

Health and Human Rights: An NGO's Contribution to Addressing the Epidemic of Drug Use, HIV and TB in Russia

With Anya Sarang, MSc

Wednesday, October 17th 12:30-1:30

Crosstown 2nd floor, room 2127

Ms. Sarang is a social scientist and public health activist from Moscow, Russia. She is a founder of the Andrey Rylkov Foundation for Health and Social Justice, a group advocating for human rights and health of people who use drugs. Ms. Sarang is internationally recognized as one of the most courageous and effective advocates for human rights and evidence-based public health in the field of drug policy.

Boston University School of Public Health Department of International Health

