from the minority parties that reside in the rural areas of Boston and with the organizations that closely work hand in hand with the Boston Police Department. Quickly passing a bill is not the improvement the police in Boston needs, I am a Boston Police Officer, I can speak from first hand experience the department is understaffed beyond belief, yet gun violence in this city continues to decline year after year. This bill cannot be applied like a band aid, movements can be made once all groups feel like their opinion was heard fairly and only then real change can occur. A focus should be thought about how the city of Boston can only afford to have less than 18 patrol officers within each district of the city per shift. The population of Boston alone is over 600,000 that's less than 200 patrol officers per shift to deal with the entire city's growing population. This type of reform bill is centralized on one topic to be a solution to safer streets in the problem neighborhoods of Boston.

Subject: Testimony for Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

Thank you for allowing me to submit written testimony regarding Senate Bill 2820 and thank you for your service to the commonwealth.

My name is Patrick Munroe and I have been a Boston Police Officer for 7.5 years and I am also the Founder/President of Brotherhood for the Fallen-Boston which is a non-profit organization that provides support to the families of fallen police officers. Prior to the Boston Police, I served as a Medford Police Officer for five years and was a New York City Police Officer for 2.5 years.

Growing up in Medford, Massachusetts, I always wanted to be a police officer to serve my community and "do good" for other people. My mother would even call me "Deputy Doright". A few of my friends that I grew up with also became police officers and firefighters because we wanted to serve. Our fathers were police officers and firefighters and we wanted to experience the same pride and passion as they did while serving their communities. Some of my friends joined the military to obtain veteran preference and did multiple tours in Iraq and Afghanistan. I chose to attend UMASS-Dartmouth and got my opportunity by joining the NYPD in 2005. Although my friends and I chose different paths to become law enforcement or firefighters, we dedicated our lives to becoming public servants. We do it, and we do it well.

We all know what happened to George Floyd in Minneapolis and police officers are just as disgusted as everyone else. It was an act of cowardice and certainly an abuse of power. I speak with officers from around the country on a regular basis and NOT ONE officer has condoned or tried to make excuses for the officer's actions. Their actions tarnished the badge that we proudly wear.

After this incident, I certainly understand the want and need for change. I agree with having more training for officers and banning the use of chokeholds except in a deadly force situation. However, I certainly disagree with painting all police officers with a broad brush and assuming that the majority of us are not educated, compassionate, or don't have diverse backgrounds. I worked in the largest, most diverse police department in the world in one of the most diverse neighborhoods in Brooklyn, NY. It is unfair to group all members of one profession together. If a state senator or Rep is charged with a crime in Minnesota, should that be a reflection of all politicians in this state?

I took the time to read this bill, and I am no means an attorney, but I found most of the language in this bill to be offensive, misguided, and retributive. Instead of Bill 2820, it should be called the "Police Punishment Bill". I spoke with Senator Boncore's Office and Rep Madaro's office and both assured me that the bill was created with good intentions. To give a glimpse of what the senate thinks of police officers, please refer to Line 1398. © "A law enforcement officer who has sexual intercourse with a person in custody..... I am not sure who felt that this was necessary to be amended or why it was brought into the bill but it is quite appalling.

To become a police officer, an applicant is required to pass an extensive background check including criminal history check, driving record, and credit check. In addition, anyone convicted of a felony or domestic violence is automatically disqualified. I have major issue with the suggestion of having police officer's background check information be put into a database and shall be public record according to Line#350. Shouldn't police officers be entitled to the same CORI rights and privacy rights as private citizens?

I also found that the bill is unfair to create a public database that will post all incidents that involve injuries sustained during a police encounter. If the intention of the bill was to be fair, shouldn't we also be concerned about our police officers that are attacked? Regardless of public opinion, no one has the right to resist arrest unless the arrest wasn't made in good faith or excessive force was used. In addition, the term "Police Brutality" is far different than use of reasonable Force. We are already trained in de-escalation techniques as well as use of force continuum by the Mass. Police Training Council. Sometimes on the street, the use of force encounter doesn't always look pretty but that's our job. We have to make split second decisions based on the facts available to us at that time, not the facts available the next day on youtube. We are held to a reasonableness standard as stated in "Graham v Connor". We also have the right to protect ourselves to come home to our families. The goal of every arrest is to gain voluntary compliance and conduct the arrest without incident. The suspect dictates the use of force during the encounter, not the other way around.

While speaking to Senator Boncore's office, I asked for them to provide facts or data that would lead politicians to believe that there is widespread police brutality in Massachusetts. I also asked if there was an extensive study done to conclude that our use of force policies needed to be changed. Facts could not be provided nor was a study done. I further asked how many civilians were shot and killed by Massachusetts police in 2020? The answer could not be provided. I had to provide the answer. It is 3. All armed suspects/victims and justified. With a population of 7 million, that is hardly widespread.

I also brought up the topic of police officers injured or killed in the line of duty this year. There have been hundreds of police officers shot and injured this year and most people have no idea because it doesn't make the news. Some even say, "That's what they signed up for". It certainly is not. During these "peaceful protests", several officers were shot and killed including Federal Protective Service Officer David Underwood and Retired St Louis Captain Davin Dorn (77 years old). In addition, Las Vegas Metro Officer Shay Mikalonis was shot in the neck during a protest and now he is paralyzed from the neck down. Were these officers thought of when this bill was drafted?

What about:

Sean Collier

Ron Tarentino Jr

Sean Gannon

Michael Chesna

Joseph Shinnors

To some, they might be just names. To me, they are my brothers.

This year alone, there have already been 30 police officers shot and killed in the line of duty in the U.S. and a total of 124 line of duty deaths including Boston Police Officer Jose Fontanez who died after contracting Covid-19 on duty. Having officers second guess themselves before defending themselves will result in more officers getting killed because they will be worried about qualified immunity, no due process, and an unqualified "Committee" that will judge their actions based on political motives rather than facts. Most of the Officers shot and killed this year were responding to "routine calls" such as Toledo, Ohio Police Officer Anthony Dia who was shot and killed upon arrival to a drunk disturbance call. He broadcasted his last words over the radio "Tell my family that I love them". Officer Dia was only 26 years old and is survived by his wife and two children.

This bill would lead the reader to believe that police officers wake up everyday to harm people in the neighborhoods rather than help them. Over 4th of July week, 7 people were murdered in 7 days in Boston and NONE of them involved the police. This bill was written on emotion and the false narrative that all police officers are bad. During the 89 page Bill, I didn't see the explanation of how the job of a police officer will be easier nor did I see what the police officer is supposed to do during a violent attack. All of the new guidelines and reforms will result in higher crime rates, increased number of officers hurt or killed, low employee retention rates, and mass retirements. Without qualified immunity or due process who would want this job?

I am deeply concerned with the loss of due process with the formulation of this POSA Committee and their ability to revoke an officer's license based on alleged misconduct. In fact, it states that the officer CAN NOT appeal the ruling to civil service but may appeal to the same committee who has already disciplined the officer. What happened to an arbitration process? When I took the police exam, it was administered by civil service. Why should my rights be revoked if we are trying to create a "fair" bill.

I understand creating a Committee for improved training but not for discipline. It seems the goal is to bypass civil service and allow swifter punishment to police officers without due process. Shouldn't police officers be afforded due process just as everyone else. In our adversarial criminal justice system, police officers shouldn't be found guilty until proven innocent nor should they be tried in the court of public opinion. The loss of qualified immunity will also subject police officers to frivolous lawsuits and hurt good police officers while rewarding criminals for bad behavior.

I strongly oppose Senate Bill 2820 and I respectfully request that the House of Representatives draft a new bill based on fairness and facts not based on a knee jerk reaction to fit a progressive agenda. Specifically, I am very concerned about the topics of Qualified Immunity, Due Process, and the POSA Committee. These portions of the bill were rushed and seem to be mostly retributive.

I hope that the House of Reps will consider my testimony. Thank you in advance.

Respectfully,

Patrick Munroe

To the Members of The Massachusetts Congress,

I am writing to urge you to vote down the insane bill S.2800 passed to you by the Senate. This knee jerk reaction to appease a bullying mob cannot be made into law. The hard working men and women wearing a police uniform and risking life and limb can be personally sued? How absurd, that they should also risk their families resources while serving the public. Today, more than ever, our police departments need to be shown our support and be given more resources with which to work , not be put in greater danger of freezing and risking their lives lest they make a mistake. How soon we forget Michael Chesna, the Weymouth officer killed in the line of duty. The thought of this legislation is a slap in the face to the police officers serving us, I can't imagine why anyone would now want to put on the uniform.

My son serves as an officer in the town of Avon, MA. He attended the criminal justice courses at Northeastern University and has dedicated himself to protect and serve. He is married with two young children and works long hours for the Avon Police Department to support his family. This is who a police officer is, this is the face of police departments across the country. To twist this truth and to somehow place blame for the ills of society on the heads of a group of dedicated public servants is disgraceful.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 17, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kevin Mahoney and I live at 210 Patrick Rd. Tewksbury MA 01876. I work at MCI Concord as a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time. Stay safe and stay healthy.

Sincerely,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Policing Bill (S.2820)

Dear Representatives,

I am a proud retired Massachusetts State Trooper. I have had the honor to work alongside state, local and federal law enforcement officials. Police officers because of the nature of the job are routinely placed in highly stressful situations. During these times they may have to make a life or death decision in a matter of seconds. Bill S.2820 would create a law where no matter what action he/she takes a police officer now has to fear not only the the risk to the public, the risk to the officer's life but now the potential loss of his/her home and life savings!

Each time a police officer goes to work they hope and pray to go home to their family after their shift. The police officer's family also, hopes and prays the officer returns safely home after his/her shift! This legislation in watering down or altering qualified immunity for police officers creates the added burden for the officer and his/her family wondering and worrying ok I survived another shift but is today the day I am going to get sued simply for performing my duties! Is today the day my family loses our home and life savings!

No one wants bad cops off the street more than Good cops!! The overwhelming vast majority of police officers do their job honorably and at great risk to their life!

BAD LAWS hurt the Public and Police!!!

I ask the legislature to vote down any change that impacts the qualified immunity provision for police officers! It is in my opinion the very least you owe the honest, hardworking professional police officers who every day risk their lives to protect you and the general public!

Subject: S2800

Dear House of Reps,

I urge you to carefully read Bill S2800 extremely carefully. This Bill was hastily drafted and voted on in the early morning hours without any input from any professionals on the subject matter.

Speaking from a law enforcement perspective with emphasis on qualified immunity this bill will certainly hinder police officers from effectively performing their job. If S2800 is passed, it will be safer for every officer to do the bare minimum on the street when answering calls for service for fear of frivolous lawsuits.

Police Officers, especially officers employed by the the City of Boston have a Body Worn Camera strapped to them every second of their shift. The Boston Police much like many police agencies across the state also have an Anti Corruption as well as an Internal Affairs division in place ensuring that every Officer follows the laws of the commonwealth as well as department policy and procedure. I can assure you if any officer violates the law or policy and procedure they will be answering to the aforementioned bureaus. I write this email with such surety because I am a Boston Police Officer and have been one for the last fourteen years.

I can give you a some insight on how it is being a police officer during these times by saying "We are on our heels." More so now due to the death of George Floyd which was an isolated incident that had NOTHING to do with the highly trained police officers of this commonwealth. We are not the enemy, we have been unfairly painted with a very broad brush which prompted Bill S2800 to be hastily drafted. If S2800 is passed I can assure you that the commonwealth will be in for some very dark times as it empowers criminals and strips police officers of due process and qualified immunity. What will you get for service if S2800 does pass? You will get less than the bare minimum out of police officers. It's safer for them to operate that way and risk discipline within the department than end up on trial themselves. You will also get a max exodus of police officers who will retire and zero officers to fill the attrition. This job will become a "set up" that no one will want to take.

Police work has many variables within an extremely dynamic environment. Please consider that when discussing S2800.

Thank you,

Frank

Subject: Opposition of Bill No S2820

Hello

I am a resident of Newburyport. I am writing to express my disapproval of Bill No. S2820 and my overall dissatisfaction with the defund police movement in general. I've had experience with the Newburyport, Salisbury, Amesbury and Newbury police departments and have nothing but positive things to say about them. I support training officers, I support policy standards and I support the need for all community members to feel safe, but I do not support any effort to defund, decrease or remove options for officers to keep themselves and the community safe. I don't believe police are the criminals. I absolutely do not support any modification to police qualified immunity and fear that modifications to qualified immunity will negatively effect public safety.

Specifically in this area, I'd support housing modifications that would diversify the community, but I don't believe those funds should be reallocated from police budgets. The events surrounding George Floyd's death are tragic however it doesn't mean Newburyport or Massachusetts in general needs to take the same prescriptive reformative steps as Minneapolis, or other states with long standing police / race relations conflicts. You can believe that Black lives matter while supporting police officers and public safety in general, they aren't mutually exclusive.

The tone of this legislation appears to be anti law enforcement - specifically towards police officers.

If you need to have this much oversight to supervise our officers, maybe we need to reform the way their supervisors currently supervise them.

I feel that this legislation was done in haste, focusing on feelings, rather than statistics.

I believe that items being reported should be done as statistics only.

Most of this bill exposes the Officer's private personnel information. This should not happen.

I believe you should leave the NO KNOCK WARRANT alone. A judge should determine when this type of warrant needs to be issued - period.

Officers writing up fellow Officers or intervening with fellow Officers actions - this should be cleared up and solve with current supervisors - possibly with support through HR.

The limited immunity policy currently in place should be left alone. Officers should not be worried about job security, law suits, as well as security for themselves and community members; while being second guessed in real time with every action they take as they perform their jobs.

Re-certification training of 120 hours per 3 year period. No one knows what this training is, or if it will actually help our law enforcement personnel be better Officers out on the street doing their job. Plus, who pays for this? Are we taking Officers off the street & juggling work schedules on an ongoing bases, or are we paying overtime pay for this training? I don't think that the re-certification law for teachers is working out well. Go sit in on a few re-certification programs in the schools in your districts.

I really think that you need more time - with more community input, to put together a police reform law that will be beneficial to our Police Officers, their Supervisors, and the community members they serve each and every day. This type of a bill, really needs to be a win- win relationship. This bill should be aimed at making our law enforcement personnel better police officers.

I live in Amherst MA. - you know, HAPPY VALLEY - the educational mecca of western MA. Several months ago, our town issued a statement that it was getting very difficult to get good qualified applicants to even apply for positions as Police Officers in the Town of Amherst. Recently, our Chief of Police said that it probably was about 40 years ago when one of our Officers even fired their weapon.

Thanks for listening. Good Luck!

My name is Stephanie Toledo. I am a resident of Sharon, MA and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

My interracial family has lived in various communities in Massachusetts and repeatedly over the years and across urban and suburban communities my husband and I have clearly been treated differently by police in the same situations simply as white and not white. I feel for my husbands life as I've seen him too often assumed to be doing wrong by police simply for being a man of color.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,
Stephanie Toledo

Subject: Written Testimony for Police Reform Bill

To whom it may concern,

My name is Michael Aziz and I live in Hyde Park. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety. The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

The Governor and supporters of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Michael Aziz

RE: Bill No. S2820: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just Commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of Color

Hello -

My name is Patty Fisher and I am a resident in Essex County. For 17 years I have proudly served as a Police Officer for the Town of Newbury MA. Currently, I hold the rank of Sergeant. In addition to general patrol supervisory functions, I am a domestic violence/ sexual assault investigator and accreditation manager. Prior to my employment in law enforcement, I worked as a civilian domestic violence advocate assigned to local police departments. I have a bachelor's degree in Criminology and a master's degree in Public Administration.

I am writing to express my strong disapproval of Bill No. S2820 and respectfully request you not support the bill as written.

Qualified Immunity: I have learned through professional experience that defendants of arrest wrongly threaten to file civil suit against officers for lawfully doing our job. One common occurrence involves victims of domestic abuse. It is not uncommon for victims of domestic violence to recant their stories when they return to their abusers. Often, part of their justification, is to 'blame' police for the arrest to avoid violence at the hands of their abuser. Modifying qualified immunity will open a door for perpetrators of domestic violence to file wrongful suits against police. In addition to the hardship this will cause officers and municipalities and the backlog it will create in the civil court docket, this will ultimately negatively impact the safety of victims of abuse and will provide abusers with one more tool to use against the victims. Changing qualified immunity will cause officers to second guess arrest in these "he-said-she-said" investigations and victims of violence will pay the price.

Since the discussion of police reform struck national news, I personally have had a defendant who I did not use force against, threaten to sue me for excessive force, simply because she knew "she'd win". It is my opinion and fear that arrestees who otherwise would not have, should qualified immunity be amended, would then have incentive to engage in physical altercations with police officers simply so they can sue. There is a large list of situations where lawfully doing my job could result in unintended harm or destruction of property: breaking ribs during CPR; breaking a door down because of an overdose and I need to enter the home; restraining a suicidal person as they try to run to their bedroom to consume the pills or get to the counter to grab the butcher knife to slice their wrists. Educated, compassionate, "good" police officers will vacate positions if qualified immunity is modified. If qualified immunity empowers systemic racism, why aren't you looking to remove all immunity doctrines that cover all public officials including executive & legislative branches?

I encourage you to seek guidance from a variety of municipal representatives to inquire about the budgetary impact increased civil litigation would have on municipalities.

Simply stated, educated "good" police officers will immediately vacate our jobs if qualified immunity is modified. It is also my opinion, that the modification of qualified immunity will significantly limit qualified, educated law enforcement candidates in the future.

Suggestion: Rather than change qualified immunity, the Legislation should adopt a uniform statewide standard and ban unlawful uses of force techniques. I also believe discussion can be had about hiring boards and techniques to support and improve minority candidacy in law enforcement both inside and outside of civil service departments.

Training and Accreditation: I believe it is important to have national awareness while being able to compare the national happenings to that of our local experience. Massachusetts police officers are some of the most highly trained and educated officers in the country. That being said, I support all forms of training, especially if it improves my ability to keep the public safe while reducing the need to use force. I also support policy review, so long as law enforcement professionals are viewed as stakeholders and have a role in the process.

Suggestion: Training in the hands of an overtired police officer can result in bad decision making. I suggest the Commonwealth set forth guidelines that limit the number of hours an employee can work. For example, for every 16 hours worked at any job (including for the police department, details or private sector jobs, etc.) said officer must have at least 8 hours off before being allowed to work for the municipality and that outside employment cannot interfere in regularly scheduled shifts for the municipality. I also suggest the Legislation create incentives for departments to become certified or accredited.

Oversight board: As proposed, the oversight board is one sided, biased against law enforcement and is not in line with any of the other 160 regulatory boards across the Commonwealth. Changing the format of the oversight committee suggests a desire to be unfair and impartial toward police officers, thus feeding the narrative that most police officers are "bad" and that departments need to "clean-house". I suggest creating an oversight board that is fair to law enforcement and comprised of law enforcement officers.

As other discussions evolve around police reform, I personally worry about the topic of unarmed civilians absorbing law enforcement responsibilities. I consider myself a hybrid-social worker/ police officer and spent time being a civilian social worker assigned to local police departments. I was not allowed to respond to homes, I was required to meet with victims at the police department or speak with them via telephone. I currently work with many social workers in the community; I am the departments point of contact for the Council on Aging; the liaison to the Essex County Outreach Substance Abuse Program, a partnership with the Pettengill House; and I sit on the Domestic Violence High Risk Team (DVHRT), a nationally recognized model of advocates, law enforcement, prosecutors, probation, corrections and other community based organizations who partner to identify high risk domestic violence cases, engage in a multidisciplinary team approach and monitor and manage high risk offenders while engaging victims in appropriate services. As a police officer who works with civilians in the field, I worry about the idea of civilians responding to calls for service that have not been screened for safety by police officers first. I worry about the safety of the residents, the social workers and the liability to cities and towns for placing such workers in homes of situations that have not been previously screened. These are not programs that can be implemented quickly, or without care and thought. Discussions must involve all stakeholders, and the Senate's passing of this bill unfortunately suggests they do not view law enforcement as a necessary stakeholder.

My disapproval of Bill No. S2820 as written should not be perceived as a lack of interest regarding police reform nor should it be viewed as an opposition to building a more equitable, fair and just Commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of Color. However, I do not believe the bill as written accomplishes those stated goals.

Thank you for your service and your consideration. Please, do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or if I can be of assistance to the reform process. Stay safe.

Respectfully,

Patty Fisher

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear Chairpersons,

My name is David Beals, I'm a newly-promoted Lieutenant for the Middleborough Police Department. I have been a police officer for Middleborough for the past 20+ years with 6+ years experience prior at the Plymouth County Sheriff's Department. I have a total of 26 years in the Plymouth County retirement system. Knowing how many years I have invested, and how many years I have remaining until retirement, will allow you to understand my serious concerns with this reform bill.

The bill, as written, will alter policing forever. It will take away one of the most important aspects of it that protects us from being personally sued for simply doing our jobs. Think about all the good things we do as police officers that can now turn into a personal civil suit simply because someone doesn't like the police or are looking for a payout. The stress that goes with being sued is enormous and a strain on the system, the department, the officer and the officer's family. Qualified immunity doesn't protect the bad police from doing bad things, it protects the hard-working, honest officers from frivolous suits. It will almost certainly dissuade officers from doing anything for fear of being sued.

Do I think things could be better, or maybe some change is necessary? Possibly. Do I also think there are way more good officers than bad apples? Absolutely. I have NEVER heard one officer agree with what happened in Minneapolis. What happened to Mr. Floyd was disgusting and appalling to those of us who love this profession. I do not know any racist police officers and have never seen one of Middleborough's officers act in a racially-motivated way towards any human being. To be thrown into one huge basket because of the actions of a few is simply wrong on a basic human level.

I'm not just a police officer, I'm also a husband and a father. This doesn't just affect us, it affects our loved ones also. My wife was in tears the other day when she heard there's a chance we could lose everything we have now and possibly in the future simply because someone doesn't like police officers. She wants me to retire with what we have even though I'm within reach of retirement in less than six years. I'm not one of those bad apples, I do the right thing, but the thought of what could happen scares me.

In closing, I respectfully request, no, I implore you take a hard look at this bill and all that goes with it. There are some valid points to it but taking away our qualified immunity is not one of them. Please do not let the current climate influence a long-term decision that will affect policing and police officers long after I'm retired. Please do not let this profession be trampled on and become a job rather than a career.

Respectfully,
David Beals Jr. #87

Subject: Police Reform Bill Testimony

Good Morning, my name is Edward Santiago, and I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the House and Senate consider legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments . This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Testimony on S.2820

Dear members of House leadership,

S.2820 does not do much to actually prevent state violence against the Black and Brown community or prevent the flood of Black and Brown people into jails and prisons.

I understand your desire to reform the police, but S.2820 does not actually encourage reformation. S.2820 increases spending on law enforcement, expands the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and makes no real changes to the function of policing in Massachusetts. Actual reform is to take power and responsibilities out of the hands of law enforcement and to use the money in bloated police departments to invest in Black and Brown communities.

Instead of funding for more police training that ultimately does little to change police culture, we could be looking to fund alternatives to the police. Instead of pouring more and more money in an institution that was not built to serve everyone equally, we could be budgeting for social workers that are actually sufficiently trained to deal with a wide range of crises, putting more money to build a new system from the ground up, and preventing crises that come out of inequality and a lack of resources by investing in communities in need. I want to be able to call for help and know that the help will actually make the situation better.

If the MA legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and fighting systemic racism, this bill would have started to eliminate major elements of racist policing. This bill would have implemented a ban without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should decriminalize driving offenses, which are a huge entryway to jails and prisons for Black and Brown people, the poor, and the working class. Instead of making more committees that don't push the envelope, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. Police should also be removed from schools.

Please, instead of S.2820, fight systemic racism by reducing the role and powers of the police, defunding systems of harm and punishment that disproportionately harm people of color, and funding Black and Brown communities.

Thank you,
Kristina Kim Somerville MA

Subject: Bill S.2820 Does Not Do Enough To End Racist Policing

Dear members of House leadership;

S.2820 does almost nothing to prevent state violence against Black people or stop the flow of Black people into jails and prisons.

I believe S.2820 will cause more harm than good by increasing spending on law enforcement through training and training commissions, expanding the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and making no fundamental changes to the function and operation of policing in the Commonwealth. Real change requires that we shrink the power and responsibilities of law enforcement and shift resources from policing into most-impacted communities. The definition of law enforcement must include corrections officers who also enact racist violence on our community members.

Instead of funding for police training and commissions, communities need investments in programs and infrastructure that would improve the quality of life for black and brown people on Massachusetts. For example, investing in schools and after-school programs will help kids receive proper education, which is correlated to reduced crime rates. One way to achieve this investment would be to remove property tax as a consideration in school funding formulas; the system that is currently in place severely hinders the quality of education that members of black and brown communities receive because these areas often have much lower property taxes. In order to then invest more in school, you must re-allocate money from the police budget, and one place to take money from would be the overtime budget. As it stands, police officers abuse the overtime system to nearly double their salary. There is currently no accountability for this because the police unions are responsible for investigating these fraudulent overtime claims, and those unions will have bias. Cutting the overtime budget will help prevent the police departments from leeching public funding in a way that significantly decreases the resources available to black and brown communities.

If the Massachusetts legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and addressing systemic racism, this bill would eliminate cornerstones of racist policing including implementing a ban without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should decriminalize driving offenses which are a major gateway into the criminal legal system for Black and Brown people and poor and working class people. Rather than limiting legislation to moderate reforms and data collection, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. I also support student-led efforts to remove police from schools.

The way forward is to shrink the role and powers of police, fund Black and Brown communities, and defund the systems of harm and punishment which have failed to bring people of color safety and wellbeing. S.2820 does not help us get there.

Thank you,

Clayton Arroco

Subject: Officer

Dear Chair Michlewicz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Katherine Pickowicz and I live at 25 Wason Ave, Nashua NH. I work at Suffolk County House of Corrections and I am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820.

This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill (2820) was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm in a life or death / public safety situation. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools, the amount of injuries and deaths would without doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon, is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony, where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? These are the things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officer's are some of the best and well-trained Officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the Men and Women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the Police Officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I am asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank-You for your time.

Sincerely,

Katherine Pickowicz

Subject: Do not pass S.2800.

My name is Joseph Burke and I live In the city of Boston. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Respectfully,

Subject: Reform Bill

Dear Representatives

My name is Stephen McKunes and I live in your district at 1 Milton Street, Dorchester and I am a huge fan of those who protect and serve our community. As you consider legislation that affects police officers and their safety, and thus the safety of our entire community, please understand that protection and preservation of due process and qualified immunity are non-negotiable and must be defended. Failure to protect both will undoubtedly put all public employees in harm's way while drastically and negatively impacting public safety for us all.

WHY DUE PROCESS MATTERS- Any legislation must allow fair and equitable due process under the Law. Currently, when an officer is disciplined, he/she is entitled to due process and an appeal process with the employer. A new outside board (like the POSA Committee) should allow this process to complete before instituting a review. This will not only maintain fairness, but will allow the new Committee to have a full record and make determinations after a thorough and neutral process has been undertaken. Other public employees such as teachers go through a similar process; police officers deserve the same respect and rights.

WHY QUALIFIED IMMUNITY MATTERS - Qualified immunity does NOT protect bad officers who knowingly violate the rights of members of the community. It's worth saying again. It does not protect bad cops. Instead, it protects good officers who play by and follow the rules. The doctrine allows lawsuits to proceed if a government official (not just a police officer) had fair notice that his or her conduct was unlawful, but acted anyway. The standard is objective reasonableness. By abolishing or changing qualified immunity as it exists today, police officers will not know what is lawful or not. This creates hesitancy and uncertainty in how they perform their duties. This is UNSAFE for all communities.

In closing, we are NOT Minneapolis. So, changing due process or qualified immunity in Massachusetts, which would affect police officers only in Massachusetts, would only serve to punish the men and women in blue for something that happened 1000 miles away. Instead of penalizing and scapegoating, we should be celebrating and promoting the fact that our police officers, some of the best in the nation, are impressive examples of how policing should be done.

Sincerely,

Stephen McKunes

Subject: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Good morning,

I write to you this morning to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Robert Kent and I live in Lynnfield and the I work at MCI Concord and I am a Sergeant . As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Robert Kent

Subject: Pass SB.2800, Reform, Shift, Build Act

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Michelle Reeves. I am a resident of Lynn and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety. Paragraph 2: INSERT WHY YOU SUPPORT THIS BILL in 2-4 Sentences or Personal Story/Values.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Michelle Reeves

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Senate Bill 2800

Dear Committee Members,

I am deeply concerned about my future as a police officer and my ability to help and serve my community. If you take away Qualified Immunity and my collective bargaining rights, then how do I defend myself against false accusations and attacks when I am doing my job according to the law and my department policies? Where is my protection? I am concerned we will not have anyone willing to do this job, (at least qualified individuals), if you pass this bill? I have done this job for close to twenty years and now as a sergeant I am thinking of leaving, because I feel unwanted. Or the last several years there has been a sharp decrease in the number of applicants applying to be police officers, which is making it difficult to find qualified individuals to find vacancies. I would challenge each lawmaker to take a moment and go for a ride along with your local law enforcement officer and see what they encounter during their shift, and then ask yourself if you are doing the right thing for the public and law enforcement with this reform bill.

The murder of George Floyd was horrible and I hate the fact that I now have to try ten times hard to gain the public's trust because of a piece of shit killed someone they were responsible for. I know we can do better, what we need is more money for training, better pay to attract better qualified individuals, and body cameras to prove what is really going on.

Also I am concerned that people do not see all the officers who have been killed. I bet you don't know how many police officers have been killed since Mr. Floyd's death. Well I will tell you there have been twelve and here are their names Officer Jonathan Shoop July 13th WA, Officer Edelmiro Garza Jr Tx, Officer Ismael Chavez Tx, Officer Anthony Dia, OH, Sgt Craig Johnson OK, Officer Julian Keen Jr FL, Deputy Sheriff James Blair MS, Sgt Damon Gutzwiller CA, Lt Stephen Williams AL, Officer Waldis Johnson MI, Officer Nathan Lyday UT, and Officer Cody Holte ND, that is twelve officers killed since May 25th of this year by gunfire, and a total of 30 have been killed since January of this year, that is more than 4 a month shot and killed. I asked you who are more likely to be killed. How about we asked Sgt Chensa who was hit in the head with a rock and knocked unconscious, then killed with his own gun along with an innocent bystander. How quickly you forget about these incidents and when focusing on reform without listening to both sides. We are human beings and are asked to make split second decisions, knowing someone in an office is going to pick apart that decision with the luxury of time and ability to research all aspects of the situation.

It has been tough our profession is sort of a love hate one, your body creates the laws and then asks us to enforce them, however that has consequences for us. We have people who are trying to kill us and assault us everyday and then we are getting attacked by our elected officials and others. We rushed into danger, we worked through Covid, Boston Marathon Bombing, and protests with people throwing urine on us, bricks, and fire bombs. But we still show up everyday trying to help and we keep on being beat down by everyone and if this continues how do you expect us to continue showing up knowing no one wants you. I think you need to think about that, I go out every shift with the goal to build a rapport with the community I serve, please do not make my job harder.

Remember key is more training and better training, because towns and cities need more funding to provide this additional training, which will in turn provide the community with a better officer to patrol our streets. Better pay to attract those better qualified officers. I also want body cameras because I believe they provide a true view of what is going on at a scene and eliminates false accusations as well as a clearer picture to the courts of what actually happened.

Please think about both sides before acting on this bill, all I am asking is for a fair reform bill that protects me and the citizens who we serve. I want to thank you for your time and hope some read this because every officer I work with is hurting and just want people to know we care.

Sincerely,

Douglas Morgan

Subject: QI Bill

To whom it may concern,

My name is Kayla Leger. I am currently a full time police officer in the state of Massachusetts. I am a single mom of seven year old son. I decided to become a police officer 4 years ago so I could help people. I chose a profession where I could possibly not come home from. I chose a profession where I knew I would never have a consistent schedule, lose out on hours of sleep, and miss out on holidays and major events. I chose this because it's important to me that there are people who will sacrifice everything to save someone else. That is what all law enforcement officers know when deciding to do this job.

The bill recently passed by legislatures and that will be moving to the house next is not at all thought out in consideration of the men and women who qualified immunity protects or the citizens of Massachusetts.

Qualified immunity was provided for the covered government officials to effectively do their job.

Police are faced with dealing with a large range of calls every single day. During those days and nights they know they may face an individual who is a danger to them and/or the general public. As an officer we are paid to protect the public but sometimes that takes more than just giving commands to stop an individual. By retracting qualified immunity, the state of Massachusetts is saying they would rather an officer have to think; should I Act and stop that criminal or avoid it to avoid being sued or losing my career. This second thought could be the difference between life and death for that officer or the citizens of this state. In a high intensity situation, there is no room for hesitation or second thoughts. Of course when I use this example, I am speaking about justified actions based on the circumstances.

Although this will greatly effect how police do their jobs to protect the citizens it also affects other professions such as firefighters, EMTs, teachers etc. and how they do their jobs. Jobs that are needed to help this state stay safe and progress. These are not easy jobs. This immunity that was once granted protected us "government officials" who were acting in good faith to help our communities.

By passing this bill, you are risking the safety and lives of these workers and the citizens of Massachusetts. We should not have to be a worry that doing your job to the best of your ability still could get you sued and potentially lose your career. This bill will also financially impact municipalities greatly in ways that could potentially send us into a greater Dept than we already face.

There are many factors that should be considered before passing this bill to please a small portion of people who are upset. I ask that you greatly consider the repercussions that could happen if this bill is passed which may include a large number of government officials such as police, fire, teachers walking away from their jobs which will result in the public having a lack of resources they need.

Sincerely,
Kayla Leger

Subject: Police reform bill

To the Legislators of Massachusetts.

Why is it that this bill was passed in the middle of the night? Was it due to the fact that you need to do it under the cover of night because you know what you are doing is WRONG!

Our police in the commonwealth of Massachusetts, from the State Police, city and town Police, sheriffs departments are out there every day keeping law and order within our state of Massachusetts. One of the reasons that our state capital and my home town Of Boston is one of the safest cities in our country is because of our Police who are out on the streets day in and day out, in our neighborhoods, getting to know our kids, keeping an eye on those they know are trouble makers, and our gang unit is one of the best! Do you want us to become like Chicago, New York, or other cities that have high crime rate gang violence and murders? I think not! You are bending to the pressures of one special interest group that has an agenda, that is trying to create anarchy within our country. Please take a stand against this, please stand behind our police officers.

Here's a quick story, when my daughter was just 8 weeks old she stopped breathing, I was on the phone with 911 my husband had our precious daughter trying to get her to breathe, it was a police officer who was the first on the scene. It was a police officer that was able to get her breathing again, he was there precious minutes before EMS, he cried with us when she started to cry. It is because of this officer that she is now a beautiful young lady.

Another example is when my kids where in elementary school, the fourth graders names where put in a bucket and four from every elementary school here in Weymouth Ma were given the opportunity to participate in Weymouth Junior Police Academy. It was a week long program where they where taught and shown what police due from a staged car accident, an armed robbery, and even a drug bust in Boston Harbor . It was one of the best experiences that my son has ever had. Our police volunteer their time to be camp counselors better known as drill instructors. It is a positive experience for our children.

We also had a police officer here that was the head of the DARE program, back when we put money into trying to keep children off of drugs as it is far easier to keep them from ever trying drugs than it is to get them off of drugs. Our DARE Officer, Officer Bowman was this amazing guy, who took the program to heart and lived the program. He stopped having the occasional drink, smoking as he knew that it took more than words, that you had to lead by example and that was what he did! The biggest lesson he taught these kids was Respect, for themselves, parents, police teachers, etc. when he saw one of the children he would say, " whats the word?" And they would immediately say a Respect sir! We lost this program due to cuts in the police budget about fifteen years ago. I wrote a letter then also stating my concerns, that we where being penny wise and pound foolish as if this program saved one child it was worth the cost. We now have an epidemic, An epidemic that is taking a whole generation, a drug epidemic and I cannot help but wonder if it is partially because we cut out the DARE program in Massachusetts. We put money first.

Let's not cave because of a group , because of a special interest group, that is crying for police defunding. We need our police. We cannot afford not to have our police and to have them well trained with the skills and equipment not to only keep themselves safe but to keep us, the tax payers, the citizens of Massachusetts. You forget that you work for ALL of us, not just one special interest group! Since this whole nightmare has begun we have seen an uprise in our violent crimes and murders, and I cannot help but think it is because our police have been demonized, that they are now second guessing Every move they make. That those that are looking to create anarchy, rioting, terrorizing our elderly, making our streets unsafe to walk down, are snickering at the fact that politicians, legislators are caving to the pressure created by this group, I plead with you not to let this happen here ,in our great state of Massachusetts where ,without our police not only fully funded but also FULLY BACKED BY OUR LEADERS, we will not be able to live here.

Let us not forget those who wore the blue, who gave the ultimate sacrifice

Let's not forget that when the Boston Marathon Bombing happened it was our Police Officers who ran into danger, who hunted down those who did that evil, and we swore WE WOULD NEVER FORGET! Have you forgotten? Let us not forget those families that lost a loved one while they where protecting us.

Subject: Testimony against S2820

To: Chair Aaron Michlewitz
Chari Claire Cronin

From: Anthony J. Nigro
1 Crestview Ave. Medway, Ma.

I am writing you on behalf of the good men and women in law enforcement in Massachusetts, some 18,000 plus strong. I am a Police Officer of 11 years. I am a father of four. An Eagle Scout who holds the notion of integrity with high regard, and I am a constituent of yours. The hasty and sly passing of Bill S-2820 in the early morning hours of Tuesday July 14th, without any public forum or opinion, and without hearing any testimony by the thousands of individuals, unions and associations who phoned and emailed their concerns shows just how dangerous the ramifications of passing this bill will be. The long term affects on the good state of Massachusetts will be devastating, and we the Police, and the community, do not deserve what is coming.

Robert Peele said "The Police are the public, and the public are the Police". He said this with reason. Police, being part of the community work upon Peele's nine basic principals:

"The basic mission for which police exist is to prevent crime and disorder".

"The ability of the police to perform their duties is dependent upon public approval of police actions".

"Police must secure the willing cooperation of the public in voluntary observance of the law to be able to secure and maintain the respect of the public".

"The degree of cooperation of the public that can be secured diminishes proportionately to the necessity of the use of physical force".

"Police seek and preserve public favor not by catering to the public opinion but by constantly demonstrating absolute impartial service to the law".

"Police use physical force to the extent necessary to secure observance of the law or to restore order only when the exercise of persuasion, advice and warning is found to be insufficient".

"Police, at all times, should maintain a relationship with the public that gives reality to the historic tradition that the police are the public and the public are the police; the police being only members of the public who are paid to give full time attention to duties which are incumbent on every citizen in the interests of community welfare and existence".

"Police should always direct their action strictly towards their functions and never appear to usurp the powers of the judiciary."

"The test of police efficiency is the absence of crime and disorder, not the visible evidence of police action in dealing with it".

