

Search

E-alert

Submit

Login

Optics: Dynamically tuning how materials respond to light

Metamaterials have led to a boost in the performance of optical and photonic devices, with yet further improvements within reach by finding ways to dynamically tune their properties

