Transportation Options from Boston Logan Airport (BOS) to Hotel Buckminster and Myles Standish Hall

The symposium will take place in the English Room at Myles Standish Hall, 610 Beacon St, Boston, MA 02215. The hotel for the symposium is Hotel Buckminster, 645 Beacon Street, Boston, MA 02215. These two locations are within a 5-minute walk from each other, and the closest Boston Subway station is Kenmore Station.

1. Boston Buses and Subways

From Boston Logan Airport, you can take the local buses and subways for free to get to the Hotel Buckminster and Myles Standish Hall.

Step 1: After you have picked up your luggage, please proceed to the Ground Transportation area outside of your Airport Arrival Terminal and locate the waiting spot for the “Silver Line.”

Step 2: Take the “Silver Line” all the way to “South Station.” This should be roughly a 10-to-20-minute ride, depending on traffic.

Step 3: At “South Station” station, locate the RED “Inbound” train to Alewife. Take the train to “Park Street.”
Step 4: At “Park Street” station, find the GREEN “Outbound” train, lettered B, C, or D. Be careful NOT to get on the E line. (See attached MBTA map)

Step 5: Take the GREEN B, C, or D train to Kenmore Station.

Step 6: Take the left exit out of Kenmore station. The Hotel Buckminster should be immediately visible to your left.

2. Logan Express

The Boston Logan Express bus is another quick option to get to the hotel. This option requires fewer station changes than the one above. The Express bus leaving from the airport will be free of charge. However, the subway ride from Copley station to Kenmore station will cost $2.40.

Step 1: After you have picked up your luggage, please proceed to the Ground Transportation area outside of your Airport Arrival Terminal and locate the waiting spot for the “Logan Express.”

Step 2: Wait for the Logan Express that goes to “Back Bay.” Take the bus all the way to the last stop. This should be a 20-to-25-minute ride depending on traffic.

Step 3: From the drop-off spot (which is close to the Boston Public Library), walk to the Green Line Copley “Outbound” Subway Station. It is adjacent to the Boston Public Library.

Step 4: Take the GREEN “Outbound” train, lettered B, C, or D to Kenmore Station. Be careful NOT to take the E line.
Step 5: Take the left exit out of Kenmore station. The Hotel Buckminster should be immediately visible to your left.

3. Taxis, UBER, and Lyft

If you are arriving late at night, early in the morning of the date of the symposium, or if you prefer not to navigate the Boston Public Transport system, you can also take taxis, UBER, or Lyft directly from Boston Logan Airport to the Hotel Buckminster.

The cost can range from $25 to $50 one-way, depending on traffic and price surges. Each airport terminal will have a designated space where you can get a taxi or ride-share service. Please ask the information desk so that they can direct you to the designated pick-up areas.

Note: While local buses, subways, and the Boston Logan Express bus from the airport to downtown Boston are free of charge, you will have to pay for transportation costs inside the city and from the city back to the airport. The current MBTA fare is $2.40 for one subway ride and $1.70 for one bus ride. The Boston Logan Express bus from Back Bay back to Logan Airport is $3.00. At most subway stations, there are fare machines where you can purchase individual subway and bus rides, as well as passes. If you are planning to stay in Boston for the whole duration of AAS and to explore the Boston area, you can consider purchasing a 7-day pass for $22.50 that offers unlimited bus and subway rides for 7 days.