These nine principals were written in London in 1829, and still hold true to this very day. With the passing of S-2820 we will be losing every bit of these basic principals which have stood steadfast for nearly 200 years. Robert Peele is the founder of modern day policing, and a memorial figure of he stands proudly in front of the police station where I work.

That being said, Massachusetts may be considered a leader in Law Enforcement. We have some of the longest training academies nationwide, the most educated Officers and command staff, the most up to date inservice training and continuing education and curriculum, and the highest recruiting and hiring standards arguable nationwide. During the six month police academy, Officers are taught a variety of skills only then to graduate and continue their learning with field training officers for another three to four months, and continue learning throughout their careers.

The actions of isolated incidents by the very few officers across the country do not reflect the pride and integrity of those very 18,000+ men and women in blue who serve Massachusetts. Those who do tarnish the badge in the commonwealth, are removed from the ranks, and through due process, no longer serve in Law Enforcement. Although it can be said there may be isolated incidents of racism across the country, we are not seeing a grotesque example of incidents involving people of color and the police as we are being told by our politicians and media sources. In fact, based upon UCR statistics the Washington Post found that Police Officers use of force and deadly force statistics do not show any signs of racism or higher impact upon those of color by Officers across the country. Unfortunately, what we are seeing is the need to meet an agenda by political activists and politicians who are influencing our legislators.

I have concerns with bill S-2820 in that it was written with haste and emotion, and political motivations in mind. Quite frankly I am disgusted with the negligence of our senate members in the passing of this bill. Bare in mind, that the passing of this bill will be permanent, and come with immediate, and long term effects on this state.

Removing the right of due process for police officers and public employees is denying someone of their constitutional rights, the basis of our entire legal system revolves around due process of law. Due process is one of the inherent checks and balances built into our constitution.

The issue of Qualified Immunity is one of most concern. Currently, it does not protect the actions of bad Police Officers in the State of Massachusetts. If an Officer violates written policy, or the law, he/she is subject to retraining, suspension, removal, monetary fines or criminal procedure. Qualified Immunity is not in place as a catch all to protect ALL Police Officers from their actions. It does not protect Officers from their illegal actions. What Qualified Immunity does, is serves a need to "protect officials who are required to exercise discretion and the related public interest in encouraging the vigorous exercise of official authority". This protects us from civil process if we as police are functioning within the color of law and our policies. Without this protection, we will be limiting or eliminating discretion in policing. In the 1982 case of Harlow vs. Fitzgerald, the United States Supreme Court ruled that Qualified Immunity must exist for this very reason. Along with Police Officers, this case also identified judges, government officials, and prosecutors as being protected for their decisions and actions.

With the removal of Qualified Immunity, we will swiftly begin to see cities and towns in Massachusetts become bankrupt with frivolous civil cases. With the passing of S-2820, the standards under which civil action may be brought against a public official will be dramatically lowered. Lawsuits against public officials and municipalities will increase exponentially. This will affect ALL Massachusetts citizens, courts, and public officials, not just Police Officers.

Along with the current state, city and town budget constraints due to COVID-19, this will be just another kick to the ribs for municipal budgets. Once these lawsuits begin piling in, we will begin to see town budgets cut, police budgets affected, fire stations closed, and school budgets drastically affected by these, arguably preventable, frivolous lawsuits.

With qualified immunity gone, an Officer will begin to ask him/herself "is this job worth it?". Is it worth coming to work, doing the right thing day in and day out, only to be sued or lose my job because of an allegation of wrongdoing? Is it worth being sued, because I broke the ribs of a 23 year old girl doing CPR after I administered NARCAN because her parents found her unresponsive from a heroin overdose, and although I saved her life, I broke her ribs and she can sue me? Is it worth trying to seek, locate, intercept and stop that drug dealer from selling his product on the streets, before it gets into the hands of our children? Or will I be sued for an event during the apprehension, search of, and seizure of evidence from that drug deal? You have to ask yourself, Why are we taking the handcuffs off of the criminals and placing them on the police? `

Already, we are seeing good cops leave the job, entertain other career opportunities, or put in for early retirement. We are seeing the next generation of police officers being told not to bother applying, or have ambition to become a police officer because without the protections of due process and qualified immunity, this job just won't be worth it. Of those 18,000 plus Police Officers in this state, we will already be losing many to COVID-19 budget constraints, or not replacing those who retire because of the impacts of the pandemic. With the passing of the language in S-2820, I can assure you we will never see a police force in this state as strong as 18,000 and likely no greater than 15,000.

Also within this legislation is a proposal to develop a committee to review police officers use of force, bias crimes, and specific police incidents. I do agree this is needed, but what is needed is trained and experienced individuals who have worked the job to review and judge those incidents. This is not bias to protect Police Officers, this is part of due process and impartial policing, and just another form of checks and balances. Do we ask a group of civilians with no medical training to review how a Doctor may have failed? Or do we compile a symposium of the best doctors around to judge those incidents. Does it make sense to have a group of non trained persons inspect an airplane after a mechanical malfunction or crash? Or do we ask that qualified officials with experience in piloting and mechanics evaluate and inspect the aircraft. This holds true with policing and law enforcement as well. A well trained and experienced committee can perform this function.

I am writhing this letter, asking that you consider the amendments and language in S-2820 be reconsidered. If the bill is passed through the house with the removal of Qualified Immunity, you can rest assured the great State of Massachusetts will be in for a rude awakening. Less Police, less if any proactive policing, more criminals will run rampant and free, more crime will occur, more lives will be lost. These lives fall on our legislators. These lives do not need to be lost. This can be prevented. Look at Chicago, Atlanta, Seattle, Baltimore and several other cities where violence has overtaken law and order. We do not want to add Boston, Worcester, Springfield, or any other city or town from Massachusetts to that list.

Respectfully Submitted,

Anthony J. Nigro

Subject: Bill S2820

Dear Representatives

My name is Robert M. Zingg and I live at 44 Fisher St. Westwood, Ma. . I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Robert M. Zingg

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Martine LaverdureFrom: Daniel <dpenn380@gmail.com>

Subject: SB 2820

To whom it may concern,

I want to thank you for taking the time to listen to both myself and the rest of your constituents. I have been a resident of the City of Worcester for six years now, and I have been a Police Officer in the city for the same amount of time. One of the reasons I chose to move to this city was because I saw the positive vision that both city officials and state officials, such as yourself, had for this city, and I can say over the past six years the city has come leaps and bounds from where it was: we have a growing economy, we are soon to have a beautiful new stadium, and as of May this year, crime had been on a drastic decline in the city, specifically pertaining to violent crime. But most recently, the crime in the city has been on an incline. I can say from firsthand perspective, the violent crime in the City of Worcester, specifically pertaining to gun violence, is extremely worrisome. The uptick in shootings and gun homicides over the course of three weeks here in the city is extremely disheartening and concerning to me as both a police officer and a resident of this city.

Both my wife and I work in the public sector and the current bill that has been brought forward has a negative impact on the both of us. We here in Massachusetts have always prided ourselves on the strong unions we have, the fair wages we pay our public employees, and the extremely low crime rate across this state that we see, as compared to other states. But the reason we have all of the things is because of what is in place to help and protect those public servants; those protections are things such as Qualified Immunity, Collective Bargaining, and Due Process.

Qualified Immunity is something that has been proven and supported time and time again by case law in this country from the highest level of judgement, The United States Supreme Court. Qualified Immunity does not protect bad cops, it protects good cops doing good things for the right reasons and for the betterment of the public. If we take away or change qualified immunity here in the city we will have Police Officers scared to arrest a violent criminal in fear of losing their home, we will have firefighters scared to do CPR on a dying patient in fear of losing their home, and we will have teachers afraid to reprimand a child in fear of losing their house. Is that the kind of city and state we want to live in? I can confidently say no for my wife and me.

Due process is a basic right we have here in this state for public employees. It is the same right that is given to criminals convicted of murder, rape, assault and any other crime. But we want to move forward and take that same right away from the public employees that go out everyday to try and make the world a better place live?

One of the reasons we have such good police officers, teachers, firefighters, and many other public service employees is because of Collective Bargaining. Here in Massachusetts, unlike many other states, we pride ourselves on the fact that our public employees work for fair wages, in a safe setting, with good benefits that drive good hardworking intelligent people into the public sector. If we are to take away collective bargaining here in Massachusetts, not only are we telling the employees in those fields that we do not care about them, but we are telling the general public as a whole we do not care about them. If we have uneducated, poorly paid police officers, we don't have good police officers, resulting in climbing crime rates. If we have uneducated poorly paid teachers, we don't have good teachers, resulting in poor education for the children that are our future. Is that the legacy we want to leave?

I am not saying changes don't need to be made, changes always need to be made. In my belief, the backbone of this country is our ability to change, adapt, and move forward and make this country, state, and city a better place to live. But is taking the protection, ability to fight for fair wages, and the ability to fight for ourselves and defend ourselves, especially when wrongfully accused of something, making this state a better place to live? I am going to have to say no.

7 months ago I married my wife in what was one of the happiest days of my life. Much of the conversations in our household over the course of the past 7 months pertained to starting a family, something both my wife and I have wanted for so long. We spoke about having children, buying our forever home, and raising our kids to be good people. But over the course of the past several weeks the discussion has changed to is: Is Massachusetts the right place for us to live and raise a family? That is something that hurts; our family all lives here in Massachusetts and we want our children to be close to grandparents, aunts, uncles, and extended family, as both my wife and I had the privilege of having growing up. But with this bill, specifically these three topics I speak of, my wife and I don't think Massachusetts will be the right place to raise a family, and we have both agreed that it would be time to move out of the state if this does go forward. So I am asking you as a public servant, as a constituent, and as a hardworking member of society, please vote no on these 3 items I have spoken of.

Thank you for taking the time to listen to me. I can be reached at 508-237-8693 and would love to hear from you to have some dialogue.

Thank you

Subject: Public Testimony on S.2800 to the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees

Dear Chair Cronin, Chair Michlewitz, Vice Chair Day, and Vice Chair Garlick,

I am writing to request your consideration to expand the existing expungement law (MGL Ch 276, Section 100E) as the House takes up S.2800 to address Racial Justice and Police Accountability. S.2800 includes this expansion and we hope you will consider it as it directly relates to the harm done by over-policing in communities of color and the over-representation of young people of color in the criminal legal system.

Our criminal justice system is not immune to structural racism and we join you and all members in the great work needed to set things right. The unfortunate reality is that people of color are far more likely to be subjected to stop and frisk and more likely to get arrested for the same crimes committed by whites. Black youth are three times more likely to get arrested than their white peers and Black residents are six times more likely to go to jail in Massachusetts. Other systems where people of color experience racism are exacerbated, and in many ways legitimized, by the presence of a criminal record. Criminal records are meant to be a tool for public safety but they're more often used as a tool to hold communities of color back from their full economic potential. Expungement can be an important tool to rectify the documented systemic racism at every point of a young person's journey through and past our justice system.

We also know that young adults have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, but that drops as they grow older and mature. The law, however, does not allow for anyone who recidivates but eventually desists from reoffending to benefit. Young people's circumstances and cases are unique and the law aptly gives the court the discretion to approve expungement petitions on a case by case basis, yet the law also categorically disqualifies over 150 charges. We also know that anyone who is innocent of a crime should not have a record, but the current law doesn't distinguish between a dismissal and a conviction. It's for these three main reasons we write to you to champion these clarifications and now is the time to do it.

Since the overwhelming number of young people who become involved with the criminal justice system as an adolescent or young adult do so due to a variety of circumstances and since the overwhelming number of those young people grow up and move on with their lives, we are hoping to make clarifying changes to the law. We respectfully ask the law be clarified to:

* Allow for recidivism by removing the limit to a single charge or incident. Some young people may need multiple chances to exit the criminal justice system and the overwhelming majority do and pose no risk to public safety.

* Distinguish between dismissals and convictions because many young people get arrested and face charges that get dismissed. Those young people are innocent of crimes and they should not have a record to follow them forever.

* Remove certain restrictions from the 150+ list of charges and allow for the court to do the work the law charges them to do on a case by case basis especially if the case is dismissed or the young person is otherwise found "not guilty."

Refining the law will adequately achieve the desired outcome from 2018: to reduce recidivism, to remove barriers to employment, education, and housing; and to allow people of color who are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system and who disproportionately experience the collateral consequences of a criminal record the opportunity to move on with their lives and contribute in powerfully positive ways to the Commonwealth and the communities they live, work and raise families in. Within a system riddled with racial disparities, the final step in the process is to allow for as many people as possible who pose no risk to public safety and who are passionate to pursue a positive future, to achieve that full potential here in Massachusetts or anywhere.

Thank you for your consideration,

Michael Leonard

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

I am writing to speak out against the sweeping "act to reform police standards" bill before you today. While I am sure that some standards and training for police officers and others in law enforcement could use improvement, I feel that much in this bill may ultimately harm public safety in the Commonwealth. If I am correct, this bill would also call for abolishing "qualified immunity" for not only police officers but nurses, EMTs, firefighters and the like. I don't believe that those in these positions would be able to afford the insurance necessary to protect themselves and their families should the need arise.

While I believe the so-called "choke hold" is not appropriate, you should not be tying the hands of our police officers with strong restrictions on the use of things like tear gas and rubber bullets, especially when our law-enforcement is sometimes faced with violent rioters and looters. I urge you to review this bill and edit it while keeping in mind the safety and rights of ALL people because truly, ALL lives DO matter!

Subject: Senate Bill 2820 - Please Read

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Justin Banks and I live in Raynham, Massachusetts. I work at MCI-Norfolk and I am a Corrections Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to law enforcement officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

What many politicians that vote on police reform need to consider is how inherently dangerous the job is and the sacrifices that we and our families make for the betterment of society. Traditionally a common argument arises, we chose this line of work. This is true, we chose to dedicate our lives to public service and protecting the public, many of us could have pursued more lucrative private sector careers, but, instead of focusing on ourselves we turned our focus on the community as a whole. Law Enforcement Officers all take this dedication seriously, our goals and focus is outward, we work during the day so members of the public can safely leave their homes without fear that they could be ambushed in the streets or have their home broken into while they work, we work during the evening to ensure that people can safely enjoy the nightlife and patronize bars and restaurants safely without being victimized by predatory individuals, we work nights while the majority of the commonwealth sleeps knowing that they need not worry about staying up each night to protect their home and families, we work weekends and holidays instead of being with our family and loved ones so that society can enjoy their family and loved ones each holiday safely. Each day, each shift and hour we work to provide safety to the people of Massachusetts we put our lives on the line, the threat is real as criminals become increasingly embolden to do whatever it takes whether it be seriously assaulting an officer as seen in January of this year at Souza-Baranowski in which officers were brutally attacked by a large group of convicted violent felons, or even worse committing murder as Sergeant Michael Chesna was brutally killed while serving this Commonwealth. We made this choice to put everything on the line in the name of public service yes, but, did criminals not also make a choice to victimize the public we serve? Criminals' goals are inherently selfish and only focused on themselves and lack the compassion for those whom they victimize. They make the choice to violate society's rule of law to achieve their goals. Yet as of late many of these reforms seem to be focused on the criminal themselves rather than the victim. Every time that the legislature or politician addresses reforms that focus on the improvement of the criminals' experience in the justice system, they are re-victimizing the arguably most vulnerable citizens. Granted I will admit that there should be focus on reforming individuals, but, what often these bills fail to account for is those who are manipulative and are intent on doing harm to others. Criminals are not the victims, there is so much opportunity in the commonwealth on the streets and even in the justice system. Do not fall victim to the clever words, high paid attorneys and fabricated arguments equating our justice system to something inhumane.

While I am considered a rookie by corrections standards, I have studied criminal justice long before I proudly took the oath. I'm one of those officers who will likely leave the job and no longer pursue law enforcement if pro-criminal legislation like this passed without regard for the brave men and woman who serve Massachusetts. I found that in my almost two years on the job how different prison is working in one versus what you are told by academia, the media or by advocacy groups. We as corrections officers do not carry weapons into the facility, we often work blocks by ourselves inhabited by 60-85 convicted violent felons. What makes this possible is the great men and woman I have the pleasure of working alongside of. Us Corrections Officers make up every demographic there is, but we all wear the same uniform. We do not show up to work hoping to abuse or fight inmates, we show up to work instead hoping that we get to leave safely to go home to our families and loved ones. I would ask that before decisions are made on our behalf, or words of condemnation are said about us you take the time to walk a day in our boots. I can attest that inmates treat us very differently once outsiders are not around to hear or see their words & actions. Often what is said mirrors what outsiders want to hear, their narrative often changes to fit the situation as they have nothing to lose, if the narrative fails on one person they will move onto the next. Meanwhile reforms like these disrupt the safe orderly running of our correctional institutions, they place a greater burden on staff putting them in harms way as inmates become more and more emboldened by support of politicians. Unfortunately, with the reforms such as those proposed, the tools that the department has to safely control these emboldened dangerous individuals are lessened. This takes a toll on staff and to make things worse. It is seldom talked about even though suicide and alcohol abuse remain disproportionately high among all men & woman of law enforcement.

Some points that I believe need to be addressed are :

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I will leave you with this final thought, I vote, my brother / sister officers vote, victims of crimes vote, our families vote, our friends vote, our communities vote. Do not mistake our silent professionalism for a second, we will vote and hold politicians accountable that do not properly represent us and pass legislation that makes our communities less safe.

Respectfully

Subject: Pass SB.2800, Reform, Shift, Build Act

?Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz and Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Andrea Kennedy. I am a resident of Brighton and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum that Massachusetts can do to help protect its citizens of color from police violence and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment. These are all valuable, vital reforms, and I appreciate that the legislature is moving with urgency to enact them.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet its demands.

Thank you for your consideration of this request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Andrea Kennedy

Subject: Bill S2820 testimony.

To the Chairs Michelewitz and Cronin and to whom it may concern,

I recently completed reading the entire senate bill Number S2820. While overall the bill is well intentioned and does well in meeting those intentions, I have several recommendations to add to this. My first recommendation, although likely unrealistic, is to postpone a vote and separate this bill into multiple smaller bills, so that each portion can be given its due consideration, with the consultation of subject matter experts in both Law Enforcement and the minority communities. I strongly believe that the speed at which the General Court is trying to pass this bill could lead to oversight, a lack of foresight as to unintended outcomes, and could end up being detrimental to the criminal justice system in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

That said, below you will find 13 recommendations and changes that I highly encourage the General Court to incorporate into the bill:

- 1) The makeup of the Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee should have more police representation. I suggest adding 1 representative from a college police department, and 1 representative from a small police department made up of mostly reserve officers, preferably from western Mass. Whereas the United States Supreme Court standard for use of force is "objective reasonableness" through the eyes of a police officer with similar training and experience, and the Committee will investigate complaints against police officers to include use of force complaints, there should be more abundant and diverse representation of law enforcement officers for wider perspective. Alternatively, the House could add one or two additional police officers from the Massachusetts Association of Minority Law Enforcement Officers.

2) SECTION 6. Section 225 (a)- line 470. Move "failing to intercede to prevent the use of unreasonable force" to section B under "may revoke". There are too many variables involved with this, and not enough due process. As the legislation stands, it's too easy to sustain a complaint of failing to act against an officer who was present, but did not in fact witness the abuse. Some physical abuses (extra punches, choking, etc) could be very easy to conceal at certain angles. Additionally, the physiological reaction of "tunnel vision" during a confrontation may limit the field of view of an officer, limiting what that officer saw or can recall. Alternatively, and preferably, change the standard of proof for misconduct from "preponderance of evidence" to "beyond reasonable doubt".

3) SECTION 7. Section 255 (f). Line 508. Strike "preponderance of evidence" and replace with "beyond reasonable doubt" or another higher standard of proof. Although police reform is needed, Massachusetts has done a good job regarding police misconduct to date. Do not rush to take away due process. Limiting due process will leave good officers feeling that even when they do good by the law and policy, they may still be held liable or an unfounded complaint may be sustained in an adverse political climate. This will greatly affect the quality of policework, and could affect the quality of police recruit applicants, who will go to other states and border towns where they feel they can do an honest day's work without fearing an unsubstantiated lawsuit. We all have to be cognizant of the line where police reform can go from having beneficial effects on the Commonwealth to detrimental effects on the Commonwealth.

4) SECTION 9. Chapter 12. Section 11H ½ (a) (i). Lines 531-532. Add the word "illegally" between "that" and "deprives". To read "conduct by a law enforcement officer that illegally deprives persons of rights secured by the constitution or laws of the United States or the constitution of the Commonwealth". Police officers can legally deprive an individual of certain rights in certain circumstances, such as a lawful arrest or a lawful search and seizure. A violation of this subsection, where the Attorney General may bring a civil action, but only be for an illegal violation of constitutional rights. The law must reflect this reality, otherwise good officers will be at risk of lawsuit even when the action they took was legal.

5) SECTION 9. Chapter 12. Section 11H ½ (B) & (C). A lawsuit brought by the AG must be limited to only the most obvious of violations. A reasonable officer working within the confines of their training and law the law must retain immunity.

6) SECTION 10. This is an incredibly dangerous section. It should be amended and deleted all together. Or simplified to explicitly limit frivolous lawsuits brought against police officers. This section should be limited to only if the AG found reasonable cause to bring a lawsuit. If a police officer is acting within their scope of training and policy, they should retain all qualified immunity. Use of excessive force, as determined by Graham v. Connor, shall be the standard for all use of force incidents, and as long as officers maintain "objective reasonableness" Qualified Immunity must stay intact.

7) Eliminate all verbiage that precludes the officers from appealing Civil Service. For the sake of quality policing, officers need to maintain due process, especially when there are allegations of misconduct. The redundancy of appeals ensures biases can be put aside, and officers can receive a fair hearing.

8) SECTION 48. Section 98H. This is a double standard and should be eliminated.

9) SECTION 49. Eliminate the restrictions on gang affiliation for high school students, or high school students age 16 and older. Also, exempt these restrictions for active criminal investigations. OR, explicitly state that "this information shall not be provided, except by warrant issued by a judge or magistrate".

10) SECTION 52 (D) (3). Eliminate this section. Alternatively, in line 1181 strike "shall" and replace with "may", and defer to department policy.

11) Chapter 147. Section 2 (b) & (c). Good. Make sure these sections retain the wording acknowledging that while de-escalation is preferred, it is not always feasible given the totality of circumstances. That is extremely important, and its removal could potentially cost officers their lives.

12) Chapter 147. Section 2 (d). Allow choke holds as an option for situations requiring lethal force only. Anyone who has any background in wrestling will understand that there could be life threatening situations where that is the only option available to the officer to save their own life. It would not be ethical for the legislature's oversight in this matter to cause the prosecution of an officer who had no other use of force option in a life or death situation. Likewise, chokeholds should not be used to "knock someone out", "restrain", or be used in any situation other than a situation requiring the use of deadly physical force where no other option is available.

13) Chapter 147. Section 3 (c). In line 1355, add the word "knowingly" between "and" and "fails". To read "An officer who has a duty to intervene and knowingly fails to do so may be held liable under sections 11H..."

Subject: Bill S2820

I am writing you to urge you to listen to the men and women who serve this Commonwealth as police officers and the everyday citizens who will be effected by the passing of this bill in full. Every day, I leave my family with uncertainty about what my shift will bring. It is bad enough that I have to worry about if I will come home the same person physically or mentally, but I can now have the extra concern of personal liability litigation by a citizen due to the perception of an encounter or arrest.

I feel that officers should be given the due process, just like anyone else. There is not one officer in this state that will feel comfortable coming to work, would you?

My name is Stephanie Howe and I am a police Sergeant with the Sudbury Massachusetts Police Department. I'm also a mother, wife, daughter, and resident of Oakham, Massachusetts. I have been a police officer for 24 years.

I've never witnessed or been part of any type of behavior as that in which this bill is a reaction to. Here in Massachusetts we are known to be well-trained and reasonable officers. In the last few weeks after speaking with many police officers in the state we are very nervous to continue working under these conditions. A vast majority of us with over 20 years would seek other employment. The state would lose a large amount of educated, reasonable, level-headed, well trained officers in a very short amount of time. In all honesty we are scared to do our job if this passes in full.

While this bill protects the members of the community as it should, it does nothing to protect the officers who put themselves at risk every day. The majority of officers that come to work in Massachusetts are not looking to have a violent or explosive encounter. We are not looking to escalate a situation. Most of the calls for service are just that, we are called by someone of concern to assist in a matter they cannot handle. The stress that is put on an officer at every call is incapable of putting into words for a civilian to understand or have the same reasonable perception of danger that an officer sees. Most police officers want to have a peaceful resolution to the calls for service and not have it result in arrest. This bill will make us hesitate to act, have lack of information, resistance from the public, interference in our ability to do our job and enforce peace.

My concerns are the amount of personal information that the public can attain about an individual police officer. The data base that would be allowed for the public to obtain is dangerous and unnecessary. You will allow the public to know every detail (except home address) about an officer, their resume, gender, and race. Do not think that an assigned number will keep our anonymity. The computer age makes it possible to collect information and conclude the information. If you googled a my personal information that is contained in the database any person can find my address in seconds. Our personal lives and families are going to be placed at risk with this information public.

My concerns about the complaints to police officers is that the lack of due process for us. There is currently a process in place that is fair for both the public and public employees. The ability to sue an individual officer for monetary damages will be made easy and accessible with barely any protection at all. We understand that our rights are being stripped here with putting the perception of a complaint on the public and not the courts. Most people do not agree with the arrest that has been made and are very vocal about not committing the crime they are accused. Are we going to start bogging the courts down with lawsuits against officers with frivolous lawsuits? We are not asking for absolute immunity but please don't take away the slight protection that we have in doing our daily duties. This places the perception of the law in the defendant's hands which asks the question; is ignorance of a law reasonable.

Taking away the communication of school resource officers with fellow officers is not only a safety factor for the public but the children. If the point of this section is to protect children, then information sharing is the only way to do it. Sometimes the school or police is the only protection that the children have from domestic or social situations. Information sharing in the schools with school resource officers is paramount to a safe environment. As a parent of a high school child and as a police officer that has experienced a homicide in the high school, I feel this is a detriment to the safety of our children.

The use of force section that addresses choke holds, excessive force and intervening needs to be addressed. Officers in Massachusetts are not trained to use choke holds and would not use them in everyday use of force. I do not agree that as a female officer, if I was attacked in a deadly manner with or without a weapon, that I am banned from using any means necessary to survive the attack. This profession is not one of certainty and scenarios never go as planned. Banning anything outright is what will get more officers killed in the line of duty. Not only will we hesitate, we will get hurt in the meantime. We are trained to react to what is presented to us and we are also trained to attempt to deescalate, which is not always feasible.

Please remember Officer Chesna that was disabled by a rock and killed with his own gun, Officer Tarentino that was shot with no notice or chance to deescalate and Sgt. Gannon that was shot in the head during a search warrant where the defendant had time to hide. There was no option for other means of force, to negotiate with the defendants or try and "talk" these people down. Please keep in mind the split second decisions we make every day and sometimes we don't have hours to figure situations out.

I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Respectfully,

Sgt Stephanie Howe

Subject: Bill S.2820

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Victoria Rando and I grew up in Wrentham, MA but currently reside in Franklin, MA. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided, disgraceful, and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are the following:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated, honorable, & well educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement who choose to put their lives on the line every single day to protect their communities with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Victoria Rando

Subject: Police "Reform" Bill

Whomever it might concern,

My name is Elvis Nguyen and I'm a resident of Marshfield. I'm writing to you to express my concern over the current police reform bill that the house is trying to pass in a rushed and uneducated manner. This bill will affect the well-being and livelihood of law enforcement families across the Commonwealth, in addition it will effect our officers judgement and have them second guessing when they are put in difficult situations. Situations, Mr. Kearney that you will never understand unless you do police work. Comparing the law enforcement profession to doctors and lawyers in regards to liability is comparing apples to oranges and quite frankly uneducated. Doctors and Lawyers spend years and thousands and thousands of hours on education and have time to analyze the situation they're in. In addition people go to lawyers and doctors voluntarily. Law enforcement on the other hand, deal with peoples freedom and at an instant a detention takes that away. This is done every single day as part of an investigation for a crimes throughout your Commonwealth. Police officers aren't in school for years. As a matter of fact it's 6 months and you're sent out on the streets to do the job which requires you to detain people essentially taking their freedom away. If your only knowledge of law enforcement is what you see on TV then I invite you do a ride along with me or you can ask any police department for that matter and for a one day experience on what we experience.

I'm sure we can agree that the acts in Minneapolis on May 25, 2020 were excessive and flat out wrong in every aspect of humanity. I also agree that police reform is necessary in order to address the issues of injustice in our criminal justice system. There is no denial that this system needs to be fixed. However, it is detrimental to have the input of our officers on any such reforms. Officers who live the reality and answer the call to respond to issues in our communities that others do not see. Violence that the media does not report on, and violence that our legislators do not live in every day. Proposing and passing anything without a conversation and fully understanding the issue can and will have negative effects on public safety and cause more harm to the community than good.

I entered this profession with a strong desire to help people, and that desire is still there. I do not seek praise or gratitude, nor do I want it. What I do ask for is our leaders to understand the changes you make and the positions you will be putting us in with these changes. Taking away qualified immunity and changing it in anyway shape or form, takes away my peace of mind when I go to work. This is what allows me to sleep at night knowing that I don't have to worry about the well-being of my family. Please don't use the police as a scapegoat for political agendas. In my short 8 years in law enforcement, I have personally seen the morale in Officers and Troopers decline each and every day. Anybody who tells you that morale is "good" is lying. Never have I seen so many people in this profession seeking different career alternatives. Fear that they could potentially lose everything they have worked so hard for to better themselves, their families and their communities.

To every Legislator. I am a Massachusetts State Trooper, I am a husband, a father and a son. I am a minority, first generation Vietnamese American. I grew up in the City of Boston, the Old Colony housing projects to be precise. I went to Boston Public Schools. I am where I am today because of the life choices I made. I am in this profession because positive interactions with the Police when I was a teenager. I worked hard to get to where I am today. I'm proud of my accomplishments. Don't strip away at the fabric that protects me and my family. I am open to a conversation at anytime. Please give me a call or email me.

Subject: Testimony for Bill No. S2820

To the House of Representatives,

This letter is to share my testimony regarding Bill No. S2820. First, I'd like to briefly introduce myself. My name is Brandon Sanders, I am a 24 year old full time Police Officer residing in the Town of Pembroke. I have been a sworn Police Officer since December of 2016, and took the oath to protect and serve my communities at the young age of 21. Since I was teenager, I truly wanted to be a Police Officer and I firmly believe that public service saved my life. I grew up in a single family home with no father and no role models. I once believed criminality was admirable, until at the age of 16, I met local Police Officers who gave me guidance and led me to the life I now lead.

Seeing what's happening across this country and this state is truly heartbreaking to both our civilian and police communities alike. I understand that people are mad, so am I. I understand that change could benefit all of us equally, I do truly believe that as we proceed forward in this country and states future. What I do not understand, and what I do not believe in is this Bill S2820. This bill is damaging, and we as Police Officers will not be able to return from this. Reform is welcomed among us law enforcement officers, I promise you that, but not this. My perspective on this bill is that lawmakers, civilians, and advocates are angry. These people are pushing this quickly presented bill on sheer emotion. If we can set emotion aside and all work together to form a bill that will truly change the police and public interactions, I believe that would be a tremendous thing welcomed by all. But again, THIS BILL IS NOT IT.

The most troubling presentation within this bill is the attack on Police Officers and Qualified Immunity. Coming from a Police Officer who upholds their oath every day, and truly loves serving their community, I am scared for us all. Qualified Immunity does not protect bad cops, I can assure you that. I assure you that nobody hates a BAD cop more than a GOOD Police Officer. Qualified Immunity protects cops like the brave men and woman I served with on a day to day basis who go out and try to make a difference. Qualified Immunity protects these Officers who consistently get put in incredibly troubling, complex, and difficult situations. Qualified Immunity protects someone like ME, who goes out and truly does their best every single minute of every single shift. The obvious is that there is inherit risks in being a Police Officer, and we often get called to horrific scenes in which we must make split second decisions. Qualified Immunity protects the Officer who simply showed up to that emergency and did the best they possibly could. Qualified Immunity protects the Officer who may show up to you or your families emergency, who simply did the best they possibly could. PLEASE, consider the totality of what is in front of you.

I will now conclude my testimony and leave you on this note. Sir Robert Peele, the founding father of modern day policing once said, "the Police are the public, and the public are the Police." I assure you that us Police Officers are people as well. We are your neighbors, your friends, and your family. The same people that this bill is set to destroy are the same people that pass you in the grocery store, that you are sitting next to at a restaurant as we eat with our families, and that you are amongst all day every day in passing. I assure you that we care so very much about all of you, even though we may have never met you a day in our lives. What we are asking for is that on this bill, you just care for us a little bit back.

Respectfully,

Officer Brandon Sanders

Subject: Testimony for Bill S.2820 to increase police accountability

To the House Committee on Ways and Means,

My name is Austin Arroco, a resident of the Fulton Street neighborhood in Medford. I am writing to provide personal testimony in favor of Bill S.2820 relating in particular to reducing budgets for Massachusetts police departments and reallocating those funds to community programs and organizations that will help to provide support, improve safety and create systemic equity for Black and Brown communities. Specifically, I am glad to see that increased accountability in the acquisition of military grade equipment is required by this bill.

As a materials engineer, I have spent many years developing technologies for government contracts, and in some cases, law enforcement agencies in Massachusetts have expressed interest in bidding on those technologies. This is problematic because these agencies have no immediate or suitable reason to use these specialized technologies. I envision stockpiles of unused equipment and consumable materials that have been purchased just in case they are needed. This unjustifiable expenditure of funds for just-in-case scenarios is unacceptable while there are clear, definable and immediate needs present, and happily, this bill takes measures to prevent that.

As it stands however, the bill can go even further by requiring law enforcement to understand their community's needs. Seeking public comment on military grade controlled property, as required by changes to Sections 39 and 40, is a first step towards appropriate funding allocation. Law enforcement agencies should also be required to learn about local aid organizations and invite them to the public hearing for input. These organizations should include Black and Brown community groups and leaders. This way, the public has a clear choice presented to them as opposed to choosing yes or no for military grade equipment. More than policing and military grade equipment, engaging the community is absolutely critical for improving the safety in our towns, our cities and our state.

This bill takes steps towards safer and more equitable communities, and we can absolutely do more. By including community organizations and leaders, particularly from Black and Brown communities, in the process, we can reallocate funds where they are truly needed. As a life-long Massachusetts native, I hope to see more change enacted that reaches toward systemic equity for all of the state's citizens. We have a long road ahead of us, and we all must work together to make it happen. Thank you all for your valuable time and energy.

Sincerely,
Austin Arroco

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified

Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Bill S2820

The Chair of the House Committee of Ways and Means,

As a retired police officer with 38+ years of experience, I respectfully ask that you please consider the ramifications of Bill S2820.

Many of the rules and restrictions contained in this bill are bound to not only have a detrimental effect on the police doing their sworn duty of protecting the lives and property of our citizens, but will infact put them at risk of frivolous law suits, and being injured or killed.

Police Officers have to make split second decisions in life or death situations. They do not need the added burden of thinking that they could face a frivolous law suit or prosecution for simply doing their job!

I speak from experience having personally been the victim of 2 frivolous federal lawsuits by convicted felons both of which were dismissed without a settlement.

The elimination of Qualified Immunity will only open officers up to more such law suits.

In regards to the absolute ban on the so called "choke-hold" although it is not part of any current police practice, no option should be taken off the table when deadly force is being used against an officer or innocent victim. I only once resorted to using a "choke-hold". It was during a struggle in a confined area with a suspect, much larger than me, who was attempting to take my weapon as he tried to gouge out my right eye with his fingers. Although I required treatment for a severe eye injury I managed to retain my weapon and he was subdued and placed under arrest, uninjured, I might add. Had he managed to take my firearm I may have been killed along with other responding officers and the woman and child he had threatened to kill and was holding against their will.

Massachusetts has always been a leader in police training and has strived to assure it's law enforcement officers were the most educated and professional in the country.

Department Certification and Accreditation along with Education Incentives and Specialized Training have proven effective, producing well educated, well rounded officers who take their positions seriously and do their jobs straight up!

As someone who has been directly responsible for prosecution and removal of Bad Cops I can tell you that nobody hates a bad cop more than a good one! Please don't let the deplorable actions of a few criminals who have managed to infiltrate our ranks effect the ability of our professional men and women to effectively do their jobs as safely as possible.

Respectfully,

Robert Furtado

Subject: Senate bill

First a letter from Springfield PD. Great leadership!

To whom this may concern,

My name is Aaron O. Butler, I am a black Police Lieutenant in the City of Springfield and I am assigned to the Internal Investigations Unit. I read the bill your trying to pass and I find it disgraceful and a symbolic spit in my face and the faces of every honest hard-working Police Officer in the Commonwealth. Before I continue I know that not all of you have disdain and disrespect for us, I know many of you are on the side of common sense and what is fair and just and I have no doubt you are as disgusted with your colleagues as I am.

The idea that a person does not get due process in the United States before being deprived of their liberty and hard work is an absolute shame and is offensive to the principles that this country was founded on and what the court system is based on, being treated fairly and with respect, it's obvious some of you do not care about these things for the people who risk their lives to keep your cities and towns safe.

You obviously have a feverish need to do "something" because of this silly idea that black men are being hunted down by racist white cops. Nothing is further from the truth, you feel this need to do "something", only the something is disgraceful. I do not have any problem with a POST system, no Police Officer I have spoken to does it's the lack of common sense and fairness in the bill that we a problem with. And what happened to George Floyd, which obviously prompted this has nothing to do with any Police Officer in the Commonwealth, stop punishing us for what some filthy excuse for humans did on the other side of the country.

Let me tell you what is going to happen, first no Police Officer will do anything other than what is absolutely necessary because our supposed leaders have stabbed us in the back over pressure to do "something" even the something is reckless and disgusting, which I am sure is the reason why some of you tried to sneak this bill through when no one was looking.

I suspect a vast majority of Police Officers who can retire, will, others with less time will just quit and the ones who have to stay will be disgruntled and will not engage in any type of activity unless they get a call and they absolutely have to do something. At some point when the ranks gets drastically low, the only people foolish enough to take this miserable and thank less job will be the people you don't want and who had tried in the past to get on the job but were rejected. Chiefs will have no choice but to hire them because someone has to the job.

You are going to destroy law and order and you will wonder why Police Officers refuse to do their jobs or why good, educated people will not take the job. I have spoken to a few of the younger Officers who are confused and very angry and have asked me what to do, I told them to get out now, why the hell would anyone do this job with political leaders stabbing them in the back. You are going to see young, educated people leave this job and in case you did not know this, we need them to stay and you are going to drive them out and like I said we will be left with people who are only looking for a paycheck and don't belong on the job.

It's clear that a lot of you have no idea what qualified immunity is, you seem to think cops just run around punching people, like the liars in the DOJ and the AG's office think of Springfield Police. It is far from that. It simply means without being too complicated that if a Police Officer is doing the right thing you cannot sue him/her. Which makes perfect sense, how are Police Officers supposed to do their job if they are getting sued every time they turn their head.

Maybe the flood gates should be open to sue Politicians for laws that are passed where someone gets falsely accused, you would not like that, would you? You need to ask yourselves why anyone would want to do this job with no protection. This bill is the exact type of discrimination you are complaining about, you want to penalize Police Officers, unjustly for what a few, and yes, a few bad apples have done, that are being dealt with. And please stop listening to NAACP, they have not been a civil rights organization in years, they are just a political action committee.

It is interesting that many of you are attorneys and what your doing is offensive to the United States Constitution, the Massachusetts Declaration of Rights, common sense, fair play and what's right. What are you going to do when Law and Order falls apart in the Commonwealth and the crime rate explodes like it is in New York City? Police Officers there are falling over each other to retire, and if you think it will not happen here, you are sadly, sadly mistaken.

Also

A lot of people have asked about qualified immunity. Here is a good explanation:

Qualified immunity protects public servants that are doing their job and acting in good faith from civil litigation. If we do something outside the scope of our training, we are not covered. Here are a few instances in which we are covered, which will change if this bill passes.

-one of your loved ones drops from a heart attack. There is no pulse when we arrive, we immediately start CPR. During CPR, trying to save their life, we break a rib during compressions (which happens almost all the time during CPR). As it stands now, I am covered by qualified immunity because I was acting based upon my training trying to save a life. This all ends if bill 2800 passes.

-you or your loved one is in a horrific crash. I race there lights and siren to save you or your family memeber. As long as I follow policy and training if I were to get into a crash myself (while responding to help you), I am covered. This all ends if bill 2800 passes.

- you call us because you are out shopping and you notice a dog locked in a car. It's 85 degrees out. Right now, I can break that window out to save that dog and not worry about personally being sued by the vehicle owner. This changes if Bill 2800 passes.

There are a million scenarios that running through my head right now. Do you want your first responders to be able to react or do you want our hands tied?

This bill is nothing but BS politics. When have our legislators ever passed a law that didn't take a year or two to pass? When have they ever passed a law without hearings, committees etc? Do you know that they have added an amendment that will allow them (legislators) to receive monetary gifts? why is that in a law enforcement bill? This bill stinks and they know it.

Please, for the safety of our society. So our children can live in a reasonably peaceful world, I beg you to call, write your senators and reps regarding bill S 2800.

Lastly

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2800, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Greg H

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

Subject: Testimony for Bil 2820

To whom it may concern,

As a private music teacher, for the past 18 years I have had the opportunity to teach music to students of all ages, one on one. As musicians, some have had plentiful access to resources such as quality instruments, technology to supplement their learning, access to tools such as tuners and metronomes, while others have not. As one may imagine, I have found that students who have are unable to access such resources also have difficulty learning their instrument.

In addition to teaching students in their homes, I also taught in a private, high-tuition, Montessori school for 2 years early in my career. When I arrived at this school, the classroom was already fully stocked with instruments from all over the world, high quality computers, microphones, and speakers. In addition, I was given a seemingly unlimited budget with which to purchase whatever resources my curriculum required. I was also paid overtime for as many hours as I needed in order to prepare to implement this curriculum. Needless to say, with the help of these plentiful resources I was able to find a path to nearly every single students' learning style.

In contrast, I wonder what kind of success rate could be possible in any subject if public school budgets were higher. What could public school teachers create if they were given enough support to take the time to tailor lessons to all learning styles? What could public school students learn about their aptitude for a particular subject or skill if they had a varied set of tools and resources at their disposal with which to experiment?

I believe that law enforcement is an important part of a community. However, I believe that police departments in Massachusetts and the U.S. overall are grossly over funded. A significant portion of funding to police departments would be more useful if reallocated to public schools. If students are given the resources and support to succeed from a young age, perhaps they are less likely to require the services of law enforcement later in life.

Thank you,

Subject: Opposition to S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I am writing to you in opposition to Bill S2820. I am disappointed beyond belief that people could even consider passing this bill. Back in March you all were praising the first responders & their dedication to their jobs as they left their homes & family's daily during a pandemic while you sat in the comforts of your home in front of a computer. They not only had to face the challenges of the job but then worry about catching Covid as well. You all sang their praises & said how wonderful they were yet just a few months later your willing to stab them in the back with this bill. Nobody is saying some things could change but to get rid of Qualified Immunity is a disgrace. Why don't you all take a week & do a ride along with a City police officer. See the calls they answer & the situations they face on a daily basis. Then tell me how you would react in a split second. Tell me how you would handle it better. Tell me how every police officer in this state is being punished because of a bad cop in Minneapolis. How is this fair? Your not on the streets. Your not answering the calls. Your not there but your making desicions about how they do their job when you've never spent a second in their shoes. Tell me how many times you've administered Narcan? Because police officers & fire fighters do it everyday saving lives yet I don't think that was ever part of their job description. Tell me how many domestic calls you've been to where the victim says there abused & then show up at court the next morning saying they weren't, that they were just mad & wanted the person removed not arrested. Open your eyes & think of what your doing. Your putting every public employee at risk for doing their job! It's disgusting!

Two years ago so many of you & your colleagues sat in Saint Mary's Church in Hanover for the funeral of Sgt Michael Chesna. Almost all of you had never even met him. Yet you said how much you supported his family & fellow officers. Guess a lot changes in a couple years. Did you forget Michael was responding to a 911 call from a doctor for an erratic driver that almost hit him head on... He was shot multiple times along with Vera Adams an innocent woman just having coffee on her porch. Do you know how many contacts with police that defendant had? So if your taking Qualified Immunity away from first responders are you taking it away from yourselves for making the laws limiting their ability to do their jobs? Or how about for the judges & clerks who release the criminals that go offend again even kill innocent people? If your going to blame all first responders in this state for something that happened in Minneapolis then I think you should be held accountable to for your split second decisions too!

The Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary

My name is Daniel Duff. I live at 102 Manatee Rd in Hingham. My phone number is 781-740-8903.

I've been a police officer for over 30 years. In that time I've risen to the rank of Lieutenant Detective in the Boston Police Department. I'm concerned with Senate Bill S2820. It affects me and all of the people I work with.

The senate version will seriously undermine public safety The false narrative that Qualified Immunity prevents the public from suing Police Officers and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. The unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due to the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions.

The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment.

Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model to be used. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

Revisions to Qualified Immunity are unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups, thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

Respectfully,
Daniel Duff

Hello, my name is Michael Rubenstein with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 130 Willard Road, Brookline, MA 02445. I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- * Implement Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- * Civil service access reform
- * Commission on structural racism
- * Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- * Qualified immunity reform

I urge you to adopt the Senate language to reform the legal doctrine of qualified immunity. This reform will allow the few applicable cases to be heard by a jury without being dismissed because the particular violation of 4th amendment rights by a public official, such as a police officer, has never been previously contemplated by a statute or a court precedent. Those cases deserve to be heard on their merits, not thrown out using a non-statutory legal doctrine. It is simply outrageous that those who have suffered from the egregious violations of police officers can not get their day in court.

In addition, it is clear that qualified immunity reform will not have devastating financial impact on any police officers as they are indemnified by the municipalities that employ them. Any such claims are not based on fact and should not be considered as you consider this reform.

Thank you very much.

My testimony for the record:

Dear Committee Members,

There have been recent high-profile events outside of Massachusetts that have resulted in arrests of police officers.

All these events have taken place in other states, yet police officers in Massachusetts are somehow assumed to share responsibility for these painful incidents.

We certainly are not perfect, but instead of casting shared responsibility onto us, legislators should be asking us what we are doing right in our Massachusetts communities, instead of assuming we are doing something wrong.

In the Town of Clinton, there is not a neighborhood, school, or business where we do not feel welcome. The level of trust and respect in our truly diverse community is something we take great pride in. The results speak for themselves. I would encourage anyone to come to Clinton and learn about what we are doing right.

This process is moving far too quickly. A knee jerk reaction to serious events. I have not had enough time to absorb or fully comprehend the totality of how my beloved profession could change.

I do know this. Police officers and other municipal employees should maintain qualified immunity. Police officers acting in good faith, sometimes having to make a split-second decision, should not have to worry that any step they take could end in a lawsuit that takes their home and life savings and hurts their families. Officers should also continue to have the protection of due process.

Sadly, given the perceived lack of support with persons on Beacon Hill, many of my colleagues are preparing to retire rather than face an uncertain future. This alone is a crisis that is not being reported.

Police officers cannot do their job effectively without the support of their community AND their elected officials.

I ask you to consider the above and take the necessary time needed to get this right.

Respectfully Yours,

Paul Silvester

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Police reform/anti labor union bill

Good evening,

My name is Brendon Tivnan and I'm writing this email in regards to the police reform/anti labor union bill currently under legislation. I am lifelong Worcester resident, and have been a Worcester police officer since 2012. My father and brother have proudly served the city as police officers since 1983 and 2008, respectively.

I am writing this to request that a public hearing be held on this matter. I have also CC'd my state representative, Mr James O'Day, to implore I'm to consider the following amendments and push for the adoption in the bill:

1. Qualified Immunity
2. Due Process/Collective Bargaining
3. Make up of the POSAC board

The current make up of this bill is harshly unfair to the police officers and public employees within the Commonwealth. This country and democracy have been built on fair and impartial proceedings; this bill is the complete opposite. This bill unfairly puts police officers under scrutiny of people who have never done the job, giving them an opportunity to unfairly persecute us and taking our right to due process and collective bargaining.

To my State Rep Mr James O'Day,
As you know, the Democratic Party has been long been supportive of labor unions and have used that platform as their stronghold. The current bill clearly goes against all that the Democratic Party stands for and is a clear, anti labor bill that takes away processes that have been cemented in both labor unions and the Democratic Party for years.

As your constituent, I asked that you maintain your roots in the Democratic Party, support labor unions, due process and collective bargaining but supporting these amendments.

Without these amendments, the bill handcuffs police officers and gives them no incentive to proactively police the streets and neighborhoods of your district, and throughout the commonwealth. It opens police officers for more liability which will increase crime drastically creating a further ripple effect on violence against the police. As a police officer and resident of Worcester, I want to be safe and go home at night to my family. These amendments will help me to do that.

Thank you for taking the time to read this email from a proud UNION member of NEPBA Local 911.

Sincerely,
Brendon Tivnan

Subject: Bill No. S2820 Title: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

* I stand against S2820 as presented.

* The senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste without public hearing or input of any kind was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

* Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years.

* Massachusetts police officers are among highest educated and trained in the country

* This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few.

* Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.

* If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially have a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

I write to you as a resident of Worcester, a concerned citizen, health care provider, and racial justice activist. Now is the time for all of us to take decisive steps toward real public safety, recognizing the ways that our approach to policing has harmed communities of color, and investing in our under-resourced neighborhoods. I have already contacted my own State Representative about this legislation and will also forward him this letter.

I am aware that you are developing a comprehensive bill following the Senate passage of S2800 earlier this week. I ask that your legislation include the following elements:

- * Use of force standards as laid out in An Act to Save Black Lives (Miranda). This includes a total ban on chokeholds, banning tear gas and other chemical weapons, banning no-knock warrants, and establishing a duty to intervene when an officer witnesses another officer using inappropriate force or other abusive acts;
- * Strict limits on qualified immunity;
- * Banning facial recognition technology, which has been shown to be remarkably inaccurate for Black people;
- * Re-investment in neighborhoods most impacted by overpolicing and mass incarceration via the Justice Reinvestment Trust Fund -- eliminating the $10 million per year cap imposed in the Senate bill;
- * Ensuring that police misconduct records are made public.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Testimony in support of Senate bill S.2800

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

I am writing in support of Senate bill S.2800.

Over the years, the ability of our city and town governments to create and manage policing that meets the needs and aspirations of our communities has been dismantled, including by the non-statutory judge-made doctrine of qualified immunity, and the Chapter 150E collective bargaining law and the Joint Labor Management Committee statute that together eliminate effective options for accountability.

This bill provides important legislation that begins to return those rights to our communities. It also creates a much needed system for the training and certification of police officers, and makes other necessary changes to law and policy to improve and enhance the accountability of policing in the Commonwealth. This is landmark legislation that would help transform how law enforcement is practiced in Massachusetts, with a long overdue focus on racial equity in our justice system.

Thank you for your consideration on this matter.

Sincerely,

B. Derek Anderson

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down qualified immunity in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, and 52, as well as amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Reform, Shift + Build Act

Hi,

I am a resident of Boston, MA and I unequivocally support the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800).

Massachusetts has always been on the forefront of states passing legislation to support the people that live here and we've never shied away from decisions that seemed radical at the time. I have always been proud of - and bragged about - MA being the first state to legalize gay marriage, and I hope to see us continue to make the right choices ahead of the curve and set the standard for the rest of the country to follow. It's time to eliminate qualified immunity, ban chokeholds, reallocate state funds to communities disproportionately impacted by the criminal justice system, and allow the Mass AG to file lawsuits against discriminatory police departments. I hope to see this legislation pass so I can continue to be a proud resident.

Thank you,

Subject: Bill S2800

To the members of the House Committee on Ways and Means and the House of Representatives,

My name is Jeff Carreau and I am a Police Officer with the Woburn Police Department. I am writing this email to voice my concern and my opposition to Bill S2800. I am wondering what is the need for this bill in the first place. This is a hastily thrown together piece of legislation based on nothing. This seems to be a ploy to try and please certain members of the public and the media who push a false agenda. That agenda being that police officers are racist and police brutality against people of color is rampant throughout Massachusetts and the country as a whole. The facts are that is simply not remotely true. I reached out to Barry Finegold who is the Senator for my district. He responded to my email indicating he was supporting the bill and subsequently he voted "Yea" on the bill at 4am when it passed through the senate. I had sent him another email before the vote asking what he is basing his vote on. What facts, what statistics, what information relating to racial injustices and police brutality in Massachusetts he was using to support the bill. Not surprisingly at all I got no response from him. The reason is because those facts, those statistics, and that information does not exist.

Where was the call for all this police reform even 6 months ago? That's right it did not exist then because there was no problem and there is still no problem with how police officers do their jobs every day here in

MA. However, officers in MA are now being judged and looped into a category of officers that are racist and commit police brutality against people of color. We here in MA are now being targeted because of the acts of officers in other states. I am not saying that racism does not exist because everyone should know that it does in many forms. What happened to George Floyd was disgusting and disgraceful. Any good police officer will tell you that what took place in that video was horrible and the officers there deserve to be prosecuted. But here in MA we are not ever trained to kneel on the neck of anyone. I feel that we as officers in this state are trained at a high level and that we function at an even higher level given what we deal with every day on the streets of our communities. We could always use more training and more education to become even better officers. Most officers welcome new training because they know that there is always room to improve. But looking to take away certain protections of officers is completely irresponsible.

The people who drafted this bill undoubtedly have never walked a single day in the shoes of a police officer. They have no idea what the job entails and what effects it has on each individual officer. I have seen things on this job that the average person could not handle, we all have. We take the things we see home with us to our families and we try to live normal lives. But there are certain things we see in the course of our duties that can never be forgotten. We suffer emotional and physical damage to our bodies and we sacrifice for people we don't even know. We do it because we took an oath to protect and serve our communities. We always have only wanted the support of our departments, our governments, and the good people who support us in our community. But now members of our state government have turned their backs on the same people that protect them. These individuals think that by throwing together some piece of legislation targeting officers for zero reason is the way to make them look like they are setting a new standard for the rest of the country. There was absolutely no transparency in the creation of this bill, no input from the people it will affect the most, the police or law enforcement organizations. There was no public hearing held and the bill circumvented the legislative process in bypassing committees and steps in which every other bill is proposed. It is very apparent that there is an agenda present here.

This bill aims to remove or alter Qualified Immunity for officers. The average citizen has no idea what Qualified Immunity is because it is not explained correctly or at all in the media. People simply believe that Qualified Immunity is some shield officers can hide behind to do whatever they want, to commit crimes against people, and that there are no consequences. This is completely false. Qualified Immunity offers protection to officers from frivolous lawsuits. If this is taken away or changed to allow the public to sue officers for monetary damages for actions done during the performance of their duties then this is a huge disservice to police officers. There will be so many frivolous lawsuits filed just because they can be filed. You will see a large number of officers retire or just quit because it just is not worth having the job taking a risk of getting sued for one thing or another for doing your job. The number of candidates who seek law enforcement job in MA has continually dropped over the last 10 years. People see what the job entails, the lack of respect, the constant negativity, the danger, and the lack of support. So the desire to become an officer is not there like it used to be. We function in a society where there is no respect for the police anymore. Officers are being killed across this country on almost a daily basis as well. I lost a brother officer in my own department who was shot in the line of duty. Another brother officer was also shot in the line of duty but he survived although he lost his career because of his injuries. The violence that exists in our society and the violence towards police officers is deterring individuals from pursuing a career as an officer. Now taking changing the Qualified Immunity will only deter individuals even more from pursuing a career as an officer.

This bill aims to establish the Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee made up of 13 members of whom only 6 appear to be law enforcement officers. This committee will oversee training and establish a database of officers which is available for the public to see. This is just a terrible idea. The committee will also take direct complaints against officers and investigate the complaints as well circumventing the police department conducting an investigation. The committee will determine the status of investigations and be able to revoke an officer's certification. We as officers and police departments know the people we deal with every day. This committee will know none of that information. At least 7 of the committee members will not seem to be trained investigators or law enforcement officers who understand the job of a police officer yet they will be the ones who determine an officer's fate. If a doctor is to get his or her license revoked for malpractice does that doctor not go before a board of doctors to decide his or her fate? The same should be for police officers, the people investigating and judging them should have had to walk in the same shoes.

This bill also wants to allow citizens to intervene in police matters when they feel that the excessive force is being used by an officer. This is craziness and will result in far more issues between law enforcement and the public. We as police officers are trained to use the amount of force necessary to stop a person's resistance or physical attack. The general public has no idea what the appropriate amount of force that can be used is. They will assume that the police are always using excessive force which will provoke them to intervene. This will cause enormous problems for the police when trying to get an uncooperative or assaultive subject under control. This will put officers' lives more at risk. This bill also wants to eliminate school staff from passing on information to the police about gang members. I am not even sure where this comes from but isn't beneficial for officers to know what gang bangers are in our schools? I mean members of gangs are associated with violence, carrying weapons, and drug activity. Information that gang members are in certain schools would be information that is important for the safety of the students and the staff in those schools.

There are so many flaws in this bill that it is ridiculous. This bill was thrown together based on a knee jerk reaction that something needs to be done here in MA. When in fact nothing needs to be done to the way we police our streets every day. There are no rampant incidents of racial injustices and police brutality here and that is the real truth. Can we improve policing through training and education? I am sure we can by making law enforcement officers more educated and highly trained individuals will only result in a more well round officer. But taking away protections, implementing restrictions, and the POSA is not the right way to make change. If this bill passes the effect it will have will not be a positive, it will only effect law enforcement negatively. This bill is a colossal mistake and never should have had the opportunity to be filed in the first place.

Respectfully,

Jeff Carreau

Subject: Testimony for S2820, please

Hi,

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kell Schneider and I currently live in Dorchester, MA. I'm a graphic designer and artist. Since moving to Boston to attend Northeastern University in 2013, I have moved here permanently and have been here for seven years.

I'm sure you are getting plenty of emails in favor of passing S.2820. This is another one.

To ignore an attempt at statewide police reform at this time would be a brash insult to the citizens of the Commonwealth. If I am setting down roots in a new state, I am committed to fighting so that my home reflects my values and the values of my community. If you want to consider from a PR standpoint, Massachusetts has an opportunity to set an example for the nation. I know that can be a sell. But I ask you to first, and most importantly, prioritize the health, wellness, SAFETY, comfort, and opportunities of and for Black citizens and citizens of color.

I am very tired, as I imagine you all are. Please, feel this pressure and let us take the step towards an improved Massachusetts by passing S.2820. There is more work to be done, but I am willing to start here.

Thank you,

Kell Schneider

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is John Ross O'Brien and I live at 29 Bell Drive Whitman. I work at Suffolk County Sheriff Department and am Lieutenant inside the House of Correction. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
John Ross O'Brien

Subject: Concerned Citizen

I am a concerned citizen of Boston. I have resided here for over 20 years, a mother of 4 children attending Boston Public Schools. I write to you today to express my strong opposition to the recently filed S.2800 Bill and all other Bills consistent with that and I ask that you vote NO when this bill is debated. This bill is troubling in many ways and on many levels. I believe this bill if passed would make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage.

I would like to take a moment to pause and remind you who we are talking about. This is our local community members, our officers, not officers from another state or city. Let us not forget the police in Boston are members of our community, they are required to live here for 10 years and many stay. Many are lifelong residents and are very vested in the community and safety of all the areas of Boston. They are our kids coaches, community mentors, volunteers at school, backpack fundraisers, toy drives, working with healthcare departments to save drug addicts on the street, they comfort the victims families, they fight crime so others in the community can have a good life, they are the people we call when we need help and they come! They show up!! And let us not forget we have a highly educated Boston Police Department, many have law degrees and many have master degrees, the Quinn Bill has helped make this department the intellectual, strong, caring, brave, life saving team that they are. Please remember who your Boston Police Officers are, they represent the entire city.

I always believed, over the last 20 plus years that Boston was a leader in how our police department runs and has become an intricate part of the community however it appears that no one in public office recalls how great they are or how much work they do for our local communities. Why have our elected politicians abandoned them? Why do we as a community allow that our officer can go into get a coffee and be told you are not welcome and then not to be served, why have we decided that they can be judged by their weakest link in another state - that in and of itself is so wrong. No one, in politics or in teaching or in policing wants to be judged by the worst of the group. They are human and sometimes humans make mistakes and sometimes bad people show up in good professions but that is not as common and the department itself is good and strong and needed. It's disturbing to think that all the great work that has been done by this department and many other departments over the last 10 years will be in one swoop get tossed out. Boston has been recognized as the national model for community policing and many other areas of policing. Now our city officials for some reason feel this department and other departments must be penalized for actions outside of this state. The areas of the state that need the police help the most are the areas that will be most hurt by what you are doing.

Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of this bill: In Section 55, this bill authorizes "any person" to "intervene" if they believe an officer's use of force is excessive. This language will be exploited and used as a defense by anyone who is charged with assaulting a police officer. This language will result in more cops being hurt and killed. In Section 56, this bill authorizes for treble damages if a police officer is found to have submitted a false pay record. This would make police officers the ONLY public employees subject to this punishment. The courts will have a field day in overturning this. In Section 6, this bill the POSAC Committee is granted broad powers, including the power of subpoena, in active investigations- even when the original law enforcement agency has conducted its own investigation. The current language sets the groundwork for unconstitutional violations of a police officer's 5th amendment rights against self-incrimination (see Carney vs Springfield) and constitutional protections against "double-jeopardy". In Section 10, qualified immunity protections are removed and replaced with a "no reasonable defendant" qualifier. This removes important liability protections essential for the police officers we send out on patrol in our communities and who often deal with some of the most dangerous of circumstances with little or no back-up. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers up to personal liabilities so they cannot purchase a home, a car, obtain a credit card, or other things for the benefit of them and their families. Good luck with police recruitment. Additionally, this bill re-writes sections of the 2018 Criminal Justice Reform Bill (see record expungement and corrections) as well as the Hands-Free law the legislature just adopted. Those bills were signed into law after the normal and appropriate legislative process of filing a bill, holding public hearings to accept testimony from citizens and thoughtful debate over a span of many months. It is inconceivable that the Massachusetts State Senate would attempt this "sleight of hand" to re-write those laws with this rushed bill that will be lightly debated (in the COVID-19 remote sessions).

As your constituent I ask that you vote NO on S.2800, for the reasons stated above, and others.

Could I ask that you respond to this email to advise me which way you plan on voting on this bill. Thank you, Susan Flynn

Subject: Testimony for Bill S.2820

Dear Rep. Aaron Michlewitz and Rep. Claire Cronin,

My name is Bryce Williamson, and I am living at 27 Haven Street in Dover, MA 02030. I have been a permanent resident here my whole life, have voted here since I turned 18, and will be voting here this November.

I am writing to express my support for the S.2820 bill, and specifically for a number of parts of it that I believe are essential steps towards completely rethinking how our justice system functions in Massachusetts.

I believe that limiting qualified immunity in the way that this bill does will increase police officers' accountability in a much-needed way. Police officers should not be above the law. In addition, the Independent Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee is also something that I believe is absolutely essential, as the certification process will ensure that police officers are held to higher standards of conduct and make sure that police officers who are decertified have a record that follows them. The independence of this agency is absolutely essential and their ability to specifically decertify police officers based on "sustained complaints of misconduct" is particularly important.

Equally essential are the limitations on police departments' acquisition of military equipment, use of choke holds and deadly force options, and violent crowd control techniques. I believe that requiring de-escalation techniques in place of these other options as much as possible will be an excellent first step in reducing police-induced violence.

Even more important to me are the sections of the bill that help populations who have been discriminated against by the police. The Justice Reinvestment Workforce Development Fund looks to me to be a fantastic way of supporting the very people who we need most to support: felons, those in extreme poverty, and others who are disenfranchised by our justice system deserve support in their search for employment. The possibility for certain young people to expunge their criminal record will also be an excellent step towards making our world fairer for everyone, and prohibiting schools from giving potentially damning information about immigration status or gang affiliation to the police is also essential.

Although I believe that much, much more action will be necessary to create a truly just justice system, this bill lays down essential foundations for future work and I believe that it will have clear, positive impacts on communities in Massachusetts.

Thank you for taking the time to read my testimony. Should you want to contact me for any reason, I can be reached by phone or email. I would be happy to discuss any of these issues in greater detail.

Sincerely,

Bryce Williamson (781) 690-5829

When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

RE: Bill S2820

To whom it may concern:

I do not support S2820 if any portion of it changes the qualified immunity police officers now have. It is disgraceful how so many people, including politicians on Beacon Hill have turned against police officers lately. They have a hard enough job already and I would expect that our elected officials should support them and not be taking away their rights with this legislation. Please contact me if needed.

To whom it may concern - and I hope it CONCERNS ALL OF YOU

In regards to this New Bill S2800 - I just wanted to voice my opinion and say that I hope that you will postpone passing this bill at this time.

In this time of unrest and "hotheaded" protests going on and Covid-19 disruptions everyone is "stressed and tired" and not totally thinking clear headedly and pushing a bill through at 0400 hrs., is just more proof of what is going on in today's "normal"

I would like you to put a hold on this bill and calmly go over it with clearer heads.

This whole process was VERY quick and in my opinion NOT thought out thoroughly - a lot like the Cities and Towns calling for Disbanding of Police Depts. altogether - we are now seeing what "good" that has done - especially in NY these days

PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE - just put this on hold and REALLY look into it

Thank you for your time,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: S2800/S2820 - Knee Jerk Reaction is Dangerous for The Commonwealth

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

July16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Vito A Forlano and I live at 21 Townhouse rd, Attleboro MA 02703 <x-apple-data-detectors://1> . I work at MCI-N as a Corrections Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

Subject: Please vote no on S. 2800

Dear Members of the House,

My name is Kasey Lucas and I live in Marshfield. I write to you to express my support for our many first responders who put their lives on the line for the Commonwealth every single day. As the daughter of a police officer killed in the line of duty, and a wife of a state trooper. I know these officers risk their lives everyday. They do it because they love their job and our community. I am a proud daughter and wife of officers that served/serve our commonwealth. I am writing to you today to ask you to vote no on S.2800. I am vehemently against this bill the way it is written. There was no public hearing and this was all done in the early morning hours. This bill was done hastily and without regard to the law enforcement community. As the House considers legislation revolving around public safety, and in particular police reform, I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity - legal safeguards that have been established over decades and refined by the some of the greatest legal minds our country has known. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability. Qualified immunity is the baseline for all government officials and critical to the efficient and enthusiastic performance of their duties. Qualified immunity is not a complete shield against liability - egregious acts are afforded no protection under the qualified immunity doctrine. Further, qualified immunity is civil in nature and provides no protection in a criminal prosecution. The United States Supreme Court and the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts through numerous cases have continued to uphold the value and necessity of qualified immunity. To remove or modify without deliberative thought and careful examination of consequence, both intended and unintended, is dangerous.

Due Process and Qualified Immunity are well settled in the law and sound public policy dictates that the Legislature not disturb these standards - certainly not in this bill so abruptly and certainly not without a vigorous debate both in the Legislature and in the court of public opinion.

We must remain focused on passing legislation that includes a standards and training system to certify officers, establish clear guidelines on the use of force by police across all Massachusetts departments, to include a duty to intervene, and put in place mechanisms for the promotion of diversity. This does not detract or reject other reforms, but rather prioritizes those that can be accomplished before the end of this legislative session on July 31st.

Please join me in demanding nothing less than sound, well-reasoned and forward-thinking legislation. Again, I am asking you to vote no on this bill. Thank you very much for you anticipated support of the law enforcement community.
Thank you for your consideration.

To the House

I think it is unconscionable to pass this type of reform without hearing from ALL the constituents of Massachusetts. Just REACTING to the current climate and protests is the WORST time to FORCE change. Doing so without considering the ripple effects of what your passing is irresponsible and bordering on true recklessness. As a state we will be feeling the repercussions of these decisions for years to come by RUSHING something based on FEELINGS and MOB MENTALITY. Leadership is about staying calm and making the best decisions for the whole even when that means having to experience uncomfortable conversations. You are pandering to the mob which in the end will still want more.

Take a breath, listen to everyone especially experts on all sides to create true reform that is sustainable and with the least amount of ripple effects.

Please do not pass this bill currently written as it will destroy our respectable police and make it more and more unsafe for all lives (including those you are trying to appease).

Hello, my name is Melisa Nigro and I'm writing to express my concerns regarding S .2820.

I have professional experience with Qualified Immunity as I am a nurse. I feel as though you do not fully understand what it really means. If you did, it would not even be in this bill.

Qualified Immunity is not something that is automatic when you are a police officer or a nurse. You have to qualify for it, on a case by case basis.... meaning, so long as I do certain things the right way, I will be covered. For example, (1) don't break the law (2) don't violate department policies (3) don't violate someone's civil rights and (4) act within the scope of my training.

Egregious acts would DISQUALIFY police, firefighters, nurses, etc for immunity. I find it to be absolutely ridiculous that you CLEARLY are uneducated on this and yet you still plan to strip us of that protection...

In addition, other professions go before review boards of subject matter experts when having cases of misconduct reviewed (i.e. lawyers, doctors, etc). But you want us to be subjected to citizens who do NOT have the months and years of training, education and experience a person who has done the job comes equipped with to give fair due process.

You need to remove QI, due process and the civilian review boards!! This is completely UNFAIR and UNDESERVED.

Thank you for your time

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Sarah Iddrissu. I am from Boston, MA and I am one of the founders of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. This bill establishes the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

As a mother of a Black son, wife to a Black man in Massachusetts and I FEAR for their lives. I worry about my husband getting pulled over while driving more than I do an accident. Our policing systems now have a streak of violence unleashed on innocent citizens who can do no harm. We need to fix this! Terrorism is not supposed to come from our own municipalites.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Subject: Policing Omnibus Bill S.2820

S.2820 does almost nothing to prevent state violence against Black people or stop the flow of Black people into jails and prisons.

I believe S.2820 will cause more harm than good by increasing spending on law enforcement through training and training commissions, expanding the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and making no fundamental changes to the function and operation of policing in the Commonwealth. Real change requires that we shrink the power and responsibilities of law enforcement and shift resources from policing into most-impacted communities. The definition of law enforcement must include corrections officers who also enact racist violence on our community members.

If the Massachusetts legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and addressing systemic racism, this bill would eliminate cornerstones of racist policing including implementing a ban without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should decriminalize driving offenses which are a major gateway into the criminal legal system for Black and Brown people and poor and working class people. Rather than limiting legislation to moderate reforms and data collection, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. I also support student-led efforts to remove police from schools.

The way forward is to shrink the role and powers of police, fund Black and Brown communities, and defund the systems of harm and punishment which have failed to bring people of color safety and wellbeing. S.2820 does not help us get there.

Thank you,

My name is Norman Hodgerney and I live at 3 Johnny Cake Rd, Centerville, MA. <x-apple-data-detectors://4> As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve. Please do not abandon them to appease an angry and misguided "mob". Long term effects of this "quick fix" bill will have extremely negative and far reaching consequences.

I am writing to express my wishes that this bill be turned down. My son is a firefighter. I cannot understand how someone trying to save lives for a living can end up being punished and held responsible for injuries that may occur while doing so. If this bill passes, I believe more and more first responders may look the other way instead of doing what is in their nature which is to save lives and run into situations where others run away.

I believe what happened to George Floyd was a horrendous situation but also believe that most first responders are good people and should not be treated negatively due to a few bad apples. Let's learn from mistakes and move forward instead of backwards.

Thank you.

Stripping Law Enforcement of qualified immunity takes away their protection and due process. This state is in for some tough times if that happens. It would be safer for police and fire to do the bare minimum if this bill is passed and the public deserves more!!

Dear Chairman Michlewitz and Chairwoman Cronin,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your public service and allowing me to submit written testimony on behalf of Senate Bill 2820.

Unfortunately, the Bill proposed by the Senate last week had more to do with vengeance than reform. Instead of coming to a consensus and collectively making meaningful changes to avoid racial injustices in the Commonwealth, the Senate chose to attack the core of public sector unions' rights including Due Process, Collective Bargaining Rights and Qualified Immunity.

The Senate Bill version as presently drafted will seriously undermine public Safety in the Commonwealth. The anti-police rhetoric has created a false narrative that the only way to stop police misconduct is taking away Qualified Immunity. They believe that by suing cops they will change police misconduct and hold officers accountable. The reality is that the small amount of illegal conduct of officers around the country is hardly seen in Massachusetts. This is due to our professionalized training, community policing models and diversity in our ranks. If passed, SB 2820, will have unintended and unnecessary changes to qualified immunity for all public employees. Police officers will be hamstrung in the performance of their duties. The fact is that we will now be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any action hidden in this expansive bill. Frankly, the provisions in this bill will hurt good police officers and reward criminals by protecting drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools. If enacted, this bill will harm the very people that it's attempting to protect from police misconduct.

I am extremely concerned that the process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was at its very core undemocratic, flawed and lacked transparency. The bill is 70 pages long, with hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the General Laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and only a few days to digest and caucus before voting. The biggest sham was the lack of public comments in the rushed process.

I support uniformed standardized training statewide and policies as well as appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed in the Senate Bill is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth. The board as proposed in the Senate Bill would be fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniformed standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights, thus these actions would be deemed illegal under qualified immunity and subject to civil rights suit. This will limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups. If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

Sincerely,

Robert Pavadore

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely, Williams Gorman. Law enforcement professional for over 46 years

I vote AGAINST Police Reform Bill. Certain Politicians are adding to the already difficult and dangerous job of Law Enforcement. Police have so much to worry about already, including maybe not coming home one day and leaving behind a family they've been helping provide for. If you have not experienced something you should not have full say in it. There are way more people who support Police than the overall small mobs making noise. It's not right to continually make problems for Police Officers. Stop de-criminalizing criminals. Hold criminals accountable for their own actions.

If you're voting yes for Police reform bill, please reconsider. Thank you.

Subject: Testimony in Support of Bill S.2820

Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and Honorable Members of the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees,

My name is William Taylor. I'm a resident of Haverhill, a member of Greater Haverhill Indivisible and the Merrimack Valley project, and Chair the Universalist Unitarian Church of Haverhill's social justice outreach. I write to voice my support of Bill S.2820 ("An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color").

As you know, the present language of the bill shifts some funding from policing and prisons to education and workforce opportunities that promote equity. It also includes a number of overdue reforms. The bill strengthens the use of force standards and increases de-escalation training. It creates a majority-civilian Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Commission (POSAC) that would certify and decertify officers. It establishes stronger oversight and limitations on the procurement of military equipment. It bans racial profiling and places a moratorium on racist facial recognition technology. And it includes a number of measures that would reduce student criminalization and cut off the school-to-prison pipeline. These last six weeks have brought into clear focus how much these, and the many other reforms included in the bill, are needed.

With that said and to be very clear, I am not anti-police. I recognize that officers have demanding jobs and are often faced with dangerous situations. I greatly appreciate their willingness to sacrifice their lives while they protect and serve our communities. However, when officers break the law, use excessive force, and otherwise abuse their power, they should be held civilly liable for their misconduct. I urge House members to keep the current language of the Senate bill that places limits on qualified immunity intact.

I also recognize that many of these issues are complex, and that the legislature is facing a time crunch with the formal session drawing to a close at the end of the month. But I ask the House members to recognize the fierce urgency of these days and the need for action. Black and Brown communities are finally being heard; they're justifiably afraid that they won't be six months from now. We can't ask them to wait any longer. Therefore, I humbly ask that the House Ways and Means and Judiciary Committees report this bill out favorably, and that members of the House chamber take swift action to pass it thereafter.

Thank you for your consideration,

William Taylor

Hello,

Please include the following measures:

HD.5128, An Act Relative to Saving Black Lives and Transforming Public Safety, State Representative Liz Miranda bans choke-holds, no knock warrants, tear gas, and hiring abusive officers; creates a duty to intervene and to de-escalate and requires maintaining public records of officer misconduct.

HB.3277 An Act to Secure Civil Rights through the Courts of the Commonwealth, State Representative Michael Day which ends the practice of qualified immunity, making it possible for police officers to be personally liable if they are found to have violated a person's civil rights.

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Subject: Senate Bill S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing POs and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due to the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections, it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model to be used. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards.

Sincerely,

Gerald J. Sullivan

Subject: S.2820 - An Act for Police Reform

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Sir,

I would like to speak. (7744543392) My right to speak should be heard.

Please do not defund the Massachusetts police they are the best! They are trained very well they are high above all the standards of many other states. I am the daughter of a law-enforcement officer And my mother a deputy sheriff and I have a daughter who is in training presently.

I've endured those days of holidays with no mother and sometimes no father at home but they were doing what they do best protecting us the citizens of Massachusetts. I also endured those days when they saved a life or were the ones to tell a loved one their child's not coming home.

Please do not defund the police departments in our state we need highly trained officers.

I would say they need more money , please do not defund the police department.

Thank you and have a great day.

Good morning chair Michlewitz & chair Cronin and members of the house ways and means committee and judiciary committee,

I'm writing to show my support for S2820. Let's make change where we need it, the following must be remedied in order to achieve change that will actually make a difference:

- * The bill should eliminate qualified immunity
- * introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers
- * ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids
- * also in light of what is going on in Portland, every single person enforcing law in MA should be accountable by a name affixed on his/her uniform -

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Elena Belle White I am a resident of Jamaica Plain. I am writing this email as testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. In my opinion, this bill includes the bare minimum of what our state should be doing to reform our police forces in response to the historic outcry for racial justice and the protection of Black lives.

As a white member of our community - especially as a white woman - my safety is always prioritized. My life and body OVER-matter whereas the lives of Black people in our community UNDER-matter. We need to dismantle many of our racist systems, starting with the law enforcement.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Elena Belle White

The above referenced bill puts law enforcement in untenable situations. Law enforcement lives will be put in peril as well as their families lives with the elimination of qualified immunity. We are already seeing the lawless people emboldened in their attacks against law enforcement. I can only imagine a situation where a police officer is making an arrest and the general public has the right to interfere claiming the officer was using excessive force, we will end up with mobs attacking the police. Certification and continuing education are the only parts worth discussing.

Subject: Bill S 2820

Dear Rep. Aaron Michlewitz and Rep. Claire Cronin,

My name is Valerie Bartholomew and I live in Abington MA. I am married to a business owner and the mother of two wonderful children. I am also a police officer. I have worked in law enforcement for 23 ½ years, the past 20 years in Lakeville MA for the Lakeville Police Department. I care deeply about the community I work in. I got into law enforcement to make a difference in the world and help people. Not only am I a police officer but I am also the school resource officer for the Freetown Lakeville Regional School District and have held this important position for 5 years. I have made connections with people in the community and so many in the school system. As a SRO, I have done many things; taught classes, given assemblies, conducted mock crashes with Medflight, taught law enforcement internships, helped students get to school or home, and many other things. I have helped staff, administrators and students. I love my career.

If Bill S2820 passes I will have to decide if it is time to retire. I would never want my family to experience frivolous lawsuits against our well being due to me acting in good faith and trying to do my job. Qualified immunity needs to stay as is to protect good police (the vast majority of our occupation). We are all good people. We should not be paying for the sins of a few officers in other parts of the country. I have told my daughter many times, Massachusetts is different from other parts of the country. We are a great police force. For example, I have never in my career seen or heard of a coworker or area town police officer even using a choke hold.

It has saddened me to see the shift in attitude towards police that has been happening for quite some time. We are not the enemy. The added stress I have seen with myself and my coworkers from this bill saddens me. I worry about the impact this bill will have on the field. Many of us have spoken about retiring or seeking new careers. For the past several years it has already been difficult to fill vacant police positions.

I do not have a problem with additional training or with being certified. I do have a problem with every complaint on an officer being sent in to a committee that are not my peers. Simple fact - there are people who do not like the police. Working in a small town sometimes there may be one person who hates a particular police officer so much they will send frivolous complaints about the officer. How will this be determined by a committee that does not know the background of the town? A police chief would know this but a committee made up of people who don't know the dynamics of a town would not.

I dislike how this bill is being rushed! Please slow it down. Please include the people that it will affect so much in the decision process. I hope you are truly listening to community thoughts on this matter. My faith in politicians is wavering right now. This is my career on the line and I love my community.

Recently, I stood with my students at a rally/protest in Lakeville to support racial changes. I stood with them, we were not divided.

Please do not let a bill pass that will make for a dangerous environment for myself and other police officers. This is a poorly written and rushed bill. I am available for any questions at 508-509-4583. Thank you for your time and attention in this matter. Thank you for listening to the good people of the commonwealth.

My name is Mary Hodgerney and I live at 3 Johnny Cake Rd, Centerville, MA. <x-apple-data-detectors://4> As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve. Please do not abandon them to appease an angry and misguided "mob". Long term effects of this "quick fix" bill will have extremely negative and far reaching consequences.

Hello Judiciary Committee and Rep Pignatelli;

As a retired Lt on MSP I would like to voice my concern over the Senate's bill to do away with qualified immunity for police officers. Qualified immunity is given to ALL members of state, municipal and federal employees in the course of the performance of their job for a reason. It is a protection for the employee and their families to not have worry about losing their home or life savings because someone didn't like the way they did their job. Qualified immunity as written does not protect individuals that violate the constitutional rights of others. But it does protect them and their families from frivolous lawsuits.

If you take it away from only one group - then that is discriminatory. And where does it end - EMT's, fire personal, DCF workers, city councilors, judges, state reps?

If qualified immunity is no longer given to police officers, I believe the Commonwealth will lose a lot of qualified law enforcement officers. I assure you if I was not already retired I certainly would be putting in my papers with the passing of this bill. I fear for my son and his peers if passed as well. This is setting up a situation for officers to only respond to emergency situations, which goes against all policy and procedures, setting them up also for internal investigations as well as law suits. So, who would want to do this job? Most likely only the candidates who previously were rejected from the job who now see an opening and a pay check.

While I understand the need for reform, please do not go overboard by punishing all police officers. This is a punitive act which is being done in response to a national tragedy miles away with completely different laws and training which do not exist in Mass. Police are not the enemy. Thank you.

Subject: S2820

Good morning,

I am writing to express my opposition to S2820 (formally S2820), "An act to reform Police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable fair and just Commonwealth that values black lives and communities of color", especially with no public input.

This bill goes too far, ie., it will handcuff the Police Departments and / or Officers from doing their job. A job which is to protect all of the public. It will make us all less safe. We are seeing it around the country as LTC applications are up, 277%? Are we going back to the days of the wild west?

All of the Committees being added, will just add more layers of bureaucracy, while not really improving the product. More paperwork, logs etc.

Loss of "qualified immunity" will make Policing more difficult. As expressed, starting at line 419, "a person whose exercise in the enjoyment", means frivolous lawsuits will proceed, discouraging any LEO from engaging the public. LEO have to make split second decisions, we do not need their head clouded with thoughts of, will I be suspended, fired or sued.

No tear gas (dogs and horses?) use - necessary tools in dispersing crowds. No "free" Military grade property - at a time when state and local budgets are stretched to the limit, free tools should not be banned. No deadly force, without de-escalation. Sometimes the LEO's have no choice. All of the officers I know, have never had to discharge their weapon. Why restrict them? Their conscience and higher authority will apply.

If the responding dispatched officer is not certified on the reported call, they cannot enter the building. Sometimes, time is of the essence to potentially save lives. Why restrict them?

I disagree with school personnel from interacting with school resource officers as a lot of the potential troublemakers, could be dissuaded.

Quotas/logs on prison populations - shouldn't DOC have these records available today? MV stops logged and reviewed for racial profiling - don't we do that today? I have been self-quarantining in NH, when I was stopped by a NH State Trooper for a taillight violation. There was no confrontation. Could I have been profiled for having a Mass plate in NH? Don't know and don't care.

Making health records public. Isn't this a violation of HIPPA laws?

I have a nephew on the Nashua force, niece who works for Danvers PD, her husband a Purple Heart recipient on the Beverly force, a US Marshall, cousins on Medford and Belmont PD, a niece retired from Mt Pleasant SC PD, an uncle retired from the Transit PD, several neighbors and family friends on various departments; my daughter is waiting on the call from Arlington PD, so I am truly concerned about their safety, as well as all citizens. By rejecting this bill, you will "Back the Blue" at a time when they need your support.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. I would like the Massachusetts House of Representatives to know that we do not need police reform. Don't jump on this bandwagon. We are not Minneapolis or Ferguson. We do not have a race problem in Massachusetts. We have a political problem in Massachusetts.

We would like our police to not be afraid of arresting anyone regardless of skin color if they have committed a crime that warrants an arrest. That is fairness, that is equality. Stop playing games.

Do not fail us. If you, as a government, take away the one thing government is absolutely responsible for, our safety, then you will have failed us.

Please understand, if you make the job of police officer more difficult you will de-incentivize order. If that is what you want then there is no good future for our state or our country.

This bill will not satisfy anyone on either side. In your search for equal outcomes, beware of making everyone equally miserable and pissed off.

Do not vote S.2800 into law.

Good Morning,

As a resident of the 9th Suffolk district, I demand that the House pass this bill to protect Black lives in Massachusetts. Reform to Massachusetts policing is long overdue. Eliminating qualified immunity for police officers who use excessive use of force is needed in our State! We must hold racist police accountable for their actions. Eliminating choke holds, restricting tear gas, rubber bullet, attack dog, and no-nock warrants are life saving measures that need to be passed.

Redirecting funding away from policing can help Massachusetts make large steps to rectify the way the racist Massachusetts justice system has preyed on its Black residents.

This bill has so much more included in it that is so so important to me as a constituent. THIS BILL NEEDS TO BE PASSED BY THE HOUSE NO EXCUSES!!!

MAKE SURE YOU ALL KEEP ALL OF YOUR RESIDENTS IN MIND WHEN THINKING ABOUT WETHER TO SIGN!

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

Investing in our communities is so much more valuable than investing in police. Creating jobs that teach people up help and to nurture, rather than police, is so much more humane. The commonwealth has been a leader in many policies from healthcare to equal marriage rights, let us lead the way in this aspect, as well.

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Sincerely,

Erika Dickinson

Dear Rep. Berthiaume,

I would like the Massachusetts House of Representatives to know that I do not support S.2800. We do not have a police problem here in Massachusetts. We have a politician problem in Massachusetts.

In particular I am deeply disturbed by the provision to allow for the commission to receive gifts and donations as part of this bill. Any reasonable person understands that this incentivizes conflicts of interest, and invites corruption and bias. We have laws about this. It is disturbing that our lawmakers would seek to circumvent the law in this manner.

Has the Boston Marathon bombing become so distant in memory that our leaders don't remember the wave of officers that immediately raced towards the explosions- when every natural instinct in the human body is to run away? Our brave officers deserve better than this from our leaders.

If anything, our officers need more funding, more support. Additional training is always good. On the contrary, creating new racist policies, like S.2800, does nothing to eradicate racism, or bias. What we know about George Floyd's murder, along with Justine Damon's murder is that Minneapolis has a police problem. And we know that their leaders have been absent from taking action, as evidenced by the 17+ complaints against officer Chauvin. Yes, Minneapolis has a police problem. But more so they have a politician problem. A total lack of real leadership. Massachusetts can do better.

We the voters are understanding this now. Our eyes are wide open. We are taking notice of how our elected leaders here in the Commonwealth are behaving. Releasing inmates into the public while killing the morale of our officers is one of the most irresponsible actions we have witnessed by our states leaders to date.

Providing for our safety, health, and welfare is an exclusive state power. Yet, with this bill, it would become obvious that our leaders are as ineffective as those in Minnesota, and do not care about their constituents, especially their most vulnerable citizens, who would be at most risk by this bill, as our officers would become less apt to help because of out of fear.

Do not fail us. If you, as a government, take away the one thing State government is absolutely responsible for, our safety, then you will have failed us.

This bill does not provide for equality, it creates inequality.

Do not vote S.2800 into law.

You will do significantly more harm than good to our police AND to the people in the communities whom you are trying to protect by passing this bill. Look at what is happening across the country! Our political "leaders" are being ruled by the mob and the mob is taking full advantage of it. They are not remotely afraid of the police because people like you have chosen not to support them. And it's the low-income communities who are suffering the most. You should be giving MORE funding to the police not less. Increase training, increase support across various specialities, but my God do not cut them off at the knees!

Hi,

As a constituent, I would like to voice that I am strongly in favor of most parts of the police reform bill being discussed in the Senate. The commissions to keep watch on the police may prove to be useful, and databases that show the disciplinary actions of the police are very valuable to the public. Banning choke holds, tear gas, and requiring de-escalation is an important step to restoring the public's faith in the police force, and starting to undo the history of unfair and racist policing that has marred our police force since its founding.

I am not in favor of additional money going to the police for additional trainings that have not shown to be effective. However, if they need to stay in to get the whole bill to pass, I am okay with that compromise.

This bill is a step in the right direction and I am in favor of its passage.

It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

I have been part of the highs and lows in law enforcement for almost 15 years now. I have served this profession and my community (Mashpee) with honor, integrity and pride during this time. To see a legislation like this it is disheartening to say the least. Nobody dislikes bad cops more than good cops. This bill as it stands does more harm than good to our communities. We as a profession are okay with reform. We are okay with being held to a higher but FAIR standard, which this is not. No profession as a whole has been dragged through the mud more than law enforcement. I understand that people are hurt and want to see change, however this is not the change we need. We are going to create a profession that will not be able to recruit good cops. Departments will have even lesser qualified officers applying in the future. Who will want to do this job? I have served in the military, corrections and now law enforcement. There has been nothing more rewarding than wearing this uniform for the last 15 years. Just like the military and corrections I have served with some truly dedicated professionals in those 15 years. I will keep trying to make a difference as long as I have this job, however we need your help.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Respectfully,

William Cuozzo

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Mark Loud and I live at 30 Putnam Rd, Revere. I work at Suffolk County Sheriff Department and am a corrections officer inside the House of Correction. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Mark Loud

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

Subject: Testimony on Senate Bill 2820 - Police Reform

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Finally, as a social worker whose career has been in public mental health, I support training in de-escalation techniques when interacting with people whose behavior may be based on psychiatric symptoms or relate to being under the influence of substances. There are examples of best practice program involving mental health clinicians "riding along" with police and rapid response by trained emergency service psychiatric clinicians across many communities in Massachusetts. Trainings in Crisis Intervention or "CIT" are also the safest ways to de-escalate persons who may be a danger to themselves or others but NOT a threat to commit acts of violence in a criminal way that requires use of force to prevent those actions.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Thank you for your service in these most challenging times.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: S2820

I hope this is read and not discarded. I urge you to please vote against S2820. This bill was rushed and there are way too many problems with it.

I've been a police officer for 5 years and started at the age of 38. This was my dream job. Seeing what is happening with the way our elected officials trying to "reform" how we do our jobs has turned this job into a nightmare. This bill is dangerous and not only puts officers at risk but it ensures that the public will be much less safe.

Before anything is said about the contents of the bill, the obvious issue is that Massachusetts police officers are not a problem worth passing emergency legislation over. An issue happened 1200 miles away and the way the media and social media is portraying 99.9% of police officers is insulting. Does anyone voting on this bill know any facts about any officer involved killing in Massachusetts over the past 5 years? You should. How about facts involving excessive force in Massachusetts? You should. If you're trying to create legislation regarding policing, these are things that should be well known. If you do look at the facts, you'll realize that every state should be looking at the way officers in mass do their jobs and it would become a model for everywhere else in the country.

A few issues that stood out in the bill that are troubling:

-Ending qualified immunity. Doing a job that requires split second decisions during the highest stress, is extremely difficult. How about a lawmaker try the police simulator at the Brookline PD and come back to report about what happened? Qualified immunity is imperative for police officers. We should be afforded as much protection as possible. If there's anything less, there will be an entire new breed of lawyers advertising on TV and the amount of frivolous civil lawsuits against officers will be crippling.

- use of choke holds. This needs to be addressed. Are you telling me that if my life is in imminent danger, a criminal is on top of my choking me out as my last breath of oxygen is escaping my body, that I'm allowed to shoot and kill the person but I couldn't choke him? How does that make any sense? If my life is on the line, and my firearm is out of reach. Let's say at that moment I could maybe try and put on some kind of chokehold to save my own life or the lives of the public....but I'm not allowed to because of this bill? I'm supposed to just sit there and die? Hopefully you have something nice to tell my family when you have to notify them of my killing.

This is on the heels of the 2nd anniversary of Sgt Chesna's murder. A Purple Heart recipient, war hero, and veteran officer. He hesitated to shoot a criminal that was threatening to hit him with a boulder. Sgt Chesna and every officer knows that is a lethal use of force situation. He hesitated and I'm sure it had to do with the climate of improper reporting and public sentiment about police brutality. It cost him his life. Anything you do that puts officers lives in danger is insulting and criminal. Take away your qualified immunity while we're at it.

- make police officers part of any process that involves proposed legislation about policing. Do you make changes to education without educators? Medical care without doctors? Have you consulted any minority officers to get their perspectives?

- pat frisks. Pat frisks are crucial to officer safety. Part of the bill would require reporting if I check someone for a weapon when I have the right to do so? Every winter when I am at a scene, it's cold. People are bundled up and their hands are in their pockets. To put everyone at ease and to help keep everyone warm, I ask if I can check to make sure they don't have weapons so they can put their hands back in their pockets and be bundled up to keep warm. Now I have to report that? All this is going to do is make sure we do less of these and it puts us and the public in danger. Not to mention it'll make every incident less comfortable for all involved when I have to order people to keep their hands where I can see them at all times, even if it's 10 degrees outside.

Obviously we are just touching the tip of the iceberg here. This legislation needs to be put away until this can be addressed properly and thoroughly. I urge you to read the testimony sent in by Chief Brooks about this legislation. He brings up many valid points much more eloquently than I did.

Don't punish the great officers of Massachusetts for the sins of someone 1200 miles away.

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Boston, MA 02133 <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Andrew LeBlanc and I live at 41 Beaver Brook Rd in North Andover, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Andrew LeBlanc

Good morning Representative McMurtry and all members of the House. My name is Robert Rinn and I am a retired police officer. I retired after serving 38 yrs. I have a son who has been a police officer for 6 years and a daughter waiting to enter the Police Academy.

I am writing today to ask for you to vote against this bill for many reasons. This bill was hastily written without input and discussion from many groups that it will affect.

I agree that there may be change needed but if you look at our Commonwealth there have been very few incidents of Police Officers abusing citizens. I know that may not be the case in other states, but it is the case here. So I don't think a bill that has not had input from so many people, Mass. Police Training Council, Mass. Chiefs of Police Assoc. , Mass. Coalition of Police, Mass. Police Assoc. , and so many others should be passed hurriedly just to appease certain special interest groups. There is time to craft a bill of real, true, informed, and well thought out substance during the next session instead of pushing through a poorly put together, rushed bill to appease the very vocal special interest groups screaming for change.

I am asking you for 2 things; a Nay vote on this bill, and then to work with everyone and craft a real, workable bill in the next session that will serve everyone in the Commonwealth better.

I know we can do better than this. Please vote no so. We can do better.

Sincerely,

Robert W. Rinn

Subject: Senate bill S2800

Dear Speaker DeLeo,

Good morning, my name is Kristin Campbell. I am the proud wife of James, a Quincy Fire Lieutenant. James is also a paramedic at South Shore Hospital, he works both jobs so that I can be home to raise our little girls.

The past 4 months have been like none other for us. However, while most of us were staying "safe at home" during the quarantine, James went out everyday to work and serve the public.

His department changed shifts to 48 hours straight. There were of course tears from our already scared and confused little girls, Molly(7) and Meredith(4). On top of their worlds being turned upside down they missed their daddy at bedtime.

I was worried James may get sick and possibly expose me and our girls to it. Their were discussions about finding somewhere for him to stay, possibly a hotel paid for out of our own pockets. In reality, as a first responder family, we couldn't "stay safe" at home like many others. But as always, James and I worked through it together. James is the calm presence in our lives.

I've often thought, he's helped so many people not just with his years of training but his calm demeanor. I've been approached by many people over the years that they were so relieved to see James walk in when their dad was having a heart attack or their mom had fallen. It brings me comfort to know that at least when he's at work and I'm nervous for him, he's helping those people with his calming reassuring way.

This week we are together as a family vacationing in NH. We look forward to this trip every year when all our worries just seem to roll off our shoulders. This year was different.

When I heard that the Senate had taken a vote on the controversial S2800 in the middle of the night, I was confused and disgusted. That was such a cowardly act. My husband isn't a coward. He has risked his life several times over his 20 year career to save the life of a stranger.

I speak to you today also as the family and friend of many law enforcement officers. I am appalled at the treatment they are receiving. They put their lives on the line everyday to protect us. But ignorance is bliss. People don't truly appreciate them and what they do until your time of need comes and they are there.

I spent 8 years working for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 4 years at the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office. I was so affected by some of the things I read and saw during my time at the DA's office. Officers seeing children abused, seeing people die in the most violent ways, and elders abused and exploited by the very people entrusted to their care. Police officers trying to help while being abused and vilified by a portion of the public that hates them, and going back everyday to do it again. I too had a heart to serve, but tapped out after 4 years. I commend the public servants that march forward everyday in their calling. This bill is a rushed, emotional reaction to the current climate in society and it's wrong. These public servants have fought for decades to get safer working conditions through collective bargaining and now that is being limited by this bill. That qualified immunity is being limited so that they question their responses and training in an emergency situation or may be civil sued is downright frightening to me. I've seen many refer to malpractice by doctors and that first responders should be held accountable like them. Well, physicians are covered by malpractice insurance paid for by their employers in the fees charged to patients. How will malpractice insurance be paid for the first responders to be covered? By their employers? So, the taxpayers?

Senator Keenan, who represents my district spoke of corruption within the Springfield Police Department as part of his motivation for voting yes on this bill. While I would agree that in every profession there is room for improvement and change, this is not the way.

I would ask that it be mandatory for every member of the Legislature to ride along for a shift with the Springfield Fire and Police Department prior to their vote being recorded.

Thank you for your time and attention.

Sincerely,
Kristin Campbell

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Leah Mulrenan. I am a lifelong resident of Woburn, Mass. I am writing this to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety.

I am a white woman that has always felt safe with police, however, I have seen discrimination and have seen countless examples where the police, like every other section of society, are flawed people. We cannot allow this if it result in unnecessary death. If the mission of the police is to protect and serve, everyone should feel confident that they are safe in their presence.

There are a lot of reasons I support this bill, that I'm sure you won't have time to read, so I will keep my words to a minimum.

Massachusetts has been on the right side of history for many things. I am proud of my state. And I do feel that the majority of our police are good. However, we cannot have bad cops. That's just not something that should be allowed. It is my opinion that this bill will protect everyone, police included. And that is something that everyone should want.

I urge you to ensure that all of this bill stays intact. It is my hope that Massachusetts continues to be on the right side of history.

Thank you for your time, I hope that you will give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear Sir or Madam,

I write to express my disappointment, sadness and outrage, really, over the "Police Reform Bill" that was hastily crafted and then railroaded through the State Senate earlier this week in the wee hours of the morning. That alone is nothing short of OUTRAGEOUS. If passed into law, this will literally (without exaggeration) cause police officers to become unable to perform the most important duties required of them in order to maintain public safety.

The rush to permanently amend Massachusetts General Law is essentially an over the top emotional and ignorant reaction on the part of many local Legislators to recent issues in the news. Massachusetts already has the highest standards across the board for all 14,000+ police officers that work in this state - period. Only California has similiar standards on a statewide level. There is no legitimate reason to prompt such drastic upheaval of the law and the police's ability to enforce it aside from the fact that a loud and tumultuous group of anti-government/anti-police/anti-capitalist centric protestors has seized the airwaves and is dominating the conversation via social media.

The 72 page Bill contains numerous constraints that are not practical and not able to be implemented without causing irreparable harm to our otherwise well balanced system of governance.

Police Officers, our heros, are being attacked both figuratively (with this bill) and literally as they are being physically attacked on a daily basis.

Please take this into consideration,
Carly Skorupa

Good morning,

I am completely baffled by the cowardly bill that was passed at 4:11am so they could avoid the pushback.

I completely support the police and that this bill, written as is, is dangerous for the police, their families, and the communities they live in.

There is no way this bill will help anyone except those looking for a way to break the law.

We accept change that will make the wold a safer place to live. This is not that kind of change.

Do people not realize that police officers are going to stop running in and saving lives If they are not supported and protected??

I will assure you that if this bill passes, my family will be moving out of state and you will lose MANY good, qualified, police officers that are putting their life on the line every single day!

Please think about this and realize that it is something that you have been bullied into and is NOT the change that we need!

This reform is urgent because it affects everyone. An unsafe community anywhere makes all of us less safe. Trust in our police is essential, and can only happen when fair and just practices are in place and police are held accountable

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Dear Legislators,
Please do not pass bill S2800! Ending qualified immunity is not the answer to the problem we are facing right now. It would be a knee jerk reaction to the country & states current climate of BLM. We need a more through discussion of policies & procedures and real time training for our police. Our Boston police department has been "community policing" for a very long time. The Boston Police have many different ways to engage the youth & communities you are so worried about. We did not have a "George Floyd" incident here!! Are there bad cops absolutely as in every profession but to handicap our police officers for the actions of one man in Minneapolis or a few in Kentucky is just wrong.
You as a legislators need to hold public hearing & get testimony over a period of time like most things passed in our state. Just going to say I was so disappointed in your overnight session to ram this bill through.

Thankfully my Senator Nick Collins voted no.

Please hold hearings but hopefully in the end you will not remove qualified immunity from our police, fire & medical & public officials.

Subject Line: Objections to S.2820

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin

Massachusetts House of Representatives

24 Beacon Street

Boston, MA 02133

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Randy Kershaw and I live at 13 Darrel Ave. in Granby,
Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Randy Kershaw

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

I am writing to you regarding Massachusetts Bill S.2800. I am very disturbed about how this bill is being quickly pushed through in the middle of the night, while it will have tremendous repercussions on our police departments, tying their hands, and preventing them from doing their jobs. While there are portions of the bill that may bring about higher standards for our officers, removing qualified immunity as one of their rights is simply unacceptable. As a registered and active voter, I am disheartened by the actions of politicians that I have voted for, who are responding with a knee jerk reaction to the loud actions of the few, while ignoring the majority of the population. I look forward to your reply, and I respectfully ask that you consider not supporting the removal of qualified immunity for our police officers.

Subject: Bill S2820

Dear Honorable Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives,

I write to you as a life long resident of Massachusetts and 12 year police officer in the City of Worcester. I am hoping for you to please consider making serious changes to Bill S2820. This bill is an anti-policing and anti-labor bill that has dire consequences to the safety of the commonwealth and the rights of all labor unions.

One of the key areas I hope you will consider is the elimination of qualified immunity for police officers. As currently stated qualified immunity only protects those good officers who act within the law and the constitution. Changes or elimination of qualified immunity will prevent good cops from being able to do their job. Please do not eliminate something for Police that you would not eliminate for yourself.

Another key area of the Bill is the make up of the Posac board and the lack of Due Process. I can not think of any other profession who's oversight committee is made up of anything but members of said profession. The board should consist of persons from the criminal justice fields and with criminal justice backgrounds.

The lack of the ability for appeal in any decision made by the board would strip Police of their Due Process rights that are otherwise afforded to all Americans.

While I do feel more training is always a positive, and good cops need to speak up against bad cops, I appeal to you to please not rush to a bill with dire consequences. Massachusetts Police Officers should not be punished by the actions of other Officers from thousands of miles away. Please Consider retaining Qualified Immunity, Due Process and maintaining a Posac board made up of members of the criminal justice world. Please also refrain from rushing to pass a bill merely for the sake of saying you passed something without realizing the impacting consequences.

Thank you for your time and consideration. Please do the right thing by Massachusetts Police Officers and the safety of all Commonwealth Residents

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Ashley McCarthy and I live at 130 N Washington St. Apt 302 North Attleboro, MA 02760. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Good morning,

It is with great interest as a citizen of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that I urge our state's leadership to reform our practice of qualified immunity. Qualified immunity is a well intentioned concept that was created to protect our public service immunity from civil suits unless it can be "clearly established statutory or constitutional rights of which a reasonable person would have known."

While this language sounds innocent, the application of qualified immunity has evolved, or devolved, into protecting those public servants including police who have performed egregious abuses of their commitment to serve and protect our public. It is not enough to protect an officer's actions that were in "good faith" or that the officer "believed their actions were lawful" or that violation of those affected by police action was not "clearly established." I work in health care and if I had harmed a patient intentionally or not, none of those excuses would protect me from liability.

Qualified immunity creates a loophole for those who would intentionally or not violate the public's rights and cause harm to escape liability. There is much room for reform and improvement and I hope you will consider removing the current standard for qualified immunity to better protect the Commonwealth.

Sincerely

Dear Representatives,

I hope this reaches you well and I hope you have the chance to read this all the way through. I am reaching out because the bill you are looking to put through regarding police reform has caught my eye and I've become very concerned for what this means for the future of our Commonwealth.

While I am sixteen years old please do not let my young age invalidate my opinion. I am the daughter of a state police officer as well as an honors student with a devotion to community service and I hope you will take some time for deep consideration of my viewpoint.

First of all, Senator Tran has brought to the public's attention that this bill is being put forward with no public hearing (ironic, because a portion of it requires law enforcement to endure public hearings before making weaponry/monetary decisions), and no input from communities of color or law enforcement. So please let the voice a young girl concerned for her father's life and the wellbeing of her community ring clear if none else.

Senator Tran's amendments or similar must be passed for this bill to have an ounce of dignity. Please know that I am not purposely directly supporting Senator Tran. I simply feel very strongly towards the statements he has made about this bill and I commend those who have made similar statements. These amendments are, in the Senator's own words:

- chokehold in self-defense: to allow officers to defend themselves.
- teaching of the history of racism: if law enforcement is mandated to have this training, legislators should as well.
- collective bargaining: this bill shall not impact the current municipal and state contracts.
- grant programs for municipalities: provide funding for municipalities to implement the bill.
- qualified immunity: removes the section in the bill that impedes on qualified immunity. This section allows civil lawsuits against officers, jeopardizing the public safety service they provide to you.

Allow me to speak from the heart when I say I need my dad. He works his tail off to protect the state . And he works just as hard to be a great dad. Last year 89 police officers were killed in the line of duty. This year, half way through, 120 have already been killed. Another 90 have committed suicide. With more divisiveness and violence than we've seen in decades, family members like me are scared and we need our legislators now more than ever to keep our loved ones safe. This means allowing appropriate self defense, qualified immunity, and due process of law that allows them to perform their job. Qualified immunity is what allows an officer to make their best judgements, the judgements in those split second decisions where lives are on the line that I hope you have the empathy to put yourselves in. If you want to improve these judgements it happens in the foundation of the training. Help them structure a training system that gives you faith in protecting their judgements. Many of these judgements happen during a life or death situation, and the lack of qualified immunity increases the danger for not only the officer but all the people they are trying to protect. While I believe qualified immunity should not protect actions that are clearly in violation of a law or someone's rights (it does not, unless misinterpreted by the court system), it is a necessary concept due to intensity of the job and possible debates over what's right and wrong according to the law. It is overall best for an officer to be removed from a case while the municipality continues examination for future instances so that they can focus on their judgements and actions as their training has taught them. From all I have seen and researched, Massachusetts already has a strong law enforcement education system in place. Understand that my dad is a crisis negotiator. This is the unit specifically trained to deescalate situations. It is their job. Almost any dispatch call can include violence, and while cops signed up to put their lives on the line, the social workers that other communities ask to be put in did not. I ask that you take the time to look at it closely at the education and examine whether it falls short in any area so that these cops can do what they signed up to do in a way that increases the communities faith in their actions. Senator Tran is right that both legislators and law enforcement need to be educated on racism as they both will affect the future of justice and equality.

I'd like to also touch upon the parts of this bill that "prohibits schools from cooperating with law enforcement agencies" and "removes the requirement for a school resource officer." While the lack of requirement is seemingly acceptable, I will be questioning my return to school if my district chooses to remove our school officer. We did multiple school shooting training sessions last year. For the last two years a huge "what if" has loomed over every school in the country as shootings rapidly increased and now they threaten to take away our best resource in such an instance. And school shootings are only the extremes of the situations in which I hope we have an officer beside us. I also believe that collaboration with law enforcement, especially among young people, is what will eventually lead to a more unified and peaceful future. The partnership between law enforcement and students has often proved to be one that fosters care in replacement of fear and a better understanding of one another.

Another concern with the current S2800 is "creates a licensing board with no law enforcement representation." This entire bill screams "lack of democracy." The people that understand law enforcement the best are the ones that have been in it for years. It is simply ridiculous to not include them in these important decisions regarding their job. You would have people make decisions on this system who have never lived a day in it. To build a more united society you need conversation and collaboration. I am disappointed in the lack there of.

While your efforts to improve police training, limit racial profiling, and establish a commission on the status of African Americans are admirable, this bill has multiple harmful aspects as it stands. You are pulling five million dollars annually from taxpayers for a bill that not only more-so attacks law enforcement than it does address racial inequality, but also could pass with no voices of those who will be affected by it heard.

I ask that you proceed carefully. Instead of thinking politics, think people. Think of the 16 year old girl who just wants her dad to come home and wants communities across the state to be safer than ever. This only comes with collaboration. Please work with our law enforcement and our communities of color to find the best solution. I look up to politicians who fight for their people and I believe you all have the seats you do because you have done so, but when you lose the democracy you start to lose my respect. This bill is important. Please let it be so for the right reasons.

With much appreciation for your service to our Commonwealth,
Margot Sonia

Subject: Senate Bill 2820: An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Massachusetts House Judiciary Committee Members:

I cannot urge you strongly enough not to support Senate Bill 2820 now pending in the House. This bill endangers and cripples the ability of our state and municipal police officers, firefighters and other public safety professionals to perform their sworn duty to uphold and enforce the duly enacted laws and regulations of our Commonwealth. In so doing this bill will endanger the well-being of all the residents of this Commonwealth. The bill, among other things, removes qualified immunity from these public servants. All of you, as elected officials in this Commonwealth, benefit from absolute immunity. Imagine if you were subject to personal lawsuit every time you proposed or voted upon legislation that a citizen deemed adversely affected their rights or well-being and what the consequences and expense you would be subject to as you tried to defend your action. I doubt that you would vote for a law that would take away your absolute immunity or one that would reduce it to a qualified immunity. While serving as Fire Chief in the City of Lawrence I, along with the City's Electrical Inspector, were personally sued for enforcing laws of this Commonwealth. Without the protection of qualified immunity I would not have been able to defend myself. Defending and losing the suit could have potentially financially ruined both the electrical inspector and myself. I never would have accepted the position of Fire Chief (or firefighter) nor would I ever recommend an aspiring firefighter or police officer to apply for either of those positions without the protection of qualified immunity. My son is a nine veteran of the Massachusetts State Police. We are closely watching this bill and discussing what his alternatives will be to protect himself, his family and his home from frivolous lawsuits.

Besides removing qualified immunity Senate Bill 2800 also makes it very difficult for a police officer to physically defend him or herself. While I served as a Deputy Fire Chief and Fire Chief in the City of Lawrence for twenty-four years I daily wore a uniform similar in appearance to that of a police officer. I had an incident at the Lawrence Post Office where I had to wrestle to the floor an unruly individual as he imposed physical harm to an elderly woman and then to myself. I cannot remember if I had to temporarily employ a choke hold to subdue the individual, but at that time I would not have hesitated to do so to protect myself and others. I had no other alternative. Earlier this week I watched a video from the morning's news wherein a New York City police officer was placed in a headlock by a thug. Here's a link to the video

In addition this bill perpetuates the supposed differences between people because of the color of their skin. Why does our government continue to differentiate citizens of the United States? Labels such as "African American" or "Hispanic American" applied to a person or a group of persons who are natural born citizens of these United States should not be incorporated into our laws. No matter what circumstances brought our grandparents here we are all now United States citizens. Organizations, such as the NAACP and Black Lives Matter (BLM) are by their very names inherently racist. This must be called out for what it is and not incorporated into our laws. Senate Bill 2820 as titled and written will serve to further divide citizens from one another. This is the root of "systemic racism!" Senate Bill 2820 is a misdirected knee jerk reaction by the Commonwealth's Legislature. All the people of this Commonwealth deserve better.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Gene H. Theroux

Boston, MA 02133 <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

My name is Gregory Mailloux and I live at 111 Gay Road in Groton Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard in the Massachusetts House of Representatives tomorrow for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant (most likely a police officer) before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiff's constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits.

The erosions of S.2800 place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far-reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Please put decisions about student safety in educators' and families' hands

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, Rep Hunt (my own representative), and the rest of the House Ways & Means Committee, and the House Judiciary Committee,

I know that today you will be considering the "Reform-Shift-Build" bill that the Senate passed a few days ago. I hope you will pass a strong version of it, and in particular, I would like to ask you to include certain provisions.

First, there's a section in the Senate bill which addresses public school student information privacy. It became part of the bill as Amendment 108 (Protecting Students from Profiling), introduced by Sen Jehlen. As a teacher in the Boston Public Schools, this area is very important to me. The senate bill restricts what information schools can pass to law enforcement and the BPD Gang Database. This is extremely important, and has been needed for a long time. Strengthening the firewall between schools and police is critical to allowing students to feel safe and comfortable at school, and to allow teachers to feel safe doing our jobs, without worrying that we will accidentally do or say something that puts our students at risk. I urge you to maintain that section from the senate bill.

Second, there's a portion of the Senate bill which gives local school committees power over decisions regarding school resource officers and school police (rather than the superintendent or local police chief). This is a really important shift, because local school committees are much more accountable to the public, and the use of police in schools is one of the biggest decisions that can affect how students are channeled into the school-to-prison pipeline or whether students are safe from police violence at school. Recently, Boston City Councilors, the Boston NAACP, and the Boston Teachers Union have all affirmed that we should no longer have police in the Boston Public Schools. Please maintain the section of the senate bill that would actually allow the Boston School Committee to make that decision.

Third, there is a lot of misinformation about what the senate bill does to outlaw qualified immunity that is currently circulating on social media. Please act based on the facts and maintain the senate bill's approach to qualified immunity, which introduces some basic accountability for public officials who violate people's civil and human rights.

Fourth, please help fix one mistake the senate made. They did not really ban chokeholds, since the definition of a chokehold is so narrow that many abusive, dangerous chokeholds would still be allowed. NO POLICE CHOKEHOLDS SHOULD EVER BE ALLOWED. If we didn't learn that from the tragic death of Eric Garner, we certainly should have learned it from the tragic death of George Floyd.

Thank you for your consideration, and for taking up this crucial piece of legislation.

Best,
Russell Weiss-Irwin

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

As a teacher in a public high school, I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Stripping Law Enforcement of qualified immunity takes away their protection and due process. This state is in for some tough times if that happens. It would be safer for police and fire to do the bare minimum if this bill is passed and the public deserves more!!

Do NOT pass this bill!!!

These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Daniel FitzGerald,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down qualified immunity in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, and 52, as well as amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Police reform testimony opposition to bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

God bless the Commonwealth! We need God first and foremost and His laws in these times. My name is Francesco Rondinelli and I am a Massachusetts native but currently reside at 100 Hill Street, Coventry, Rhode Island 02816. I work at MCI-Norfolk state prison as a Correction Officer. I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public and our communities.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits. Also, the stress of everyday correctional work (daily verbal abuse and at times physical) with the additional stress of pending lawsuits for staff on a regular basis will only add negative effects and suicides to law enforcement families who are literally putting their lives on the line for our community on a daily basis.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop" when being assaulted or preventing a riot or escape, to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. I'm asking you to please imagine in your mind a 6'5, 350 lb, all muscle individual charging at you what options would be most effective in that scenario for law enforcement staff? We are all for de-escalation 1st and foremost but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise. Our job is very complex, unruly tension and outbursts of very strong gang members is played out on a daily basis in our communities and at our prisons EVERYDAY and we as Correction Officer's have to weather that storm DAILY. K9's are essential to that as well. Please don't let the mistakes of one foolish officer change tactics WE NEED. The public doesn't realize the grand scope of what law enforcement deals with, the atrocities you see are extremely heart breaking for both victims and people who commit crimes causing generational devastation. MORE LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS HAVE DIED HERE ON OUR SOIL FROM VIOLENT OFFENDERS THAN SOLDIERS DID OVERSEAS THROUGHOUT THE WAR ON TERROR. We need to demote crime but i fear this bill promotes it by disabling officers from doing their job efficiently.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. THE NEED FOR RESPONSIBLE AND QUALIFIED INDIVIDUALS ON ANY COMMITTEE SHOULD BE FIRST AND FOREMOST.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer. Who do we need to keep our streets safe from as well? Please don't dismantle proven community policing practices. Classes on racism should be taught but disarming your police should not be part of this bill. Please think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time and God bless.

Sincerely,

Francesco Rondinelli

Subject: Do Not Strip Police, Fire and Nurses of Qualified Immunity

I just learned that you are including Nurses and Firemen in this bill. Nurses who have just spent the last several months making incredible sacrifices and at great risk taking care of COVID 19 patients and were and still are at great risk to themselves and their families. Fire Dept. Personnel who risk their lives rescuing people and preserving their homes and so many other things they do on a daily basis. Seeing them on the news in the dead of winter with icicles hanging from their helmets and uniforms or in the summer in the heat and humidity carrying 100 lbs of protective equipment.

Police, Fire and Nurses, the very people and their families that make great sacrifices every day for an ungrateful public. I can't believe you all are even considering a bill like this. Anyone who votes to pass this bill should hang their heads in shame.

Subject: Do Not Strip Law Enforcement of Qualified Immunity

I am 100% against stripping Law Enforcement of qualified immunity. This action would take away their protection and due process. The good men and women who serve the people of this Commonwealth and it's cities and towns put their lives on the line every day and have continued to do so even though they have been unjustly vilified in the news media. Prejudice, judging a group of people by the actions of a few, based on race, religion, the language that someone speaks or even the uniform they wear is wrong, And there seems to be a lot of that happening here. If you take away qualified immunity, you need to ask yourself how many good law enforcement personnel will continue on the job and who, if anyone, will take their place.

The men and women in Law Enforcement deserve our respect and our support and the public deserves well-trained dedicated Law Enforcement personnel. Do not strip them of qualified immunity.

Subject: First responder support

Dear State Representatives,

Thank you for taking the time to read this testimony. I am a firefighter/EMT in the Commonwealth. Passing this bill is an absolute danger to first responders police and fire. No one in this Country is arguing police reform. Accountability is needed in all professions and the ban of chokeholds is an absolute necessity. This bill goes far beyond that and strips first responders ability to their job SAFELY. No one should need reminders of the line of duty deaths to police officers in this state in the last three years. More will occur if this bill passes. Good outweighs evil and we should not lose sight of that. The police officers in this state have acted nothing short of heroic anytime duty calls running into an active bomb scene at the marathon, facing COVID-19 face on with little protection, and showing up daily to do things little sign up to do. This bill also affects all unions and there has been little if any transparency from the Senate in passing this.

Please read that bill carefully because if it passes we are stripping safety to public service gravely. The people who sign up to run towards what everyone fears.

Best, Corey Pramas

The Honorable Rep. Aaron Michlewitz
Chair, House Committee on Ways and Means

The Honorable Rep. Claire D. Cronin
Chair, Joint Committee on the Judiciary

Re: Testimony in Support of Police Accountability -- Use of Force Standards, Qualified Immunity Reform, and Prohibitions on Face Surveillance

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

I write in strong support of the many provisions in S.2820 designed to increase police accountability. In particular, our organization urges you to:

Adopt strict limits on police use of force,
End qualified immunity, because it shields police from accountability and denies victims of police violence their day in court, and Prohibit government use of face surveillance technology, which threatens core civil liberties and racial justice.

George Floyd's murder by Minneapolis police brought hundreds of thousands of people into the streets all around the country to demand fundamental changes to policing and concrete steps to address systemic racism. This historic moment is not about one police killing or about one police department. Massachusetts is not immune. Indeed, Bill Barr's Department of Justice recently reported that a unit of the Springfield Police Department routinely uses brutal, excessive violence against residents of that city. We must address police violence and abuses, stop the disparate policing of and brutality against communities of color and Black people in particular, and hold police accountable for civil rights violations. These changes are essential for the health and safety of our communities here in the Commonwealth.

Massachusetts must establish strong standards limiting excessive force by police. When police interact with civilians, they should only use force when it is absolutely necessary, after attempting to de-escalate, when all other options have been exhausted. Police must use force that is proportional to the situation, and the minimum amount required to accomplish a lawful purpose. And several tactics commonly associated with death or serious injury, including the use of chokeholds, tear gas, rubber bullets, and no-knock warrants should be outlawed entirely.

Of critical and urgent importance: Massachusetts must abolish the dangerous doctrine of qualified immunity because it shields police from being held accountable to their victims. Limits on use of force are meaningless unless they are enforceable. Yet today, qualified immunity protects police even when they blatantly and seriously violate people's civil rights, including by excessive use of force resulting in permanent injury or even death. It denies victims of police violence their day in court. Ending or reforming qualified immunity is the most important police accountability measure in S2820. Maintaining Qualified Immunity ensures that Black Lives Don't Matter. We urge you to end immunity in order to end impunity.

Finally, I urge the House to prevent the expansion of police powers and budgets by prohibiting government entities, including police, from using face surveillance technologies. Specifically, we ask that you include H.1538 in your omnibus bill. Face surveillance technologies have serious racial bias flaws built into their systems. There are increasing numbers of cases in which Black people are wrongfully arrested due to errors with these technologies (as well as sloppy police work). We should not allow police in Massachusetts to use technology that supercharges racial bias and expands police powers to surveil everyone, every day and everywhere we go.

[Insert a personal story, or a story of how these issues have impacted or connect to your organization's members, clients, or partners]

[Insert information here about other aspects of the bill your organization supports, such as divesting from policing and investing in communities, or reducing the role of police in schools]

There is broad consensus that we must act swiftly and boldly to address police violence, strengthen accountability, and advance racial justice. We urge you to pass the strongest possible legislation without delay, and to ensure that it is signed into law this session.

Sincerely,

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: S.2820 Opposition

Good Morning,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Good Morning

Thank you for the ability to submit testimony on this bill. As I am in favor of checks and balances, the qualified immunity or lack thereof is a different issue. It seems it will make it easier for criminals to break the law and try to sue the police departments that are trying to uphold it. Police officers have very difficult jobs and have to make split decisions based on unlawful people putting them in that situation. The use of body cameras would absolutely help to make sure the checks and balances are in place but please do not make it easy for criminals to sue the state. Criminals should not have more rights than the people upholding the law. Too many police officers are being killed in the line of duty especially lately with all the defunding and reform. Violence will continue and will grow if more and more are taken away from our police officers. Thank you so much for listening!

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: SB 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Rev. Ronald Tibbetts and I live at 283 Smith St, North Attleboro, 02760. I am the parent of a son who is currently serving as a corrections officer at MCI-Norfolk and I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and ultimately tie up the justice system with frivolous law suits costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt.

I'm asking you to stop this bill, take time to see the dangers first hands police and correction's officer live with each day. Maybe even stand with just one Corrections officer in "the yard" carrying only the weapons the officer has with 100 to 200 potentially violent men.

Sincerely,

Rev. Ronald Tibbetts

Subject: S.2820

Dear Senator,

My name is Kimberly Cuzzo and I live at 53 Falmouth Sandwich Rd Mashpee Ma. As your constituent, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Cuzzo

Subject: Pass a Strong Police Accountability Bill with Key Provisions from S.2820

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police.

Our law enforcement system is rife with systemic racism that manifests in poignant police murders of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate should ultimately pass a bill that ends qualified immunity in most instances, reduces and oversees police use of force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and establishes funds to improve re-entry from incarceration.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is unacceptable and irresponsible. Police should be held to professionalism standards that limit misconduct similar to doctors or lawyers, who cannot commit malpractice with impunity. Additionally, we need to stop surveilling juveniles with police in schools, collect data, and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. If we invest in communities of color and hold police accountable for their misuse of power, then we will have safer communities, less crime, and more respect for the justice system.

This is an urgent matter. Please pass a bill that includes at a minimum the provisions of the senate bill.

Cc: Howitt, Steven - Rep. (HOU)

Subject: Testimony submission on Bill 2820 to Chair of the MA House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary,

Good morning Representatives,

I am submitting this written testimony against Bill 2820, an Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color. I have tried very hard to educate myself and read the related materials on this bill and the version that moved through the Massachusetts Senate (Bill 2800). I cannot believe the extent to which these bills attempt to change policing in Massachusetts, in my opinion not for the better of all, and I especially cannot believe how it has been done thus far with the process lacking any public hearing or even significant consultation with actual working police officers, be they from large cities or small towns, patrol divisions or school based. I very strongly support the need to address some areas of policing in Massachusetts and even throughout the nation, but that relates to areas of public policy and societal difficulties that could be better addressed through non-police resources or in conjunction with police resources.

I am urging you to please consider the many facets of our current situation and not allow this bill and it's knee jerk response to make long lasting changes that I believe will only add further woe to the situation. The challenges that we all face and want to see improved upon can be far better worked through cooperatively and beneficially than what is attempting to be done with these bills.

I am in my twenty fifth year as a police officer serving the Town of Norton. I have lived here since I was six and have raised my family here. I became a police officer with the goal and drive to help people, to work to enhance the quality of life in my community. My beliefs of policing and my approach to it are firmly founded in the principals of community policing and I have committed myself throughout my career to do it the right way and be an example for others, both my fellow police professionals and general community members. I have spent more than half of my career working cooperatively with our schools and for the past six years I have had the distinct honor of serving as our full time School Resource Officer. This role has allowed me to engage in Community Policing at its absolute best. I treasure this role and the chance to work with our youth to help them and guide them and of course - protect them.

Through my examination of information relative to the current legislative efforts, I want to note that I firmly believe the senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste without public hearing or input of any kind was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.

I know first hand that police across the Commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years. Training is often one of the first areas to be cut when funding issues arise. In Massachusetts we are fortunate to have better training than is offered in many other places around the country but it still lacks in many topic areas and my profession and our communities would be well served if this were to be better addressed.

I am very firm in my believe that the Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. I am not favorable to any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy.

I am open to the idea of more oversight but feel their proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial. Those two principals have to be addressed and I find that ironic given it stems from an incident which occurred in Minnesota where those two issues are strong candidates for what lies at the base of what might have lead to that incident in the first place. Speaking of that incident, let me be absolutely clear about my feelings on what we all have seen happen in those nearly nine minutes. Plain and simple, it was egregious. It goes against everything I believe as a law enforcement officer but moreover as a person. Policing sometimes results in use of force but even in the most difficult and challenging incidents, even when lethal force may be required, we must remain professional and responsive to the basic principles of humanity. Once a threat is ended, we must resume our roles of helping, of reassessing the situation and deescalating.

This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers, it protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? Like I strive to do and be, the overwhelming majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. I believe a better way to address concern relative to this aspect would be for the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques. I strongly support that notion and know that that is shared throughout all law enforcement.

I truly hope we are able to make constructive and beneficial improvements to my profession and our Commonwealth for the benefit of all of our citizens, but these bills fail to do that and I hope you will consider the many reason to do so and not support S2820.

Thank you for allowing the time to share my thoughts. I am grateful for the opportunity.

Respectfully submitted,

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear Massachusetts State Representatives,

I am asking you to reconsider the contents of the proposed Bill S.2800 regarding Police Reform. I do believe review and proper punishment of officers with habitual infractions is a good thing. The issue of reducing qualified immunity is the section I have concerns about. I have been witness to the daily life of a Worcester Police Officer over the past few years. My future son-in-law has been an Officer for almost 3 years. I know the Worcester Police Academy delayed the start of his classes at least twice due to the fact that they could not find enough qualified candidates. The training was rigorous, both physically and mentally and, once graduated, the on the job learning with their training officers was very thorough. My future son-in-law was a Marine and is following in his father's footsteps as a Massachusetts Police Officer. He has proudly served the city of Worcester. He has run into burning buildings and saved a man's life while working a traffic detail. The Worcester Police have had a good relationship with the minority communities and, up until recently, the main problems they have had to deal with are gang violence, drugs, and domestic problems. Since the protests he has had fireworks and flares thrown at him and a man spit in his eyes. With the proposed challenge to immunity, he is considering leaving the state and going somewhere where they support their officers. All he ever wanted was to serve- in the Marines and as a Police Officer. Now he is concerned about defending himself against unscrupulous individuals who will lie to retaliate against him for doing his job. He doesn't think it would be worth it to put his home on the line now that thugs and even spiteful protesters feel emboldened by the Defund the Police movement. Many good cops will be looking to get out because it won't be worth the risk. Police will be reluctant to act due to fear of retribution by the perpetrators for the Officer's actions even though they would be done with the best intentions. Passing this bill as is will put the general public at greater risk due to a reduction in effectiveness of our state's police. Our police are being disrespected like never before by our citizens and now by our government. Please don't use statistics that aren't reflective of what goes on in this state to make your laws. We don't have incidents here like those that have fueled the Black Lives Matter movement. Our police have done a good job of policing themselves. Please don't create a bill in haste because you feel like you have to. Massachusetts's safety will suffer if you do.

Thank you for your consideration,

Tammy Socha

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

To the Representatives of the People of Massachusetts,

As a citizen of Massachusetts, not part of any special interest group, I respectfully want to remind you all that your job as elected officials is to fight for the rights of all citizens. It is not your job to single out any one group for good or bad. Removing qualified immunity for 1st responders is not the approach to solving any problem. There is nothing wrong with implementing different methods to help society move forward in a more peaceful and respectful way. However, taking away protection from 1st responders is the opposite of trying to help. You all as all of us should be standing tall against the hysterical call to see 1st responders as the enemy. Stop the need to follow what the mobs and the media want. Follow what you were sworn in to do, fight for ALL of us. Please do not allow qualified immunity to be removed from our 1st responders.

Subject: SB 2800 the Reform, Shift Build Act

Dear Chairman Aaron Michlewitz & Co-chair Rep. Claire Cronin:

My name is Laverne Evans, I am a resident of Saugus and a member of March like a Mother: for Black Lives. I am writing this virtual testimony to urge you to pass SB.2800 the Reform, Shift, Build Act in its entirety. It is the minimum and the bill must leave the legislature in its entirety.

This bill bans chokeholds, promotes de-escalation tactics, certifies police officers, prohibits the use of facial recognition, limits qualified immunity for police, and redirects money from policing to community investment.

I urge you to ensure that all aspects of this bill are intact. We are in a historical moment and this bill ensures that we in Massachusetts meet the demand of this movement.

Thank you for your consideration of your request to give SB.2800 a favorable report.

Sincerely,

Laverne Evans

Subject: Amendments needed to House of Reps bill proposal HD5128

1. Line 168. Although not intended by the bill, the present wording of a person having a right against the unlawful use of force, would wrongly allow that a person and other persons the right to immediately exercise that right during the action of an arrest or force used, when the true meaning was intended to be subsequent, by legal criminal actions. To correct this, insert after the word have and before the word right "a subsequent criminal action".

2. Lines 171 & 180. Insert "unless unable due to justified circumstances" at the beginning of both paragraphs.

3. Lines 190-193. Remove the words "identifiable person" twice.

4. Line 194. Remove "a vehicle itself shall not be imminent harm".

5. Line 230. The word " of" needs to be changed to the word " by" to correct the intent of the section that police must intervene, not others.

If you are going to ask 1% of the public to risk and dedicate their lives as police officers, to protect the other 99% that are incapable and unwilling to do so, the only lawful stipulation can be that any force used must be minimal and reasonable force necessary. There are really dangerous people in our midst, some of which rise to the definition of terrorists, which have in the past, caused massive casualties and thousands of deaths here. Have you forgotten that terrorists have used planes as weapons on 9-11-01, and a bomb filled truck in the Oklahoma bombing. There have been several other deadly terrorist events here. Our police, who are willing to risk their lives for society and humanity, are our front line not only against terrorists, but dangerous organized criminal groups, dangerous gangs, and the lone dangerous criminals. The military is their backup, but their response is not immediate. Politicians need to be always considering the worst case scenario when making laws. Those "never will happen" scenarios have and do happen.

My best local example would be the extraordinary life and death events faced by officers of many departments in Watertown with terrorists. In the totality of circumstances, an MIT Police Officer had been executed, bombs were exploded in Boston which killed civilians, the terrorists were now in a street battle with police, bombs were being thrown, and shots fired. Knowing this, how can any politician or Citizen of Massachusetts, logically tell a police officer that he may not use all/any means necessary and justified to save him/herself, or citizens. Preventing their escape at all costs in this and future similar cases should be the rule, even if the terrorists were attempting escape on foot or in a vehicle then unarmed. These new law proposals of use of force would defeat success and cost lives. Never underestimate a criminal mind.

You cannot ask the police to do their job with one hand tied behind their back when so much is at stake. When innocent lives are immediately on the line including theirs, you can't have them balking because of some law that was written that didn't take that situation into account. Don't even think you can write laws to cover all incidents police will face. There is no book big enough. All the books and laws can be tossed and replaced with just one word of guidance in all situations. "Reasonableness" is and always will be the legal term for which judgments are made.

99.9% of police are professional and dedicated. It is and should be an honorable profession. No other profession can have such a positive effect on the public. Few other professions does this term mean so much, "having authority commensurate with responsibility". Without the safety and security provided by police, absolutely all other national and local issues are irrelevant. If you pick good police candidates, train them well, pay them well, support them, have faith in them, and remove the rare rogue wrongdoers, all citizens will have peace and prosperity.

Police are the first responders to absolutely all emergencies, and when not doing that, they are engaging in helping people, deterring and preventing crimes, and deadly car crashes. They are expected to perform emergency care until medical personnel arrive, arrest dangerous criminals, and be social workers. In spite of whatever they encounter, they are expected to get over it immediately and be in a good mood. They are expected to be experts at everything with little or no notice, yet often judged in hindsight. They are also often the targets of false allegations by people with grudges against society or desperate to avoid prison or court dispositions. Police already are open to criminal prosecution for which they accept. Now there are proposals the officers will be liable civilly, by eliminating qualified immunity, that would then imperil an officers family. Given that most complaints are false, and that on occasion, citing recent events, prosecutors are driven by political agendas and pressure, rather than the rule of law, police will not accept the added jeopardy of civil responsibility. Police have recently been told by political leaders to stand down in humiliation as they have been battered, threatened, and insulted, as criminals rioted, looted, and burned. Police are human. They are us. If they lose, we all lose. Now they are being told by politicians, cowardly driven by criminal mobs and uninformed protesters, that they must bear unworkable conditions and rules. Surely a sign of non-support and no appreciation. The politicians are about to go beyond a point of no return. When the police lose trust in their leaders to back and support them, it will never be regained until those politicians are replaced.

In my opinion, if the direction doesn't change, police will retire or leave the job in droves, recruiting qualified applicants will be impossible, police remaining on the job will be apathetic, demoralized, not pro-active, and shut down. Pro-active/self initiated policing as opposed to reactionary, is critical to intervening in tragedies before they happen. All this will result in dramatic crime increase, vehicular deaths, and a very upset public.

We need a respected leader, it should be the governor, and leaders of other groups, to immediately tell the public in a press conference, before another unrest spark happens, that as we are always working on making Massachusetts better with new law proposals, that when any controversial or questionable event takes place involving police in Massachusetts, that they can be assured we already have rules, laws and mechanisms in place to deal with it justly after a thorough investigation. That can unfortunately take time and should not be seen as an intent to avoid justice. Legal and peaceful protests are welcome, but as can be seen in the past and recently, those protests come at a high cost to us when infiltrated by people of ill intent. To protect the citizen's and their property, law and order will always be the rule of the day hence forth.

7. Having had a career in the military and law enforcement, I personally have experienced all the life and death use of force situations this bill now attempts to manage. I also, being in touch with great numbers of active and retired police officers, have a great pulse as to morale, and what they do and don't need to protect and serve.

Sincerely,

Retired Mass State Police Sgt/Investigator David C. Benoit

Bill S.2820

To the Representatives of the People of Massachusetts,

As a citizen of Massachusetts, not part of any special interest group, I respectfully want to remind you all that your job as elected officials is to fight for the rights of all citizens. It is not your job to single out any one group for good or bad. Removing qualified immunity for 1st responders is not the approach to solving any problem. There is nothing wrong with implementing different methods to help society move forward in a more peaceful and respectful way. However, taking away protection from 1st responders is the opposite of trying to help. You all as all of us should be standing tall against the hysterical call to see 1st responders as the enemy. Stop the need to follow what the mobs and the media want. Follow what you were sworn in to do, fight for ALL of us. Please do not allow qualified immunity to be removed from out 1st responders.

Respectfully

Sean M Phelan

Hello,

I am commenting on this bill to support law enforcement. I and no one in my family is a police officer.

Please do not reduce qualified immunity for first responders. This would be a disaster for public safety.

Also please do not listen to mob demands from people whose ultimate goal is to abolish the police. They do not speak for people who live in the poorest high crime neighborhoods. Thank you.

I am a citizen, a taxpayer and a voter of the Commonwealth. I and am writing to express my concern on the lack of a public hearing on the Senate's bill (S 2800) which is a major point of contention for police unions and other critics who felt excluded from the development of the bill. I would ask that police unions and We The People be allowed to have input on the bill as it directly effects police and the safety of our citizens.

Subject: Strengthen Senate bill S.2820

To whom it may concern:

I am a Massachusetts resident and voter, and I am writing to you because I want to see a strong Senate police bill. If the ongoing protests across our country have demonstrated nothing else, they have demonstrated that even when all eyes are upon them, police in the United States are often violent and escalatory, and they believe themselves to be above the law.

We have seen incredibly out-of-proportion, dangerous and even deadly over-reactions to non-violent protests - and who knows what we haven't seen.

We need strong legislation to rein in this culture and reimagine our police force as one that truly protects public safety, rather than one that is unaccountable to it. Massachusetts likes to think of itself as a leader, but it is no better than any other state if it refuses to take meaningful action.

Massachusetts must: ban chokeholds (without exception), ban no-knock warrants, ban tear gas and chemical weapons (which are outlawed for use in war, but are currently being used by American police on our own people, in this state), strengthen the rules around police use of force, and ensure that data about police misconduct is not hidden from public view. Qualified immunity is a societal cancer, too, but the ship may have already sailed on that one.

None of these proposed restrictions will negatively impact police departments' ability to do their jobs properly, and any police officer (or strong-arming police union lobbyist) who claims otherwise is simply trying to preserve their ability to commit egregious acts without reprisal or risk of censure. Please do not mistake their political influence for public safety, and please remember that voters also wield political power - and we have had enough.

Subject: Testimony in Support of Police Reform in MA

Hello,

My name is Renee Korgood, and I am a resident of Waltham (02451). I'm writing to you to ask that you support and build on the reforms to our police that were recently passed in the Senate. It is vital that we act now and act drastically to protect Black and Brown people across our commonwealth.

While some of our communities pride themselves on "community policing," even this model imposes surveillance and harm that disproportionately affect Black and Brown families, by leading to incarceration, housing instability, physical injury and more. In this moment, if we do not take drastic action, we are failing to reckon with the ways that racism manifests in our communities here in the Commonwealth.

I know that there are violent acts that happen in a community - just last year, there was a stabbing around the corner from my apartment, which our police force responded to. These measures, however, will not limit the ability of the police to solve and respond to such crimes. It will make our police officers more accountable, provide more resources for our community, and, most importantly, decrease the danger and burden that is faced by Black and Brown communities who interact with the police.

Therefore, I am asking you to support the following measures that are present in the Senate version of the bill:

- * Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body
- * Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages
- * Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records
- * Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities
- * Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual and is strikingly not yet illegal

And, in addition, I am calling on you to take the following actions, which have not been included in the Senate bill:

- * Strengthening use of force standards, e.g., by outright banning chokeholds and tear gas
- * Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)
- * Lifting the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund
- * Promoting measures to limit the number of SRO's present in Massachusetts public schools

Thank you for your time. I look forward to seeing these reforms implemented in your version of the bill.

Best,
Renee Korgood

Subject: Police Reform Bill

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified

Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: opposition to Police Reform bill S.2820

My name is Patricia Lencki, I am a constituent and Voter in Quincy, I am also a mother of 2 children in the public schools and the wife of a Police Officer. First off I condemn the actions of the Minneapolis Police Officers who killed George Floyd and their actions as I am sure most of you know are not representative of 99.9 percent of police officers in America today. Bill #S2820 as presently crafted will prevent good police officers from doing their jobs. To eliminate or change qualified immunity for police officers would cause a chilling effect on policing and the ability for our profession to protect the public when needed. I am not against transparency in policing as long as these as these new measures are implemented fairly to both the public and the police officer. Police Officers need to retain their due process rights just like any other citizen and should have a right of appeal if they are de-certified. A convicted first degree murderer and some of the worst criminals have a right of appeal however under this bill a police officer will not. My husband worked many of the protests in Boston and the surrounding communities and each night he had frozen water bottles thrown at him, he was spit on and called vile things toward police. I am sure many of our legislators saw what the media called "Peaceful Protest" well Peaceful they were not. I believe history will look back at this time of demonizing all police officers as disgraceful and comparable to when the Vietnam Veterans returned home and were vilified. The thought that my family could be financially ruined for any good faith decisions my husband would make on a daily basis is terrifying. With the increased scrutiny on police officers I think any police reform bill should mandate that all police officers in Massachusetts wear body cameras to protect them from false allegations. Body cameras would also provide a better picture to the public on what officers have to deal with on a day by day basis. Moral among Massachusetts police officers is at an all time low and I hope you will listen to our concerns about this bill. This bill will stop the schools and/or teacher from contacting police about a student that is affiliated with gangs as a mother I am horrified that you the legislators would approve an amendment and have this included. Every day my husband leaves and I never know if he will come home, he leaves his family to go out and protect yours. I think this bill S2820 and the Senate Bill S2800 coming for a vote on the day of and day after the Anniversary of the murder of Officer Michael Chesna of the Weymouth Police Dept and Vera Adams is a slap in the face of law enforcement. This bill will take away the ability of officers to use non lethal force such a pepper spray, how will an officer be able to defend himself from a criminal that is attacking him? The police officers of Massachusetts are the best trained in the United States and we should all be thankful to them for going out and do their job under these circumstances . If this bill passes you will see many officers retire and leave the job and I shutter to think what kind of officers will replace them. Four months ago we were praising our First Responders and now you are vilifying them. There are a lot of senators and representatives that I have supported and my family, friends and neighbors will be watching closely on how our representatives will vote on this issue. I hope you will vote against this bill in it's present form. Please don't hesitate to call me if you want to discuss this issue further

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

I am writing in support of Senate bill S.2800.

Over the years, the ability of our city and town governments to create and manage policing that meets the needs and aspirations of our communities has been dismantled, including by the non-statutory judge-made doctrine of qualified immunity, and the Chapter 150E collective bargaining law and the Joint Labor Management Committee statute that together eliminate effective options for accountability.

This bill provides important legislation that begins to return those rights to our communities. It also creates a much needed system for the training and certification of police officers, and makes other necessary changes to law and policy to improve and enhance the accountability of policing in the Commonwealth. This is landmark legislation that would help transform how law enforcement is practiced in Massachusetts, with a long overdue focus on racial equity in our justice system.

Thank you for your consideration on this matter.

To the judiciary committee

I am ashamed that the bill s2820 has been allowed to pass the senate- this is a horrible and dangerous bill that serves no one who is in need- and harms both first responders and those who need their life saving work and protection!!!

This bill is not the least bit beneficial to anyone and written simply to appease a angry and childish mob mentality - and opens the door for every first responder to get hit with a personal suit for "personal injury" from every person who's life they save!!!

It's disgusting that this bill will be able to destroy the hard working people of this state who struggle to serve and protect to the very best of their abilities!!! Not too many years ago they were running in without knowledge of whether more bombs would go off at the marathon- now they will worry about being sued for hurting someone if they attempt to protect them from flying debris in a . Bombing!!!

Mass has a great police and first responding units and they need more support and training, not being left hanging out to dry!!! Many will choose to step down and no longer serve in their communities because of the risk this puts their own families in- aside from the daily one they take on as a officers of the law!!

This bill needs to die and new legislation needs to be passed to protect them and assist all in training and social service training- locally friends work in the PD as social workers and they have had seen many benefits and report success within the police and neighboring communities and safe resolutions to difficult situations- and the police are reporting good communities relations and bolstered connections from this partnership- this is what should become the model and be supported- not the horror that is bill s2820!!!!

Sincerely Jamie Duponte

In His Name, we serve.

As a responsible constituent who lives in your district, as well as a Boston Police Detective, I do support some aspects of Senate Bill S2820 which is before you now. However, I adamantly do not support any amendment or change to the qualified immunity that police officers now have. The attack on the law enforcement profession from all sides is sickening. But if lawmakers pile on too in this political climate, it would be not just mean spirited but dangerous. Feel free to contact me for further comment.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
My name is William Avilla and I live at 2 Harrison Avenue, Lakeville. I work at Old Colony Correctional Center and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.
Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

William Avilla

Subject: S.2820

Good Evening

My name is Carly Malvesti and I live at 620 Adams Street in Abington. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer. My husband achieved his lifelong dream of becoming a police officer, able to serve his hometown, three years ago. In his first year on the job, his co-worker Michael C. Chesna, was shot and killed with his own service weapon by an "unarmed" man. This was a deeply tragic and painful experience for a rookie officer to endure. In his time as a law enforcement officer, thus far, my husband has been injured at work several times. Fortunately, these injuries have not been serious, but there have been emergency room visits, splints, bandages, and broken eyeglasses. He often returns to me bruised and battered, injured by the people he is serving and protecting. Each time that my husband walks out the door on his way to work, I fear that it will be the last time that I see him. When my phone rings suddenly, at an odd hour of the night, I fear that I am being notified of a tragedy involving my husband. I can never quite settle when my husband is at work, lying awake until I hear his truck pull into our driveway shortly after midnight. I have seen how the events of the last few months have broken his spirit. When my husband talks about work, the glimmer in his eye that he once had, is now gone. I have seen the fear and uncertainty in his eyes as he leaves the house for work. I hear the conversations among friends about whether this job will be worth the risks if this unsafe legislature passes. The media, politicians, and public have painted a target on the back of all law enforcement officers because of events that transpired halfway across the country. Events that my husband, his co-workers, or any law enforcement officer in Massachusetts could not control. Our dedicated and passionate officers went from hero first-responders serving their communities during a pandemic to feared and untrustworthy monsters in a matter of weeks because of the actions of one evil man who never deserved to wear the badge. Our officers do not deserve the disrespect or lack of support!

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother, and friend who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I remember being in a patient's room at work and learning of the awful news on television. I remember that sinking feeling in my stomach and frantically calling my husband to make sure that he was okay. I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my Blue Family, and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will never forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform.

Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough, they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon, he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause, and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate, and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well-trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way.

I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Carly E. Malvesti

Hello, my name is Reverend Deborah Goldman with the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO). I live at 146 Oakland Ave., #2, Arlington 02476. I am writing to urge you and the House to pass police reform that includes:

- Implementing Peace Officer Standards & Training with certification
- Civil service access reform
- Commission on structural racism
- Clear statutory limits on police use of force
- Qualified immunity reform

Thank you very much.

Subject: Qualified immunity

To Whom it May Concern,

My husband is retired from the Mass State Police. With horror we have observed the legislature try to limit qualified immunity. How could government officials ask officers to do this type of extremely dangerous work without protecting them from the criminals civilians are often protected from through their tiredness efforts. Do you really think that career criminals would not try to sue the officers personally while denying all allocations of misconduct. Where is your loyalty to the people you ask to accept the physical and mental risks of this job? Now you expect them to manage the stress of criminals trying to bankrupt them and take their homes for doing the job you require of them.

Why are you singling out the police? If the government moves to remove qualified immunity do so for all professions with no exception.

As you are aware the officers in this state are very educated, most holding advanced degrees. Some of these efforts create additional administration , while the real work is on the street keeping people safe.

I have been disappointed by the government agency not praising their local and state officers. You have made the mistake of judging all officers based on the uniform of one officer many states away. We could all be judged by the bad apples in our profession. This is not different.

I for one will back the Blue , the military and everyone willing to stand strong and alone when everyone runs away . They are the people I respect the most.

Best regards

Subject: Bill S2820

Dear Chairman Michlewitz, Chairwoman Cronin, and the rest of the House Committee on Ways and Means,

Thank you for your time in allowing myself and many others to submit testimony in response to Senate Bill S2820. My name is Vincent Pizzi and I am a Massachusetts resident currently residing in Falmouth. I am a husband, a father, a brother and a son. I am a veteran of the United States Army, where I served honorably as a military police officer. I currently serve in the United States Navy Reserves as a Master-at-Arms (Navy Police). Most relevant to my testimony, I am currently a police officer in the state of Massachusetts.

I write this testimony today in hope to open up the discussion about why I, and thousands of other police officers across the state of Massachusetts, oppose Senate Bill S2820 as it has been presented to you.

Senate Bill S2820 is nothing short of a hastily and poorly thought out reaction to an event that occurred over 1,000 miles away. Before I say any more, allow me to state that what happened to George Floyd was an egregious and reprehensible act. That being said, I am confident in saying that all police in Massachusetts, including the Massachusetts Fraternal Order of Police, The Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, and countless police unions, have all publicly denounced the event.

With that in mind, I cannot seem to wrap my head around that thought process that led to Senate Bill S2820 to come to fruition. The police in Massachusetts are, bar none, the finest law enforcement officers in the United States. We do not only exceed the standard, we often set it. The version of the bill presented to you contains dangerous language undermining officer safety and more importantly, public safety. If this bill were to pass as written, a police officer's ability to perform basic job functions would be wildly bounding. The scariest part of this testimony is the fact that it has to be presented to the House, rather than the Senate, because of how undemocratically the Senate pushed this through, disregarding any input from the public or the groups directly affected by the bill. The fact that the Senate Bill S2820 was passed while the public was sound asleep at 3am tells my colleagues and I that the Senate had zero concern for public opinion and only cared about furthering their own agenda.

I assure you that police within the Commonwealth across the board want and support uniform training standards. As a matter of fact, this is the exact reason the Municipal Police Training Committee (MPTC) exists in the state of Massachusetts. The MPTC is charged with developing, delivering and enforcing training standards of all municipal, university and environmental police officers across the state. Good police officers, the kind the public supports and wants on the streets, always crave more training. Not only do police want more training, but we want quality training. However, quality training costs quality money. This is why we cannot understand the push to defund the police. A good police officer is an educated police officer. It is up to you, the legislature, to ensure that the police that are charged with protecting your constituents have nothing short of the best training available. Anything less is a blatant disservice from you, our elected officials.

The Senate version of S2820 that generates a regulatory board is unsatisfactory. This board would be heavily commanded by anti-police groups with detailed biases against police. This board would be nothing like the other 160 regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and would unjustly strip officers of due process and eliminate rights afforded under civil service law.

There seems to be a lot of confusion when it comes to qualified immunity. Qualified immunity does not protect bad cops. Qualified immunity is a legal immunity that protects government officials from civil suit that allege a clearly established statutory or constitutional has been violated. This holds government officials accountable when they exercise power irresponsibly but also protects them from unfounded accusations, claims of harassment and liability while performing their duties in a reasonable manner. When you take into consideration that the officers involved in the tragic case of George Floyd all had qualified immunity, you can clearly see that it does not protect bad cops. Where did that qualified immunity get them? Squarely in a 6-foot by 8-foot jail cell, that's where. Qualified immunity protects good cops from frivolous lawsuits. The communities we serve in the Commonwealth expect us to act quickly and decisively. How would we be able to accomplish anything with the fear of civil suit hanging over our heads for every single decision? Ask yourself, if it were one of your loved ones in need of the police in a life or death situation, would you want the police to interject themselves immediately, or rather take the time to weigh whether or not intervening is worth the risk of civil suit? What would follow if qualified immunity were eliminated? Allow me to spell it out. Proactive police officers would begin to sit on their hands not wanting to risk losing their livelihoods. Crime would spike as criminals would quickly realize that no one is looking to prevent their criminal activity. Budgets would exponentially increase across the entire state to keep up with countless lawsuits from routine police interactions. The good cops you want so much, which is the vast majority of law enforcement in Massachusetts already, would quickly begin to seek employment elsewhere, retire or flat out walk off the job.

I will leave you with these final questions to contemplate. What happens when all the good police officers in Massachusetts are gone? What quality of police officer does that leave the Commonwealth with?

On behalf of all the men and women selflessly serving the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I thank you for your time and consideration.

Respectfully,

Vincent Pizzi

Subject: Supporting Racial Justice in Schools for our Youth in Mass

Dear Reps. Brady & Cassidy,

It is my hope that this letter/testimony finds you well during these difficult times. I am one of your Brockton constituents. I've worked with youth in Brockton for 20 years. In fact, I have met both of you many times through my work with the Cape Verdean Association of Brockton, Massasoit Community College, in my role as one of the founders of the downtown project Prova!, and in my work as a member of the Board of the Brockton Public Library.

I am writing to you today to add my name to the list of supporters working towards racial justice for our young people in the State and in the US. I've copied my friend Rep. Miranda here; she is one of the fiercest defenders of the move to change policies and practices that criminalize Black and Brown students.

You have an opportunity today to serve (as Martin Luther King, Jr. and many others have said) "on the right side of history" by supporting the passage of this important legislation that contributes to ending the cradle/school-to-prison pipeline and the school-to-deportation pipeline. These pipelines destroy lives and have already destroyed generations by depriving them of the opportunity to have an education and a future.

I testified before the Brockton School Committee at least half a dozen times over the past several years regarding the damage that unjust school discipline causes. For instance, consider the case of now deceased Antonio, who at 9 years old, planned to graduate high school and college and become a business owner. His energetic personality was misread as mischievousness over the years and he was penalized for ordinary missteps. Repeated, severe discipline demoralized him. His well-intentioned parents (immigrant citizens from Cabo Verde with limited English language and limited knowledge of their rights in the school system) grew more and more frustrated with him and punished him severely as well. Eventually, he lost hope and began to behave the way that he was being characterized... he ultimately dropped out of school, fulfilling the low expectations of those around him who profiled him because of his perceived race and status, ignoring his trauma and pain and potential. Within a few years of leaving school, he ended up dead. What would have happened if along the way, educators saw his potential and addressed his trauma and family matters, instead of punishing him? What if he had been encouraged instead of handed low expectations and policies that criminalized him and eventually pushed him out of school? What if he had been given a chance to prove himself? Most certainly, he would have found a way, finished school, and started down his life path of business ownership. Racially just and humane school practices could have saved his life and given him a future.

There are 100s of 1000s of stories like this one. Students are profiled in schools, labeled and treated according to the negative images associated with their backgrounds, according to their racial or ethnic identities, immigrant status or socioeconomic class.

Your votes can stop these practices, and protect the rights of students to learn in schools without the fears that are generated by the systemic racism and xenophobia of the aforementioned pipelines. Brockton students are among the MOST affected by these policies and it is way past the time to do something about this. Thank you in advance for considering this plea for your support. Please vote "on the right side of history" and take a stand that will contribute to racial justice.

Dear MA House Judiciary Committee,

I write today to urge you not to dilute in any way Senate Bill 2820 on police reform. Please do not let the police unions' pressure cause you to water down this crucial bill which will increase police accountability, shift law enforcement away from surveillance and punishment and instead toward de-escalation and community strengthening, and build a more just and equitable Commonwealth. The bill is a strong first step toward dismantling systemic racism in Massachusetts. Please do not squander this opportunity.

My name is Charles West, I am a contractor and small business owner. My phone number is (508)740-9379.

I would like the Massachusetts House of Representatives to know that we do not need police reform. Don't jump on this bandwagon. We are not Minneapolis or Ferguson. We do not have a race problem in Massachusetts. We have a political problem in Massachusetts.

We would like our police to not be afraid of arresting anyone regardless of skin color if they have committed a crime that warrants an arrest. That is fairness, that is equality. Stop playing games.

Do not fail us. If you, as a government, take away the one thing government is absolutely responsible for, our safety, then you will have failed us.

Please understand, if you make the job of police officer more difficult you will de-incentivize order. If that is what you want then there is no good future for our state or our country.

This bill will not satisfy anyone on either side. In your search for equal outcomes, beware of making everyone equally miserable and pissed off.

Do not vote S.2800 into law.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

I am writing to urge you to strengthen the language of the Senate bill to create an independent and civilian body in charge of police certification/decertification; eliminate rather than limit qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages; eliminate the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records; and likewise go further than the Senate bill to strengthen the use of force standards; fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology; and lifting the cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund.

By a mere chance, from a friend, I learned about the passage of the bill in the Massachusetts senate to end qualified immunity for police officers. There was no public hearing, no information in newspapers, or other discussions - just late night vote in the MA senate as if the senate did not want the residents to know about this bill.

I am totally and categorically against this bill .

Qualified immunity of elected officials and members of the law enforcement community is the bedrock principle of any government. Without it, no government institution would be able to function - anybody, from public school teachers to senators, could find themselves frivolously sued for any action that made somebody unhappy. And policemen, due to the very nature of their work, are the most vulnerable group. T

Subject: Testimony in support of House adoption of S.2820

Rep. Michlewitz and Rep. Cronin,

The system of justice and policing in Massachusetts currently has many features that promote and perpetuate racism and that facilitate abusive behavior by police. The provisions of S.2820 address several of those features in a constructive way, and I urge the Ways and Means and Judiciary committees to produce legislation that is sufficiently consistent with S.2820 to be rapidly resolved in a conference committee and passed for the governor's signature in the current legislative session.

The provisions of S.2820 are steps toward a system of policing that provide for public safety while encouraging confidence and support of police by all communities. Essential elements of the bill include the establishment of a Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee, revisions to qualified immunity, and a duty to intervene if an officer witnesses abuse of force by another officer. These provisions advance police professionalism and accountability for wrongdoing. The public standing of police will be enhanced through adherence to higher standards of conduct and elimination of some barriers to removal of officers that have demonstrated they clearly lack the ability and/or commitment to do their job with integrity, discipline, and fairness.

The House has the opportunity to make this truly a pivotal moment in the history of justice in Massachusetts by passing a bill that is highly compatible with S.2820, in its entirety.

Hello,

I hope this email finds you well. My name is Sara Wang and I am a Massachusetts voter and current medical student. I write in support of an Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color.

Historic racial inequalities have been present in our country since its creation, and now is a unique moment to act towards racial justice. Massachusetts has the opportunity to lead on this front as it does in healthcare. We must champion the rights of all of our residents, including black residents and other residents of color. Police reform is key to doing that, as is implementing a commission on the status of African Americans. I support this bill and hope that you pass it.

Thank you for all your hard work on this. I look forward to the outcome of this deliberation.

Subject: S2820 Testimony

Distinguished Representatives,

Thank you for making time for citizen input on this important bill, S2820. I will make my comments as brief as possible, but feel I have unique personal perspective on the issues disused.

I am writing in strong support of the bill. As a clinical social worker, I have seen, firsthand, the profound good that police officers can accomplish in their roles. Sweeping police powers and a lack of officer accountability, however, more often than not are barriers, not aids, to effective policing. S2820 will more effectively position law enforcement to act with only the tools, tactics, and mentalities appropriate for the job. My time in social work strongly informs this position.

In my career, I have deescalated and evaluated those in mental health crisis in emergency departments. I have sat across from men convicted of brutal acts of domestic violence to assess their accountability and preparedness to end community supervision. I have counseled and safety-planned with survivors of these violent assaults. I have intervened with clients who were hours or even minutes removed from a suicide attempt.

For the majority of my career, I worked in a residential setting. Among many other duties, I had the privilege of training clinical and non-clinical colleagues on the principles and techniques of deescalation and safe, compassionate physical restraint. We always taught that going "hands on" was an absolute last resort, but, due to the acute nature of the population we served, I, unfortunately, had to engage physically several dozen times over the course of a few short years. In that time, I was bit, punched, stabbed, spit on, kicked, grabbed between the legs and pulled by the hair.

Never once, in my career, have I had the luxury of a combative union which would fight for my job if I choked someone to death. Moreover, never once have I felt as if the free reign to strangle even the most violently dysregulated client would have made me any safer in the long run. This distinction is important for those using the narrow lens of exclusive prioritization of officer safety at any cost. Even ignoring the rampant brutalization of disproportionately Black, Brown, poor, and mentally ill civilians in crisis, different tactics will also translate into reduced risk to officers. In my residential work (and elsewhere in my career), we saw every day that the safest strategy for client safety was also the safest strategy for our own: responding with calm, compassion and connection. In this vein, I want to share one disappointment I have with the bill, which is a failure to make fear-based "warrior" style trainings for police illegal by law.

This critique notwithstanding, S2820 is an important step forward in the long overdue process to establish officer accountability, and to modernize and humanize law enforcement. Again, I know that many officers who wear the uniform do so with love for their communities and the very best of intentions. However, the fear and anger felt by so many, especially many marginalized people, is a predictable consequence from generations of tolerance of cruel and ineffective policing (which is only now, it seems, getting caught on film). The well-deserved distrust many of my clients have for police manifests in the perpetuation of poverty, generational trauma, and inability to access community resources and supports. As a Massachusetts citizen who has also dedicated his career to the safety and well-being of his community, I urge you in the strongest possible terms to pass this bill into law.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

I am very upset about how this bill is being quickly pushed through, while it will have tremendous repercussions on our police departments, tying their hands, and preventing them from doing their jobs. While there are portions of the bill that may bring about higher standards for our officers, removing qualified immunity as one of their rights is simply unacceptable. As a registered and active voter, I am disheartened by the actions of politicians that I have voted for, who are responding with a knee jerk reaction to the loud actions of the few, while ignoring the majority of the population. Subject: Bill S.2820

To Members of the House Ways and Means,

Thank you for the opportunity for public input for this important issue. I write to you as a lifelong citizen of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I grew up and then raised my own family in the town of North Reading. I am now a school nurse in a neighboring town.

I have the utmost respect for the police and find the language in this bill disrespectful to all the hardworking, honest, dedicated law enforcement men and woman. This bill does nothing but further divide communities.

In my daily work in the schools, I frequently collaborate with our police officers and see them working with students and families in difficult situations. They are always respectful and go above and beyond to make the community a safe and inclusive place for all. The police are active members of our school safety committee and serve as a constant resource in planning and practice of our active shooter drills, emergency responses and mental health emergencies. They are always available to provide assistance if we need them to do a wellness check on a student or family and provide assistance with parents, students and schools with truancy and school avoidance. They are the first to arrive for medical emergencies, a welcoming site. I can not imagine returning to school and thinking they may not be readily available because of underfunding, and shortages brought on by under-appreciation.

I cannot understand what any of you are thinking to believe that taking away qualified immunity would improve law and order. This will only make police hesitant to help, off duty officers hesitant to jump in and keep young people from entering the police force. It is my understanding that you as legislators also have "qualified immunity", how would you feel if this was done to you? How would you like your hands being tied? I know there have been others in your positions that have been dishonest. What happened to Mr. Floyd was a terrible injustice done by a terrible officer, who should be held accountable and punished to the extent of the law. Qualified immunity would not protect him! Let's not paint every police officer with a broad brush, for the sins of a few. That's not fair!

Equality is a god given right. In our constitution, written so many years ago, and it refers to "we the people". When I see that the description of this bill is to build a more equitable, fair and just Commonwealth that "values Black lives and communities of color", I find it exclusionary of many others living in the Commonwealth. I am all in on equality but this feels like something else. It scares me to see the violence and expressions of hate in some of these protests. This bill will not make it more equitable. This only will divide the Community. Can't you see the violence that has escalated against the police of late! You are fueling a war on police and pandering to pressure with a knee jerk reaction because for years you, the legislators, have done nothing to help these communities of color and listened to their pleas! Now all of a sudden it's an "emergency"! Now it's a war on police?!

Is reform and new training techniques for law enforcement needed, yes!
Every profession needs to grow and change. But, You can't just take away all the techniques they have been taught and not train them with new techniques.

Please think of having law enforcement represented on the review board, weather a retired officer or commissioner. There should be someone who has walked in their shoes and has an understanding of the job of law enforcment. How can you set trainings and standards for a profession you have never been a part of?
This is common sense!

Our brave law enforcement officers deserve our respect.
Every person deserves our respect.

Please foster relationships between our law enforcement and our communities not build walls and fuel hatred.

Subject: Bill No. S2820

Dear House of Representatives,

I stand against bill S2820 as written. I ask that you also not support this bill as written.

- The senate version of this bill as written will seriously undermine public safety by limiting police officer's ability to do their jobs while simultaneously allowing provisions to protect criminals. Furthermore, the process employed by the Senate to push this through with such haste, without public hearing or input of any kind, was extremely undemocratic and nontransparent.
- Police across the commonwealth support uniform training standards and policies and have been requesting more training for years.
- The Senate version of a regulatory board is unacceptable as it strips officers of the due process rights and does away with protections currently set forth in collective bargaining agreements and civil service law. The Senate created a board that is dominated by anti-police groups who have a long-detailed record of biases against law enforcement and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The FOP will not support any bill that does not include the same procedural justice safeguards members of the communities we serve demand and enjoy.

- Their proposed makeup of the oversight board is one sided and biased against law enforcement. It is unlike any of the 160 other regulatory boards across the Commonwealth and as constructed incapable if being fair and impartial.
- What the Senate has tried to do is pass a knee jerk reaction to an incident which occurred half a country away that everyone agrees was egregious, the FOP nationally and in this state quickly condemned it.
- Massachusetts police officers are among highest educated and trained in the country
- This bill directly attacks qualified immunity and due process. Qualified immunity does not protect bad officers. It protects good officers from civil lawsuits. We should want our officers to be able to act to protect our communities without fear of being sued at every turn, otherwise why would they put themselves at risk? A large majority of law enforcement officers do the right thing and are good officers, yet there is a real push to end qualified immunity to open good officers up to frivolous lawsuits because of the actions of a few who, by their own actions, would not be covered by qualified immunity anyway. It just doesn't make any sense why we are endangering the livelihood of many for the actions of a few.
- Changes to qualified immunity would be unnecessary if the legislature adopted a uniform statewide standard and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support.
- If the senate bill is passed in its current form the costs to municipalities and the State will skyrocket from frivolous lawsuits and potentially having a devastating impact on budgets statewide.

Subject: Amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and 137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Hello!

I think that the Reform, Shift and Build act is very important. It ensures that funding goes towards communities that need it and give them the resources that they need to succeed in life. Especially in neighborhoods majorly affected by excessive policing, by directing that funding from the cops into the people will be more beneficial than having the police there. It's essential to provide for communities and ensure that they have the resources that many others do.

Subject: S2820 An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

My husband and I are lifelong resident of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We are proud to be citizens of this great State.

This issue with S2800 now S2820 is the lack of participation allowed from the very industry and people that this affects.

Police reform is a primarily a training issue and the Chiefs of Police are the leaders to build that foundation of training.

To rush an issue of this magnitude through the Senate at such a late hour truly shows the desperation at those at the helm of the bill.

There is power in numbers and when we begin to use that power to destroy, diminish or defeat others it becomes very dangerous.

To not have the public participation, especially law enforcement, on a bill of this magnitude is clearly wrong.

Whether you are Democrat or Republican, you must be fair and you must be just. Neither happened here.

As a leader, you must rise above the cries at times and find a balance in doing the right thing. That did not happen here.

Policing is very broad. You must hear from the law enforcement leaders in our Commonwealth to make these changes.

This must happen. It clearly must happen.

To not follow due process when addressing reform shows that the politicians went rogue. Their own agenda.

You as politicians are not qualified to make these changes because they are coming from an emotional foundation. It's reactive not proactive.

This bill begins to break down the trust in our law enforcement community not build it up.

You can have reform and "build" law enforcement to a better platform. Not tear it down by a punitive bill.

Massachusetts is known for having great policing and great training.

This bill would diminish all the hard work and dedication that many law enforcement leaders have dedicated their professional careers to.

In a time when we are being asked not to tear down, why not apply that rule here?

I have a sign on every desk in my company. Is there a better way to do this?

I would apply that here and ask you, do you believe this was the best possible outcome for the opportunity to reform police standards?

I also have a rule which is the 2 day reflect rule.

I apply that rule when something may be asked of me that I need to respond to but may not be ready.

The answer that I may have at the moment I am asked, may not be the answer I have 2 days from now, with a clearer mind. That would apply here.

My husband always says, nothing good happens after midnight. He would be spot on when it came to this bill.

Could you take some time and gather the appropriate input from the appropriate people in law enforcement to really make a difference and be a model?

Because right now, not a lot of people respect how this was done and what was done.

Even if I don't like the outcome of something, if it were done properly and fairly, I would accept it.

Lastly, I grew up in Boston during busing. I attended school with African Americans, who are still my friends today.

I have seen firsthand the issues African Americans have faced and believe some change absolutely needs to happen.

But, ask yourself, did you go too fast and miss something on behalf of the very people you are trying to help.

And, why can't you involve law enforcement leaders in the process? Why the blindsiding bill?

You may have the right intent, but you certainly did not go about it in a fair and due process way.

Slow down. Take a step back.

Involve the leaders in law enforcement in this process now. That would be the right thing to do.

Not after the fact when a bill like this will only create more bureaucracy than anything else.

Do you really have any idea what the life of a police officer really involves?

If the answer is no, then speak to the very people that made it to the top of law enforcement to make sure this bill truly does help people of color.

Thank you.

Dear Representative DeLeo and Senator Boncore,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,
I am writing in support of the Reform, Build and Shift Act, S.2800, I know this is a complicated bill that will provide needed reform of the Police Department and its officers. I am especially concerned that qualified immunity is ended. Police have not made our communities safe; people are afraid of the police because there are few consequences for their actions against citizens. They must not be given protection when they inflict undue pain and damage on citizens. Please make sure qualified immunity is removed from our Commonwealth.

To whom it may concern. I am in full opposition of bill S2.800. I firmly believe that taking away qualified immunity will cause consequences that will affect the future of policing. There will be a mass exodus of officers that risk their lives on a daily basis for the same people that wish they didn't exist. It is important to keep this immunity in for officers to be able to complete their jobs without walking on eggshells or losing their lives because they do not want their families to be affected or their house to be lost due to the personal lawsuits that will come after them. To go along with that, officers addresses should not be public record especially in a time where people are following officers home in harassment and even attempts to take their lives. In conclusion, my community takes pride in their police and backs them 100%. We would like the people that represent us to show their representation by backing the police as well.

My name is Will Theodore and I live at 18 Charles Drive in Canton . It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in the proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2800 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you for your consideration. I stand with our police officers, who have the single most difficult job in the country, every single day. There are thousands of people just like me who don't protest, picket or post on social media. We talk with our votes and with the current climate, our silence should not be overlooked as absence.

2. The time and Money spent on frivolous lawsuits/claims will become a bigger problem
3. Mass exodus of Police Officers; retire early, finding new job and no new Officers to replace them
4. Any new Officers hired will be substandard because anyone with any common sense will not be on the streets knowing every action taken could be a new law suit and it engages their families income.

Subject: Policing Bill

To: Massachusetts House of Representatives,

I am writing to ask you to preserve and build on the policing bill passed by the Senate. I do support the police and believe that almost all police officers are good. But not all - not by any means which is why it is so important to support and build on the bill passed in the Senate, and ask you to go even further to end qualified immunity.

Beside the recent U.S. Department of Justice report on the Springfield Police, I remembered what happened in June 2016 in my town of Agawam in Western Mass, when three Agawam Police officers were fired. I googled it and watched the video of what happened again - three police in a cell with the prisoner, and one of them beating him mercilessly with a baton. It is appalling. Two of the police officers were reinstated, but the one wielding the baton was not. At the time I read I think it was the civil service review which was totally damning of him. So egregious acts happen everywhere, and they have to stop, and this is what it's going to take to stop them in Massachusetts.

I know there's a lot of disagreement about this, but it is hugely important for the well being of all in the Commonwealth for you to act for the protection of all..

Subject: Please Help

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Sierra DeVisscher and I live at 29 Malta Street in Seekonk. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a dedicated Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820.

This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth.

I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Good evening,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Justin Zink, 34 Lowell Rd, Pepperell, MA 01463

Subject: Senate Bill S.2800

To whom it may concern,

My name is Samantha Antunez and I live at 7 Mathaurs St, Milton, MA. 02186. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Subject: Bill s2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Lisa Dacko and I live at 79 Phillips Lane in Wrentham. I am the sister of a Corrections Officer currently on the IPS team at MCI-Norfolk. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "Stop", to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, maybe your son or daughter even, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Lisa Tibbetts Dacko

Subject: Amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

I ask that you support amendments 114,116,126,134,129, and137 to the Senate Bill S2820. The amendments deal with due process and fair representation on the board as well as uniform accreditation standards. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards and policies that promote fair and unbiased treatment of all citizens, INCLUDING POLICE OFFICERS. The original version of the bill undercuts collective bargaining rights and due process. These amendments are an attempt to improve the bill in these areas. They do not lessen the training protocols and standards or general accountability for law enforcement as originally proposed. Thank you for your time and consideration.

These are the important points that I would really like to highlight and bring to everyone's attention:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety. The false narrative that QI prevents the public from suing Pos and holding them accountable which dominated the senate debate masked provisions in the bill which will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Not only will the unintended and unnecessary changes to QI hamstring police offices in the course of their duties due t the fact that they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions but hidden in the bill are various provisions which will protect drug dealers, human traffickers, gang activity in minority neighborhood schools ,organized retail theft and terrorists.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and professional participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally non transparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages, had hundreds of changes to public safety sections of the general laws and sound public policy sections ,it was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for the members to digest/caucus and receive public comment thus creating a process which was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The senate created a board that is dominated by groups who have stated anti law enforcement biases and preconceived punitive motives toward police. The board as proposed is unlike any other of the 160 professional regulatory boards in the Commonwealth that the Black and Latino Caucus and its individual members as well as the Governor repeatedly and publicly stated should be used as the example of the model o be use. Its composition is fundamentally incapable of providing regulatory due process. Furthermore, the proposed members are completely devoid of sufficient experience in law enforcement to create training policies and standards unlike members of the other 160 professional boards.

4. Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques which all police personnel unequivocally support. Once we have uniform standards and policies and the statutory banning of use of force techniques both the officers and the individual citizens will know what is reasonable and have a clear picture of what conduct is a violation of a citizen's rights and that conduct cannot be protected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets. Police officers are already subjected to suits and suits that are successful when their conduct warrants it. There is no legitimate need to change the law particularly when we get uniform standards

Hello,

My name is Linda West. I live at 36 Diana Drive in Weymouth, MA. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer and the mother of his three children. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "be careful". The last words our children say to their dad when he leaves are "be safe". In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do. Not all wives need to say "be careful" and not all kids have to say "be safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget where I was when my husband got the initial call about Mike. My husband ran out the door of our house. He said two words as he left, "Officer down!" I will never forget where I was when I learned that news that Mike had died. I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my children, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will never forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,
Linda L. West

Dear Senator Pacheco,

My name is Christine Kuczewski and I live at 23 Burt St., Berkley, MA. As your constituent, and a LEO wife, I write to you today to express staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Christine Kuczewski

Subject: Support for the Reform, Shift + Build Act

Hello,

I wanted to write to express my support for the Reform, Shift+Build Act (S.2800).

I believe the goals for this bill are fundamental in achieving a less racist society. I believe that Boston has a responsibility as a "liberal" city to lead the charge and progressing towards a less violently policed society. I believe passing this bill is an indication that government truly can hear and take action on what citizens are demanding.

At the end of the day, Black and Brown communities are not asking for popular syrup brands to change their mascots, or to paint "Black lives matter" on every avenue. While these are welcome public displays towards a more sensitive and conscientious population towards the plight of marginalized communities, what people are truly asking for NOW is to hold police officers accountable and to defund the police and reinvest in communities. This bill may achieve this concrete step towards progress.

Thank you for your time,

Heather Xu

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Kylie Willhoite and I live at 66 Birchwood Street, West Roxbury, MA 02132. I work at Suffolk County Sheriff's Department and am a Sergeant. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Subject: Police Reform Package S.2820

Dear Judiciary Committee,

I am asking as a resident of Massachusetts that you DO NOT pass the police reform package S.2820 especially in regards to the section of qualified immunity.

A few questions each representative voting should be able to answer:

- Do the senators know how many of the "8 can't wait" campaign we already had in Massachusetts at the time of George Floyd's murder? (6 of the 8 is the answer with our police being trained at the academy that chokeholds are "not allowed" vs "banned". Banning them is great but a matter of semantics rather than a policy change. Please do not let the public believe they have needed to be in fear of this happening to them. They did not.)
- Do the senators know the data on police brutality for their own districts? What are the total number of calls vs. those that required any use of force? What are the demographics of that use of force? What type of force was used and why?
- Have they spoken with their chiefs about their current policies? Attended a citizens academy? Gone on a ride-along? Participated in a use of force simulation?

For example, in Northampton, MA where my fiance works the stats are all publicly posted. In 2019, they had 40,040 calls. Of those calls, only 84 resulted in any kind of use of force and none were deadly. That means that only 0.002% of calls resulted in any form of force. Of those 84 calls that resulted in some kind of use of force, 15 people were black, 8 were Hispanic, 1 was Middle Eastern, and 1 was Asian. That means that even when combined, only 0.0006% of calls resulted in any kind of use of force against a person of color and absolutely none were deadly or even close to it. That is not a police brutality issue. That is a public relations problem as thousands of compassionate, well-trained officers around the Commonwealth are being held accountable for actions that happened in another state with completely different laws, training, and governance around policing. Taking away qualified immunity will damage the future of policing and the public sector indefinitely. I urge you to think carefully before taking such a drastic measure. There is good reason why this law was upheld in the Supreme Court.

Social media without context cannot be what drives policy and this should not be a partisan issue. It should also not be something that is pushed through and rushed without proper time and communication around public comment. Please act responsibly on behalf of the citizens of this Commonwealth and vote down this bill.

Sincerely,

Dear House members,

I am writing in support of bill S2820. It is time we stop ignoring the persistent disparities in justice that have endangered and often ended the lives of Black Americans.

The Police Officer Standards and Accreditation Committee Is imperative for ensuring those with the most power in our society have the training, tools, and systems of accountability necessary to wield their power responsibly.

I know some have argued that eding qualified immunity may cause police officers to have second thoughts before taking action. To this I say, I would much rather have a police officer thinking twice before taking someone's life than not thinking at all.

A Letter regarding Bill S2820

I, Timothy Glynn, as a member of The Topsfield Police Department, am writing to express that I am opposed to Massachusetts Senate Bill (S2820). If passed, this bill would prohibit officers from effectively executing their duty each day.

The main areas of concern, among others, are the following:

Due Process: Under the law, Police officers deserve the same due process that are given to citizens and have been in place for years. All law enforcement employees deserve the right to an appeal, the same right given to other public servants.

Qualified Immunity: Contrary to what most think, qualified immunity does not protect bad police officers. What it does is keep officers, acting in good faith while making split second decisions, out of frivolous lawsuits that not only waste time, but millions of tax - payer dollars. All officers are bound to policy and procedures within their department and are subject to internal investigations.

Police Officer Standards Accreditation Committee: People have the right to be judged by their peers. It is difficult for any person to judge situations which they are not familiar with, or have never been involved in. In order to properly review Police conduct one must understand the role of being a police officer. Being tasked with regulating police action, including termination should be done by those who have an intimate knowledge of the profession.

At this time Massachusetts Police Officers are among the most trained Police Officers in the country. There have been no acts toward the public by any law enforcement officials that warrant such sweeping legislation. I urge you to reconsider the parameters of S2820. Please provide the men and women of Massachusetts law enforcement with the respect they deserve. Respectfully,

Timothy Glynn

Subject: Written Testimony - Senate Bill 2800

Dear Representative Biel and Members of the House Ways & Means Committee,

My name is Patrick Byrne and I live at 156 E St, So. Boston and have for over 35 years. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues. Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police officers in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent. The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased. The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support. All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI. This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in labor relations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses. We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Patrick Byrne

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Nicholas Dumont and I live at 126 Bayberry Circle, Winchendon, MA 01475. I work at Massachusetts Dept. of Corrections for Outer Perimeter Patrol, Special Operations Division and am a Correction Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Nicholas Dumont

Subject: Support for the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800)

Hello,
I wanted to write to express my support for the Reform, Shift+Build Act (S.2800).

I believe it has become apparent that the criminal justice system in America, especially the law enforcement department, has shown to abuse its power against the very people it has promised to serve and protect. The fact that this bill has been outlined is evidence of this.

While police officers are obviously human, they should be held to at least the same standard that a citizen would have to meet in terms of behavior around others. I believe that officers should be held accountable for their actions, i believe they should be trained in deescalation, i believe they should be trained to use non-violent methodology to engage with citizens.

More importantly, and what i think most Black and Brown people are asking for, is to reinvest police budgets in communities. The law enforcement budget in Boston is massively bloated, and this money can, and should, be used to eradicate root causes for systemic racism and inequality, rather than punishing people for conditions they were placed in.

If Boston, which is considered to be a very progressive city, can achieve these BASIC goals, it can be a true model for how society should progress against systemic racism. I believe at this point it is widely known that Boston is one of the most segregated and most gentrified cities in America. We need to start talking about this, and be better.

Thank you for your time,
Heather Xu

Subject: SB2820

House Ways and Means Committee,

I write in regards to SB 2820.

I was disappointed by the bill that was passed and the lack of transparency and legislative due process that the bill was given. The Senate used a disgraceful, unacceptable incident from 1,000 miles away in Minnesota to try and paint the same picture of police officers and municipal employees here in Massachusetts, which is the farthest thing from the truth. Here in Massachusetts we are fortunate to have professional police departments that have some of the best officers in the state. As a firefighter of 20 years here in Quincy, I can say that after working side by side with many of them at incidents over the course of my career. This bill is an attack on collective bargaining rights on men and women who took an oath to go out and protect the public. This bill was an attack on the legislative due process. We just watched a major reform bill pass in 7 days that attacks benefits that were negotiated and fought for for years after lengthy back and forth and discussion. This bill which negatively impacts the lives of police officers and public employees throughout the State was passed in 7 days, yet the legislature can't pass an infectious disease bill for first responders during the height of a pandemic?

My other concern with this bill is the changes in the Qualified Immunity. As a firefighter I took an oath to protect life and property, no matter what color that life is, with the assumption that someone always had my back and my families back if something were to happen. It is my understanding that changes to Qualified Immunity in this bill will limit the amount of protection that police officers, firefighters, teachers, social workers, nurses, etc. have as we are out there on the front lines. When the bill rings, we respond. Most of the time we respond to the unknown. Unfortunately many times we run into a person who may be down on their luck and suffering from substance abuse issues and not be in the right frame of mind. I have seen first hand instances of drug addicts attempting to attack myself and fellow firefighters and police officers with a syringe or weapon. So based on this new language, should we not defend ourselves anymore for fear of being sued? Do we just stand there and get stabbed with a dirty syringe and take the chance of a life threatening wound or disease so we don't get sued and lose our house? Most times we have our Brothers in blue there to help protect us from violence at calls. Are they going to be hesitant to help us now that they may no longer have protections they are accustomed to? If something goes sideways at an incident do we no have to worry about being sued? We work in dangerous lines of work, lines of work where we need a clear head to make decisions because lives may hang in the balance. The last thing we should be worried about is second guessing what are often split second, life saving decisions for fear of being sued and losing everything we have worked for our whole lives.

This bill needs a major overhaul. It is my hope that the House of Representatives can clean up this bill and the attacks that were made on employees collective bargaining rights and benefits. It is also my hope that any language related to Qualified Immunity be removed so public employees can't be sued for doing their jobs.

Public Employees deserve better.

Thank you for your time on this matter.

Subject: expungement expansion in racial justice bill

Good evening,

I am a student from Massachusetts, writing to ask that you include expungement in the racial justice bill that you are set to review.

In Massachusetts, African American youth are three times more likely to be arrested than their white peers, and six times more likely to do jail time resulting in a permanent criminal record.

Currently only 18% of applicants are actually approved for expungement-let's increase this number and give all of our youth the second chance that they deserve.

Thank you,

Subject: Bill D.2820

Good evening.

I am a police officer in Springfield, I have been a full time officer for 5 years now, I also was a part-time officer in West Springfield for 4 years. In my 9 years of policing I have never had to second guess judgement calls I have had to make, out of fear of being sued in civil court. However removing qualified immunity would cause that, since anyone would be able to make frivolous law suits against me for doing my job in good faith, which is what qualified immunity prevents from happening. It does not protect police officers that intentionally violate a person's rights and never has. In Springfield proactive policing has gotten 70 guns off the street this year alone. Proactive policing would be a lot less under a system without qualified immunity. Also you will see mass exodus of people leaving the job, for retirements or just plain quitting as the risk is too great I'm being sued and losing everything you own. We already have a hard time hiring quality people now, if this bill goes through as is we will never be able to hire anyone of quality, and the staffing shortage will affect at risk neighborhoods. I plead with the house to leave qualified immunity alone as it protects officers like me who go to work everyday to do work and make the streets safer.

I have no issue with being licensed, we are one of a few states that don't require it. However I have an issue with how that license can be revoked or judged on. Lawyers oversee lawyers, doctors oversee doctors etc.... Why do Police not get that same right. I would never ask to sit on a hearing to revoke a lawyers license as I have no clue what rules a lawyer must follow nor how in-depth the job duties actually are. I sure do not want someone judging me that has never done police work, gone through the training, or understand the job and what it entails. That should be included in this bill, that police officers are on the panel over seeing anything to do with licensing.

Thank you for your time and again I respectfully ask you leave qualified immunity alone, and place police officers on the boards that oversee licensing of police officers.

Respectfully

Jacob Werbicki

Subject: Bill 5128

My name is Sonya Ross, I am a resident of Methuen. I am writing to you to ask you to vote no for House Bill 5128 regarding police reform the way that it is written. I have read the bill in its entirety and truly believe that if this passes the way it is written, we are putting the safety of our police officers at serious risk.

Quite honestly I am infuriated that the bill has gone as far as it has. It would be irresponsible to pass it as is.

I agree that some police reform may be needed. However, allowing officers to be sued, will force them to second guess their every move, which in turn will ultimately end up causing serious injury or worse to an officer or a victim or both. It will tie up court rooms with unnecessary cases that could be being used to convict actual criminals.

Allowing the general public to intervene as they see fit should they witness an arrest or altercation? This will undoubtedly again put officers at risk for serious injury or death. Imagine an officer trying to arrest a gang member for example only to be tag teamed by the rest of the gang, who can turn around and say "the officer was using force" this is completely irresponsible! If you really think about it you will see how ludicrous this would be. Think about all of the possible ramifications from something like this!

Not allowing an officer to use force on a suspect who has had interaction with police in the last 24 hours? Quite honestly as I was reading this bill I was convinced it was not real, why would anyone think this was a good idea? So John Smith has an altercation for lets say disturbing the peace on Friday night, I don't know maybe he had too much to drink and decides to cause a scene. Then Saturday night he is at it again only this time he is getting violent with a woman, again under the influence, is the police officer supposed to get his name, then run his name to determine if he has had contact with law enforcement in the last 24 hours before stepping in to help the victim? I mean really, in what universe would this be ok?

So many pieces of this bill are irresponsible and will put our officers in harms way, officers will be second guessing their every move rather than protecting themselves and the public. These are the very men and women who put their lives on the line every single day to protect us! If this bill passes we will have failed them miserably.

I have quietly sat and watched all of the violence and the destruction that has been going on, I am disgusted, horrified and infuriated that no one seems to care, nothing is being done, instead we keep giving into ridiculous demands, meanwhile putting our law enforcement officers in even more danger. We are taking money out of police budgets when if there was ever a time to increase their budgets it would be now. I can not watch public officials support the alienation of law officers any longer. We are allowing them to be portrayed as the enemy. This is wrong in so many ways. We have made all law enforcement officers the sacrificial lamb because one officer in another state made the wrong choice. Really think about that. We are now allowing our officers to be disrespected, threatened and injured and we are doing NOTHING about it. The city of Boston has stripped needed funds from the police department in a time that we need more police. Who is going to protect the law-abiding innocent citizens? Now that budgets are cut crime will go up, it has already started. Put your emotions aside and use common sense to really think about what we are doing. Please don't pass this bill as is.

I can no longer support my elected officials if we continue to go down this road that we are on. I can no longer watch elected officials give in to the bullying by a few. The opportunists have a dangerous agenda and we are playing right into their hands. I can no longer watch society cave and give into this ludicrous idea that we don't need police. We need the police now more than ever. I can no longer sit and watch elected officials tie the hands of the law officers making it impossible for them to do their job effectively. Someone needs to stand up for these men and women. Please stand up for these men and women!

Please go through this bill line by line and really think about everything that is in and the ramifications most of these things will have.

In closing, I am asking again for you to please vote NO on this bill the way that it is written. I am asking you to support our law enforcement officers. Please do the right thing, the responsible thing and vote NO. This Bill is not what Massachusetts needs.

Thank your for your time and attention to this matter

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: Against the police reform bill

The bill that was passed at a sketchy 4am is something one should be ashamed to support. Growing up as a cop's daughter and from a family of cops , this bill is dangerous for the officers themselves, their families and the communities in which they live! This bill will not help or benefit anyone except those looking to break the law. We accept the idea of change that will keep everyone safe but this is not the type of change we are looking for. With the idea of allowing cops to be sued will have many people taking advantage of this and using every little thing against the officers. This can lead to officers not wanting to do anything anymore because they will have this feeling of walking on egg shells in every situation they respond to. Officers put their uniform everyday and go to work proud to help those around them. There is bad in every occupation but that should not define those who live their life in jeopardy to protect those in need. What is the point of sending officers to the police academy for 6 months to just turn around and have them accredited every so often. Also it impacts more than officers, it affects the safety of teachers and students and the idea of removing resource officers for a school is insane. Aside from that it dismantles the ability for police officers to communicate about gang members which could pose even more harm to the community. There are so many things inside of this bill the jeopardizes the safety of the communities around us. Think of these communities where people are shooting and killing each other , who are the people calling for help ... the COPS! but continuing to push the idea to defund the police is another crazy unrealistic idea. This bill definitely needs to be reviewed for the safety of everyone.

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified

Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Thank you,

Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages

Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records

Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities

Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual and is strikingly not yet illegal

? Our labor unions are not narrow, self-seeking groups. They have raised wages, shortened hours, and provided supplemental benefits. Through collective bargaining and grievance procedures, they have brought justice and democracy to the shop floor.—John F. Kennedy

I am writing in regards to the Massachusetts Police Reform Bill. This bill is detrimental to public safety, police officers, and organized labor. One major concern is the introduction of double jeopardy in regards to internal investigations (both IA and the committee can come up with separate findings for the same issue.) The decertification process appears to have a very low preponderance of evidence, and does not allow an officer to appeal their decertification. The elimination or limitation of qualified immunity is unacceptable. How can police in good faith respond to calls that we are dispatched to, knowing that we have no protections if accusations are made against us? This bill circumvents collective bargaining agreements and civil service process. This is a direct insult to any and all progress made by labor unions across the country. I took this job fully accepting the risk of injury or death. I did not agree to gamble my livelihood at every single call. I appreciate your time and hope you take these thoughts into consideration.

Subject: Testimony on behalf of S.2820

Dear Massachusetts House of Representatives,

I am writing to contribute testimony on behalf of bill S.2820, regarding police reform measures in Massachusetts.

I am writing to urge you to preserve the accomplishments this bill has put fourth, as they are essential to better ensuring the safety of all citizens of the commonwealth, most importantly communities of color who have, for so long, been disproportionately negatively affected by the criminal justice system. The bill has set forth very important measures, including the following:

- * Creating an independent and civilian-majority police certification/decertification body
- * Limiting qualified immunity so that victims of police brutality can sue for civil damages
- * Reducing the school-to-prison pipeline and removing barriers to expungement on juvenile records
- * Establishing a Justice Reinvestment Fund to move money away from policing prisons and into workforce development and education opportunities

* Banning racial profiling by law enforcement and prohibiting police officers from having sex with those in custody, which can obviously never be consensual, and is disgustingly not yet illegal.

While these measures are a step in the right direction, I would like to urge you to take this initiative even further, implementing even stronger, more concrete measures, including the following:

* Banning the use of chokeholds and tear gas completely.

* Fully prohibiting facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)

* Lifting the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund

* Creating a comprehensive and fully accessible database of any police misconduct records.

This bill is extremely important to shifting the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the right direction of a reimagined public safety system that reduces the unfair treatment and racial bias of communities of color, and reduces violence for all parties involved in law enforcement situations. I urge you to please preserve the features of this bill that are already in place, not to weaken or remove any of these provisions, and to suggest moving the bill forward with the additional above mentioned provisions.

Thank you very much for your time.

Subject: In Support of S.2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820, to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it.

I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Massachusetts is a state with a reputation of progressive policies, thus it only makes sense for us to begin a transition to a more progressive role for police in this society.

Thank you,

Subject: Reforming Police Standards

Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin:

I support Senate Bill S.2820 and ask that the House support it as well. This legislation is an important step in creating respect for, and confidence in, our law enforcement officers in communities of color. It simply holds law enforcement professionals to the same standards of behavior and restraint that are expected of the people they serve.

Most important, this bill will increase the safety and effectiveness of our law enforcement professionals by promoting trust and reducing the conditions that increase the likelihood of a violent confrontation. The use of force should be a last resort in any situation that calls for police intervention. By advancing Senate Bill S.2820, we will provide clearer guidelines for when an escalation is warranted and what is expected of our law enforcement professionals.

Sincerely,

Lucius Michel

Subject: Senate bill

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Cheveli torrres live in New Bedford MA. I work for the City of New Bedford as well as a resident. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Cheveli Torres

Subject: Testimony on Senate bill S.2800

Dear Chairs of the committee,

I write to urge you to expand the existing expungement law as the House takes up Senate bill S.2800 regarding racial equity. As I am sure you are aware, our criminal legal system is rife with structural racism and inequality. Young people of color are far more likely to be arrested than young white people. Their charges follow them for the rest of their lives—under the current law, even if their charges were dismissed.

I work with an amazing, inspirational group of young people who are working daily to change the path of their lives. And yet, due to the current law and the structural racism embedded in our systems, they are prevented from moving forward and contributing to our society. One young adult got a job she was thrilled about, but never even got to start working because the organization discovered she had been arrested. This is a young woman who is the epitome of a hardworking asset to any organization.

We know young people are a group that due to developmental realities take more risks than older people. As they age, their likelihood for recidivism drops. We need to expand our expungement bill to give them a clean slate as they work to change their lives.

I request that the expungement law be expanded by allowing for recidivism and not limiting to just one charge, by differentiating between dismissal and conviction, and by removing some charges from the list that prevent expungement, especially if the case is dismissed or the young adult is found not guilty.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: S2800 bill

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Dear Chair Aaron Michlewitz and Chair Claire Cronin,

Representatives Michlewitz and Cronin
Massachusetts House of Representatives
24 Beacon Street <x-apple-data-detectors://3>
Boston, MA 02133 <x-apple-data-detectors://3>

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is James F Car is and I live at 187 Stonecleave Rd in, North Andover Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

James F Carcia

Subject: Support of S.2820

Dear Chair Michelewitz, Chair Cronin and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820 to bring desperately needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it. I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Qualified Immunity for police officers is directly linked to the unaccountability that allowed slaveholders to murder black men with impunity. In Frederick Douglass's 1892 autobiography "The Life and Times of Frederick Douglass", he described the situation thusly:

"While I heard of numerous murders committed by slaveholders on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, I never knew a solitary instance where a slaveholder was either hung or imprisoned for having murdered a slave. The usual pretext for such crimes was that the slave had offered resistance. Should a slave, when assaulted, but raise his hand in self-defense, the white assaulting party was fully justified by southern law and southern public opinion in shooting the slave down, and for this there was no redress."

Substitute "slaveholder" with "police officer" and "slave" with "black man". This issue of white, authoritarian dominion over Blacks runs deep in the collective unconscious of our society. In light of the numerous murders of black men that the nation has witnessed with our own eyes at the hands of the police, there MUST be accountability. We cannot sit idly by and allow this unchecked violence against Blacks to continue.

Thank you for your consideration,

Subject: S2800 bill

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I strongly support S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is James MacDonald and I live at 30 Young Street in Tewksbury MA. I work at Lemuel Shattuck Correctional Unit and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less Than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an Officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from yelling "our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost. I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, while we are not opposed to getting better, it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask that you think about the correction officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed, that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Subject: S2800 Police Reform Bill

To whom it may concern:

I am writing to you to provide my thinking concerning the S2800 Police Reform Bill. First I would like you to know that I am very concerned about the fact that this bill was being debated without any kind of input from the public. Although I appreciate the opportunity now to provide my input I am alarmed by the circumspect way in which this bill is being handled.

I have serious reservations about several items in this bill.

As the mother of a police officer I think it is unconscionable that police officers could be put in the position of having to make decisions in a life or death situation that could ultimately result in the loss of the officer's life. For example, in the instance of Police Officer Michael Chesna, it is thought in the law enforcement community, that he hesitated when trying to decide if the situation warranted use of force. He had to determine in a split second whether the stone/rock the criminal was holding was a "lethal" weapon - he clearly made a decision it did not and as a result he lost his life. His children are without their father and his wife is without her husband. Instead of erring on the side of what was best for his safety he had to think about what the repercussions could be if he made what others might view as the "wrong decision". No one should ever be placed in that kind of situation.

Law enforcement is like any other profession in that there are some really great officers and likewise there are some not so great officers. I am at a loss to understand why we, as a state, want to strip away the protection for these officers who are doing the job well as a result of the incompetence and egregious behavior of very few officers overall.

In an atmosphere that is racially charged right now it is important for everyone to remember that ALL lives matter not just black lives. This legislature can best serve the public by making sure that police officers have the training and support that they need in order to do such a difficult job well. Instead of looking at what we can take away why don't we focus our efforts and energy on what can we provide for these officers in order to have qualified competent people placed in these civil service positions and actually make them feel like they can safely stay in these positions?

Whether it is intentional or not, we are tying the hands of the very people we are asking to protect us. How many people in today's environment would accept a position with starting pay of $40,000 to put their life on the line every day they go to work. How many people could endure people following them home from work yelling obscenities at them for merely doing their job? How many people could tolerate being second guessed for every decision that you make. Before we make rash decisions we need to think of the age old adage "walk a mile in my shoes".

Subject: In support of police accountability

July 17, 2020

The Honorable Rep. Aaron Michlewitz
Chair, House Committee on Ways and Means

The Honorable Rep. Claire D. Cronin
Chair, Joint Committee on the Judiciary

Re: Testimony in Support of Police Accountability -- Use of Force Standards, Qualified Immunity Reform, and Prohibitions on Face Surveillance

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

I write in strong support of the many provisions in S.2820 designed to increase police accountability. In particular, I urge you to:

1. Adopt strict limits on police use of force,
2. End qualified immunity, because it shields police from accountability and denies victims of police violence their day in court, and
3. Prohibit government use of face surveillance technology, which threatens core civil liberties and racial justice.

Achieving these aims is part of making Massachusetts more racially just. This moment in time is an opportunity for our state to make real changes that more towards racial equity.

George Floyd's murder by Minneapolis police brought hundreds of thousands of people into the streets all around the country to demand fundamental changes to policing and concrete steps to address systemic racism. This historic moment is not about one police killing or about one police department. Massachusetts is not immune. Indeed, Bill Barr's Department of Justice recently reported that a unit of the Springfield Police Department routinely uses brutal, excessive violence against residents of that city. We must address police violence and abuses, stop the disparate policing of and brutality against communities of color and Black people in particular, and hold police accountable for civil rights violations. These changes are essential for the health and safety of our communities here in the Commonwealth.

Massachusetts must establish strong standards limiting excessive force by police. When police interact with civilians, they should only use force when it is absolutely necessary, after attempting to de-escalate, when all other options have been exhausted. Police must use force that is proportional to the situation, and the minimum amount required to accomplish a lawful purpose. And several tactics commonly associated with death or serious injury, including the use of chokeholds, tear gas, rubber bullets, and no-knock warrants should be outlawed entirely.

Of critical and urgent importance: Massachusetts must abolish the dangerous doctrine of qualified immunity because it shields police from being held accountable to their victims. Limits on use of force are meaningless unless they are enforceable. Yet today, qualified immunity protects police even when they blatantly and seriously violate people's civil rights, including by excessive use of force resulting in permanent injury or even death. It denies victims of police violence their day in court. Ending or reforming qualified immunity is the most important police accountability measure in S2820. Maintaining Qualified Immunity ensures that Black Lives Don't Matter. We urge you to end immunity in order to end impunity.

Finally, we urge the House to prevent the expansion of police powers and budgets by prohibiting government entities, including police, from using face surveillance technologies. Specifically, we ask that you include H.1538 in your omnibus bill. Face surveillance technologies have serious racial bias flaws built into their systems. There are increasing numbers of cases in which Black people are wrongfully arrested due to errors with these technologies (as well as sloppy police work). We should not allow police in Massachusetts to use technology that supercharges racial bias and expands police powers to surveil everyone, every day and everywhere we go.

This is the time to re-imagine public safety. There is broad consensus that we must act swiftly and boldly to address police violence, strengthen accountability, and advance racial justice. We urge you to pass the strongest possible legislation without delay, and to ensure that it is signed into law this session.

Sincerely,

Dr. Erica Brooks

Dear Committee Members:

I am a lifelong resident of Massachusetts, and I am proud that our Senate has taken the bold step to pass S2820 Reform - Shift- Build Act with a resounding majority. We are in a historic moment when perhaps FINALLY we will be able to build a fair and just and compassionate system of justice -- that will no longer target people of color, often destroying their lives and futures. I urge you to support the Senate bill and make it even stronger -- in particular, please

* Strengthen use of force standards, e.g., by outright banning chokeholds and tear gas

* Fully prohibit facial surveillance technology (rather than imposing just a one-year moratorium)

* Lift the unnecessary cap on the Justice Reinvestment Fund

Thank you for your work on this crucial piece of legislation.

Yes reform it. No more swat gear, guns, tanks and the like. Use that money for de escalation training. Salaries should be based on earned training courses and successful implementation of de escalation. Police should be held accountable for excessive force. Work on the culture. Don't encourage bullies. Dispatch social workers, not police. Take the police out of social work. It is not fair to send them to everything rather than have the right crisis mgmt person for the job.

Subject: Police Reform Bill S2800

Good Evening,

My name is Erin Sawicki. I am the daughter of a Sergeant in the Massachusetts State Police and a sister of a town police officer.

I am here to speak on the new police reform bill that has hastily been written and passed by our Senate. I recognize that this country is in need of police reform and changes. However, those changes should not be made without careful consideration.

With the changes being brought to the qualified immunity, I foresee the danger to our officers and the general public raising. Our officers will not be able to thoroughly do the job that they are expected to do. The dangerous people that are on our streets will be able to get away with crimes because our officers will be afraid to do their job without being sued. Our officers will not feel comfortable showing up to calls when they feel they will have to make an arrest. What happens if the person is intoxicated from a substance and is resisting and hurt themselves? Will they be able to sue our officers? Not only does this apply with making arrests, but it also applies to our officers making medical calls. For example, our officers will not stop to do CPR on someone incase they break that person's ribs. They are going to be afraid they will be sued civilly for medical bills. However, if they do not help the person the officer will then be in trouble for not helping the person in need.

I can say with confidence that many of our state's police officers get into the profession to help people. Now they are in fear more than ever because they have a target on their back. My family personally has had to put cameras on our house because of things being stolen off our property. My family is scared to leave our house unattended. Is this what you want for the people in your commonwealth? We are constantly being bombarded with news of officers across the country being attacked unprovoked.

I urge you to think about these questions. Do you think that all crimes can be solved by community resources and community policing? Do you think that if we limit the police in our communities is going to bring down the crime in our communities? We are already having trouble getting more police officers in our state, do you think this will get you more?

I recognize the need for our state to fund more communities. I recognize that if many of our communities were better funded there would be more opportunities and less crime. I know that the people who are in these communities are primarily people of color. As I said in the beginning, our country is in need of police reform and change. But, taking away the one law that protects our officers and lets them do their job is not the way. It will not make those who decided to abuse their power stop.

I ask you all to consider the people of the commonwealth. I ask you to consider the police officers. I ask you to consider their families because this bill affects us all. Lastly, I ask you to think to yourself are we doing this for change, or are we doing this because of pressure from the ones who peacefully protested and you feel the need to make them happy. I hope you consider all of the above in your decision.

Sincerely,

Erin Sawicki, Shutesbury, Massachusetts

Subject: Senate Bill 2820

July 16, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Christiana Reis and I live in New Bedford. I work at Southcoast Health and am a Data Integrity Specialist. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Christiana Reis

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely, Richard Beaucage.... Braintree

State police officers make the same matter where stationed. Court officers make the same no matter what court they work out of. Doc officers make the same no matter what facility they work for. Sheriff correctional officers should make the same no matter what county jail they work for. We are all state employees and should be treated fairly and not discriminated on base on a geographical location . The risk is the same for all of us . Make things right.

Subject: S2800

To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing in regards to S2800 in modifying Qualified Immunity.

It was right to open this up to public input. I hope this committee not only takes it to heart but allows it the time and energy something of this importance deserves.

That said unions such as police and teachers have too much power. It's impossible to fire negligent under performers or prevent favoritism. These issues need addressing. However, this bill goes too far in rolling back Qualified Immunity, when it is already covered and applies to the 1979 MCRA.

This bill, as written will cause more problems than it will solve. To the citizens it's almost as if you hope to deeply damage and demoralize the police all in the name of optics.

Those entering into public service will be apprehensive as it will come with greater consequences. There will be more lawsuits, costing the taxpayers more. Clogging up the courts and further preventing anyone of any caliber from pursuing these professions and encouraging corruption. I will ask if this applies to our legislators as well? When trust of elected officials is at an all time low and animosity against our law enforcement is at an all time high, I urge you to change the course of history here and move forward for the benefit of the people and not yourselves. We are watching. You have already tried to step around us and we the people do not appreciate how much we are being ignored and how are cities are being ravaged. This will not help the problem but rather deepen it.

And on top of that the amendment to ban lists of gang members to schools. WHY? There is NO logical sane reason to do this. Putting teachers and educators in dangerous positions. It's almost as if you want to empower gang members who should have fewer rights for the horrors they bring to society. This needs to be removed from this legislation. After all we want safe schools but you will remove officers and not ID gang members? I'm infuriated by this. Do not include it.

We the people are watching. And want you to promote peace and property prosperity by protecting the greater good and averse citizen. Allow police and teachers to do their jobs without always having to be concerned about the next lawsuit.

Thank you for your time,
Monica Granfield, 3rd district

Subject: S.2820

Good Evening

My name is Kristen Owings and I live at 35 Jillians Way in Bridgewater. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active Weymouth Police Officer. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave every morning. I hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "Love you. come home safe." The last words my 4 year old son says to his Dad when he leaves "Love you Daddy." We always make it a priority to say goodbye and love you because it could be our last. In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do, not all wives need to say "come home safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget where I was when my husband got the initial call about Mike. The phone call was from my husband's friend, an Abington Officer who knew my husband worked the midnight shift with Mike. I will never forget where I was when I learned that news that Mike had died. I will never forget telling my then 2 year old, "we cannot wave when we see Police Officers this week. We need to place our hand over our hearts to respect Daddy's friend who died." I will never forget attending Mike's wake and funeral with my husband, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will never forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury.

-Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability.

-They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in.

-They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones.

Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making do not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Kristen Owings

Subject: Objections to Bill S.2800

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Seth Heacock and I live at 615 Boxford St in North Andover, Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

Please know there are many good, hard working people, who believe in equality and equal rights and open discussion for positive reform in our society. This bill and what it represents is in direct opposition to our values and what makes MA and America such a great place to live. The way it which this bill is being quickly passed through without open discussion in the senate, is simply wrong and not how we as Americans do things and it is being recognized. There is a buzz among a very large group of us who have been forced to be silent because of the treatment you receive from social media or the news for sharing an opposing opinion. We are disheartened by the attack on law enforcement and this bill. No one agrees with what happened in MN but that does not mean an overhaul on all law enforcement is the answer. In fact, we probably need the opposite, more funding and more support for law enforcement.

We rely on law enforcement every day, and there are so many positives that go unnoticed. In fact, I bet most of those in the legislature rely on the men in women in uniform on a daily basis and know them personally. You know the type of people they are, the selflessness in what they do every day to serve and protect. Let us not forget the majority of law enforcement. The lack of respect, understanding of the training law enforcement goes through currently, the type of people the suit up every day no matter what to serve and protect us without question; this bill is a direct attack on them and on our safety of all of us as a society.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiffs constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits. The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Seth Heacock

Subject: Bill S2820

Good evening,

My name is Alyssa Friedman and I am a resident of Worcester, Massachusetts. I am writing to you to express my strong opposition to Bill S2820. I believe this bill is a very dangerous piece of legislation and could potentially have dire consequences for the citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Having someone you love leave the house, put on their bullet proof vest, say goodbye to your children, tell them you love them and not be 100% sure if they are coming home is a scary thing. But, first responders know the danger of the job when they take their oath to protect and serve, which is what they try to do each time they go to work. This bill is blatantly a slap in the face to them. Taking away qualified immunity and having no due process...who in the world would want to be a first responder? If this bill passes there are going to be many men and women who will not be able to do their job the way they have been for years and years to keep this state safe. In any dangerous situation that a first responder comes across it will truly not be worth it for them to do something because they will be afraid of being sued and losing everything they have worked so hard for. To make it even worse, no one will want to become a first responder...And then what will we do? This bill shows that the government doesn't have first responders back and is disrespectful to both them and their families and the sacrifices they make daily when they put their lives on the line for me, for you and for the citizens of this great state.

I hope you think long and hard before voting on this bill. I think it is quite clear what a world without police being able to do their job would look like, for just one example, NYC...it is an absolute disaster. Is that what you want this state to become? Please, please vote NO on this bill.

I thank you, my family thanks you, the citizens of the Commonwealth thank you and every first responder who puts their life on the line every day thanks you as well.

I appreciate you taking the time to read this e-mail.

Best,
Alyssa Friedman

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Subject: S2820 Testimony

Dear members of House leadership,

S2820 does not do enough for our Black and Brown communities and needs to be strengthened.

As the Families for Justice as Healing outlined, "The solution is to shift power and resources away from law enforcement and incarceration and instead into Black and Brown communities through a community-controlled process led by most-impacted people." [1]

S2820 does achieve this.

Instead, it puts MORE resources towards the police by increasing training, overview, and review instead of. Meanwhile, it caps the "justice reinvestment fund" at $10 million.

It also does not do enough to actually address police violence or hold law enforcement accountable.

It does not include corrections officers in the definition of law enforcement. It allows law enforcement to suspend the decertification process for up to a year. It does not unilaterally ban the use of tear gas. It does not unilaterally ban chokeholds. It does not prohibit pretextual stops. It does not ban no-knock warrants. It does not end qualified immunity.

In short, this bill does not come anywhere near the significant change that is needed to address the racism systemic in the law enforcement system. Please, listen to the people actually impacted by these systems and not the law enforcement perpetuating the violence. Please, make deep, significant cuts in power and funding of our prison and law enforcement systems and re-invest that money into our Black and Brown communities.

Best,
Mary Forde

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I'm writing in favor of S.2820 to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it, I believe the final bill should eliminate qualified immunity (a loophole which prevents holding police accountable), introduce standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Good Evening,

I would like to voice my concern over the Senate's bill to do away with qualified immunity for police officers. Qualified immunity is given to ALL members of state, municipal and federal employees in the course of the performance of their job for a reason. It is a protection for the employee and their families to not have worry about losing their home or life savings because someone didn't like the way they did their job. Qualified immunity as written does not protect individuals that violate the constitutional rights of others. But it does protect them and their families from frivolous lawsuits.

If you take it away from only one group - then that is discriminatory. And where does it end - EMT's, fire personal, DCF workers, city councilors, state reps?

If qualified immunity is no longer given to police officers, I believe the Commonwealth will lose a lot of qualified law enforcement officers.

While I understand the need for reform, please do not go overboard by punishing all police officers. They are not the enemy.

Thank you.

Subject: S. 2800

Dear Representative Biele,

My name is Colleen Mokler-McKunes and I live in your district at 232 Athens street South Boston Mass 02127 and I am a huge fan of those who protect and serve our community. As you consider legislation that affects police officers and their safety, and thus the safety of our entire community, please understand that protection and preservation of due process and qualified immunity are non-negotiable and must be defended. Failure to protect both will undoubtedly put all public employees in harm's way while drastically and negatively impacting public safety for us all.

WHY DUE PROCESS MATTERS- Any legislation must allow fair and equitable due process under the Law. Currently, when an officer is disciplined, he/she is entitled to due process and an appeal process with the employer. A new outside board (like the POSA Committee) should allow this process to complete before instituting a review. This will not only maintain fairness, but will allow the new Committee to have a full record and make determinations after a thorough and neutral process has been undertaken. Other public employees such as teachers go through a similar process; police officers deserve the same respect and rights.

WHY QUALIFIED IMMUNITY MATTERS - Qualified immunity does NOT protect bad officers who knowingly violate the rights of members of the community. It's worth saying again. It does not protect bad cops. Instead, it protects good officers who play by and follow the rules. The doctrine allows lawsuits to proceed if a government official (not just a police officer) had fair notice that his or her conduct was unlawful, but acted anyway. The standard is objective reasonableness. By abolishing or changing qualified immunity as it exists today, police officers will not know what is lawful or not. This creates hesitancy and uncertainty in how they perform their duties. This is UNSAFE for all communities.

In closing, we are NOT Minneapolis. So, changing due process or qualified immunity in Massachusetts, which would affect police officers only in Massachusetts, would only serve to punish the men and women in blue for something that happened 1000 miles away. Instead of penalizing and scapegoating, we should be celebrating and promoting the fact that our police officers, some of the best in the nation, are impressive examples of how policing should be done.

Sincerely,

Colleen Mokler-McKunes

Subject: Police reform

As a resident of Massachusetts, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Respectfully,

Would you please end the absolute absurdity that this bill purports to enact. You are going down a rabbit hole just to placate this violent movement. I can assure you nobody in my family or circle of friends will vote for anyone who stands by and lets this happen. It is unfathomable that it made it through the Senate. Stop the madness. It is a reckless and negligent way of thinking. This will create a hell on earth, whereby ordinary citizens will not be able to live a peaceful existence. People are scared by the potential passing of this reprehensible legislation. Let's not lose control.

My name is Ashley Linnehan. I live in Merrimac, Massachusetts.

I absolutely agree with this bill; the police force has a lack of oversight which perpetuates this unjust and racist system. Even when good cops try to change the system and report inequities, they are fired, silenced, or otherwise face retribution; or they are fired for posting a family member's photo from a BLM rally (the Springfield PD).

If we are to create real change instead of just slapping a band aid on this very real issue, we need to reimagine a lot of the ways policing operates. Ending qualified immunity is essential. Police officers, like those in any other occupation, need to be held accountable for their actions. They need to be held accountable when they murder civilians, when they break the very law they are supposed to uphold, when they unjustly profile BIPOC, when they use chemical weapons such as tear gas on protestors for exercising their 1st amendment rights, when they punish actual good cops for speaking up.

The police were originally designed to catch runaway slaves, and, when over 400 years later, they are still murdering BIPOC with little to no accountability, it is terrifying. We need to make meaningful changes that will actually improve our state and our communities for the better. I believe passing this bill will aid in this process, but there is still a long way to go to be able to create an environment and a reality in which police do not target, abuse, and murder BIPOC, or anyone for that matter, but we need to address the racial inequities that have been built into our policing structure since its very inception first.

Thank you,

Ashley Linnehan

Dear House Ways and Means Committee,

As a sister of a formerly incarcerated youth, this act is very important to me. My brother's incarceration has left scars on him and my family that still deeply affect us today from 20 years ago. I ask that you make this crucial step in ensuring safety for our communities by nourishing, and not punishing, our youth.

Today, I am asking you to urge the Speaker to include these youth-focused policies in the House race equity bill. These proposals will address racial disparities in our justice system and hold law enforcement accountable when interacting with young people in our communities and in our schools:

* Require transparency and accountability by reporting race/ethnicity data at each major decision point of the juvenile justice system, as filed by Rep. Tyler (H.2141). Require law enforcement and other juvenile justice agencies to report data on young people at major decision points with the juvenile justice system to improve the state's policy and planning. For too long, we have waited for transparency harshest brunt of our legal system with their over-representation in the adult criminal justice system. By raising the age at which a teenager can be automatically tried as an adult, we can hold young people accountable in a more developmentally appropriate setting, giving them a better chance to succeed and turn away from offending and reduce the harms of legal system involvement all while reducing crime in our communities. * Prohibit law enforcement restraints of minor children in a prone or hog-tie position and require that de-escalation techniques are developmentally appropriate and require that law enforcement consider calling parents/guardians to de-escalate a situation with a child. Some of these provisions passed in S.2800 amendment 41.

* National and local studies have overwhelmingly shown that Black and Latinx students are significantly more likely to be suspended, expelled, and arrested in school than their white peers. Repeal the state mandate that every school district be assigned at least one school resource officer; require school committee approval by public vote for assigning SROs; require that law enforcement officers be stationed in a police station and on-call for schools, rather than being stationed on school property; and mandate that school districts and police departments comply with the reporting requirements of school-based arrests to qualify to have an SRO. These provisions passed in S.2800 amendments 25 and 80.

Thank you and I look forward to hearing back about your position on these priorities.

I am writing to you today to express my opposition to any change in Qualified Immunity for Police, Firefighters, Nurses, etc. These essential employees have the toughest jobs in our society as displayed a few short months ago during the height of the Covid-19 pandemic. They all must act quickly and without hesitation in order to complete their professions safely.

To undercut or cause them to second guess their actions due to possible frivolous litigation while working is downright dangerous. It will cause Police Officers to be hurt/killed. To think that "ambulance chasers" will not seek out clients in order to file suits against the above mentioned Heroes is naive.

I implore you to consider how professional the Massachusetts Law Enforcement community is. We do not have the rampant problems found in other parts of the country. This bill will only further victimize lower income communities because Police will take on a more reactive approach to their jobs. Gangs and violent offenders will take over these already marginalized communities. The good residents of these communities will fear for their lives and the safety of their children. We already can see an example of this occurring in New York City. Police reform can and will happen however this bill is far over reaching and will have severely negative consequences for Law Enforcement and the communities they serve.

Schools should share whether a student is affiliated or is an active gang member with the Police. If not, recruitment in our schools and violence in schools will only increase. Schools will be a safe haven for gangs.

This knee jerk reaction bill will cause good Police to leave the profession and will further scare away potential recruits in a profession that has already seen a decline in qualified applicants due to the "war on Police".

Our Police need help and any and all training can only be beneficial to them but please do not handcuff them and prevent them from doing their job which in turn will bring about increases in crime and violence throughout this great Commonwealth.

Thank you for taking the time to hear me.

Respectfully Submitted,
Mark Donovan

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Subject: The House Must At Least go as far as S.2820, if not further

Dear Chairs HWM & Judiciary,

I urge you to pass legislation that establishes real oversight and accountability for police which should, at the very least abolish qualified immunity.

Our law enforcement system is rife with obvious and documented racism that manifests in lawless and flagrant misconduct by police. Which regularly include murder of unarmed black people, brutality and excessive use of force, unlawful arrests, and unnecessary police contact. The House of Representatives and Senate must pass a bill that ends qualified immunity entirely, drastically reduces the ability of police to use force, removes police from schools, expands juvenile expungement, and fully funds proper reentry programs to keep people out of prison.

The shielding of law enforcement from accountability for violating people's rights through qualified immunity is an abomination, at complete odds with any concept of equal justice. It serves no useful societal purpose, and promotes contempt for the rights of citizen by police. Police are given the right to use force by the Commonwealth, and should be held the highest possible standard of conduct; qualified immunity ensures they are held to no standard at all. The practice of qualified immunity is more at home in dictatorships and police states, not a liberal democracy. Further, we must cease surveilling juveniles with police in schools and let young people expunge records related to mistakes they made as a child. Holding police to account is the bare minimum that should be expected of a civilized society.

This matter could not be more urgent. At the very least, go as far as S.2820, and do everything you can to go further. People are dying, even more are being brutalized in the streets. This is a unique chance to be on the right side of history. Please seize it.

Sincerely,

Bryan Jennings

Subject: Senate bill 2820

July 17, 2020

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Margaret McLaughlin and I live in Middleboro, MA, I work at Old Colony Correctional Center in Bridgewater, MA and am a Correctional Officer. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

Less than Lethal Tools: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

Civilian Oversight: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Margaret McLaughlin

Subject: Testimony for Bill S 2820

Dear Rep. Aaron Michlewitz and Rep. Claire Cronin,

My name is Amy Rando and I live at 238 Central Street in North Reading. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong. Qualified Immunity exists so that Officers who are acting in accordance with their agency's policies and procedures and using the appropriate actions/force based on the situation they are presented with are protected from civil liability. Qualified Immunity doesn't exist to protect officers violating their agency's P&P or using excessive force. I am also opposed to public databases regarding officer complaints.

Should Qualified Immunity disappear officers will no longer be proactive or try to apprehend suspects or violent persons for the very real risk of being sued personally. I honestly believe criminals will be emboldened with the knowledge an officer won't try to apprehend them or put their hands on them. Crime will rise and the innocent public will suffer. Results are already evident in many major cities where officers are taking a hands off approach like the public has called for. Now in those communities leaders are coming forward asking for anti-crime units to be put back in place and more law enforcement.

In law enforcement, unlike many other professions, people can often be left unhappy when an officer is doing "good work". Good work means writing tickets to speeders hoping they slowdown in the future and prevent major crashes resulting in injuries or death. Good work is arresting the spouse who just beat their significant other- even though neither want the police to make an arrest. An Officer does it knowing the next beating could be their last one if they are killed. Good work might mean using lethal force to save someone else's life or your own. Does any officer want to be put in these situations? The answer is no. Sadly, until every citizen abides by the law, police officers need to respond accordingly.

By taking away Qualified Immunity speeders won't be stopped for fear of accusations of bias or profiling. Batterers won't be arrested for fear the couple will accuse the police of using excessive force, even if the appropriate amount was used. A lawsuit could be filed against the officer even if it was found the police acted accordingly. Officers and innocent citizens will die at higher rates when an Officer hesitates to use the appropriate amount of force in a lethal situation (or perceived lethal situation- the police are not psychics) for fear of their family losing their home and savings... or even just being portrayed in the media as a murderer. I believe Sgt. Michael Chesna lost his life and an innocent woman in 2018 because of the fear of using excessive force as the perpetrator was "only" armed with a rock.

Good officers doing good work and being proactive will generate complaints. Having a database available to the public will place a target on officers more than there already is. It is very easy to find addresses available to the public online. Showing an Officer has a certain amount of complaints will give the false perception the officer is a bad one.

POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I respectfully request you do not remove Qualified Immunity, do not have a public database regarding officer complaints as this will jeopardize Officers and their family's safety more than it already is, and include rank-and-file police officers on the POSA Committee. Thank you for taking the time to read my testimony.

Subject: Testimony re S.2820

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make this decision for themselves.

I also support modifications/revoking qualified immunity for police officers. Police officers should not be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct. It does not matter if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Subject: Public Comment on the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800)

Good evening,

Earlier today I learned about the Reform, Shift + Build Act (S.2800) which reached committee in the MA House of Representatives this week. As I understand it, the chair of the Senate Ways and Means committee has opened a public hearing about the bill for MA residents to offer testimony in support or in opposition of this bill via email. I am reaching out today to express my support of this bill in its entirety, but also to express my unequivocal support for particular provisions of the bill that I see are most critical.

I unequivocally support SECTION 10 which partially breaks "qualified immunity" for police officers by allowing a person whose rights have been violated by an officer to file civil suit against officers for those violations of their rights and receive compensatory money damages. The doctrine of qualified immunity, codified in practice and statute, unreasonably protects police officers who violate the rights of citizens in the act of duty by effectively preventing any actionable legal redress for those violations. This provision provides a reasonable method of redress in these situations, and will in the long run reduce the frequency of rights violations by actors of the state.

The bill however does not go far enough, and I would ask that members of the committee consider additional changes to this bill (or to propose a new bill) that would require police officers to carry liability insurance, just as doctors are required to carry liability insurance. The current system simply does not hold police accountable for their actions, and a system of liability insurance would ensure that reckless police officers directly face the consequences of their actions through higher premiums or denial of insurance. Further, this bill or a future bill needs to address how damages are funded. Civil damages in cases involving rights violations by an officer should not be paid out by state or local governments. The public at large should not be held financially responsible for reckless police officers.

I unequivocally support SECTION 59 of the bill which allows an adjudicated delinquent or adjudicated youthful offender to petition for record expungement. I support the bill because it provides a critical pathway of rehabilitation for juvenile offenders. In many cases, juvenile offenders face their strongest punishment when they leave incarceration because of the incredible and undue burden that the status of criminal places on them. This is a burden they face for their entire lives. They face incredible challenges securing housing, employment, schooling, mortgages and many other necessary things in life because of the stigma and barrier that follows them. Background checks have become a gated community that leaves the most vulnerable on the outside.

The impact of a criminal record does not simply "follow a young person for their whole life" because the reality is that the impact compounds year after year. Missing a life stage or having a gap in employment is a huge set back that takes years to recover from for even non-offenders, and juvenile defendants are regularly asked to overcome an even greater challenge of having a gap in employment, housing or credit due to a criminal record. That's why the recidivism rate in MA is upwards of 76 percent three years following incarceration. The current system does not believe in rehabilitation because it does not allow juvenile offenders to achieve the legal status of rehabilitated.

What is worse is that these impacts are not distributed equally. Black and Brown juveniles are more often arrested, charged with more crimes, spend longer in incarceration and face greater challenges when returning to society. This provision not only provides necessary reform for juvenile offenders broadly, it is also critical in redressing systematic racism in the criminal justice system.

The existing statutes that allow juvenile expungement are not acceptable. First, the existing statutes only allow for the expungement if the offender has a single charge. Police officers and prosecutors routinely overcharge juveniles making this criteria nearly impossible to meet. Second, the law automatically disqualifies 150 charges which again puts incredible constraints on the applicability of the statute. Finally, and incredibly, the current statute does not make a distinction between a charge that is dismissed and a conviction. The SECTION 10 provision corrects these failures by allowing for multiple offenses to be expunged, allows judges to determine which charges can be dropped rather than legislators, and allows for a distinction between convictions and dismissed cases.

Despite what critics of the bill have said, especially those critics representing the police unions

<https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.boston.com_news_local-2Dnews_2020_07_15_massachusetts-2Dpolice-2Dunions-2Dreact-2Dsenate-2Dbacked-2Dreform-2Dbill&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=5G1wiA_dmD9jV1jlbR8RX6OZu08tjs-zX7hreH8Y3CY&s=ADAU7vf2WZdldVvyBIztZhTZdkoh86xJ42PzNxGw7EQ&e=>, the bill has not been rushed and will not create a significant impact on the ability of police officers to protect the public. Advocates of the juvenile expungement provision have been working in MA to enact similar statute change for nearly 8 years

<https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.lowellsun.com_2018_04_28_utec-2Dyouth-2Dled-2Dthe-2Dcharge-2Dfor-2Dexpungement-2Din-2Djustice-2Dreform-2Dlegislation_&d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=5G1wiA_dmD9jV1jlbR8RX6OZu08tjs-zX7hreH8Y3CY&s=73GJZ7LwE_ho_4wxt8Pfvfx5F1QuevFtvyxRz0nPwo&e=>, and there have been calls to abolish qualified immunity since the doctrine began to be established by SCOTUS in 1967. These are not extreme measures. These are not new measures. They do not interfere in the ability of police to do their jobs. What they do is place additional protections around the rights of the public -- the same public that the police have sworn to serve. This is especially true in the case of the qualified immunity provision: if police officers are not violating fellow citizen's rights, then there is no way for the revision to interfere with the performance of their duties.

I respect that police officers and representatives from the police unions do not want to be treated as if they are the same as the Minnesota PD. I understand that they feel that passage of a police and justice reform bill in MA on the heels of national protests communicates that the public has lost trust in MA police and that somehow they have been especially unjust.

That is a clear mischaracterization of the purpose of the bill and evidence that the police and their unions are not listening carefully to public concerns. The bill represents a wide variety of reforms that the public has been calling for over a number of years which the unions have fought against tooth and nail.

It is time for reform. Those who have no interest in change and justice are asking for a delay because delay just is the status quo. A delay means not holding police officers accountable. We cannot delay. We are tired. We need justice reform. This bill provides justice reform and it must be passed.

Thanks,
Jonathan Badgley

Subject: Vote No Bill S 2800

To Whom it may concern

My family, friends and peers are very confused, pained and concerned with the proposed Bill S2800. We all agree that no law abiding person of color should ever fear police brutality or discrimination. We are heartbroken at this aspect as we have blended families of color and many are people of color. I think the majority of Massachusetts residents all agree. Passing this bill as it is currently written will forever alter the safety of all citizens of Massachusetts.

I am a 53 year old widow of a wartime Veteran. A mother of two, one whom is disabled due to an incurable disease. I am also a 1989 nursing school graduate who worked in various positions and situations that police intervened to protect staff, other patients and protect an unstable patient from harming themselves. I have never encountered a police officer that hesitated to protect and serve. Last year, my daughters service dog was terminal. The dog suddenly could not stand. After contacting the animal hospital in the middle of the night for euthanasia information, it was the police who came and carried my daughters service dog into the car as she couldn't be lifted without assist. These officers did not know my daughter or her dog. They served. They were so gentle with the 90 lb Golden Retriever and showed such empathy to my daughter. They cried over a dog and are now being painted as racist killers.

Our law enforcement are sons, daughters, parents, siblings and friends. They are made up of all races. NOW they are all heartbroken at what this Bill means to them. It not only changes their job description but implies they are equal to the killer of George Floyd. What an insult that is to those who honor their profession. As a female with decades of experience in healthcare who has needed a police escort to my car because I feared walking alone after vague threats were made frequently by unstable patients. I could personally recount many many other interventions that were life saving. Dispensing Narcan, arriving on the scene prior to EMT and beginning CPR without hesitation. I could keep writing and praising. Instead I beg you to revise this bill. Police will no longer have the option or desire to intervene. I personally know many mental health workers who absolutely can not and have NOT been able to handle contemporary unstable people. They frequently rely on the police for the safety of all. This proposal is preposterous and dangerous. I can not imagine any experienced medical/psychological professionals are supporting this bill. If so, the community demands to hear from them. They can not possibly have extensive diverse clinical field experience.IMPOSSIBLE! It is NOT being supported by anyone I know with a medical background. Bill S 2800 will ultimately protect less people in all ways.

Training with the input of the Black caucus , community policing, no chokeholds and reporting and removal of police who abuse the badge should suffice as a starting point. If you implement this current bill into law you will forever alter our primarily good policing in the state of Massachusetts. You will be responsible if I am harmed walking to my car. My daughter, my mother, my sister or my neighbor. You, the lawmakers will hold this responsibility. There is a better way to enforce better policing for ALL residents of Massachusetts. I do believe in your hearts you do know this but seem to be rushing without proper judgment in light of the heinous murder of Mr. George Floyd.

The community at large is devastated over his murder and similar situations. The Massachusetts community is also very upset that this bill passed at 4am. We love our neighbors of all colors including blue.

Passing this bill will discourage all law enforcement to step in to unknown sit and do their job. Stepping into the unknown is what law enforcement does every single day. If the police stop showing up, what do lawmakers think will happen? Do you honestly feel we will be safer? Do you not foresee early retirement and more lawless in our future? We foresee this. This will inevitably spill over to our FD and healthcare workers and cause unnecessary burden and harm.

All the people you praised for their selfless service during the peak of Covid 19 you will cause unnecessary ill will and burden.

Did you forget them that quickly?

They feel that you have.

We feel you have.

Our first responders are heroes not villains.

Again , my family and I beg you to not implement this into law.

I would appreciate a return email regarding your intentions.

Sincerely yours

Pamela Silvia

Subject: MA state police bill

Good evening,

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Nicholas Green and I live at 26 John Alden Circle in Bellingham. I work at MCI-Norfolk and am a Correction Officer. I am also a part-time Police Officer with the Millville Police Department. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

Qualified Immunity: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. Judiciary committee and members of the House of Representatives,

I am saddened to be typing this email in support of myself, my peers, and my family against the senate's decision to pass this bill. Democracy has been circumvented by the Senate when they forced this bill through without public comments from those who have interests and elect them into office. I can only hope that this is not the case with this legislative body.

S.2820 is a dangerous bill for not only public servants, but for the citizens of the commonwealth. It was constructed out of emotions to a national tragedy, which rightfully should have led to a conversation, but not an attack on the most professional and highly trained police officers in the country. The greatest risk here is the cascade of failures that this bill, if passed, are certain to happen within our borders, within our cities, towns, neighborhoods, and eventually to the front door of those who never expected it. Foresight and common sense have been left behind when this bill was drafted and passed in the dead of night.

Should this bill pass, officers, FAMILIES of officers, who live everyday to protect against criminality, violence, and evil in all shapes and colors will have an even larger target on them. Who do you think would want to stay to protect after being attacked by their government? Who would take those places? How many votes will YOU lose by throwing everyone associated with law enforcement to the wolves? How many neighborhoods will fall into criminality when there are no longer officers willing to proactively protect those who can't protect themselves?

The simple fact is that if you vote to approve this bill, you will be moving backward in time, undermining work that labor unions have done to protect workers in all trades and aspects of public service. Qualified immunity does not protect officers who break the law. It doesn't hinder a criminal investigation into officers who abuse their power. It protects officers that act in good faith to SAVE people. Think about this, if this bill passes, an officer would then have MORE protection by NOT acting than acting in good faith. If that doesn't scare you than you'd better think about the repercussions that means.

Does the line end with police officers? How bout firefighters? Teachers? Judges? Politicians? Who knows... that's why it's such a dangerous precedent. Think about the citizens, the voters, the workers of the commonwealth when deliberating this bill. Invite a conversation on how policing could improve for our communities, but don't pass this bill, it is not the answer.

Respectfully,

Scott Gregory

My Name is Tom Cashman. I live in Dover, Ma, and I represent myself and am not affiliated with any group.

Here is an email I wrote to Senator Mike Rush and Denise Garlick about two weeks ago.

I grew up in WR (West Roxbury), and my Dad was a US Marine and Boston Police Officer.

I have had enough of BLM. How about ALL lives matter, whether black, brown, pink, yellow, white.. its all about respect for the individual.

Being a policeman has gotten harder over the past 2-3 decades, especially in Boston. The metaphorical old drawing by Norman Rockwell about the policeman sitting at the cafe counter has been replaced by the Boston Globe insinuating that every BPD officer is a racist and a bully.

I happen to know many policemen that serve Boston. My friends come from multiple races and genders. The law currently in front of the legislature treats these good people like the bad people we need to protect our children from. This is a great example of "over-rotation", where in an attempt to provide the type of justice we all want based on the universal values of "God given rights"... we place some of our most valued civil servants in completely untenable situations.

I implore you to reverse your stance on Bill 2800, and think about legislative restraint. Imagine yourself in a policeman's shoes, trying to do the right thing... and wondering "what if?"... instead of doing the right thing and knowing that society and the laws of Massachusetts will have your back.

Thanks,

Tom Cashman

When I read some of the commentary made in the email I received, it is apparent that this is not a debate. I am particularly critical of the wording of section 3:

"Creating a commission on structural racism to study how the systemic presence of institutional racism has created a culture of structural racial inequality"

What happened to the "if" clause... as in "To study WHETHER structural racism exists in Massachusetts Police Forces, AND IF IT DOES, to seek to remedy that structural racism"?? You have made it a foregone conclusion to appease the mob.

As I stipulate in my email above... this completely well intentioned but misguided overreaction will not serve the commonwealth or its citizens... and the end result of this process will be to drive further wedges between the police departments and the people they PROTECT AND SERVE (regardless of what race, color or creed those police officers happen to be)

Subject: Bill S2820

Dear House of Representatives,

Our names are Russell and Elizabeth Carman and we live at 7 Briarwood Lane Wakefield. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1)Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2)Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3)POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015

President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Russell and Elizabeth Carman

To whom it may concern.

In regards to this bill, I am please asking you to veto bill S2800.

I understand changes need to be made, however just passing a bill for the sake of passing one, makes no sense. To pass a bill at 4:30 am is unconscionable.

More police training needs to be in the works for sure, but reverberations are not the answer.

Please veto this bill and let's work together to make it right for everyone and not rushing a bill with out completely thinking this through.

Thank you.

Subject: Police reform

Hello,

I am writing out of concern for the pending police reform bill which is currently being discussed. In full disclosure I have been a police officer for 24 years. I writing to share my opinion and hopes regarding the proposed bill currently being discussed about police reform. I will not argue that there is a need for change and scrutiny in policing. We should be held to a higher standard. However, the police should NOT be painted with the same broad brush. Most police officers go work to do a good job. Very few are "bad apples". Although there are some no doubt. But in todays day in age many officers who are making split second decisions are having their lives and careers destroyed. Most of the times their actions are entirely appropriate. I feel most people would agree. However, today we see a small group of highly vocal, highly organized and often times violent group of people intimidating the rest. What we need now is a time to think reasonably and consider all aspects of the legislation. The bill will have lasting repercussions in our state. More importantly many of the issues involving police alleged violence have not been in Massachusetts. So please be reasonable and take the time to consider the lasting effects of "knee jerk" legislation that is destined for failure or are at least flawed. But if it is discussed with more parties and thoughtful time the result will be more beneficial to everyone.

Thank you for your time,

Subject: S.2820

Good Evening,

My name is Amy King and I live at 164 Meadowbrook Road in Hanover. I write to you today with regards to S.2820. This is a bill that has the attention of many in our Commonwealth. Most particularly, it has the attention of Police/Law Enforcement officers, those that love them and those that support them.

I write to you as the wife of an active duty Weymouth Police Officer, the daughter of a retired Provincetown Police Sergeant, and the daughter-in-law of a retired Weymouth Police Officer. Growing up as the daughter of a Police Officer I don't really remember being worried about my father going off to work. It was a different world then. Police Officers were respected and appreciated for the job they did. As the wife of a Police Officer in today's world things are different. Like all police wives, I watch my husband leave and hope and pray that he comes home safely every day. My last words to him every time he leaves are "be safe, I love you". In our world this is "normal" but not everyone lives in the same world we do. Not all wives need to say "be safe" when their loved one leaves for work.

I also write to you as a member of a larger family - the Blue Family. This week, Wednesday July 15 to be specific, my Blue Family and I remembered one of our own, Sergeant Michael Chesna. On July 15, 2018 this husband, father, son, brother and uncle who just also happened to be a Police Officer was murdered. I will never forget the text message I received from my husband that he was safe but couldn't talk because I found out later that he was on his way to the hospital with Mike. I will never forget where I was when I learned the news that Mike had died. I will never forget attending Mike's wake on the day of my 10th wedding anniversary nor the funeral a day later with my husband, my Blue Family and the Chesna Family. Sitting in St. Mary of the Sacred Heart Church in Hanover with my fellow police wives is something none of us will ever forget. A police wake and funeral are things NONE of us ever want to attend again.

As I noted above, S.2820 has caught our attention. There are pieces of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. Like many, I support enhanced training and appropriate certification standards that apply to individual officers. I also support accreditation of police departments. Certification and accreditation both serve as a commitment to excellence in training and promote each individual's and department's maintenance of the highest professional standards. Certification and accreditation also serve to enhance public confidence. Public confidence, and I might offer respect, is critical to police officers being able to do their job on a daily basis. I also support the ban of the use of excessive force by police officers as well as the proposal that every individual officer has the duty to intervene if they witness excessive force. These parts of S.2820 all make sense when we focus on the idea that this bill is about constructive police/law enforcement reform.

S.2820 has also caught our attention because there are pieces of it that do not allow for the fair and unbiased treatment of Police Officers. Most importantly, the removal of Qualified Immunity for Police Officers is unfair and potentially dangerous. Qualified Immunity, as I understand it, does not excuse criminal conduct. It is, instead, a legal protection offered to all public employees and serves as a protection against losing one's home or life savings in a civil suit. As many people know, Police Officers need to make in the moment decisions every day when they put on their uniform. If they don't make those decisions quickly enough they face the very real chance of death or injury. Police Officers CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about liability. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about losing the home their family lives in. They CANNOT do the job they were hired to do safely and effectively if they are worried about how they will support their loved ones. Is there a chance that Sergeant Michael Chesna chose not to use his weapon on the morning of July 15, 2018 because he was worried that such use would have been viewed as use of excessive force? Was he worried that if he used his weapon he could potentially lose his family's home? The answers to those questions we will never know. It does seem reasonable to assume, however, that had Sergeant Michael Chesna chosen to use his weapon to shoot Emanuel Lopes he would still be here today. He would still be here with his family who miss him every single day. Police Officers need to be able to make quick decisions and act in good faith without fearing that each and every decision they make could lead to a lawsuit against them. Police Officers who are forced to stop, pause and think about potential liability before they act are Police Officers whose lives are at risk. The removal of Qualified Immunity should NOT be part of the final police/law enforcement reform package.

As I stated, there are parts of S.2820 that are acceptable and appropriate when we think of a bill with a goal of constructive Police/Law Enforcement reform. The bill as it currently stands before you is NOT acceptable as a total package. If Legislation such as that tied to S.2820 is to be effective, appropriate, and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth, it takes time along with careful thought and consideration. Reactive and rash decision making does not serve the citizens of our Commonwealth. The early acts in the Senate to rush a vote on this bill and to not study pieces like Qualified Immunity further have been extremely disheartening. I appreciated those Senators who called for more time and for a closer look at the bill in order to produce a product that was fair and just for all citizens of our Commonwealth. I also appreciate the willingness of the House to hear from the citizens of the Commonwealth. Legislation such as S.2820 impacts all citizens so all of those citizens should be allowed to share their thoughts.

In closing, I urge you to take the time that is necessary to make the best decision for ALL citizens of our Commonwealth. We have some of the most well trained Police/Law Enforcement Officers in the country. They need to be able to do the job they were trained to do in a safe and effective way. I urge you to correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in Law Enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Amy King

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Ronald Karcz.

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Bob Presutti and I live in Wakefield. I work at the Norfolk Sheriff's Office and am a Corrections Officer there. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????????? ??????????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. (3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. Subject: Please advocate for Expungement in Massachusetts in house bill focused on racial justice

Dear MA Judiciary,

My name is Lydia Bowers and I am a resident of Somerville, MA. I am writing today over concerns about our current youth expungement law, which is overly exclusive to the point most young people cannot qualify. I know that the Legislature is planning to pass legislation to address police accountability and racial justice and I would really appreciate your support to make sure an expansion to the expungement law is included as part of this plan.

As an Human Resource professional, I have seen first hand how criminal records stay with people forever and prevent many from getting good jobs. I have advocated for hiring those with criminal records, and as a result have witnessed the deep stigma those with a criminal record encounter while job seeking. As long as these stigmas against hiring those convicted of crime, even low level crime, exist, youth expungement is crucial for a fair and equitable society.

In addition, race plays a central role in the problem with criminal records. Black youth are three times more likely to be arrested than their white peers. Black individuals are six times more likely to go to jail than whites despite being just 7.5% of the population. People of color are over-represented at every stage of the legal system and expungement will go a long way to undo the harm from this systemic racism.

I respectfully ask for an amendment that will:

1. Allow for multiple offenses to be expunged (prior to age 21).
2. Remove the list of 150+ charges that automatically disqualify and let the judge decide. Charges don't reflect the reality of an individual's character, guilt, likelihood of future risk, or ability to contribute to society in a positive way. Instead we should allow for judicial discretion. Since the 7 year felony and 3 year misdemeanor wait periods only begin at the end of one's sentence, the most severe charges like murder and aggravated rape which come with life sentences will never be eligible.
3. Differentiate between convictions and dismissed cases. Not all charges are equal.

Thank you for your consideration! This issue is very important to me, the young people in our community, and the entire Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

Subject: DO NOT PASS S.2820

Dear members of House leadership;

S.2820 does almost nothing to prevent state violence against Black people or stop the flow of Black people into jails and prisons.

I believe S.2820 will cause more harm than good by increasing spending on law enforcement through training and training commissions, expanding the power of law enforcement officials to oversee law enforcement agencies, and making no fundamental changes to the function and operation of policing in the Commonwealth. Real change requires that we shrink the power and responsibilities of law enforcement and shift resources from policing into most-impacted communities. The definition of law enforcement must include corrections officers who also enact racist violence on our community members.

If the Massachusetts legislature were serious about protecting Black lives and addressing systemic racism, this bill would eliminate cornerstones of racist policing including implementing a ban without exceptions on pretextual traffic stops and street stops and frisks. The legislature should decriminalize driving offenses which are a major gateway into the criminal legal system for Black and Brown people and poor and working class people. Rather than limiting legislation to moderate reforms and data collection, the legislature should shut down fusion centers, erase gang databases, and permanently ban facial surveillance by all state agencies including the RMV. I also support student-led efforts to remove police from schools.

The way forward is to shrink the role and powers of police, fund Black and Brown communities, and defund the systems of harm and punishment which have failed to bring people of color safety and wellbeing. S.2820 does not help us get there.

Thank you kindly for your time,

Aryam Kifle. Newton, MA

Subject: S2820

The Chair of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Rep. Aaron Michlewitz, in cooperation with Rep. Claire Cronin, Chair of the Joint Committee on the Judiciary,

If passed as currently written, S2820 will cause men and women such as myself in the state of Massachusetts to be no longer able effectively perform their duties as police officers. Ending qualified immunity would place officers at risk of being personally liable due to actions on duty even if such actions were conducted in good faith. This would lead to a serious safety risk for police officers as well as the citizens of Massachusetts, as officers would no longer feel comfortable making a decision in a heat of the moment situation due to fear of "making the wrong decision". Not to mention the frivolous law suits that are sure to follow. I do not feel as though officers in the state are opposed to receiving more training or becoming licensed within the state. Personally, I would enjoy having access to further training opportunity and have no issue at all with becoming licensed in the state, but if qualified immunity is eliminated, I believe this would do far much more damage than good. This is simply punishing officers who work hard for their communities every day and would likely cause a large percentage of officers to leave the profession. This job can simply not be performed without qualified immunity. I think we all understand these are difficult times... but making rushed decisions at the expense of our officers is not the answer. I believe the fact that this bill was passed at 4am in the dead of the night speaks for it self... Please, DO NOT pass S2820 as written, as it will cause for more negatives than positives.

Subject: Senate Bill S.2820

Although I agree with some of the items in the senate bill, like banning chokeholds, limit the use of tear gas and training them in the history of racism, I totally disagree with the removal of qualified immunity for law enforcement officers. What also upsets me and many others is how the bill was drafted and voted on late at night and without any input from the police unions. My understanding is the law enforcement unions were and are more than willing to work with the legislature to make things better. Slamming a bill together in the middle of the night leaves me with little trust in our legislature.

If this bill were to pass as is, why would someone want to be a law enforcement officer? Way too much risk. Why would a law enforcement officer stick their neck and life on the line and have no backing. You think crime is bad now, passing this bill as is opens the doors for more disruption than we could ever imagine.

As I mentioned above, some things need to change, but more input is needed and more thought taken into consideration before we just try to pass something in the middle of the night.

Thanks,

Subject: Qualified Immunity

To who it may concern,

I respectfully disagree with the proposed abolishment of qualified immunity for police officers and all responders.

While I fully support that reform is needed in a number of areas of policing, in order to change a dangerous culture that has too often protected officers who are unfit to wear the badge, I don't believe wiping out qualified immunity is the answer.

Honest, important steps can and must be made to change the numerous incidents that people of color unfairly suffer at the hands of unfit police officers.

However, eliminating an important tool like qualified immunity I believe would actually hurt the numerous good officers from doing their job effectively if the threat of lawsuits, etc., hang over their heads.

It is time for the people who make these decisions to look deeper than cosmetic fixes like this to truly address the issues of systemic racism, both in law enforcement and society. In other words, don't just throw out the baby with the bath water. Look at the pieces of the system that work, why they work, and then address issues like hiring practices and accountability on the job and union protections that keep bad cops working.

Police are one of society's most important pillars. There are an untold number of good men and women in uniform who put their lives on the line each day. People who are better than I. Please don't risk losing them by making it more difficult to do what we ask them to do every day.

Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives:

I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership.

Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP.

To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated.

SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated.

Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status.

Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers.

I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation.

Sincerely,

Donna Marie Forand

Dear Representative Biele,

My name is Beverly Martin and I live in your district at 81 Orton Marotta Way Apt 6100 South Boston, MA 02127 and I am a huge fan of those who protect and serve our community. As you consider legislation that affects police officers and their safety, and thus the safety of our entire community, please understand that protection and preservation of due process and qualified immunity are non-negotiable and must be defended. Failure to protect both will undoubtedly put all public employees in harm's way while drastically and negatively impacting public safety for us all.

WHY DUE PROCESS MATTERS- Any legislation must allow fair and equitable due process under the Law. Currently, when an officer is disciplined, he/she is entitled to due process and an appeal process with the employer. A new outside board (like the POSA Committee) should allow this process to complete before instituting a review. This will not only maintain fairness, but will allow the new Committee to have a full record and make determinations after a thorough and neutral process has been undertaken. Other public employees such as teachers go through a similar process; police officers deserve the same respect and rights.

WHY QUALIFIED IMMUNITY MATTERS - Qualified immunity does NOT protect bad officers who knowingly violate the rights of members of the community. It's worth saying again. It does not protect bad cops. Instead, it protects good officers who play by and follow the rules. The doctrine allows lawsuits to proceed if a government official (not just a police officer) had fair notice that his or her conduct was unlawful, but acted anyway. The standard is objective reasonableness. By abolishing or changing qualified immunity as it exists today, police officers will not know what is lawful or not. This creates hesitancy and uncertainty in how they perform their duties. This is UNSAFE for all communities.

In closing, we are NOT Minneapolis. So, changing due process or qualified immunity in Massachusetts, which would affect police officers only in Massachusetts, would only serve to punish the men and women in blue for something that happened 1000 miles away. Instead of penalizing and scapegoating, we should be celebrating and promoting the fact that our police officers, some of the best in the nation, are impressive examples of how policing should be done.

Sincerely,

Beverly Martin

Dear Chairs Michlewitz and Cronin,

I write to add my voice to the many who are speaking up about how important it is to include language around raising the age is in the state radical justice bill S 2820. I have worked with youth over the past eight years as a manager at More Than Words (<https://mtwyouth.org>) <https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__mtwyouth.org_d=DwMFaQ&c=1DF7oMaPKXpkYvev9V-fVahWL0QWnGCCAfCDz1Bns_w&r=uoevGInjCfTlguYncQubxpi5R6db_gq1YmKr0SCk2EnIiuk13zIs16rchf_GkGDD&m=-4uosYYdnXmpBmxcLBxJATQXo4G16ASKptgAPhX_lb0&s=p_SLfgsWW24D-yMrVK9mbf72ZiIX9WU8nf4sC5W8stw&e=>>), where we empower young adults to take charge of their lives by taking charge of a business. I work with young people from all different backgrounds, all of whom deserve every ounce of care, compassion, and accountability we share with them over the 6-12 months we work together. Young adults make mistakes. We've all made mistakes, and lots of times we got second chances. I know I did.

Turning 18 didn't magically make me into a mature, responsible adult. I'm guessing the same is true for you. Young adults over 18 still make mistakes and mess up, but that doesn't mean they should automatically be tried as adults in the justice system. They're still learning and deserve compassionate accountability. Please include language to raise the age in bill S 2820. I am thankful for you helping keep youth out of the justice system, giving them a second chance to learn how to do better, and be better instead of just being locked up.

Sincerely,
Sara Dickey

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is Greg Gaetano and I am a 22 year veteran officer at the Dracut Police Department. As a constituent, I write to express my opposition to Senate Bill 2820. This legislation is detrimental to police and correction officers who work every day to keep the people of the Commonwealth safe. In 2019 the Criminal Justice System went through reform. That reform took several years to develop. I am dismayed in the hastiness that this bill was passed but I welcome the opportunity to tell you how this bill turns its back on the very men and women who serve the public.

????????????????????? ??????????????????: Qualified immunity doesn't protect officers who break the law or violate someone's civil rights. Qualified Immunity protects officers who did not clearly violate statutory policy or constitutional rights. The erasure of this would open up the flood gates for frivolous lawsuits causing officers to acquire additional insurance and tying up the justice system causing the Commonwealth millions of dollars to process such frivolous lawsuits.

????????? ?????????? ?????????????????? ??????????????: The fact that you want to take away an officer's use of pepper spray, impact weapons and K9 would leave no other option than to go from, yelling "Stop" to hands on tactics and/or using your firearm. We are all for de-escalation but if you take away these tools the amount of injuries and deaths would without a doubt rise.

????????????????????? ??????????????????????: While we are held to a higher standard than others in the community, to have an oversight committee made of people who have never worn the uniform, including an ex convicted felon is completely unnecessary and irresponsible. When this oversight board hears testimony where are the officer's rights under our collective bargaining agreement? Where are our rights to due process? What is the appeal process? These are things that have never been heard or explained to me. The need for responsible and qualified individuals on any committee should be first and foremost.

I am asking you to stop and think about the rush to reform police and corrections in such haste. Our officers are some of the best and well-trained officers anywhere. Although, we are not opposed to getting better it should be done with dignity and respect for the men and women who serve the Commonwealth. I ask that you think about the police officer you need to keep your streets safe from violence, and don't dismantle proven community policing practices. I would also ask you to think about the Correction Officer alone in a cell block, surrounded by up to one hundred inmates, not knowing when violence could erupt. I'm asking for your support and ensuring that whatever reform is passed that you do it responsibly. Thank you for your time.

Respectfully Submitted,

Officer Greg Gaetano

Subject: S.2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color

Dear Members of the House Judiciary Committee and Ways and Means Committee,

I am writing to you to voice my strong support for S.2820, An Act to reform police standards and shift resources to build a more equitable, fair and just commonwealth that values Black lives and communities of color. This bill is urgently needed because of the toxic culture that has overtaken many police departments, both in Massachusetts and in the nation as a whole. Police abuse civilians in ways that would be crimes for anyone else, with complete impunity. The press has treated this as a purely racial issue, because Black people are much more likely to be targeted than whites. However, the sad truth is that no one is safe from abuse by the police, and police retain their impunity no matter who they abuse. Recent events have made this obvious, as police target white protesters and as President Trump himself admits that more whites are killed by police than Blacks. Everyone needs police reform.

A particularly critical piece of this reform is an end to conditional immunity. The doctrine of conditional immunity shields police from meaningful legal action in all but the most extreme circumstances, effectively freeing them from any kind of accountability. No reforms can take hold until the police are accountable for their actions. This makes the end of conditional immunity key to actually implementing and enforcing all of the other reforms in S. 2820.

Please pass S. 2820 without diluting any of its provisions, and especially without weakening the provisions to limit conditional immunity. In their current form, these provisions constitute the bare minimum of what is actually needed.

Thank you for your consideration,

George A. Rappolt

Subject: Opposition of S.2820

Dear House of Representatives,

My name is Laurel Chabib and I live at 273 Boston st., in Lynn. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my staunch opposition to S.2820, a piece of hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth. It robs police officers of the same Constitutional Rights extended to citizens across the nation. It is misguided and wrong. While I am in support of police reform and of far more severe consequences for officers who show a pattern of discrimination and inappropriate behavior, I firmly believe that this bill will open the door for a domino effect of serious societal issues.

Like most of my neighbors, I am dismayed at the scarcity of respect and protections extended to police officers in your proposed reforms. While there is always room for improvement in policing, the proposed legislation has far too many flaws. Of the many concerns, three, in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law. The appeal processes afforded to police officers have been in place for generations. They deserve to maintain the right to appeal given to all of our public servants.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously unrealistic lawsuits.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include rank-and-file police officers. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, law enforcement should oversee law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Let me remind you that in 2015 President Obama recognized the Boston Police Department as one of the best in the nation at community policing. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Sincerely,

Laurel Chabib

As a Massachusetts resident I am tired of abuses of our neighbors at the hands of unaccountable law enforcement officers. I ask that you preserve the language creating an independent and civilian majority police body, limit qualified immunity, and reduce the school to prison pipeline by removing barriers to expunge juvenile records.

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1) Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2) Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3) POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. Subject: Reject Senate Policing bill SB 2820

Dear Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives: I am writing to ask you to reject the Policing Bill, SB 2820. It endangers public safety, removes important protections for police, and creates a commission to study and make recommendations regarding policing with a lopsided membership. Section 49 alters our education laws to prohibit school officials from reporting immigration or citizenship status to any law enforcement authority or GANG MEMBERSHIP. To think that school authorities would be prohibited from telling the police that a student might be a member of MS-13 or any other dangerous gang is extremely dangerous. Section 49 should be eliminated. SB 2820 endangers our police by dramatically watering down "qualified immunity" in Section 10. This provision should be eliminated. Section 52 should also be eliminated as it hinders an officer's ability to protect our roadways as well as him- or herself by not allowing them to ask someone who they have stopped about their immigration or citizenship status. Section 63 creates a fifteen-member commission to make recommendations on policing. But, only 3 of the 15 are associated with policing. It should have more equal representation of law enforcement officers. I oppose SB 2820, and at a minimum, it should specifically eliminate any provisions similar to sections 10, 49, 52, and amend Section 63 to have more police representation. Sincerely,

Barbara O'Neil-Sheehan

Hello,

I am all for police reform and change, but this bill is going to do more harm than not. In addition, the way this was passed is a terrible reflection of a knee jerk reaction from our white majority politicians. I support black lives matter and change. I also support the amazing police force we have in Massachusetts. This bill will do more harm than better. You will have many walking out on their jobs. Or get paid to do even less. Do the right thing.

Dear Chair Michlewitz, Chair Cronin, and members of the House Ways & Means and Judiciary Committees,

I am writing in favor of S.2820 to bring badly needed reform to our criminal justice system. I urge you to work as swiftly as possible to pass this bill into law and strengthen it. The final bill should eliminate qualified immunity entirely, introduce strong standards for decertifying problem officers, and completely ban tear gas, chokeholds, and no-knock raids like the one that killed Breonna Taylor.

Additionally, while this bill is a start, it does not go nearly far enough. We need to rapidly shift funding from the State Police and prisons to social services, education, environmental justice initiatives, and green jobs. Given the current political moment, and right on the heels of massive scandals and financial mismanagement among the State Police, voters in Massachusetts expect much, much bolder action from you.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Best,

Subject: Objections to S.2800

Dear Chair Michlewitz and Chair Cronin,

My name is [Insert Name] and I live at [Insert Address] in [Insert Town], Massachusetts.

I am writing to express my opposition to the current Senate bill S.2800, which was passed in the Massachusetts Senate this week and is being heard tomorrow by you the Massachusetts House of Representatives for consideration.

My oppositions to this bill are very simple and straightforward. First, this bill will change the current legal standard of the Qualified Immunity doctrine in Massachusetts state courts. The present standard allows the courts to consider past precedent and established legal authority, and the information the public official possessed at the time of their alleged illegal action when determining whether the doctrine will apply to a public official defendant before a case can go forward.

S.2800 would change the established legal standard to only allow the court to consider what every reasonable defendant would have understood as being illegal at the time of their alleged illegal action before allowing the case to go forward. This shift in legal doctrine would completely ignore the bedrock legal doctrine of stare decisis and legal precedent, and prohibit courts from benefiting from past decisions, both mandatory and persuasive, that would apply to the case at bar.

This will completely erode Qualified Immunity because it places far too much subjectivity into the decision whether to bring forward cause of action against a public employee. A finder of fact will be left to make their decisions in a vacuum, without the benefit of fairness and established legal precedents.

Secondly, I oppose S.2800 because of the changes it makes to the Massachusetts Civil Rights Act or "MCRA." Currently, under the MCRA, a plaintiff's case may only go forward against a public employee for acts that interfere with the exercise and enjoyment of [a citizen's] constitutional rights, as well as rights secured by the constitution or laws of the Commonwealth, where such interference of constitutional or statutory rights were achieved or attempted through threats, intimidation or coercion.

The proposed changes in § 10(b) of S.2800 completely delete the requirements of threats, intimidation and coercion be present in a public employee's alleged violation of the plaintiff's constitutional rights. This will, in effect, open the flood-gates for causes of action to be brought in Massachusetts state courts under the MCRA under this weakened standard. As you are aware, causes of action that lie under the MCRA are eligible for consideration of awarding attorney's fees if there is a favorable verdict for the plaintiff. What will stop unscrupulous plaintiffs and their attorneys from filing suit under this weakened standard in an attempt to exact a quick settlement that includes attorney's fees? The gatekeeper will be asleep at the wheel, as the finders of fact will have no way to dismiss these frivolous claims before they make their way into court.

Finally, please consider the families, children, spouses and public employees themselves when making your decisions regarding this piece of flawed legislation. Qualified Immunity was established to shield public employees who act in good faith from frivolous and exhortative law suits.

The erosions of S.2800 will place hardworking and dedicated public employees in a position where personal liability could apply in situations where it never should. Are their homes, college savings accounts, retirement accounts and personal assets so under-valued that they should be forfeited to settle damages in these cases? Our public employees, especially our police officers, deserve better.

I implore you to take more time and truly consider the far reaching implications of this bill. There is no doubt that there are things that need to change in law enforcement, but this is not how they should change. A bill that is filed as a knee-jerk reaction in attempt to solve a real problem will only create more problems. Discussion, conversation, debate, opposition and objection, are all cornerstones to our democratic process. We must use them, even embrace them, in order to find a solution to police reform that is both meaningful and pragmatic.

Sincerely,

Deirdre Smith

Subject: S.2820

As your constituent, I write to you today to express my strong opposition to many parts of the recently passed S.2820. I hope that you will join me in prioritizing support for the establishment of a standards and accreditation committee, which includes increased transparency and reporting, as well as strong actions focused on the promotion of diversity and restrictions on excessive force. These goals are attainable and are needed now.

I am, however, concerned at the expansion of this legislation, targeting fundamental protections such as due process and qualified immunity. This bill in its present form is troubling in many ways and will make an already dangerous and difficult job even more dangerous for the men and women in law enforcement who serve our communities every day with honor and courage. Below are just a few areas, among many others, that concern me and warrant your rejection of these components of this bill:

(1)?Due Process for all police officers: Fair and equitable process under the law demands the same rights of appeal afforded to all citizens and fellow public servants. Due process should not be viewed as an arduous impediment, but favored as a bedrock principle of fundamental fairness, procedure and accountability.

(2)?Qualified Immunity: Qualified Immunity does not protect problem police officers. Qualified Immunity is extended to all public employees who act reasonably and in compliance with the rules and regulations of their respective departments, not just police officers. Qualified Immunity protects all public employees, as well as their municipalities, from frivolously lawsuits. This bill removes important liability protections essential for all public servants. Removing qualified immunity protections in this way will open officers, and other public employees to personal liabilities, causing significant financial burdens. This will impede future recruitment in all public fields: police officers, teachers, nurses, fire fighters, corrections officers, etc., as they are all directly affected by qualified immunity protections.

(3)?POSA Committee: The composition of the POSA Committee must include more rank-and-file police officers and experts in the law enforcement field. If you're going to regulate law enforcement, up to and including termination, you must understand law enforcement. The same way doctors oversee doctors, lawyers oversee lawyers, teachers oversee teachers, experts in law enforcement should oversee practitioners in law enforcement.

In closing, I remind you that those who protect and serve communities across Massachusetts are some of the most sophisticated and educated law enforcement officials in the nation. I again implore you to amend and correct S.2820 so as to treat the men and women in law enforcement with the respect and dignity they deserve.

?Dear Representative Biele,

My name is Mark McKunes and I live in your district at 232 Athens street South Boston Mass 02127 and I am a huge fan of those who protect and serve our community. As you consider legislation that affects police officers and their safety, and thus the safety of our entire community, please understand that protection and preservation of due process and qualified immunity are non-negotiable and must be defended. Failure to protect both will undoubtedly put all public employees in harm's way while drastically and negatively impacting public safety for us all.

WHY DUE PROCESS MATTERS- Any legislation must allow fair and equitable due process under the Law. Currently, when an officer is disciplined, he/she is entitled to due process and an appeal process with the employer. A new outside board (like the POSA Committee) should allow this process to complete before instituting a review. This will not only maintain fairness, but will allow the new Committee to have a full record and make determinations after a thorough and neutral process has been undertaken. Other public employees such as teachers go through a similar process; police officers deserve the same respect and rights.

WHY QUALIFIED IMMUNITY MATTERS - Qualified immunity does NOT protect bad officers who knowingly violate the rights of members of the community. It's worth saying again. It does not protect bad cops. Instead, it protects good officers who play by and follow the rules. The doctrine allows lawsuits to proceed if a government official (not just a police officer) had fair notice that his or her conduct was unlawful, but acted anyway. The standard is objective reasonableness. By abolishing or changing qualified immunity as it exists today, police officers will not know what is lawful or not. This creates hesitancy and uncertainty in how they perform their duties. This is UNSAFE for all communities.

In closing, we are NOT Minneapolis. So, changing due process or qualified immunity in Massachusetts, which would affect police officers only in Massachusetts, would only serve to punish the men and women in blue for something that happened 1000 miles away. Instead of penalizing and scapegoating, we should be celebrating and promoting the fact that our police officers, some of the best in the nation, are impressive examples of how policing should be done.

Sincerely,

Mark McKunes

Subject: Bill S2800

My name is Adrian Gilmore and I live in Roslindale, MA. I am writing this letter to voice my concern that again no public hearing was held on this matter and given no other choice, I am submitting this letter as my written testimony. As your constituent, I write to you today to express my disagreement with any hastily-thrown-together legislation that will hamper law enforcement efforts across the Commonwealth and encourage you to vote against Senate bill 2800 submitted to the House of Representatives. It deprives police officers of Massachusetts any basic protections afforded to all other public employees in Massachusetts. It is a rush to judgment being developed behind closed doors. Issues of policing, health and human services, and race are too important to be rushed. Of the many concerns, the following in particular, stand out and demand immediate attention, modification and/or correction. Those issues are:

1. The senate version will seriously undermine public safety because police officers may become more concerned about personal liability than public safety.

?The proposed changes to QI will have a serious impact on critical public safety issues.

?Unintended and unnecessary changes to QI will hamstring police offices in the course of their duties because they will be subjected to numerous frivolous nuisance suits for any of their actions. Officers may second guess doing what is necessary for public safety and protecting the community because of concerns about legal exposure.

2. The process employed by the senate of using an omnibus bill with numerous, diverse, and complicated policy issues coupled with limited public and policy participation was undemocratic, flawed and totally nontransparent.

The original version of the bill was over 70 pages and had multiple changes to public safety sections of the general laws. It was sent to the floor with no hearing and less than a couple of days for Senators to digest/caucus and receive public comment. This process was a sham.

3. Police support uniform statewide training standards and policies as well as an appropriate regulatory board which is fair and unbiased.

?The Governor and supports of the bill promised to use the 160 or so professional regulatory agencies as a guide for police certification. The senate instead created a board without precedent. The 15-member board proposed to oversee, and judge police officers includes no more than six police officers and four of those police officers will be management/Chief representatives. The remainder of the committee will be dominated by groups critical of law enforcement, if not parties that regularly sue police and law enforcement. The civilian members on the board will lack any familiarity with the basic training, education or standards that apply to police officers. All the other 160 boards include a strong majority of workers from the profession supplemented by a few individuals to represent the general public. Imagine if police officers were appointed to a board to oversee teachers licenses!

4. The removal or any change to Qualified Immunity is unnecessary if the Legislature adopts uniform statewide standards and bans unlawful use of force techniques that all police personnel unequivocally support.

All police organizations support major parts of the bill: strengthening standards and training; having a state body that certifies police officers; banning excessive force techniques and enhancing the diversity process. Once we have uniform standards and policies and a statutory ban of certain use-of-force techniques then officers and the public will know the standards that apply to police officers and conduct that is unaccepted and unprotected by QI.

This will also limit the potential explosion of civil suits against other public employee groups Thus reducing costs that would otherwise go through the roof and potentially have a devastating impact on municipal and agency budgets.

5. Police Officers Deserve the same Due Process Afforded to all Other Public Employees

Public employees and their unions have a right for discipline to be reviewed by a neutral, independent expert in laborrelations - whether an arbitrator or the Civil Service Commission. This bill makes the Commissioner's decisions or the new Committee's decisions the final authority on certain offenses.

We should affirm the right of all employees to seek independent review of employer discipline at arbitration or civil service.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Sincerely,

Adrian Gilmore

Subject: Police Reform Bill

Dear Honorable Representative

The Massachusetts legislature has recently proposed a massive bill reform that it intends to pass without a public hearing. This Bill was largely authored by people who consistently oppose police services. Why would you consider passing such sweeping changes without a public hearing - what happened to transparency in Government?

As a constituent, I demand that you take the following action before voting on ANY such bill.

Read The Bill

Ask How Our Police Departments In Your District Are Actually Performing

AT A MINIMUM HOLD A PUBLIC HEARING

These are very minimal requests before passing such a massive legislation that will have such a huge impact our communities.

There is so much to this bill that is of concern. Just some impacts that are extremely concerning to me my family and friends:

It removes authority from City's and Towns to control their own employees

Removes the rights of police to monitor gang activity in schools

Removes the rights of public safety officers

Exposes police officers and their families to personal liability, even when acting in Good Faith

Puts the lives of our police officers in danger unnecessarily

Creates a police licensing board that is staffed by organizations who sue our communities and advocate for the elimination of police services.

I could go on and on after reading this bill in its entirety, however fear that you may not read my email. Please do the right thing. The recent Unfortunate incidents that All agree should never have happened was wrong, however we cannot turn our communities and country upside down for the sake of some particularly bad individuals. We should work on finding common ground to make corrections that would help eliminate such individuals that are appropriate. We need our Police, and my fear is, who in their right mind would even want to be an officer today and subject themselves and family to such unnecessary danger.

I feel our community is blessed, and I firmly believe our Police care about our communities. I also believe when they leave their loved ones as they go to work to keep our communities safe, they do NOT look for trouble or target specific individuals.

Do the right thing and Hold A Hearing. We intend to HOLD YOU ACCOUNTABLE, and we trust that you will do the same.

Respectfully

Ralph R Monfreda

Subject: Encouraging the House to enact a bill similar to S 2829

Dear Rep. Cronin and Rep. Michlewitz,

I am writing to express support for S.2820, the Senate's police reform bill. I urge the House to enact a similar bill as soon as possible, and get it through a conference committee and signed by Governor Baker by the end of July.

I particularly support the Senate bill's approach to the creation of a state-wide certification board and state-wide training standards, limits on use of force, the duty to intervene if an officer witnesses misconduct by another officer, banning racial profiling and mandating the collection of racial data for police stops, civilian approval required for the purchase of military equipment, the prohibition of nondisclosure agreements in police misconduct cases, and allowing the Governor to select a colonel from outside the state police force, as well as all of the provisions requested by the Black and Latino Legislative Caucus.

I support allowing local Superintendents of Schools, not a state mandate, to decide whether police officers (school resource officers) are helpful in their own schools. Municipalities should be able to make their own decision. f

I also support the Senate bill's small modifications to qualified immunity for police officers. Under this bill, police officers would continue to have qualified immunity if they act in a reasonable way, and they would continue to be financially indemnified by the tax-payers in their municipalities. Police officers should not, however, be immune to prosecution if they engage in egregious misconduct, even if case law has not previously established that this particular form of misconduct is egregious.

Most importantly, I hope a good police reform bill will be enacted by the end of July. Thank you for giving attention to this important priority, along with all the other important issues the House is addressing.

Thank you.
